The dedication of the First Baptist Church to "Christian Education" will take place next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The dedicatory address will be delivered by Rev. Everett C. Herrick, D.D., LL.D., President of the Newton Theological Institution. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon a special vesper service will be held for the dedication of the church to "Music." There will be playing of the beautiful tubular chimes, the gift of Mrs. Emilie H. Ewer, and an organ recital by Francis Snow, organist of Trinity Church, Boston. The new three manual organ built and installed by the Eatey Organ Company, the gift of Harry C. Sanborn and family, is one of the best in this vicinity and will be greatly enjoyed.

The new church and parish house will be open for inspection after each service. There will be no evening service.

On Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 9, the ladies of the church will hold open house from 3 to 5 o'clock and serve tea, to which the women of Winchester are invited as well as friends in the vicinity.

On Sunday, Oct. 13, at the morning service the church will be dedicated to "Civic Righteousness," when addresses will be delivered by His Excellency, Frank G. Allen, Governor of the Commonwealth, and Samuel J. Duncan-Clark, Editor-in-Chief of the Chicago Evening Post.

PUBLIC MAY INSPECT RESERVOIRS OCT. 12

A cordial invitation is extended to the people of Winchester to make a tour of the Winchester Reservoirs on Oct. 12 from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

The Water and Sewer Board hope many people will take advantage of this opportunity as the scenery is of the best in the coloration of the foliage.

Autos will please enter the Fells by the way of the Mystic Valley Parkway. The trip around the reservoirs is about ten miles in length.

Please note the cleanliness of the shore line of the reservoirs.

It is reported that plans are once more under way for the erection of a garage in the rear of the Winchester Station and to the south of Waterfield Building.

OPENING DEDICATION SERVICE OF THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH HELD LAST SUNDAY

To the strains of "The Church's One Foundation" an impressive procession consisting of the robed chorus, the Unity quartet, the escort of Deacons, the Clergy in robes and hoods, marched slowly down the central aisle, and forward to the chancel, on the occasion of the first formal Service of Dedication of the First Baptist Church. When the music died away, the grandson of the first pastor of the church, under whose leadership the original church edifice was erected, Rev. Bradford Hinckley Burnham offered the invocation. In a brief ceremonial act the keys of the church were delivered by Alfred O. Weld, Chairman of the Building Committee to Daniel C. Linscott, Moderator, who accepted them in behalf of the church.

Eyes were focused upon the Baptistry as the veil dropped, revealing the Baptistry Plaque, the work of Mrs. Allen, a Boston sculptor. Mr. Clarence Warren, in presenting the plaque in behalf of the donors said, "This beautiful plaque is given in loving memory of their mother, Mrs. Anna Lucinda Rockwood, by Eileen and Vernon Rockwood. The scene depicts the approach of Jesus to John for baptism. In the foreground appears the River Jordan, and beyond it the outline of Calvary with a cross faintly seen above. From the day of His baptism the picture of Calvary and the Cross was ever before Him. In the right foreground is the figure of Christ and his Galilean followers in conversation with John and his disciples facing Him on the left. Though John's hand is lifted in protest, Jesus is saying, 'Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness.'"

The pastor, Rev. Benjamin P. Browne, led the congregation in the Act of Dedication, climaxed by the bursting forth of the Doxology by the congregation which taxed the church to its utmost seating capacity. Rev. Nathan E. Wood, D.D., a long time friend of the church, offered a deeply moving Dedication prayer. The rich voices of the Unity Male Quartet floated over the hushed audience in solemn response.

To the honored group of visiting clergymen on the program was added a distinguished churchman from overseas, Sir Harold MacIntosh, President of the World's International Sunday School Association, embracing all the Sunday Schools in Christendom. Sir Harold was listened to with rapt attention, but no remark of his was more appreciated by those present than his statement: "In my opinion, your church in several respects bears striking resemblance to the Winchester Cathedral in England, and I congratulate you upon your beautiful new home."

Dr. Alton L. Miller, President of the Northern Baptist Convention, in a clear cut speech, stressed the fact that the time had come for the churches to share in the general prosperity, and indicated his belief that spiritual values must be preserved as the basis of our material prosperity.

In presenting the congratulations of the local churches, Dr. Howard A. Chidley rejoiced that religion in Winchester was "Looking Up," and emphasized the new era of good feeling which exists among Winchester churches.

As one who understands the sacrifice involved in church building enterprise, Dr. Hugh A. Heath, Secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, spoke with deep feeling of the courage, sacrifice, and the achievement of the church. "This building has long been overdue," he said, "and we congratulate both pastor and people that at last it has arrived."

Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, the new President of Brown University, began his speech to the accompaniment of thunder and lightning flashes outside the church. But so intriguing and compelling a speaker did Doctor Barbour prove himself to be, that all thought of the storm was forgotten as the audience lost itself in following the high trail of his thought. Doctor Barbour took as his theme, "The Message of the Christian Church," declaring its central purpose to be the giving of more abundant life. This life, he asserted, comes through the knowledge of God and His revelation in Christ Jesus.

At the close of the service an informal reception and buffet luncheon was tendered to Doctor Barbour and the speakers of the afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Warren at their home on Everett avenue. Tea was poured by Miss Mary Fitch and Mrs. Arthur E. Gates. There were present Sir Harold MacIntosh and Lady MacIntosh, President Barbour, D.D., LL.D., Dr. and Mrs. Alton Miller, President and Mrs. Nathan Wood, Dr. Nathan Wood, Rev. and Mrs. Benjamin P. Browne, Mr. Robert Voorkis, the Deacons and Deaconesses including Mr. and Mrs. William A. Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Linscott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. William Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winn, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O. Weld, Mrs. Mary Allen, Mrs. Arthur Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. John Casler, Mr. Alexander MacDonald and Mr. J. Albert Hersey.

Mrs. F. W. Twombly notified the Star this week of finding a carrier pigeon dead in the yard at the rear of her home. Just previous to finding the bird Mrs. Twombly had been reading in the paper of a Worcester woman who had found a pigeon in her back yard, making her own surprise the greater at discovering one on the Twombly premises. The bird found here bore the number AW2MA169 and on its legband 735-MADE F BELGIUM.

UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

The Men's Club of the Unitarian Church will start activities on Oct. 11, when a supper and entertainment will be given in Metcalf Hall. This will be a get-together meeting and a large crowd is expected. The supper will be in charge of George Goddard, Robert Perkins, Ernest Eustis, Ken Pratt and Dwight Elliott and they promise a sumptuous feast. An entertainment with a magic touch will follow the supper.

A perusal of the club's program seems to portray an unusual busy and varied season. Starting Oct. 11 and continuing through April, it is planned to have two meetings a month. The club is fortunate in being able to get hold of some of the busy business men of the church and induce them to take charge of the club's activities. The following officers are serving this year: T. R. Godwin, president; P. B. Sawyer, vice president; G. B. Cummings, treasurer; and D. D. Elliott, secretary. The entertainment committee made up of Arthur S. Kelley, chairman, George Hayden, D. Earl Osgood and "Ed" Merrill, inform us that their program will be a full one, including speakers, plays, dances, musicals, a minstrel show, a prize-winning band and other special features. Great plans are being made for the entertainment on Oct. 25. This will be open to the public. Edmund Bradley, Jr., and his artists will give an entertainment, consisting of various fancy national dances, special dances, two groups of songs, a few moments of magic, violin and piano recitals and other features. A full program of this will be given in next week's Star.

KELLEY NEW ASSISTANT COACH AT HIGH SCHOOL

Dana J. Kelley of 21 Mystic avenue has been named assistant coach of the high school football team to succeed Raymond V. Hayward whose teaching duties because of the new two platoon system makes it impossible for him to serve.

Kelley is studying law in the Harvard Law School, having been graduated from the academic school at Cambridge two years ago. He made his big block "H" as a replacement quarterback on the Crimson varsity during his senior year and was a member of Harvard second team for two seasons.

The new assistant coach broke into schoolboy football as a center on "Joe" Mathews' eleven in 1921 and the following year captained the great Mystic Valley championship team, coached by "Rufe" Bond. He was switched from the line to quarterback in 1922 and has played the signal barking position ever since. His knowledge of backfield play should prove especially useful to Coach Mansfield this season.

EVENING SCHOOL OPENS

The evening school will open at the Lincoln School on Monday evening, Oct. 14, at 7:30. Elementary and advanced classes for adults desirous of learning to speak, read and write the English language will be held. A class will also be held for boys and girls who were obliged to leave school early.

There may be others interested in evening high school subjects or in trade subjects. The Superintendent of Schools will be very pleased to confer with any of these concerning further education. Please call Win. 1780.

CHIME PROGRAM FOR THIS WEEK-END

The program to be played on the Downs Memorial Chimes Saturday, Oct. 5 at 5 p. m. is to be a Victor Herbert hour. Selections from several of his light operettas will be played. The Sunday program at 4 p. m. will consist of hymns and sacred music.

WINCHESTER GIRL WON LONGWOOD TENNIS TITLE

Lucy Fowle, one of the most promising among Winchester's younger tennis players, won the girls' singles crown in the Longwood Cricket Club's 14th semi-annual boys' and girls' open tennis tournament at Chestnut Hill last Saturday. Featuring her win, in the semi-final round of the tourney, Lucy defeated Joanna Palfrey of "the Palfreys," runner-up to Katherine Winthrop in the younger girls' class of the State tournament and the girl whom many picked as last Saturday's ultimate titlist.

The final round of girls' play was an all Winchester affair, Frances Poirer having survived the semi-finals to face Lucy Fowle for the championship. Lucy, fresh from her win over Joanna Palfrey, proved too good for Frances and won the single set required without the loss of a game.

Besides Lucy and Frances, Deborah Gilbert and Betty Proctor of Winchester reached the fourth round before being eliminated.

On the boys' side of the tournament Winchester made a good showing with "Buddy" Boutwell, Norman Dalrymple and "Dick" Riley surviving the third round of play. Riley, a member of last year's team at the high school, won his way into the semi-finals and in that round defeated Richard Durnell, 6-3. In the finals "Dick" was opposed by Robert Bentley of Arlington, who had previously defeated Charles Houghton of Newton, winner of the Longwood Spring tournament. The final match between Riley and Bentley was closely contested and the Winchester boy was within a single point of the match, only to falter and have Bentley pull out a winner, 6-4.

Two Winchester boys, "Billy" Gilpatrick and Lorimer Walker, reached the semi-final round of the boys' consolation and Gilpatrick survived to play "Dave" Shean of Arlington in the final. The son of the former Red Sox infielder was the ultimate winner, after a hard fight, 6-5.

Eleanor Lampee of Winchester reached the semi-finals of the girls' consolation, but was defeated in that round by Rita Casey, 6-3.

Three Winchester teams reached the third round in mixed doubles, Lucy Fowle pairing with Robert Bentley of Arlington. Deborah Gilbert with Charles Houghton of Newton and Frances Poirer teaming with "Dick" Riley for a strictly local combination. In all 104 players from many cities and towns in Greater Boston were entered in the tournament and only four defaulted.

Among the local youngsters who participated were Frisella Guild, Eleanor Lampee, Lucy Fowle, Martha Boyden, Elizabeth Packer, Betty Gilbert, Betty Proctor, Anna Glidden, Barbara Paine, Barbara Chidley, Dorothy Bidwell, Deborah Gilbert, "Buddy" Boutwell, Paul Gale, Lorimer Walker, "Billy" Gilpatrick, Norman Dalrymple, Andrew Young, "Dick" Riley and "Bobby" Bidwell.

WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK REMODELLED

The extensive alterations which have been in progress in the Winchester National Bank for the past two months are practically completed and it is expected that the remodelled banking rooms will be open for inspection by the public next Monday.

The bank has prepared an attractive souvenir of the occasion in the form of an illuminated map of Winchester, drawn by Ernest Dudley Chase and showing all the streets, public buildings, parks and lakes, the Country Club and many private homes, on the best deckle-edged Strathmore Japan paper, suitable for framing.

This map will be available for distribution with the compliments of the bank to those who come in to inspect the bank next week. It is anticipated that the customers and friends of the bank will be much pleased with the new ladies' room, office space, directors' room and the complete redecorating and refitting of the bank.

On Monday evening, Oct. 14 he will stage a special contest covering all sorts of pool and billiards and from hereafter, we believe there will be some spirited and talented playing. Any club member is invited to participate.

The opening dinner, Saturday evening of this week bids fair to be a memorable event for not only is there to be a beef steak dinner, but a notable speaker is to hold the stage, following a short matter of business and in addition a big time cabaret entertainment will be on hand to show the latest in nifty dance steps.

Many new members' applications are to be seen on the board and the number grows daily, these names will be voted upon at the regular Board of Governors' meeting, Oct. 19, but in the meantime they may share in the other activities of the Club.

A new membership list and year book is in process of compilation; any changes desired should be mailed to the Steward immediately.

CHURCH RALLY DAY, OCT. 6

Not everything, but much, depends on a good beginning. The calendar year begins Jan. 1. The church year begins the first Sunday in October—at least in most churches. Hence the now familiar slogan—"All out to Church on Rally Day, Oct. 6." The Greater Boston Federation is to place a vivid message on the dashers of the trolley cars during the preceding week, and has sent to each church, posters to be exhibited on the church and parish house bulletin boards.

Every man who believes in the value of the church to the community will forget golf and all other such allurements that day, gather together his wife and his children (let's hope he's married) and take them to church. How much more fun it is to do things together, in groups! We have Nines, Elevens, Eights, Fives, Doubles and Fifteens. Let's rally to church by families, double up the congregation and sing those good old hymns as never before. To church for Jesus Christ!

A Ford truck, while headed north through the center shortly before 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, collided with one of the gate posts at the easterly side of the B. & M. railroad crossing, putting the gates temporarily out of commission. The driver of the truck told the police he was unable to see the gates until late to avoid hitting them, because of the heavy rain.

THE WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The first meeting of the Club was held Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Radley in the chair. After a short business meeting, reports from the Educational and Naturalization chairmen were received.

Mrs. Harris, the district member of the State Committee, greeted us and offered her support and felicitations.

The speaker for the afternoon was Miss Janet Richards who gave a most pleasing and instructive talk on the high lights of modern world problems. She emphasized that keeping peace and averting another world war is the greatest problem in the world today and that progress has been made by the League of Nations and the Kellogg Peace Pact in procuring that result. The personal touch and her charming manner made it one of the best programs the club has ever enjoyed.

Tea and a social hour followed the meeting.

WINCHESTER LOST OPENING GAME TO STONEHAMBurly Veterans Outclassed Inexperienced Local Group 14-0

Winchester got away to a rather inauspicious start in its 1929 football campaign last Saturday afternoon, when the Red and Black was defeated, 14-0, by Stoneham High School at the Pomeworth street grounds, Stoneham.

Both elevens were a disappointment and of the two, we feel that the Stoneham supporters had the greater cause for complaint. Stoneham has a big, rugged team of veterans, a powerful rushline and three corking backs yet it was able to score only twice against an inexperienced Winchester team, the members of which were woefully outwitted by their burly adversaries. Coach Mansfield's boys put up a game fight against heavy odds last Saturday. We believe there were few on the field when the teams squared off who would have cared to take a bet that Stoneham would win by 25 points. The boys from the hockey town looked that much better than Winchester.

As a matter of fact the winners scored both their touchdowns on a couple of plays which can't be termed anything else than lucky.
Both should have been, and would have been stopped by just ordinarily good football. Stoneham scored its first touchdown with 22 seconds to play in the second quarter on a 23-yard pass which was just "one of those things," an its second six points came as a result of an intercepted forward which was not covered by the local secondaries.

We don't mean to say that Stoneham didn't deserve to win, but the winners scored their points as the direct result of Winchester's backfield weakness, rather than through any special class of their own. And the Blue and White apparently had plenty of class to roll up a real score in its own right. Seldom will one see a huskier, more mature looking high school club.

Stoneham won the toss and elected to receive, Godfrey kicking off for Winchester. After some ineffective rushing on both sides an exchange of kicks gave Stoneham the ball at mid-field. Using Blackburn, Adzigan and Marston, the Blue and White quickly forced up the field, but inside its 20-yard line the Winchester defense stiffened and Stoneham elected to open up its attack. Adzigan's second forward pass was intercepted by Captain Godfrey on Winchester's 15-yard line and Lee kicked from his own goal line to the 40-yard stripe when "Johnny" Murphy dropped Marston in his tracks.

Here the local rushline braced perceptibly and first Blackburn and then Adzigan were stopped with no gain as the quarter ended.

Stoneham flashed its best football in the second quarter, outplaying Winchester completely. After an exchange of kicks, Stoneham rushed to two successive first downs inside mid-field and then opened up an aerial attack which Winchester couldn't seem to fathom at all. Four passes were completed to place the ball on Winchester's 20-yard line, 22 seconds before the close of the half.

It seems as though Winchester should have realized that another pass was in order since Stoneham could hardly hope to rush the ball across in the time remaining. The locals, however, played a close defense and from a double pass, Adzigan ran out to the right to toss a long forward right across the center of the Winchester rushline 25 yards to his right end, Avery, for the touchdown. Adzigan kicked the goal and the quarter ended soon after.

Play was in Winchester's territory during much of the third quarter, but Stoneham was unable seriously to threaten the local goal line. Once the flashy Marston broke away toward the Winchester goal, but a last ditch tackle by "Bill" Brown on the 30-yard line, prevented a touchdown.

The locals were rather holding their own with Stoneham midway through the final quarter when with the ball at midfield, Lee dropped back and tossed off the first forward attempted by Winchester after it was intercepted by Adzigan and when Lee failed to cover his three yard line before "Olio" was able to pull him down.
On the first play Marston sliced off tackle for the touchdown and Adzigan kicked the goal.

Winchester kept fighting and after the kick-off ripped off two first downs in succession, passed from Lee to Knowlton and Godfrey aiding materially in making the yardage. With seconds only left to play, Stoneham intercepted a forward pass and after a couple of rushes the game ended.

Punts and Passes

Though Winchester lost, the afternoon was not entirely hopeless from a local viewpoint. The locals showed a courageous rushline and a great little end in "Johnny" Murphy. This lad's work down the field was high class and he was seldom taken out on plays around his wing.

Morton too, on the other extremity of the Winchester line showed flashes of good end play and the veteran "Boss" Symmes played a nice tackle all afternoon.

"Joe" Flaherty was the game's first casualty, the sturdy little guard receiving an arm injury which necessitated his removal from the field on the opening kickoff. It was at first thought that the arm was broken, but after an examination the team physician, Dr. Roger Burgoyne, diagnosed the injury as a pulled muscle or strain. It was very painful.

Stoneham has a great quarterback in "Red" Marston. This lad is a real flash in a broken field and on a big high school team would attract plenty of notice.

Adzigan is another great football player, doing just about everything.
He runs well, is a good punter, does his team's passing, tackles effectively and kicks goals after touchdown with deadly accuracy.

Winchester was without big Bruce Colpas who was kept on the sidelines all last week with an infected heel.
"Brutus" weight would have made quite a difference in the center of the local line which was very weak in spots against the bull-like rushes of Stoneham's burly fullback, Blackburn.
"Hal" Knowlton looked very good indeed upon his injection into the game and was the only one of the Winchester backs who showed any disposition at all to pick holes and follow interference.

The Winchester boys did by far the cleaner tackling during the afternoon, the Stoneham method being largely that of "any way to get him."

A good sized crowd viewed the contest and the consensus of opinion seemed to be that Stoneham is in for a big season. It has the stuff this year.

towered above the members of both teams like "Tiny" Shaw, huge Melrose lineman, used to in days gone by.

Winchester's defense against forwards was woefully weak and it goes without saying that the boys will be well drilled in this deficiency before the big games roll around. The Stoneham aerial offense was not particularly deceptive, yet it went.

Lee threw Winchester's passes effectively and with a bit better receiving on the part of the ends and backs the locals should have a good overhead game. Big "Olio" also kicked well under pressure and backed up the line effectively. "Buz" McNeil, playing his first game in the backfield did well and so did "Don" Emery, scrappery center.

"Ernie" Roberts, former Winchester coach, was linesman. He and Principal Wade Grindle had a long confab between the halves. The ex-Amherst lineman looked as big as the proverbial house in his white shirt and knickers.

SHOALS REUNION

On Friday evening, Sept. 20, about 300 Greater Boston young people gathered in the attractive new parish house of the Unitarian Church in Winchester for their Shoals reunion.
All New England delegates at the Shoals for the past three years were invited to attend this meeting.

The Isles of Shoals, 10 miles off Portsmouth, N. H., is the place where every summer about 500 Unitarian young people representing societies all over this country and Canada gather for a two weeks' conference run for and by members of the national Young People's Religious Union.

Though the conference delegates can never hope to be together again as a unit because of the great distances between their local groups, a great deal of fun and renewed enthusiasm is derived from reunions of "old Shoalers" in various parts of the country.

The program consisting of a banquet, followed by a dance, was terminated in true Shoals fashion by a short and very impressive candlelight service in the attractive little chapel led by Winthrop M. Southworth, Jr. of Needham, a most enthusiastic Shoaler and popular student at Brown University.

During the banquet, Miss Elizabeth Hall of Braintree who was the chairman of the 1929 Shoals Conference Committee introduced the local minister, Rev. George H. Reed, who welcomed the young people to Winchester. Greetings were read from many absent Shoalers, and short talks were given by Mr. Frank B. Frederick of Dorchester, the national president, and by Rev. Dan H. Fenn of Taunton and Rev. Vivian Pomeroy of Milton both of whom were speakers at the Y. P. R. U. Conference last July.
Frederick T. McGill, Jr. of New Jersey—the chairman of the 1930 Conference, outlined the plans for next summer, and then the Y. P. R. U. song and some popular Shoals songs led by Herbert K. Miller of Winchester brought the banquet to a close.

The members of the committee in charge of arrangements for the reunion were:

Priscilla Sawyer, Chairman, Woburn
Elizabeth Ballard, Lexington
George Hayden, Winchester
Marjorie Hayden, Winchester
Georgia Glidden, Dorchester
Edward R. Knowlton, Cambridge
Carolyn Drisko, Winchester
Herbert K. Miller, Winchester

COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL NOTES

Winchester Country Day School opened Sept. 25 with an enrollment of 28 pupils.

The football squad under the direction of Mr. Fraser, lost no time in getting started. Regular practice began the day after school opened.

Indications this year point to a light team made up of inexperienced boys. Several fine players on last year's team were lost by graduation.
The first game of the season will be played Friday afternoon, Oct. 11, in West Newton, with the Fessenden School. Winchester Country Day hopes to repeat its victory of last year.

The following boys are working hard for a place on the team:

Philip LeRoyer Charles White
David Tufts George Revinis
David Kenerson David Wadsworth
Junior Geale Balcom Goodspeed
Arthur Rogers Harold Eaty
Walter Snow Robert Cotten
Robert Vittinghoff Robert Godfrey

Tuesday morning two members of Harvard varsity football squad, Mr.
Ogden and Mr. Mays, gave the boys a fine talk on scholarship, team spirit and sportsmanship. Mr. Mays was a former student under Mr. Bradley at Montclair Academy.

NEW STUDIO OPENED HERE

Mrs. Pearl Bates Morton, director of the Winchester Branch of the National Associated Studios of Music, Inc., opened her studio in the Waterfield Building, Tuesday afternoon.
The first dancing class of the season was held with Miss Constance Berry Page as instructor. Miss Page has studied under Chaif of New York and Marinoff of Chicago and has also created and coached the dancing for a number of theatrical productions.
Instruction in voice, piano, and all orchestral instruments is also given at the local studio. The instructors are all skilled in their particular field. Miss Dolores Rodriguez is teaching the piano. She graduated as piano soloist from the Conservatory of Music. At present she is a pupil of Hans Ebell who has studied under such masters as Josef Hoffmann, Leopold Godowsky and Serger Rachmaninoff. Two members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra are to give lessons on the trombone and trumpet.
They are Eugene Adams and Rene L.
Voisin. Mrs. Morton is instructing in voice. Her entire training was received in America with noted teachers.
She recently entered the concert field and has appeared in recitals and concerts as well as in operas in various American cities.

Some of the eminent members of the National Association are Hans Ebell, Wellington Smith, Leon Mar-joret, Jean J. Lemaire, Gaston Bladet, Raymond Allard, Marcel Lafosse, Eugene Adams and Simon Sternburg.
The last nine named are all members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

At the conclusion of the dancing tea was served in Mrs. Morton's studio. The pourers were Mrs. C. Frederick Eberle, Mrs. Lucius Smith and Mrs. Franklin J. Lane. The studio has been arranged very attractively.
The walls are buff with black trimmings and the same color scheme is carried out in the gold and black overhangings. At one end of the studio there is a grand piano and comfortable wicker furniture has been placed around the rest of the room.

Miss Lillian McNamara of 5 Russell road is spending the next week with her brother, George McNamara at New Haven, Conn.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Two very precious things in life: time and health, yet how many people throw away one and abuse the other.

One day of life can hold a thousand years of sorrow.

Fate plans for a fool, but action is the father of luck.

A cork screw can't pull a man out of trouble, but can pull him into it.

It must be discouraging to an intellectual woman to observe how easily a pretty girl can rope in an intellectual man.

With Winchester's first home football game rapidly approaching we are wondering just what, if anything, has been done about securing permission for the high school authorities to exact admission charges from those occupying the wooden stands at the games. The school's revenue from football, which has to pay the freight on most of the other sports, will be greatly increased if everyone who sits on the bleachers pays a quarter for the privilege. And there are many fans more than willing to buy a seat, if opportunity is offered.

The new Winchester Girls' Athletic Club seems to have gotten away to a good start, if one is to judge by the names of those who were sufficiently interested to attend its first meeting last week. The club is from every angle worth while, affording as it does an opportunity for the girls out of school to maintain their active interest in athletics and also to continue the friendships begun in the gymnasium and on the athletic field. It is to be hoped that those who have started with the club will not allow their interest to flag when it comes time for the hard work which will be necessary to ensure the organization's success. Among those now enrolled is the material for strong teams in all branches of sport, teams which will be a credit to Winchester and afford their members much real sport. The newly organized town tennis association has done well in its first season. The way is open to you, girls. Let's go.

AN APPRECIATION

Winchester Visiting Nurse Association,
Mt. Vernon Street,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Madam:
I feel it my duty to express my appreciation to the nurses of your Association who took care of my little girl. She was injured by an automobile about ten days ago and the doctor ordered a visiting nurse. I phoned on Saturday at 1:40 p. m. and the nurse was at my house at 1:50 p. m. On Sunday I had to phone again and the nurse on duty responded within ten minutes. I do not think that this service should go by without letting you know how much appreciated the promptness of the nurses. I also wish to express my appreciation to Mrs. Corbett who took care of my child. Her wonderful disposition and smiling countenance helped to brighten her every morning.

With many thanks to your Association, I remain

Yours truly,

Mrs. A. E. Thorne

SPOKE ON THE EDISON ANNIVERSARY

Mr. Julius Daniels of the Edison Company was the guest and speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club of Winchester yesterday at the Calumet Club. He spoke most entertainingly and interestingly upon the coming observance of the 50th anniversary of the invention of the incandescent electric lamp by Thomas A. Edison, and gave a brief history of the great inventor's life which proved of exceptional interest.

Mr. Daniels was primarily the guest of Mr. Frank E. Randall, local manager of the Edison Company, and those attending the luncheon were presented with the handsome anniversary coins struck off in commemoration of the event. Vice President Loring P. Gleason, who presided in the absence of President Roscoe Wallace, was presented with a duplicate of the first lamp invented by Edison.

There was a large attendance at the luncheon, the gathering including one of the largest visitations of outside Rotarians of the year.

RICHARD PARKHURST
New Commander, Winchester Post, A. L.

RICHARD PARKHURST HEADS WINCHESTER POST

Legionaires Held Annual Meeting

Richard Parkhurst, after two years' service as Vice Commander, was last night elected commander of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, at the annual meeting and election of officers held in the post headquarters on Washington street. The other officers elected were:

Vice Commander—Clifford M. Townner
Adjutant—Cecil G. Young
Finance Officer—Wade L. Grindle
Historian—Arthur S. Harris
Chairman—Vincent P. Clarke
Executive Committee:
Patrick P. Foley Guy B. Livingstone
Harry C. Goodwin John Moynihan
Ralph W. Hatch W. Alan Wilde
G. Warren Johnston Whitelaw Wright
Conrad S. Larson Frank P. Zafina

The newly elected officers were installed by the retiring Commander, W. Allan Wilde, recently appointed District Commander of Legion Posts in Somerville, Arlington, Woburn and Winchester by County Commander William Barry of Arlington. Commander Wilde is also by virtue of his new office a member of the executive committee of the Middlesex County Legion Council. His appointment is popular locally and in Legion circles throughout the district where he is widely known.

During the meeting the retiring Commander of the Post, Mr. W. Allan Wilde, was presented by the Post with a handsome wrist watch and badge. The retiring Commander in turn presented retiring Adj. Robert M. Hamilton with a slight token of his appreciation of the work Mr. Hamilton has performed in the interest of the Post.

Members of the Board of Selectmen attended last evening's meeting as guests of Winchester Post. Chairman Joseph W. Worthen expressed the Board's pleasure at being present and brought his own and his associates' greetings to the newly installed Legion officers. County Commander Barry was also among the invited guests. Interesting reports were read by the several retiring officers, that of Commander Wilde being reproduced in full as follows:

In this annual report of the retiring Commander, which has become one of the customs of the Post, I would like first of all not only to pay very sincere respects to the co-operation received from the elected officers and members of the executive committee for the past year, but particularly to the Post membership as a whole. I think in no recent year has the Commander received as wholehearted co-operation from so large a number of members of the Post as I have enjoyed this past year. I would like to particularly cite and bestow decorations upon certain members of the Post for their outstanding work during the past year but fear the list of such citations would include, if it were attempted, too large a percentage of the members of the Post to have that honor particularly unusual.

WADE L. GRINDLE
Finance Officer, Winchester Post, A. L.

Many unusual facts, in relation to this past year, are, I believe worthy of particular note in this report. Among them the facts brought out by the annual report of our adjutant as to the average attendance at Post meetings which has shown a material increase over recent past years. The following figures of attendance at certain meetings were particularly gratifying to the Commander.

Meeting for the nominating of officers 1927, 50
Annual meeting 1927 45
Meeting for the nominating of officers 1928, 85
Annual meeting 1928 83
Meeting for the nominating of officers 1929, 80
And it is apparent that at this, the annual meeting of 1929 there are at least 75 members present.

We have had the privilege, during the past year, of welcoming many guests to our Post meetings including, at our meeting Oct. 4, 1928, Past Department Commander of Massachusetts, Gen. Charles H. Cole and Past Middlesex County Commander Thomas F. Quinn of Natick who so kindly served as our installing officer. At the meeting held Oct. 25 we were fortunate in having as a guest Horace G. Ford, a member of the Cincinnati team of the National League and a resident of Winchester as well as Past Middlesex County Commander John D. Crowley who told us of the experiences of the delegates at the National Convention of the American Legion then recently held in San Antonio, Tex. The November meeting was in the form of a dinner at which we were honored by a visit from the Commander of Middlesex County, Comrade Norman C. Singer of Wakefield. The meeting held Dec. 12 was one of the largest held during the year in the matter of attendance, at which time we were glad to welcome as a guest Arthur French, captain of Harvard's victorious football team as well as Dave Gauruarcia and Sam Burns of the Harvard football squad and our friends Robert M. Guild and Joseph R. Pendleton. At this meeting we also had as our guests, members of the High School football squad and a number of members of the Legion All Star team which played such excellent football on Armistice Day.

Alex MacLean was our guest at the meeting held Feb. 7, and on March 7 we had the privilege of listening to our own Comrade as speaker of the evening, Lawrence Lombard.

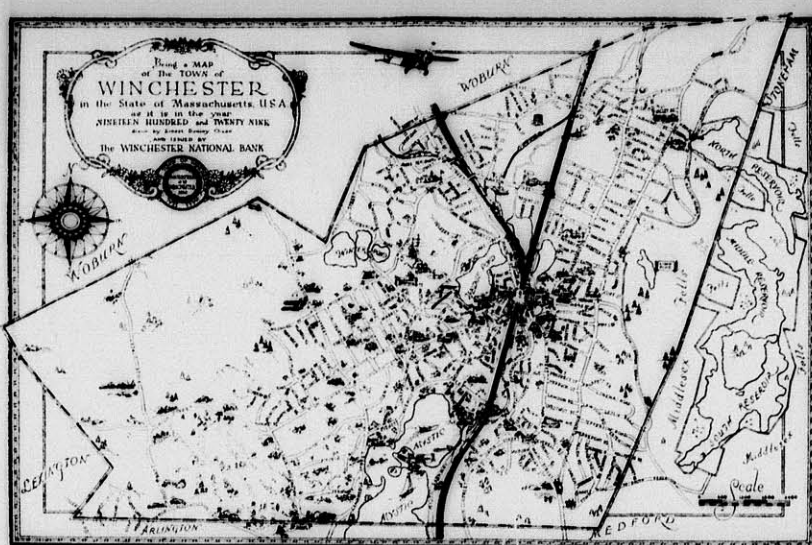

The meeting held April 4 was the largest in attendance during the year, at which meeting our guest was none other than the well known "Bill" Cunningham. Thomas M. Fallon, Commander of our District 5 of Middlesex County also paid us a visit at this occasion.

During the past year the Post undertook to run many and varied affairs. We put over an Armistice Day celebration on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of Armistice Day second to none held in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts which included participation in patriotic assemblies of Winchester school children, the showing of the moving picture, "Old Iron Sides," in the Town Hall, band concert and appropriate exercises at 11 o'clock in the morning of Armistice Day, the firing of a 21-gun artillery salute and a parade of antiquities and horrors in the afternoon, the like of which had never been seen in Winchester. A football game on Manchester Field between a team composed of Winchester High School alumni against the former professional Woburn Cardinals, which attracted one of the largest crowds ever, up to that time, to Manchester Field for a football game, was the feature of the day and in the evening a truly successful dance and Armistice night frolic.

We ran for the first time in Winchester a professional wrestling exhibition in the Town Hall which was attended by a large and very enthusiastic gathering of sport fans and which we have been repeatedly asked to repeat. We put on an all Winchester Post Legion baseball team composed of many stars of former High School teams, which played against the present high school team on Manchester Field Saturday, June 8, which demonstrated to the townspeople of Winchester as well as to the players themselves that the Winchester Legionaires are still a match for the High School athletes and, last but not least of our major undertakings, we took charge of the Town celebration of Independence Day including a monster carnival, huge bonfire, a public track meet for the school children of Winchester, an open air dance, model airplane contests, a whippet race, a doll carriage parade and the finest display of fireworks seen in Winchester on the occasion of July 4 for many years which attracted the largest number of people ever to have been known to gather for such an affair in Winchester. Each of these affairs produced a somewhat smaller amount of profit than we anticipated but it is the sincere hope of your Commander that we gave the citizens of Winchester and vicinity enough in value on these occasions so that the succeeding administrations may be able to successfully repeat all or a portion of the undertakings of this year and in making their plans tread on ground previously travelled by us and therefore be able to show a larger proportion of material profit to the Post.

We renewed this past year the practice of initiating applicants for membership in Winchester Post. We conducted a larger and more interesting annual bridge tournament. The largest and most representative group of 1st members ever to turn out for a similar affair, attended a special memorial service in the Congregational Church in connection with Memorial Day. Our Memorial Day exercises were well conducted and well attended in spite of the excessive heat of the day. We attempted to organize a rifle team which took part in several unofficial competitions and which may serve as a foundation for other years. We succeeded in collecting many rare war enlistment and liberty loan posters which it is hoped will be properly displayed at Post headquarters. We appointed a moving picture officer who took pictures of our several public appearances in Winchester which are the property of the Post and will be preserved for frequent showings in years to come. We not only made a gain in membership as shown on the Adjutant's report but gained the active and enthusiastic support of many of the older members of the Post who had not for a number of years taken an active part in the affairs of the Post. We arranged for the presentation by the Post of the Henry Duncan cup to be awarded each year to the championship baseball team among the elementary schools. We, as a Post, took a more active part in the affairs of Middlesex County Council and sent a larger group of delegates to its meetings. In all we pulled together, we did something and we hope have, and deserve to have, a greater respect of the citizens of the Town of Winchester as well as a closer comradeship among ourselves and a greater feeling of power that lies in this Post to accomplish many things for the good of the community, a State and Nation.

In conclusion now that the dues for the coming years have been increased to $5 and a welfare fund created which will be under the control of the will have been completed and you are cordially invited to step in and view for yourself the great improvements which have been made for the convenience of our customers and friends.

As a memento of the occasion, we have issued an interesting ILLUMINATED MAP OF WINCHESTER measuring about 18x25 inches, printed on the finest quality Strathmore Japan paper and suitable for framing. One of these maps is yours for the asking and you will know and love our beautiful town the better for owning one.

THE WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK

In the Square, opposite the Common

Welfare officer and the commander of the Post, I have only a few recommendations to leave with the Post at this time.

I recommend that a proper number of delegates and alternates to the State Convention be elected at the beginning of the Legion year, not as heretofore just prior to the State convention, and that it be the duty of these delegates or alternates to attend not only the State convention of the Department of Massachusetts, but also to attend the various meetings of Middlesex County Council and such other meetings in the Department of Massachusetts at which Winchester Post should be represented, that such delegates and alternates will serve for the entire year for which they are elected. That the baseball game between the Legion and the High School held last year be repeated annually until such time as none of us are able to stagger on to Manchester Field to match athletic ability with the younger generations. That the Post undertake some appropriate observance of Christmas for the benefit of the children of Post members as well as the poor of the Town. That we continue with our collection of war posters and that they be suitably preserved for the Post. That we continue with some form of initiation ceremony for applicants for membership into the Post. That we continue with some form of public observance of Armistice Day, Memorial Day and Independence Day. That we continue the practice of taking moving pictures of the activities of the Post and that these films be preserved for future years and that we continue to improve ourselves as Legionaires by more closely following our obligations as set forth in the preamble to our constitution.

BLACKHAM—THOMPSON

A wedding of much interest here was that solemnized in St. Aidan's Church, Brookline, at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, Oct. 3, when Miss Mary Evelyn Thompson, daughter of Mr. Thomas A. Thompson of 115 Westbourne terrace, Brookline, became the bride of Joseph A. Blackham of this town, son of Mrs. Margaret Blackham of 13 Salem street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Garrity of St. Aidan's who also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. Only members of the immediate families of the young couple were present.

Miss Thompson was married in a tailored traveling costume and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Joseph T. McCauley of Brookline. Mr. Blackham had for his best man his brother, James W. Blackham of Winchester.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father and a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Blackham are to spend their honeymoon in Europe and upon their return will make their home in Brookline. The bride is well known among Brookline's younger set and is a graduate of the high school in that town. Mr. Blackham was graduated from the Winchester High School in 1914 and is a member of Winchester Lodge of Elks. His is associated in business with the Boston office of the International Mercantile Marine Company.

Flavio Rolli of Winchester, who last year attended Eastern Maine Conference Seminary at Bucksport, Me., is now enrolled at Boston University and is playing quarterback for the B. U. freshmen. Advance newspaper reports have had some favorable things to say about "Wop's" work thus far with the Terrier youngsters. The local flash has plenty of speed and has taken on weight since his high school days.

TUBERCULOSIS CHRISTMAS SEALS READY FOR DISTRIBUTION

There are just 12 weeks until Christmas! While you are planning for a successful and busy social season the workers in the offices of the tuberculosis associations are planning to launch upon the most tremendous seal sale to date. Five million, five hundred thousand seals are in the offices of the Southern Middlesex Health Association awaiting distribution to the local committees where they will be folded and inserted into letters to be sent to the residents of Winchester.

Mrs. Mary Carpenter is chairman of the local Seal Sale Committee. Last year under her leadership we raised $1184.36, an increase of $111.36 over the amount raised in 1927. This year we have made $1300 our goal. Fifty per cent of the total raised is spent right here in our own community.

The rest goes to the different branches of the tuberculosis association to carry on the great work. In 1928 we were able to send eight boys and girls to the summer health camp maintained by the Southern Middlesex Health Association in Sharon. A follow-up worker makes contact with the parents of the children and helps them to follow out the suggestions which were learned at camp. A health education worker is maintained by the association who helps the teachers in the schools, gives out health information, and who co-operates with clubs in making people health-minded.

Keep these facts in mind and when the letter containing the seals arrive Dec. 1, buy as many as you can.

GALLAGHER—GILL

Rev. Fr. John P. Gorham of St. Charles Church, Woburn, officiated at the wedding in St. Charles Rectory last Saturday evening, Sept. 28, when Miss Mary A. Gill of 7 Edgehill road, Woburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gill of Ireland, became the bride of Patrick Gallagher of 253 Swanton street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gallagher, also living in Ireland.

Miss Gill was attended by her sister, Miss Sarah Gill of Woburn, and Mr. Gallagher had for his best man, John Gallagher of this town.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white crepe, her tulle veil being arranged with a cap of Duchess lace. Her shower bouquet was of brides' roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Sarah Gill wore Nile green crepe with silver point d'esprit and a transparent velvet turban to match. Her bouquet was of talisman roses.

Following the ceremony a reception to more than 100 guests was held in Veterans' Hall, Woburn, Patrick Breen and Patrick McGreal serving as ushers.

A wedding supper was served and at its conclusion Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher left for an extended honeymoon to be spent at Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will make their home at 78 Hemingway street, Winchester.

Angelo Ghirardini, ex-high school football star, is again a member of the varsity eleven at Worcester Academy. Last season big "Gerry" played a regular guard for the Worcester prep school, having been switched over from the halfback he used to play at high school.

JAMES ROGERS

James Rogers, eight-year-old son of Police Sergt. William H. Rogers and Annie A. (Parsons) Rogers of Grayson road, died Sunday afternoon, Sept. 29, at the Winchester Hospital, following a three-months' illness.

James was born in Winchester and had completed two grades in St. Mary's Parochial School. He was popular with his schoolmates and during the long days of his illness at the hospital won the affection alike of both nurses and physicians. Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, the Misses Helen and Isabel Rogers, and by two brothers, George and William Rogers, all of Winchester.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning with a solemn requiem high mass celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of the church, was celebrant; Rev. Fr. WINCHESTER WRITER BUYS SUMMER HOME IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

According to old settlers of Melvin Village, N. H., Thomas Dreier, Winchester author and editor, has broken the luck of the Thompson families who vowed when they settled years ago in the picturesque New Hampshire town that their farms should never go out of the Thompson name.

Now Mr. Dreier has broken this long standing precedent which has endured through a succession of Thompson families and farms on the so-called Mountain road. The Winchester writer had to promise Asa Thompson's widow, if she would sell to him, that he would preserve the old farm buildings and so it was that the Thompson chain came to be broken.

Reports from Melvin Village state that residents there are welcoming the Dreiers with open arms since it has been noised abroad that the author of "The Vagabond Trail," "The Silver Lining," "The Devil of Fears" and "Heroes of Industry" is so interested in his new purchase and in preserving its old traditions that he has repaired and is using the 100 bushel corn house which has been a landmark on the Asa Thompson farm for 100 years.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Mrs. George H. Hamilton has just returned from Indianapolis, where she attended the 55th Annual Convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union as one of the 18 delegates from Massachusetts.

The convention marked a high point in the history in temperance and prohibition, the most spectacular feature being the unveiling of a memorial tablet to the memory of Frances E. Willard in the rotunda of the State capitol of Indiana, the occasion being the 50th anniversary of her election to the presidency of the National W. C. T. U. which took place in Indianapolis in 1879.

The tablet was designed by Lorado Taft, famous American sculptor, who had made a bust of the great temperance leader from life. That bust is now in bronze in the Hall of Fame, New York City. The tablet was presented to the State of Indiana with appropriate ceremonies by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the National W. C. T. U. and received on behalf of the State by Governor Harry G. Leslie.

A fleet of airplanes circled the capitol building dropping flowers during the exercises. Five thousand children marched through the State House at the close of the exercises and placed garlands of flowers beneath the tablet.

Another high point of the convention was the receipt of a letter from President Hoover stressing the value of educational work in temperance. In answer the convention sent the President a telegram of appreciation pledging support to the Government and mentioning the educational plans for the coming year.

The proceedings of the convention brought to light the fact that Miss Louise M. Gross, organizer of the Woman's Moderation Union, one of the wet groups, claims a total membership over the whole United States of only 300 women. This was in striking contrast to the report of the national corresponding secretary which showed that in the past 10 months 50,000 new members have joined the W. C. T. U.

Dr. James Doran, prohibition commissioner, delivered an interesting address in which he used official figures to show a definite advance in law enforcement in the past year.

Stanley High, editor of the Christian Herald, was applauded by the convention when he said that temperance forces must not be sidetracked from the main issue which is whether or not the American people want to get rid of liquor. Special stress was laid upon continued education in temperance among the children through the public schools as well as temperance organizations.

Attention was called to the large number of children now in America born since the 18th Amendment who have never seen a saloon.

Miss Flavia Briney of New York, formerly of Winchester and a member of last year's graduating class at the local high school, was in town last week visiting friends.

WINCHESTER AT CONCORD TOMORROW

Coach Wendell D. Mansfield's Winchester High School football team plays its second game of the fall campaign tomorrow afternoon when the boys trek over to Concord to line up against Concord High at 2:30. It will be the first meeting in football between the two schools who have been for the past two years rivals in baseball and track.

Concord is going to be a tough hurdle for the locals who last Saturday at Stoneham showed flashes of defensive strength and possibilities for a good overhead game. Winchester had no running game to offer a week ago, but it is safe to say that the boys will be better tomorrow. Concord sprang rather a surprise when it played a tie game with Arlington last Saturday and many of the wise ones are picking the boys from the historic town to give the Red and Black its second straight defeat.

It hardly seems likely that Concord will present a stronger eleven than Stoneham, and barring an epidemic of defensive lapses on the part of Coach Mansfield's charges we look for a close game with the winning edge likely to go either way.

Don't forget, the game is being played at Concord. Advance notices had the battle booked for Manchester Field.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The Ladies' Friendly Society of the Unitarian Church will have its opening meeting of the season Tuesday, Oct. 8 in the Unitarian Parish House. The Executive Board will meet at 11:30 a. m., followed by a luncheon of all the members at 1 o'clock. The business meeting will open at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Malcolm Barrows, district director as the guest of honor, the speaker will be Mrs. Joel H. Metcalf with the subject, "Ramblings in Paris."

The Activities Committee are busy with a program, they have planned a Rummage sale to be held in Metcalf Hall, Wednesday, Oct. 16 with Mrs. Daniel Kelley and Mrs. Wallace Cooper in charge.

Mrs. Prescott Warren, the bridge expert has been procured to give lessons on Contract Bridge, the details and dates of this will be announced later.

THE RAILROAD IN CHARGE

Winchester Center Again Scene of Usual Obstruction

The regular upheaval of our center, through the digging up of the railroad crossing, opened last Friday. As this is a regular and continuous performance it might pass without comment except that it was more extensive than usual. On Friday afternoon there was the worst traffic jam in the history of the center. On Saturday night it was much greater. During the week jams have been frequent and only good fortune in preserving us from a serious fire on the west side and the watchful care of our efficient police force has prevented a record of disaster.

The usual cause was the occasion of the upheaval—a new road bed for the tracks. This time the old bed was excavated to a depth of three feet, drains were laid and great quantities of crushed stone used for filling. Thus far but one half of the crossing has been completed—or sufficiently so as to allow one aisle for auto traffic.

Last Friday, when the work opened, our center was a chaos. Trains, steam shovels and electric trucks, and automobiles, men, women and children, autos, go-carts and bicycles, were indescribably mixed into a milling mass striving to cross this steel barrier with only the north portion open. And with the constant backing and filling of a big railroad shovel and the passing of trains, this was more than a problem. Five police officers, including two sergeants, were stationed at strategic points and performed heroic duty in handling the immense traffic.

On Saturday the same conditions continued until midnight. Early in the evening it was impossible to describe it other than to say that lines of automobiles and trucks filled south Main street as far as Mystic avenue and Mt. Vernon street to the Baptist Church. Report has it that Church street was filled to the Episcopal Church, and north Main street to Cutters Village. Guests attending weddings in the afternoon and evening never arrived and the ceremonies were delayed. The Bacon and Swanton street bridges, nearly a mile south of north of the town, carried more traffic than at any one time since their erection.

During the week the conditions improved considerably. Everyone who could possibly do so avoided Winchester center. Even so it was a hazardous place to visit and took considerable time to pass, and the police had their hands full handling pedestrians, cars and autos. That there were no accidents is directly due to their watchful care, for women and children had no place to cross the tracks other than to mingle directly with the stream of motor traffic. Narrow escapes from injury were too numerous to mention, but credit should be given the operator of the huge railroad shovel for his skillful handling of the big bucket in ducking trolley wires and other obstructions which line the tracks.

An electric car took the top portion off one of the gates and the shifting locomotive ran off the track, while an express train scattered crushed stone as it rolled through. But these were only side lights and a mere nothing when compared to the moment when a huge truck laden with crushed stone lost its tail board and deposited a major portion of its load on the open side of the crossing.

At night the work ceased, and no work was done on Sunday. Apparently the town is hardened to conditions and well able to survive without night work or two shifts, and under such conditions it seems wholly feasible to have our center blocked off during the working hours.

It is said that the work will take two weeks to complete and that it is expected to last through the winter, but as no new rails have been laid during the past few weeks and the gates have not been dug up and repaired, and the last electric cross-over is still in place, this appears very problematical.

STIRRING SPEAKERS AT EVERY-MAN'S BANQUET

Prof. Robert E. Rogers, characterized as "a man with vital ideas," is to be one of the principal speakers at the monster dedicatory banquet which Everyman's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church is sponsoring for the evening of Friday, Oct. 18. In addition to Professor Rogers, Rev. Samuel Lindsay of Brookline, another speaker much in demand, is billed to appear, ensuring an evening alike of pleasure and profit.

It is expected that the Everyman's banquet will be one of the most brilliant events featuring the dedication of the new Baptist edifice. No efforts are being spared to make the occasion notable. Feeling that the entire community will welcome an opportunity to hear Professor Rogers and Doctor Lindsay, the Baptist men are extending a cordial invitation to all men of Winchester to be their guests on Oct. 18. The speaking will commence at 8:15 p. m. "Everyman Welcome."

Bean-blowers, noisemakers, lanterns, and a big line of masks at the Star Office.

GOVERNOR FRANK G. ALLEN

GOVERNOR ALLEN TO SPEAK AT DEDICATION

Chicago Editor Also to Speak at First Baptist Church

The new First Baptist Church and Parish House will be formally dedicated to "Civic Righteousness" at a great service next Sunday morning at 10:30. Addresses will be delivered by His Excellency, Frank G. Allen, Governor of the Commonwealth and Samuel J. Duncan-Clark, Editor-in-Chief of the Chicago Evening Post.

The cornerstone of the new church was laid by former Governor Fuller less than 18 months ago, and now to be honored by the presence of Governor Allen at this service of dedication is sure to arouse great local interest and bring together a large attendance.

Mr. Duncan-Clark has been editor-in-chief of the Chicago Evening Post for 15 years and has written a number of books of lively interest. He has spoken extensively all over the country on international, religious and social questions, and is president of the Civic Council of Chicago, at present conducting an intensive Law Observance Campaign in that great city. Mr. Duncan-Clark is president of the Chicago City Club and one of the leading citizens of the city as well as a great newspaper writer and may be relied upon to deliver a timely, patriotic address.

This service is open to the public and the entire church and parish house will be open to inspection at the close of the service.

On Friday evening, Oct. 18, the men of the church and congregation are to hold a dedicatory banquet to be followed by addresses by Rev. Samuel M. Lindsey, the popular and influential pastor of the Brookline Baptist Church, and Professor Robert E. Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The fame of Professor Rogers as a leader of advanced thought has spread all over this section of the country and his recent utterances to the effect that college men should be snobs, etc., have created wide-spread attention. The church will be open for inspection from 6 to 7 o'clock, at which latter hour dinner will be served.

On Sunday, Oct. 20, at 10:30 o'clock the final service of dedication will be held when the church will be dedicated to "Great Causes" with an address by that great leader of the national capital, Homer J. Councilor, S.T.D., of the Calvary Baptist Church of Washington, D. C., one of the outstanding figures in the church life of our day. Winchester is fortunate in having an opportunity to hear and see this outstanding religious leader.

ENTERTAINED FOR MISS GODDARD

Miss Molly Tufts of Stratford road entertained with a dinner and dancing party on Monday evening at the Winchester Country Club in honor of Miss Janet Goddard of Wolcott road, whose wedding to Bouldin Gaylord Burbank of Lowell, took place the next evening in the Unitarian Church. Covers were laid for the entire bridal party of 13, for Miss Goddard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Goddard, Mrs. Stephen F. Burbank of Whitier, Cal., mother of the bridegroom-to-be, and Miss Tufts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bowen Tufts.

The tables were arranged in a hollow square with pink candles gleaming among decorations of Talamas roses and fern. Ribbons of gold and silver were suspended from the ceiling of the dining room to effect a canopy above Miss Goddard's chair which was attached to that of Mr. Burbank with a large red bow. The place of the bride-to-be at the table was marked by a large bowl of roses and there were attractive place cards with individual verses for each of the guests. Corsage bouquets of roses were presented to each of the ladies and white rose boutonnières to the gentlemen.

Following the dinner the party was joined by a large number of guests for dancing. Music was furnished by the Barbary Coast Orchestra.

NOTICE

The changes in the hours for the various departments of the Unitarian Sunday School, to meet, are as follows: The Primary Grades, including the Kindergarten, the first, second, and the third grades, will meet at 10:30. The Junior Grades, including the grades from the fourth through the eighth, will meet at 9:20. The Metcalf Union, including all members in High School or its equivalent, will meet in the Meyer Chapel at 12 o'clock.

Selectman Harry W. Stevens is to represent the Board at the banquet and inspection of the plant of H. P. Hood & Sons Inc., to be held in Charlestown on Wednesday, Oct. 16.

CAMERON-MORSE

The wedding of Miss Kathleen Loretta Morse, daughter of Mrs. Edward Sumner Morse and the late Mr. Morse of 17 Lloyd street, and Arthur Harrison Cameron, of 7 Kenwin road, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cameron, took place last Saturday evening, Oct. 5, at 8 o'clock in the Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church, with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, officiating.

Miss Morse's maid of honor was Miss Ada Erickson of Boston and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Elmer Laird of Brighton, Miss Ida Foster of West Medford and Mrs. Ralph W. Hatch and Mrs. Conrad Larson, both of Winchester.

Mr. Cameron had for his best man Arthur R. Donaghy of Winchester. Stanley W. Mobbs, H. Harold Dover, Ralph W. Hatch and John F. Sharon, all of Winchester, were ushers.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin with a lace flounce and a veil of tulle held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Erickson was gowned in peach satin and carried sweetheart roses. Two of the bridesmaids wore frocks of coral satin and two, frocks of blue moire. Their flowers were butterfly roses.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parish house which was decorated for the occasion with chrysanthemums and palms. The bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Morse, Mr. Carl E. Morse, brother of the bride; and by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Isaman, the latter, sister of the bridegroom.

Upon their return from a wedding trip by motor to New York and Canada Mr. and Mrs. Cameron are to make their home in Winchester. Both are well known here. The bride is a graduate of the Winchester High School, class of 1919, and of the Winchester Hospital Training School. She is president of the Winchester Hospital Alumnae Association, Vice Grand of Victoria Rebekah Lodge of this town and a member of the En Ka Sorority. Mr. Cameron is a graduate of the Winchester High School and prominent in fraternal circles. He is past grand of Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows, a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons and athletic officer of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion.

SHOWER FOR MISS THORNTON

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Mary G. Thornton of 375 Cambridge street, Winchester, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. George H. Newcomb of 46 Kilby street, Woburn, last Saturday evening. It was a perfect surprise to the bride-to-be as she was enticed to the house by a fake errand. As she entered the lights were flashed on to show about 30 friends assembled. A big wedding bell was suspended from which Mrs. Thornton was showered with rose petals. When the young lady was somewhat recovered from her surprise she was seated before a large well, heaped with gifts of all descriptions which, when opened were greeted with exclamations of delight. The house was beautifully decorated, a well made to appear as if made of stone with well-sweep and bucket was surrounded with growing hollyhocks of dainty colors. A large wedding bell was suspended from a wired corner and the corner was filled with large real fir trees with hollyhocks standing in and about them. The centerpiece on the dining table was a large pillow of artificial violets, looking very natural and surmounted by a tiny bride and groom.

Dainty refreshments were served. Miss Thornton will be married on Oct. 19 to Mr. Windover R. Robinson of Winchester and they will be at home to their friends after Nov. 1 at their new home, 88 Sylvester avenue.

At last Friday's public installation of the new officers of Middlesex Chapter, Order of DeMolay, held in Masonic Apartments, Reading, the presentation of a past master councilor's jewel to George N. Siegars was made by Mr. Wilbur S. "Dad" Locke of this town.

ELLIOTT-HALE

With only a few relatives and some of the more intimate friends present to witness the ceremony, the marriage of Miss Eleanor Hale to Paul B. Elliott took place yesterday afternoon Oct. 10 in the First Congregational Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Hale of 10 Mason street. Mr. Elliott is the son of Mrs. Frederick William Elliott of West Newton and the late Doctor Elliott.

The wedding was planned to be as simple as possible, with Rev. Angus Dun, a professor at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge as the officiating minister. Miss Hale, who was given in marriage by her father, had no bridal attendants other than a little flower girl, Eleanor Hale Dun, who is her niece. Mr. Elliott had for his best man, Charles E. Zukoski, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala. Those who served as ushers were Edward K. Hale and Robert H. Hale of New York, brothers of the bride; Henry W. Dun, Jr., also of New York, her brother-in-law; John N. Worcester of Cambridge; Granville G. Garceau of Milton; William M. Austin and Nathaniel L. Harris, both of Dedham and Russell M. Sanders of Newton Center. A small reception followed the ceremony.

Mr. Elliott and his bride will make their home in Winchester, on their return from a wedding journey. Their engagement was announced in June of this year. Miss Hale is a member of the Sewing Circle and the Junior League of Boston. Mr. Elliott, a graduate of Harvard, class of 1919, saw service at the front in France with the American Expeditionary Forces during the World War.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

For the first time this year the double blade boys are traveling to a regatta, but will not dip a paddle. Tomorrow at the Charles River Basin, the New England Amateur Rowing Association is holding a series of rowing and paddling races. This is the first time that races have been run as late as Columbus Day. As all the canoeing events are for single blades, the Winchester boys must remain spectators only.

Tonight, Oct. 11, we will hold the last free club dance as next Friday, the 18th, the Tennis Committee is running a subscription party. It is hoped that a big crowd will enjoy both of these dances. Our last party was well attended and a big success.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

WINCHESTER AT ARLINGTON TOMORROW

Winchester High School plays the first game of its Mystic Valley League football schedule tomorrow morning at 10:15 against Arlington on the Spy Pond Athletic Field in the home town of the enemy. The contest marks the third out-of-town game in a row for Coach Mansfield's boys and incidentally is one of the season's battles the locals want to win. Year in, year out, Arlington and Woburn are the teams Winchester likes to topple.

On the basis of past performance the locals and their Spy Pond rivals are evenly matched. Both have played tie games with Concord and both have been defeated, Winchester by Stoneham and Arlington by Quincy, a team which Melrose whipped 25-0. Coach Mansfield's boys won a close game from Arlington in 1927 and played a thrilling tie with the Red and Gray a year ago Columbus Day.

We're going to string along with Winchester to win tomorrow and believe the locals will play much better football than they showed at Concord. The team will be handicapped by the loss of "Johnny" Morton, big left end, who is out of the game temporarily with a broken bone in his hand.

Winchester's injured list has been rather heavy and has included John Ghirardini, Wilmer Smith, "Joe" Flaherty and "Dick" Clark, players whom Coach Mansfield could have used to great advantage in both the games to date. "Gerry" and Smith may break into tomorrow's game and if so, will perk up the local backfield considerably.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE NOTES

WINCHESTER AND CONCORD PLAY TO A TIE*Last Minute Rally Gave Locals Well Earned Even Break

Little "Louie" Capone was Winchester's big hero at Concord last Saturday afternoon, when with about a minute left to play he booted a goal from placement to give the Red and Black a 7-7 tie with a big, potentially powerful Concord High eleven.

It was an exciting moment. Winchester and Concord rooters alike held their breath as the little substitute coolly took up his position behind the local rushline. Six big points had been placed on the Winchester side of the ledger, but the point after touchdown was necessary if Coach Mansfield's boys were to get the tie they so richly deserved.

Capone never faltered. Apparently disregarding the charging Concord forwards, he booted the ball between the uprights and across the bar as nonchalantly as if he'd been fooling with the "hebie-jebies" at a practice session. It was a pretty exhibition and especially for an untried youngster playing his first game. It meant the difference between defeat for the locals and what was about as good as a victory.

For Winchester had to come from behind to pull the game out of the fire and if the boys showed nothing else on the Emerson playground last Saturday, they displayed a never-say-die spirit which should carry them quite a way this season. After Concord had scored, few expected Winchester to come through and especially in the face of a couple of bad breaks which might well have broken the morale of a green eleven.

Winchester had whatever edge there was during the first half of the battle, though in the main the teams battled pretty much on even terms.

Once the Concord crowd was given an opportunity to yell when Mc-Grath, tall Red and White fullback, brake out into the open after slipping through a big hole in the right side of the Winchester line. A last ditch tackle, and a pretty one, by Capt.
"Bart" Godfrey was all that prevented a touchdown, but aside from this one thrust, Concord never seriously threatened.

Winchester was three times within the Concord 30-yard line and once missed a touchdown by the narrowest of margins when Cunningham of Concord recovered a punt which was blocked by the local rushline on Concord's 15-yard line.

Coach Mansfield's charges were in much the better physical condition of the two elevens, Concord having players incapacitated after nearly every scrimmage.

Winchester kicked to start the second half and after several ineffective attempts to advance the ball, Cunningham kicked to Dolan at Winchester's 30-yard line. Lee got 4 yards at tackle and Godfrey got away at left tackle for a 20-yard romp past mid-field. Godfrey was held at the line and Lee shot off a pretty pass which Captain "Bart" gathered in out at the right for a gain of 8 yards. A second pass was intercepted and it was Concord's ball on her own 20-yard line.

Then came a big break of the game for the Red and White. Cunningham punted away over Dolan's head and the ball rolled to the Winchester 5-yard line before Francis touched it down. Lee kicked short and high to Concord's Captain Garrett, who shook off several tacklers and was finally downed at the locals' 6-yard line.

Three times the big Concord backs lunged into the Winchester line and the quarter ended with the ball 2 feet from the local goal line, fourth down with touchdown to go.

The teams lined up in dead silence and Garrett attempted to break over outside Winchester's left guard.
O'Connell, Symmes and Lee hurled the Concord boy back for a 2-yard loss and Lee kicked to Winchester's 45-yard line.

Two linebacks made five yards, before Donovan knocked down a forward pass which had he intercepted,
he might have converted into a touchdown. A well executed lateral pass from McGrath to Cunningham took the ball to a first down on the Winchester 30-yard line. A forward pass made it first down 10 yards nearer the local goal line and two linebacks took the ball to the 15-yard line. On third down Cunningham skirted Winchester's left end and scampered 15 yards for a touchdown without a hand being laid upon him.

Cunningham kicked the goal and Concord kicked off to Godfrey who ran the ball back to his own 40-yard line. Lee crashed off tackle for a first down inside midfield and after two linebacks Godfrey got away for a first down inside Concord's 35-yard line.

Lee got 2 yards at center and then tossed off a pretty pass, covering 25 yards to left end, Donovan, who was all alone on Concord's 15-yard line.
Donovan, playing a new position, was over-anxious and lost the ball, for one of the tough breaks of the game for Winchester. Lee crashed off tackle for 8 yards, but fumbled when hit and Concord recovered on its own 20-yard line.

Winchester's rushline held fast and after three ineffective attempts to advance the ball Cunningham dropped back to kick. A high pass went over his head and he fell on the ball on his own 6-yard line. It was Winchester's ball, first down.

On a "spinner" play, Godfrey hit inside guard, plowing to the 1-yard line. On a similar play "Bart" failed to gain, and to make a bad matter worse, Winchester drew its only off-side penalty at this point.

The ball went back to the Concord 6-yard line, but big "Olio" Lee crashed off tackle, taking the leather to the 1-foot mark. On the next play Lee lunged over at center and as stated above, Capone kicked the goal.
Winchester kicked off and after two running plays the final whistle sounded.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Winchester Girl Scout Council met Tuesday afternoon at the home of the Commissioner, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall on Lawrence street, to plan the activities for the winter. Many plans were discussed and among those voted were, a picnic at Cedar Hill, Oct. 19; a mid-winter rally; a Captain's course to which all eligible women are invited; particulars to be given at an early date; a class in horsemanship, etc.

The Drum and Bagle Corp met Monday night and a full corp reported to begin the season all in correct uniform, shiny bugles and tightened drums and a real spirit of "out for the junior championship in May" prevailed. Mr. Frost of Lexington and Mr. Quimby of Reading have returned to us to teach bagle and drum with Captain Parker as corp manager and Anita Wilson as Drum Major.

All Scout troops were started Thursday, Oct. 10.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Prohibition Can Be Enforced
So says Mabel Walker Willebrant, former United States assistant Attorney-General.

"The mere fact that prohibition closed 178,000 saloons where liquors might be obtained night or day in almost unlimited quantities, is the outstanding proof of prohibition's worth. No one will seriously contend that the majority of people approve or fail to condemn the business of bootlegging. No one will seriously contend that bootleggers, however, numerous they may be, are selling as much liquor as the old saloons. How many of my readers, or their friends, well knowingly entertain a bootlegger in their family circle? The sale of intoxicating liquor has not only been outlawed by law, but in the hearts and minds of the majority of the people of America. That one fact makes it possible to say with assurance that prohibition can be enforced."

Mrs. Harold F. Meyer entertained the Leland Powers School Alumni Club at her home on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Leland T. Powers was the guest of honor and speaker. Mrs. John Devine of Lexington and Mrs. William Rainsback of Newton were the pourers.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH TOWER CHIMES

BAPTIST CHURCH DEDICATION ACTIVITIES

The activities of Dedication Week were marked by two extremely pleasant social events. The ladies' tea, at which Mrs. Harry Sanborn, Mrs. Daniel Linscott, Mrs. Edmund Sanderson and Miss Eunice Friend poured, was given under the auspices of the Women's League, of which Mrs. William A. Snow is president. The success of the occasion was due largely to the committee consisting of Mrs. Snow as general chairman; Mrs. Charles Burnham and Miss Mary Fitch in charge of decorations; Mrs. Clarence Warren and Mrs. Foster in charge of refreshments; and Mrs. A. H. Abbott in charge of music. The officers of the League, assisted by Mrs. Benjamin Browne, were in the receiving line. The many guests who thronged the Parish House were charmed with the beauty of the building and the hospitality of the ladies of the church.

The Young People's banquet on Friday evening was a great success also, Jerome W. Gates taking the role of toastmaster with great skill and nearly 200 young people being present. "Hank" Goudy, and three other members of the Boston Braves, together with "Art" French, proved to be delightful guests and interesting speakers. Rev. Grady Feagan was the special guest and speaker of the evening, while greetings were extended by Mr. Clarence Warren, Mrs. Benjamin Browne, and Miss Eda Knowlton. The supper was in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. Leonard Waters, chairman; Mrs. Alfred Friend, Mrs. John Gilbert, Mrs. Avard Walker, Mrs. Claude Perkins, Mrs. Harry Mitten, Mrs. John Finger, Mrs. Gustave Josephson, Mrs. Harry Moulton, Mrs. A. H. Dalrymple, Mrs. Grant Clark, Mrs. George Bigley, Mrs. William Cobb, Mrs. H. G. Kempton, Mrs. John Lutes and Mrs. W. A. Snow. This committee was assisted by the Dedication Banquet committee, Mr. W. A. Snow and Mrs. Guatave Felber.

Appreciation was heard Sunday of the beautiful silver Communion Service presented to the church by Mr. Alexander MacDonald and his three daughters: Mrs. A. O. Weld, Mrs. Laurance Nutting and Mrs. Winchester, in memory of their mother, Louisa Dupee MacDonald.

Putting the Church School in the forefront of the building rather than in the rear was warmly praised by Rev. E. C. Herrick in the course of his brilliant address on Sunday morning, as the most recent advance step in Religious Education.

Many extra seats were needed to accommodate the throng attending the Service of Dedication to Music, when Francis Snow, Organist of Trinity Church, Boston, interpreted the works of the Masters on the beautiful organ given in memory of Frederick A. Sanborn by his son, Harry C. Sanborn and family. The recital was punctuated by the playing of old hymns on the rich-toned tower chimes, the gift of Mrs. Emily Ewer and family in memory of Rev. James K. Ewer.

GRADUATING EXERCISES OF WINCHESTER HOSPITAL SCHOOL

Friends of the graduating class of the Winchester Hospital filled the Wyman School hall Tuesday evening, for the graduating exercises.

After a word of welcome and of commendation for Miss Torrop, Superintendent of the Hospital, and for the Training School personnel, Mr. Fuller, President of the Hospital, introduced Prof. T. Hayes Proctor, Ph.D., of Wellesley College, the speaker of the evening. Professor Proctor gave a splendid analysis of his philosophy of living to the graduates. He said that in this age of prosperity, there is a general roseate optimism, a Saturday Evening Post optimism where the hero and heroine live happily ever after and the villain meets his just deserts. But this is bad preparation for life for this world was not made for personal satisfaction. In reality it is a world of scarcity and many disappointments, and one must build up spiritual reserves so as to face life courageously and in the right spirit. Never to admit bitterness into the soul, but to cultivate self-mastery and fortitude is to achieve a sense of worth-while living. Interpret success, not in terms of possession and prosperity, but of personality.

Miss Torrop's message to her graduates was as inspiring and simple—a plea to apply the very best in them to their duties, no matter how trivial, and to represent their hospital and school in their truest sense. She then gave a resume of the progress of the Training School during the past 12 months. At the beginning of the year there were four outstanding deficiencies:

1. Application with another hospital for better medical and pediatric experience.
2. Better equipment for the classroom.
3. More experience in special diet work.
4. Models for demonstration in the lecture room.

All these defects have been remedied. The Training School now has six months application for study in medicine and pediatrics with the Bellevue Hospital in New York and also has application with the Boston Psychopathic.

Through the generosity of the Rotary Club it has a lecture-room with reference library books, windows shaded for lantern-slide demonstration and new anatomical charts. And through the efforts of a group of women, formed with the improvement of the Training School as their special interest, it has a classroom equipped with water and gas, sinks and cabinets, linen, etc. The Alumnae have added an up-to-date teaching unit consisting of a bed, bed-side table and chair.

Other gifts have been $200 from the Visiting Nurse Association as a nucleus for endowment and a yearly scholarship gift of $300 from Mrs. Carrie L. Mead to some graduate of the school for a six week's summer course in advanced training-school instruction at Columbia.

The pupils themselves have done their bit by giving a bridge, the proceeds of which purchased teaching models of the eye and ear.

Another source of great satisfaction is the New York registration, which the school has gained this year. As may be seen by the program below, no small part of the evening's pleasure was contributed by the musicians: Mrs. William A. Lefavour, Annette Symmes Hughes, Anne Rivolo and a quartet of student nurses.

MAHER—FITZGERALD

Yellow tea roses made attractive altar decorations for the wedding, solemnized in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning, Oct. 5, when Miss Frances Gertrude Fitzgerald, daughter of Mrs. Patrick E. Fitzgerald and the late Mr. Fitzgerald of 165 Washington street, became the bride of Robert Emmett Maher of 75 Oakland street, Malden, son of Mrs. Patrick Maher and the late Mr. Maher. A cousin of the bride, Rev. Fr. John B. Creedon, S. J., of Boston College, performed the marriage ceremony and the nuptial mass which followed was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach of St. Mary's Church.

Miss Fitzgerald was attended by her sister, Mrs. Thomas Bane of Winchester, and Mr. Maher had for his best man Joseph Hennigan of Malden. John Donahue of Malden and Joseph Reardon of Arlington were ushers.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin in period style. Her cap-shaped veil, trimmed with orange blossoms, was held in place by a narrow string of pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Bane was gowned in pale yellow georgette and wore a brown picture hat. Her flowers were yellow tea roses and blue larkspur.

A reception was held from 10 until 12 noon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Patrick E. Fitzgerald, who assisted Mr. and Mrs. Maher in receiving. The house decorations were white autumn flowers with chrysanthemums and astors. After the reception Mr. Maher and his bride sailed on the S. S. City of Chattanooga for a honeymoon in Savannah, Ga. Upon their return they will make their home in East Malden at 88 Fellsway.

The bride is well known in Winchester through her former association with the local Board of Public Welfare. She is a graduate of the Winchester schools and of Burdette College, and at the time of her marriage was associated with the Boston Banking House of E. H. Rollins & Sons. Mr. Maher is general sales manager of the Riverside Boiler Works of Cambridge. He is a past president of the Quincy Club of Malden and is a member of Malden Council, 105, Knights of Columbus.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

No matter how much money a man may possess, he cannot buy back yesterday.

It isn't your position, but it is your disposition that makes you growl and smile.

When you loose your head hold your tongue.

If you make a gift and keep talking about it, it ceases to be a gift.

Money comes hard and leaves like quick silver.

DO YOU WANT IT?

That anyone who has witnessed conditions in Winchester center during the past week can ever honestly and conscientiously advocate a bridge, either over or under the tracks at that place, to eliminate this railroad crossing seems impossible. It has furnished about as good an example of what would happen if such a plan were carried out as we could have if the scheme actually existed. Thinking people all over town had come to the conclusion that a center bridge (either one) was unwise. Now everyone has had opportunity to witness what it would mean. If any Winchester merchant can visualize increased trade under such conditions, there is something the matter with his acumen. If any resident can imagine it a more convenient (?) or safe (?) method of crossing over town, he too, needs medical attention. The struggle to cross the square has been terrific. Everyone who could possibly do so has kept away from it. Imagine these conditions on a side hill—as would be the case with the center raised! Imagine these conditions with a culvert beneath an express train—as it would be if the tracks were raised! Impossible! Then why spend thousands of dollars building such a monument to wreck our beautiful town? The Kellaway Plan, endorsed by the STAR and the town at large, appears by far the best solution in elimination. If Winchester merchants want increased business—there is the way to get it. If Winchester residents want safety—and that is the predominant reason for the elimination—the Kellaway Plan provides it to a degree far in excess of any proposed scheme among the hundreds supplied. Winchester should unite on the Kellaway Plan and present a solid front, and we should rid our center of this constant upheaval in a way which will improve rather than spoil forever the attractions nature has bestowed within our borders.

Parents of boys playing football should see to it that the youngsters do not neglect minor injuries which, if let go, may assume serious proportions. If a boy is hurt in a game or at practice he should be examined immediately to ensure the proper treatment for his injury, both for his own sake and for the sake of his team. The right treatment at once may return the injured player to the game in a few days where neglect may keep the boy on the sidelines indefinitely. The coach does his best to secure proper care for his charges, but the boys' fear of removal from play makes them chary of reporting their hurts. The squad doctor makes a quick examination on the field and requests the injured youngster to see his family physician, but the thought that the latter may refuse to permit him to play keeps the boy from doing as he is bid. It's another job for the parents. See to it that the boys report their injuries, both to the coach and at home, and if the coach recommends an examination by a physician, make it a point to have the examination made. Make the youngsters understand that neither coach nor physician will keep them unnecessarily out of play and drive home the point that prompt treatment of the proper sort will return them to action in the shortest possible time, ready for duty. An incapacitated star is of no use to any one.

CALUMET NOTES

The opening dinner took place last Saturday evening and the committee was very much pleased to see such a large crowd. The dinner was fine, being a roast beef dinner with all the fixings, ice cream and coffee, all for $1, including the entertainment. The dinner was prepared by Fred Scholl and he lived up to his usual good reputation in preparing such a bounteous feast.

President Ernest Chase was in his chair and welcomed the members. He spoke of the efforts of the club to provide entertainment, to promote good fellowship and then outlined what was in store for the coming season. He then called the meeting to consider various proposed amendments to the By-Laws regarding non-resident membership. There was some discussion by various members, but the matter went through very smoothly, with the result that non-resident members would be allowed to "choose" the class they wanted.

President Chase then introduced William L. Little, the new chairman of the entertainment committee and he gave us a draft of the intentions for the coming year. It looks as though Calumet was going to have a very busy season. Mr. Little's first entertainer for the evening was one which the boys seemed to appreciate, judging by the applause which she received. Miss Jordan had a fine voice, a pleasing personality and her various songs were well rendered.

Judge John W. Whalen, who was killed as coming from Culver City, Calif., gave us a talk on "How Does the West View the East?" The Judge delved right into his subject in a strenuous manner and before his audience awoke, he had been able to put across some talk about the East which was of a very disparaging nature. He had his audience squirming in their seats and some of them even seemed to be on the point of interjecting. There was no applause. Even our town of Winchester came in for his knocks and he branded us all as "fixers." He said he did not believe there was one in the audience who had not tried at some time or other to fix the police, the courts or someone whenever we were in trouble. However, we were all very much pleased when he sat down and the Chairman announced that he hoped we wouldn't feel embarrassed because the Judge was none other than Grover Whalen of "The Players." Afterwards Mr. Whalen told us some very interesting stories in a highly dramatic manner.

Doctor Hindes led the singing in his usual pleasing manner and he was able to keep his audience in a singing mood. "Doc" Akins also sang (his favorite ditties). Fred Strachan of Strachan's Orchestra, Boston, was at the piano.

"Specialist" Holbrook Ayer proved to be a fine reader from the book.

Among those present were:

George H. Akins	Floyd N. Hankins
Earle E. Andrus	Arthur S. Kelley
Holbrook E. Ayer	Daniel Kelley
Thomas A. Barnard	Daniel J. Kelley

And also a number of guests and prospective members were present.

The ladies' afternoon bowling, in charge of Mrs. Thomas A. Barnard and Mrs. Vernon Hall, proved most successful on Tuesday. A large number of ladies turned out and competition ran high. The prizes were awarded as follows:

1st—Mrs. Hall. High single flat with 93.
2d—Mrs. Simonds. High single with handicap with 85 and 18, making 103.
3rd—Mrs. Barnard. High two string flat with 108.
4th—Mrs. Boothby. High two string with handicap with 144 and 42, making 186.

The annual winter bowling tournament will open on Tuesday night, Oct. 15, with an entry of 24 teams. From this date until the 5th of May, three matches an evening will be rolled on all open dates. A change is made in the schedule this year in that each team will roll every other team. In recent years the teams have been split into two divisions, the winners of which have met for a final roll-off at the close of the tournament.

Many of the old teams have been entered as units and many new teams will appear this year. The usual system of handicaps will prevail, making the rolling an even contest regardless of any great variation in the ability of the contestants. Bowlers are to be re-rated after their seventh and 14th match. Five team prizes and eight individual prizes, will be awarded to winners.

The tournament will close with the usual dinner, at which time the prizes will be awarded. This dinner will be paid for by the members of the 12 lowest teams.

The composition of teams and the opening matches on the schedule are as follows:

Miss Marjorie Davidson of this town was one of the servers at a tea, following the wedding reception of Dr. Duane Herbert Claridge and Miss Alys Scott Ramsdell at Nashua in the First Church Tuesday afternoon.

The Bonnell Motors Company of Main street, local agency for Ford automobiles, held its annual banquet at the Hotel Statler, Boston, Tuesday evening with Ralph Bonnell as toastmaster. Addresses were made by T. Edmund Garriety of the Sun Life Insurance Company, by Andrew Schifino of the Colonial Auto Exchange, Woburn; Albert Burgess, research engineer of the Standard Oil Company; George Corbett of the Bonnell sales force and Service Manager Martin Foley. Following the banquet the party attended the performance at the Schubert Theatre.

The Winchester boys, not previously noted in these columns who are carrying on as members of the football squads at their respective educational institutions, are "Dick" Murphy and "Pete" Coss. The former is playing football at Grinnell College, Iowa, while "Pete" is among the candidates at St. Anselm's. Both were three letter athletes at high school.

The recent presentation to St. John's Lodge of Masons in Boston of a souvenir from the historic frigate, "Constitution," to perpetuate the memory of Edward Preble, Stephen Decatur and the hundreds of other Masons who served on the famous gunboat is of local interest because of the fact that the relic was presented by a Winchester man, Lieut. George H. Bahr, U.S.N., secretary of the National Old Ironsides Committee who makes his home on Mt. Vernon street. The gift was made to St. John's Lodge, the oldest duly constituted Masonic Lodge in America, in recognition of its generous donation to the fund for rebuilding the famous frigate.

On Monday, October Seventh The Remodeling of the Banking Rooms of the Winchester National Bank

VISITATION OF RESERVOIRS OCT. 12

In order that the residents of our town of Winchester may more fully appreciate our domestic water supply system, the Water and Sewer Board extend a most cordial invitation to all townpeople to make a tour of the reservoirs by auto Saturday from 1 to 5 p. m., Oct. 12. On entering please go by the way of the Mystic Valley Parkway and South Border road at its beginning.

During the past 11 years by order of the town there have been planted upon this remarkable water shed 315,000 evergreen trees of 11 different varieties as advised by our state forester. Science has proven that the deciduous trees require and consume much more water under the head of transpiration than do the coniferous. The leaves of all vegetation are the lungs through which life must operate.

Our former state forester Mr. F. W. Rane stated not long ago that every pound of leaves of the hardwood growth required 470 pounds of water to produce the same, whereas the foliage of the coniferous requires but 43 pounds of water to produce one pound of the foliage that falls from its limbs. Hence conservation of the water upon our water shed is of much importance.

A second consideration is that of sanitation and a third important factor is that of preservation. The state department of public health has stated that we have practically speaking the only water shed where there is not and never can be a human habitation.

This is a remarkable time of the year to see nature in all of its beauties. We hope that many people will make this tour of ten and one half miles for their own edification.

EPISCOPAL CLERGY IN WINCHESTER

The Rt. Rev. Charles L. Slattery, D.D., Bishop of Massachusetts, held at the Church of the Epiphany, on Oct. 8 and 9, a Quiet Day for his clergy, of whom some 150 were in attendance. The Bishop and the clergy were in close fellowship throughout the whole time, save the night, when about half the number were guests of various members of the parish. Supper, breakfast and luncheon were partaken of in the Parish Hall, thanks to the gracious and efficient hospitality of the Church Service League, headed by Mrs. Carpenter and assisted by Mrs. Begien.

The day began with Evening Prayer at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon followed by a consideration of the preparation of candidates for Confirmation and the missionary work of the Church, which were made subjects of both prayer and thought.

On Wednesday morning, Bishop Slattery celebrated the Holy Communion, assisted by Bishop Babcock, Archdeacon Dennen and the Rev. Truman Hemmway. Throughout the morning the two subjects of preaching and the use of the new Prayer Book were considered. Doctor Sullivan of Newton Centre read a stirring and enlightening paper on the vital place of preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God. Bishop Slattery, who was Chairman of the Committee on Revision, led in the consideration of the new Prayer Book. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon Evening Prayer was again read, followed by Bishop Slattery's sermon. The day closed with prayers and the Bishop's blessing.

EPIPHANY MEN HEAR DISTRICT ATTORNEY BUSHNELL

Eighty-five men, one of the largest gatherings for some years, was present Monday evening at the first fall meeting of the Epiphany Men's Club in the church parish house. An appetizing dinner was prepared and served by ladies of the church before the business meeting which was presided over by the club's new president, Donald Heath. Rev. Truman Hemmway, rector of the church, spoke upon the significance of the American visit of Ramsay MacDonald, British Premier, and announced that a made of an illustrated lecture to be delivered before the club on Nov. 4 by A. A. Northrop who will speak upon the new Conowingo reservoir and dam on the Susquehanna River in Pennsylvania.

The speaker of the evening was District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell of Middlesex County. Mr. Bushnell held the close attention of his audience while recounting specific cases dealing with crime and criminals. He reviewed the administration of justice and the aims of his department in Middlesex County and explained the working of his police school for training in criminal cases.

The mid-week service will be held Wednesday evening at 7:45 in charge of Doctor Malech. There will be a brief, stimulating exposition of the 116 Psalm, entitled, "Impulses to Devotion," followed by general discussion.

All the men of the church who are interested in giving a minstrel show under the auspices of the Men's Club, are invited to attend a meeting in the parish house, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Business meeting at 2:30. A report of the national convention will be given.

GIRLS HOCKEY CLUB TO PLAY HIGH SCHOOL

The newly organized Girls' Athletic Club will open its hockey season Saturday morning on Manchester Field, meeting the high school girls' eleven at 9 o'clock. Many former high school stars are in the athletic club lineup and the school team will have to hustle all the way to turn the Alumnae back. Capt. "Dot" MacKenzie, "Fran" Pettingell, "Ginny" Merrill, Nancy Bradlee, Ruth Humphrey, Elsie Morrow and Annie Nelson are some of last year's championship eleven who will be in the older girls' group and this delegation makes the graduates look especially hard to "take." Coach Centerville has apparently developed a capable school team this fall and it goes without saying that the youngsters will go the limit to win on the holiday. Those who enjoy field hockey or who wonder what the game is all about would do well to get an eye-full of this meeting.

Beanflowers, jack-o'-lanterns, Halloween novelties, paper hats and napkins, party invitations, etc. at the Star Office.

EMBLEM CLUB NOTES

On Friday evening, Oct. 18 there will be a whist party and luncheon at the home of Miss Mary E. Mulrenan, 116 Washington street, Montvale, for the Emblem Club members and their friends.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 23 the "Vagabond Lover" will be found at the first annual dance of the "Smiling Two" in Lyceum Hall, Winchester. Leo Daley's Orchestra will furnish the music. This affair is in charge of Elizabeth B. Fitzgerald and Margaret Sullivan.

"Skoodles," newly acquired mascot of the high school girls' field hockey team was very much in the limelight at the Winchester-Arlington game at Arlington on Tuesday. His picture was prominent among those appearing in the Boston dailies following the game while the movie-tone reels also featured the picturesque "King Al" in five intriguing poses. The local girls look upon the pup as a real talisman and believe they can not lose, with "Skoodles" on the job.

LEGION NOTES

Fall activities of Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion are beginning to get under way. Plans for the next Post meeting, Nov. 7, call for a supper to be served at the Legion House, for an entertaining speaker, and for the showing of moving pictures taken by Comrade Nathan Thumim at the recent National Convention in Louisville. The evening's program will be in charge of the newly appointed House Committee, consisting of Vice-Commander Clifford Towner, chairman; and Comrades Theodore Godwin and Warren Johnston.

The celebration of Armistice Day, Monday, Nov. 11, will be under the direction of the following comrades, appointed as the Armistice Day committee by the Commander with W. Allan Wilde, chairman:

P. T. Foley Sewall Dunton
J. Warren Johnston Kenneth Hall
Ralph Hatch Thomas McKee
Guy Livingstone Wendell Mansfield
John Moynihan

While definite plans for the day cannot as yet be announced, they will include some of those features which made last year's observance such a success. Through the co-operation of the school authorities, the Watertown and Winchester High School football teams will play a regularly scheduled game on Manchester Field, at which game the Legion will be in attendance with its band. Between the halves, it is probable that spectators will be treated to a unique and more or less colorful spectacle, the nature of which must remain a secret for the time being. For the evening—the Legion hopes to sponsor in the Town Hall, not merely a Legion dance, but a community Armistice party. Winchester Post believes that on this day, of all days in the year, our townspeople should get together for a real community dance and good time. Other organizations in town will be asked to join with the Legion in making the occasion one long to be remembered.

Further news of proposed Armistice Day activities will appear in these columns from time to time. Winchester Post asks the support of all citizens in its plans to make the day an occasion for community get-together and enjoyment.

The following officers and committees were appointed by the Commander at the last Post meeting:

Welfare Officer—W. Eben Russell
Americanization Officer—Frank Zaffina
Public Officer—Arthur Cameron
Custodian of Colors—Stanley Mobbs
Publicity Officer—Arthur Harris
Sergeant-at-Arms—Russell Carroll

FOUR INJURED AS AUTOMOBILE STRIKES TREE

Police Headquarters was notified about 1 o'clock Sunday morning of an accident which had occurred on Cambridge street not far from the junction of Church and High streets.

Patrolman William Cassidy was sent to investigate and upon his arrival found a demolished Chevrolet coach, crowded against a tree on the right side of the road. Patrolman Cassidy learned that two young women and two men, occupants of the machine, had been removed to the Symmes Hospital in Arlington. At local headquarters it was learned that the coach was the property of Catherine Bresnahan of 25 Sheafe street, Malden.

At the Symmes Hospital the police were informed that two men who gave their names as Frank P. Bresnahan, of 25 Sheafe street, Malden, and John Russell of 31 Ash street, Somerville, had been admitted with two young women who said they were Helen Donovan of 35 Park street, Charlestown, and Mary C. McLean of Somerville. Russell was treated for a serious wound on his head, requiring 13 stitches. Bresnahan and Miss McLean had cuts about the head and Miss Donovan, cuts about the legs. The coach was towed to the Central Garage.

In reply to the questions of Patrolman Cassidy, Bresnahan stated that the car was the property of his mother and was being driven at the time of the accident by a man who was a stranger to him and whom he had "picked up" in Charlestown. His story was corroborated by Russell, but a conflicting story was told by Miss Donovan.

C. H. Allen of Central street, Wakefield, who took the four motorists to the hospital, stated that there were only four people in the car at the time of the accident and thought that Bresnahan was behind the wheel of the wrecked machine. As a result of their findings the Winchester Police secured a complaint against Bresnahan, charging him with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Saturday afternoon, Oct. 5, at a ceremony in the First Congregational Church in this town, Miss Edith Anna Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. M. Johnson of this town, became the bride of Mr. Ernest Leighton Parker of Quincy, son of Mrs. William McLaughlin of Raymond, Minn. The Rev. Howard J. Chidley performed the ceremony, and Mr. Johnson gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Jennie W. Johnson was her sister's maid of honor, and the two bridesmaids were Mrs. C. Meredith Ellis of Winthrop and Miss Molly May Oman of Houston, Texas. Miss Barbara Harper of Quincy served as flower girl. Mrs. Parker's wedding gown was made of white satin and her veil was of tulle. She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a dress of peach chiffon shading to coral, and shoes to match. She carried talisman roses and larkspur. The bridesmaids were attired in orchid and green chiffon dresses and their bouquets were talisman roses. The flower girl wore a peach-colored georgette dress, and carried a basket of flowers and a nosegay.

Mr. Emer Bruce Harper of Quincy was Mr. Parker's best man and the four ushers were the Messrs. C. Meredith Ellis of Winthrop, Stanley Rae Mackey of Arlington, Hubert Zeller of New Haven, Conn., and A. Alden Goldsmith of Reading.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony at the home of the bride's parents on Wilson street, after which Mr. and Mrs. Parker left on a honeymoon trip by motor. Upon their return they will make their home in Winchester. Their engagement was announced by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson on July 22.

TIED AT BELMONT SPRINGS

The open mixed foursomes tournament at the Belmont Springs Club, postponed during last week's play owing to the heavy rain, brought a Winchester couple into a tie for low gross. Mrs. Donald M. Belcher and Mr. Leonard Wood of this town played a medal score of 81 on Thursday, and in the play on Friday it looked as though they stood alone. Mrs. W. E. MacKay of Albermanle and "Bill" McPhail of Belmont Springs, however, equalled their mark on that day after failing at a good chance to better it. The latter couple, with a handicap of 7, won the best gross. Mrs. Belcher and Leonard Wood went out in 43 and in 38. Mrs. MacKay and McPhail were out in 39 and in 42.

WINCHESTER COLONY AT ST. PETERSBURG

The Winchester colony of winter visitors who will pass the cold months at St. Petersburg, Fla., through the coming season will be considerably larger than last year. through May.

Most of the Winchester residents who wintered there last season have already arranged for their return to the sunshine city. Among those who were there last winter were Mrs. S. B. Angevine, Mrs. Annie H. Blood, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Carlisle, Mrs. George W. Dearborn, Mrs. F. P. Douglas, Mr. Frank H. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fleming, Miss M. M. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Claude G. A Shorter Working Week For The Housewife

THE average housewife works more hours a week than a factory girl and most of her working hours are spent getting three meals a day and washing the dishes afterwards," reported Miss Hildegarde Kneeland of the United States Dept't of Agriculture, at the annual convention of the American Home Economics Association in Boston early in July.

True enough, but fortunately there's a happy, simple way to shorten the working week of the housewife. Gas, as used in the new Insulated Glenwood Gas Range, cooks quicker, easier, better than any other method ever devised. The Insulated Oven banishes baking failures. The Automatic Cook watches the oven while you're away at play and pleasure.

GARAGE WORKER INJURED WHEN AUTO CRASHED INTO ELEVATOR WELL

Sam Vendice of 59 Newburn avenue, Medford, was seriously injured about 6:45 last Saturday morning when his Buick coupe crashed into the elevator well at the Central Garage on Winchester place. Vendice, who is employed at the garage, had driven his car up the incline to the first floor of the building and apparently intended to place the machine upon the elevator.

The elevator was not on the street level and Vendice's machine crashed through the elevator guard rail and, plunging into the well, turned turtle to land, a splintered mass of wreckage, 25 feet in the pit below.

Other employees of the garage ran to police headquarters where Deskman John Regan, was preparing to go on duty. Officer Regan hastened to the lower level of the garage, which is occupied by the Winchester Nash Company, Inc., and ripping open the heavy fireproof doors of the elevator well jumped into the pit to Vendice's aid. The latter was imprisoned in the wrecked car which was so badly telescoped in its fall that reaching the injured man was a difficult task.

By sheer strength Officer Regan ripped off the entire side of the cab and assisted by Patrolmen James P. Donaghey and John Murray, who had followed him to the garage, succeeded in getting Vendice out of the car.

The latter was conscious but apparently badly injured. He was rushed to the Winchester Hospital in the police car by Patrolman Murray and Officer Regan. Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne, who was called to attend Vendice, found him suffering from a fractured skull, a back injury and multiple cuts and abrasions. His name was at once placed upon the hospital danger list, but his condition led the hospital authorities the rest of the week to hold out hopes for his recovery.

The coupe was completely wrecked and was an object of curiosity at the Nash garage during the entire week-end. How Vendice escaped death in the twisted pile of junk is one of those things defying explanation.

The first meeting of the Federation is to be held at the Unitarian Church at 4:30 o'clock on Nov. 10.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Music Committee

Members who wish to enroll for the course of lessons sponsored by the Music Committee in connection with the newly formed Glee Club will be able to secure all information by calling Mrs. Annette S. Hughes, Chairman, Winchester 1556. This course will be under the direction of J. Albert Wilson, who needs no introduction to Winchester, and whose name alone is a guarantee of the high standard set by the committee. The course will open on Tuesday, Oct. 29, and an early enrollment is desirable. Many of the clubs in the Federation have formed Glee Clubs this year, and with the exceptional local talent in the Fortnightly, Winchester should show to good advantage.

The Art Committee of the Fortnightly held its first meeting of the season with Mrs. Grace Holmes at her home on Fletcher street, on Wednesday, Oct. 2. Three members of last year's committee were guests. The year's program was discussed, and plans made for the meeting of Nov. 6, which promises to be most enjoyable. At the close of the business meeting, the hostess led the way to a charmingly arranged tea table. Before seating the group, Mrs. Holmes placed in the hands of the chairman Miss Mary Alice Fitch, a package, which on being opened, disclosed a lovely Carbone vase, a birthday gift from the group. Mrs. Holmes announced that the meeting and tea were a celebration of Miss Fitch's birthday. The chairman expressed her thanks to the 1928 and 1929 members of the committee, stressing the fact that she felt encouraged for the year's work, and that she was unable to adequately express her appreciation.

Laurence Clark, a former Winchester boy and nephew of Mr. J. T. Clark of Wildwood street, was in town last week looking up old friends. Mr. Clark is now located temporarily in Boston while engaged in an advertising campaign for a New York concern. Mr. Clark's family made their home in Winchester on Stevens street and will be remembered by older residents of the town. The young man reported a noticeable change in Winchester since he last saw it 15 years ago.

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON HOCKEY OPENER

The Winchester High School girls' hockey team won its first game of the 1929 season Friday afternoon on Manchester field, defeating Wellesley High School, 5-1.

At the opening whistle Winchester immediately rushed the ball into Wellesley's territory, but although several attempts were made to cage the ball, the Wellesley goalie's quick foot and stick work kept the ball out. However, it was not long before left wing Janet Nichols, after dribbling the ball down the field shot across the goal to "Marge" Kendrick who caged the first goal of the season. Muriel Carr, veteran center forward scored the second point for the Winchester team. The visiting team then rallied and Anita Nelson beat Captain Mercer for Wellesley's only point of the game.

The Winchester girls then settled down and proceeded to sew up the game by making two more goals before the half ended.

Muriel Carr, after dribbling the ball from the 50-yard line, made the third goal of the game and soon after "Marge" Kendrick scored the fourth point.

When the two teams came back on the field for the second half, Wellesley buckled down and Winchester was only able to score one goal. "Midge" Brown, right wing, shot the last goal from the midst of a scrimmage in front of the visiting goal. Wellesley succeeded in keeping the ball in Winchester's territory most of the time during the last ten minutes of play, but "Pug" Mercer, agile Winchester goalie, never let the ball get by her.

Miss Centerville's girls worked well together. Muriel Carr and Janet Nichols on the forward line played excellent games. The celerity with which Caroline Nichols, left half back, followed up the ball was noteworthy, while Mary Cutter, right fullback and "Pug" Mercer showed up well in their defensive positions.

The summary of the first team follows:

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Dance of Life," which the big Granada Theater in Malden will offer for seven days starting tomorrow, is the ultimate in perfection in the talking motion picture medium. It has everything that makes thrilling, gripping entertainment. Hal Skelly, who originated the role of Skid in the stage production "Burlesque," from which the "Dance of Life" is adapted, continues this part in the motion picture production. Nancy Carroll, red-headed beauty of "Close Harmony" and "Abie's Irish Rose" fame, is the featured woman player. Other favorites in the cast are Dorothy Revier and Al St. John. "The Dance of Life" combines the two latest achievements of the screen, sound and color. Six original song hits were written for the production and many old time and popular songs are heard throughout the picture. New dances originated by the leading dance masters of the country are seen for the first time in the "Dance of Life." This big picture opens at the Granada on Saturday with special shows on Sunday.

Miss Rose Geoghegan of 121 Sylvester avenue, whose marriage to Anthony B. Bruno of 24 Chester street is to take place on Oct. 27, was tendered a miscellaneous shower at her home on last Sunday evening. More than 100 guests attended and enjoyed an entertainment program featured by vocal and instrumental music and a mock wedding.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

"Hey Rube," the feature picture playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden, is a production of carnival and circus life which has as a climax the plunge of a feminine high-diver through a barrier of fire. The swirl and riot of carnival life is enriched by a whimsical love story between Trevor and a small-town girl, portrayed by Gertrude Olmstead. Thrills are plentiful and the scenes wherein Trevor swings from a rope attached to the pinnacle of a ferris wheel and rescues Miss Olmstead, who is caught among the flames at the top of a high diver's ladder are breathtaking in their suspense. Also the high diving by Ethlyne Clair represents something new in cinema thrills. The second feature on this program is the last episode of "The Final Reckoning" starring Buffalo, Jr.

"It Can Be Done," starring Glenn Tryon will be the feature playing at the Orpheum Theatre for the first three days of next week. Tryon portrays the part of a young man who is possessed of a devastating inferiority complex, and consequently undergoes the trials and tribulations that are the lot of all persons afflicted with an excess of timidity.

The adventures that befall him form the theme of one of the cleverest comedies that has ever been filmed. Bewitching Sue Carol has the feminine lead. "Guilty" the second feature on this program is a fast action melodrama that holds the interest from the opening scene until the final fadeout.

One Point of View

To be angry is to revenge the fault of others upon ourselves.

in the evening when it is very easy to reach out-of-town friends by telephone.

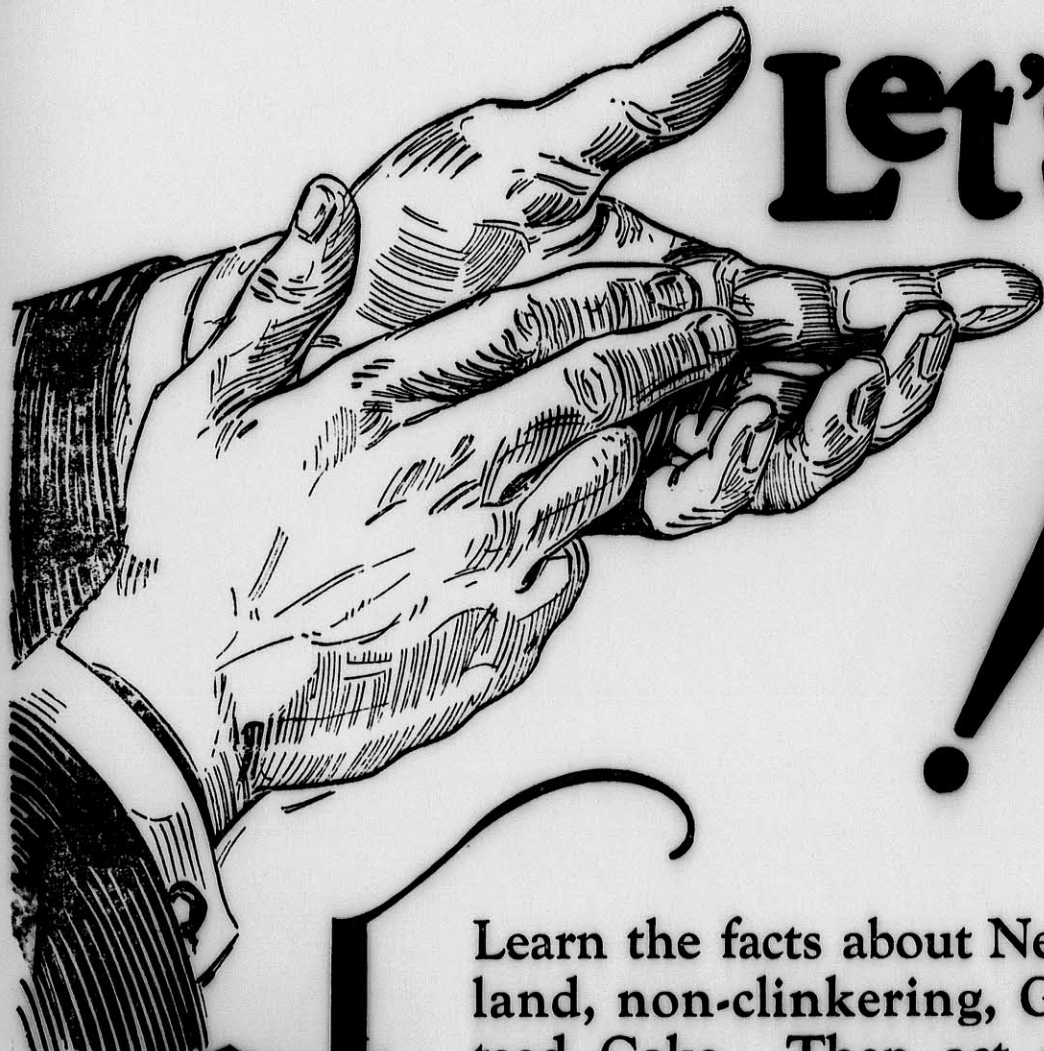

The family hour after dinner, before social engagements call them away, is the real "telephone hour."

To add to your pleasure, a low evening rate is in effect from seven to eight-thirty. On calls by number at distances above forty miles, the rates are about one quarter less than normal day rates.

Traffic records show that a greater percentage of calls can be completed promptly in the period from seven to eight-thirty than at any other time in the evening.

Plan your social calls during this period. We are sure you will be pleased with the speed and economy of this evening service.

BURBANK-GODDARD

At a largely attended ceremony in the Unitarian Church Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, Miss Janet Goddard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Goddard of 12 Wolcott road, and Boudin Gaylor E. Burbank, son of Mrs. Stephen E. Burbank and the late Mr. Burbank of Whittier, Cal., were married by the Minister of the Church, Rev. George Hale Reed. The marriage took place at 8 o'clock in a most attractive setting of white Chrysanthemums and Tulasia roses.

Miss Goddard was attended by her sister, Mrs. Craven H. Coulter of Clinton, as matron of honor and by Miss Molly Tufts of Winchester who was maid of honor. Miss Louise Stinson of Arlington, Miss Esther Abercrombie of Brookline, Miss Marjorie Groves of Rockland and Miss Constanta Greco of Winchester were bridesmaids. The flower girls were Miss Dorothy Dean Fry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell T. Fry of Brookline and her cousin, Miss Katherine Lee Withington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop Withington, also of Brookline.

Mr. Burbank was attended by a Harvard classmate, Francis Clark of Amesbury, and the corps of ushers comprised Richard Belster of West Newton, Dudley C. Lewis of Honolulu, Richard B. O'Reilly Hocking of Cambridge, William Stephens of Plymouth, all classmates of Mr. Burbank at Harvard; and Craven H. Coulter of Clinton.

The bride wore a gown of ivory panne satin, princess style, with a yoke of alencon lace. Her cap-shaped tulle veil, trimmed with lace and orange blossoms, had previously been worn by Mrs. Leon Keach of Brookline, a bride of last June, and her bridal bouquet was of valley lilies and orchids. Mrs. Coulter's gown was of old blue taffeta and Miss Tufts, wore corn color taffeta. Both honor attendants carried Tulasia roses as did the bridesmaids, two of whom wore gowns of pink, and two, gowns of orchid taffeta. The flower girls' frocks were of pink crepe de chine.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parish house which was decorated with Tulasia roses. In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. Burbank, the honor attendants and the bridesmaids. The wedding journey is to take Mr. and Mrs. Burbank by motor through Northern New England and upon their return they will make their home at 4 Chester street, Lowell, where the bridegroom is associated in business with the Hub Hosiery Mills.

The bride is widely known in Winchester's younger set. She attended Wykeham Rise at Washington, Conn., and was graduated from the Cambridge Haskell School, later attending the Bouve School of Physical Education. Mr. Burbank prepared for college at Punahou Academy, Honolulu, and was graduated from Harvard with the class of 1928. His clubs are Pi Eta, Varsity, Hawaiian Club of Harvard and Harvard Club of Boston.

WINCHESTER GIRLS DEFEAT ARLINGTON RIVALS, 2-1

The Winchester High girls won the second hockey game in their schedule on Tuesday afternoon, when they defeated Arlington 2-1 on their opponent's field. The first half of the game was played in two ten-minute periods with a two-minute rest period in between. The last half was one playing period of 15 minutes.

During the whole game, play was divided pretty equally between the two ends of the field, first at one goal then at the other. At the beginning of the second quarter Muriel Carr, Winchester's center forward, took the ball the length of the field only to have brought back to her own goal line where Capt. "Pug" Mercer kept it out of the cage with her steady and certain stick-work. Two penalty corners finally resulted in a good shot for Arlington by its left wing, Helen Cartullo. Winchester's forward line held then till the end of the half.

Soon after play was resumed again, the ball was dribbled up the field by right wing, Marjorie Brown and passed in for a nice pick-up and a long shot for a goal by Muriel Carr. At about this point the game noticeably gathered speed and play raced frantically back and forth for several minutes causing a good deal of anxiety for both goalies and onlookers. Then just in front of the Arlington goal a pass was made to Janet Nichols, left wing, who put in the winning goal. After that the game was soon ended with the score 2-1 for Winchester. This was only a practice game, but nevertheless, it has significance, since for the last two years Winchester, winner of the Northern Division has had to play Arlington, the Southern Division titlist for the Mystic Valley Hockey championship. Between the halves of the first team game the Arlington second's defeated the Winchester seconds, 7-0.

The summary of the main game follows:

WINCHESTER	ARLINGTON

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

Tuesday the Ladies' Friendly Society opened their season with a most enthusiastic and large meeting. At 11:30 a. m. the Executive Board met and at 1 o'clock every table in Metcalf Hall was filled with ladies at a dainty luncheon prepared under the direction of Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Robbins.

The general meeting was held in the Sunday School room and opened with Mrs. Robbins' reading two poems, "The Arrow and the Song" and "Each in His Own Tongue" with such expression and feeling her brief words of explanation were unnecessary.

Dr. Mary T. Maynard, the president gave a greeting of welcome to all members present and asked for a minute of bowed silence in tribute to the memory of the members lost from this life during the year. As the first speaker in the group giving "Impressions from the Star Island Conference" Doctor Maynard told of her interest in the Departmental Conferences of Alliance Week and the help she obtained for her year's work. Mrs. Hayden who was also present during Alliance Week spoke of the welcome and reception to delegates. Mrs. Cooper who was a delegate during the week of Religious Education in Sunday Schools spoke of the great advantage of the Spirit of the Shoals to our Young People, and Mrs. Miller present during general conference week spoke enthusiastically of the spirit of the Shoals and the ground for a broader faith given her. Mrs. Jessie Donoghue, president of the Boston Branch Alliance, who was toastmistress at the Shoals' banquet summed up the spirit of the Shoals as the greatest influence in the Unitarian denomination. Each speaker spoke of her great privilege to attend this conference and inspired their audience with the desire to become a Shoaler.

Mrs. Malcolm Barrows, district director of the General Alliance was present as the guest of honor, she stressed the work desired for the year and asked the Winchester Alliance to regard her as a "friend in need."

Mrs. Robbins spoke briefly of the work of the State Committee of Social Service at its booth at the Eastern States Exposition held in Springfield during the summer.

The ladies were delighted to have their former, late pastor's wife, Mrs. Joel Metcalf with them for an afternoon's talk on "Ramblings in Paris" gleaned from her recent winter spent there. Sensing a homey atmosphere with her many, old friends, Mrs. Metcalf entertained them with a very personal narrative, which she termed "Iy," but for this very nature was doubly interesting to the ladies. Women are especially eager to hear details and here the stay at home Winchesterite obtained an intimate idea of life as lived in a French pension in the student quarter of old Paris.

Mrs. Metcalf showed just what the cafe meant to these residents seeking knowledge. She spoke of the exhibitions of modern and beautiful paintings, the opportunities to attend concerts and operas cheaply and the beautiful masses held in the churches on Xmas Eve. She described many places of historical interest and depicted Paris as a world of history, mystery and romance.

HOMER J. COUNCILOR, S.T.D.

FINAL SERVICE OF DEDICATION

The final service of dedication of the new First Baptist Church will be held next Sunday morning at 10:30 when the church will be dedicated to "Great Causes." The address will be delivered by Homer J. Councilor, S.T.D., of the Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, D. C. Dr. Councilor is also dean of the School of Religious Education in Washington, President of the Organized Bible Class Association and intimately connected with all great religious movements having headquarters in the national capitol. Dr. Councilor is one of the most powerful and convincing platform speakers of the day and no one can afford to miss hearing his message. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

On Friday evening, Oct. 25, a great thanksgiving will bring to a close a most remarkable series of dedication services and the members of the church and congregation are meeting together for a great love feast. A fine turkey dinner will be served and there will be an excellent entertainment and informal speeches. There will be a reception from 6 to 7 o'clock and dinner will be served at 7.

Tonight the men of the church and congregation are to hold a dedication banquet in the parish house, after which there will be an entertainment and addresses will be delivered by Rev. Samuel M. Lindsay, pastor of the Brookline Baptist Church, and Prof. Robert E. Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whose fame as a leader of advanced thought and whose recent utterances have caused wide spread discussion.

WILLIAM ALBERT TWOMBLEY

William Albert Twombley, a lifelong resident of Winchester, died early Wednesday morning, Oct. 16, at his home, 81 Wildwood street, following a week's illness with pneumonia.

Mr. Twombley was the son of Samuel W. and Eliza (Dugan) Twombley and was born in Winchester 76 years ago. For some years he was in business as a florist, but more recently had been associated as salesman with the Stone, Hall Company of Boston. He was widely known among the older residents of the town and was a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Eva Twombley; three daughters, Alice F., Helen M. and Eliza W. Twombley, and one son, William A. Twombley, all of Winchester.

Funeral services were held on this Friday afternoon in the Meyer Chapel at the Unitarian Church with the Minister, Rev. George Hale Reed, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Vincent Ambrose is enjoying a vacation touring Canada.

GILLIBERTO-FRONGILLO

Miss Sadie Frongillo, daughter of Mrs. L. J. Frongillo of 46 Harvard street was married to Anthony Gilliberto, son of Mrs. A. F. Gilliberto, of 336 Washington street yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's Church. The mass was said by Rev. Conrad J. Quirbach.

Miss Henrietta Penta of this town was maid of honor; Angelo Ficocciello of Boston, best man. Bridesmaids were the Misses Carmela Cheffalo, Nellie Intinerelli, Mellie Penta, all of this town, and Catherine Crivello of Revere.

Ushers were Frank Frongillo, brother of the bride; Sam Corby, Vito Russo and Nick Gigliotti, all of this town.

The bride wore white crepe satin, with a tulle veil. She carried roses and lilies of the valley.

A wedding breakfast was served in the home of the bride's mother. The church was decorated with potted plants and cut flowers. The house was decorated with flowers and crepe paper.

A reception was held last evening from 5 to 11 in Waterfield Hall. Upon their return from a honeymoon in Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Gilliberto will make their home in Winchester.

NEW PLAN FOR HANDLING AUTO ACCIDENTS

A new plan for relieving the courts of the congestion caused by automobile accident suits was yesterday proposed by Dunbar F. Carpenter of Ravine road, this town, and a well known Boston lawyer, in appearing before the special commission created by the Legislature to investigate the operation of the compulsory automobile liability insurance law.

Mr. Carpenter proposed the establishment of a new tribunal to hear all such cases, on agreement of the plaintiff in each instance, which would consist of a judge and two advisory laymen. He would have five superior court justices and 20 district court judges assigned to this work, with 25 such courts established in various sections of the state. A system of this kind, he said, could dispose of at least 7500 cases a year.

Under the plan a plaintiff could elect to have the case tried in one of the new courts, or could obtain a jury trial in the superior court on payment of a special $25 jury fee. Mr. Carpenter contended that if a plaintiff was informed that a judgment was unlikely in the superior court for more than a year, he would be glad to go before the new tribunal.

MISS MacKENZIE ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. MacKenzie of Washington street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Hazel, to Dr. Raymond F. Bresnahan of Stoneham. The wedding date has not been set.

ENTERTAINED FOR BRIDAL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. John Tredennick of 8 Sheffield West gave a buffet dinner at their home last evening in honor of Miss Annette E. Mason of Lloyd street, whose marriage to J. Danforth Bush of Wilmington, Del., takes place in the Unitarian Church tonight.

The entire bridal party were guests arriving for dinner following the wedding rehearsal at the church. With them were Miss Mason's mother, Mrs. Howard C. Mason, Miss Grace Mulowney of Brookline, Miss Nancy Clark of Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. George Winchester of Wilmington, Del., Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Fenno of Winchester, Miss Linda Tredennick of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. Tredennick.

A large basket of pink and white roses with chrysanthemums made an attractive table centerpiece and the same colors predominated in the cut flowers arranged about the dining room. Following the dinner the party motored to Boston for dancing at the Copley Plaza.

Today at noon Mrs. Howard C. Mason entertained the immediate families of the bride and groom-to-be at dinner at the Winchester Country Club where the decorations were Talisman roses. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Craig Suter of Wilmington, Del., Mr. and Mrs. Henry McComb Bush of Charlottesville, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. C. Reginald Oates of New York City.

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH CAFE CONCERT

The Annual Cafe Concert, which is anticipated each fall with interest and pleasure, will be held in the assembly hall of the church on Friday evening, Oct. 25.

There will be the usual excellent musical offerings, in the form of instrumental and vocal selections, and in addition there will be other entertainers who will provide much amusement.

Refreshments will be served during the intermission and there is quite a choice of good things.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

The Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League held one of the most-largely attended meetings in its history yesterday afternoon in the spacious home of Miss Elizabeth Downs on Arlington street. The Circle's President, Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, graciously welcomed the many new members and introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Stanley Ross Fisher of Wellesley. Rev. Mr. Fisher spoke upon "Personality," pointing out its true value and treating his subject in an intensely interesting manner. He was enthusiastically received and the members of the Circle are looking forward to hearing him again. Juliet Stacey Shaw displayed a beautiful soprano voice and much interpretive skill in singing the following group of songs: "In the Quiet of the Woods," "Oh, My Beloved Daddy," "French Blue" and "The Awakening." For an encore she sang the lovely Vespers with words by A. A. Milne. Faye H. LeFavour was the accompanist. Tea was served by Mrs. George Goddu and her committee, rounding out an afternoon of pleasure and profit.

President Roscoe Wallace of the Rotary Club is in Minneapolis this week.

CALUMET NOTES

Last Friday evening, Calumet opened the bridge season with a dinner, followed by cards. While many a member had taken advantage of the double holiday and vanished into the hills of New England, yet 40 or 50 highly pleased people left the club, when the evening's festivities were over.

The card committee received the hearty thanks of all who came and charming prizes went as follows: 1st, Mrs. Paul Budgell; 2nd, Mrs. George Purrington; 3rd, Mrs. Booth; 1st gentleman's, Doctor Cunningham; 2nd, George Purrington; 3rd, Harold Meyer.

Monday evening the 14th, came the spirited pool and billiard contest, under the direction of Allan Wilde and from all accounts, those who participated, not only had plenty of enjoyment, but got in some much needed practice.

Tuesday afternoon last, a very small, but select, group of ladies, enjoyed bridge and Mrs. Vernon Hall carried away the first prize with Mrs. Arthur Kelley second; Mrs. Edson Dewey, third; and Mrs. Lindsay Caldwell, fourth.

Under the direction of Arthur Kelley the first men's bridge tournament of the season was held Wednesday evening and the second such event will take place on the evening of the 23rd.

All ladies are invited to bowl on the 22nd at 2 p. m. sharp, there will be light refreshments and plenty of fun and exercise.

While there will be a Mystic Valley tournament on Oct. 28 it will not be at Calumet as previously announced, see Star next week for place.

Many are already planning costumes for the annual Halloween party, which of course takes place on the 31st. All club members and their families are invited.

Mystic Valley League

It was necessary to make a few changes in the opening dates of the Mystic Valley League of the scheduled, the Calumet Club will visit Central Club on Monday, Oct. 28, the opening night.

Kennwood Club will not be at Calumet Club the opening night as first scheduled.

This change became necessary in order to fit the Malden schedule with the amateur Boston League.

MRS. ELIZABETH WHEELER

Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, widow of James Wheeler and for the past 45 years a resident of Winchester, died Monday night in the Pondsville Hospital, Wrentham, following a long illness. She was 72 years old.

Mrs. Wheeler was the daughter of James McCrey and was born in Ireland. As a girl she came to this country and later removed to Winchester, her husband being for many years employed by the town. She lived for a time on Olive street but lately had made her home on Kirk street with her niece, Mrs. William Stevenson. Surviving are two sisters, one living in Woburn and one in Reading.

Funeral services were conducted on Thursday afternoon in the Church of the Epiphany with the Rector, Rev. Truman Heminway, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Ernest Della Donne of Boston, who conducts a business establishment on upper Main street, appeared in the District Court at Woburn yesterday morning, charged with operating an unregistered pharmacy. The complainant was Arthur Keating of the State Police. Donne was found guilty and was fined $5 by Judge Jesse W. Morton.

DEDICATION TO CIVIC RIGHT-EOUSNESS

Perhaps the greatest of the three notable dedicatory services held thus far at the First Baptist Church was that of Sunday last, when the occasion was marked by the presence of His Excellency, Governor Frank Gilman Allen. Governor Allen paid a tribute to Christian motherhood, alluding with deep feeling to the fact that his mother was a Baptist, and made an eloquent plea for more Christian homes. He called the church, whether Catholic, Protestant, or Hebrew, the "bulwark of the nation." Mrs. Allen accompanied the Governor and added much to the pleasure of the occasion by her charming personality. The Governor was ushered to his place by his personal aide and an escort with colors provided by the Winchester Legion.

Dr. Samuel J. Duncan Clark, L.L.D., Editor-in-Chief of the Chicago Evening Post, president of the Chicago Club, and of the Civic Council, profoundly moved his hearers by his impassioned eloquence, and by his statesman-like grasp of national and international affairs. He declared that Samuel O. Levenson of Chicago had originated the idea of the Kellogg Peace Pact, and that the conference in Washington between Premier MacDonald and President Hoover originated in the brain of a Chicago editor, Edward Price Phelps. Emphasis should be placed on law obedience, a concern of the individual, rather than on law enforcement, the concern of officials. Good citizens should be organized; know what they want, and how to get it. The technique of citizenship is undeveloped.

The decorations were attractively arranged throughout the church under the direction of Mrs. Earl Richardson. Many out-of-town visitors were present who took the opportunity to inspect the church.

WINCHESTER CHORAL SOCIETY FORMED

Sixty-five singers, representing Winchester and the surrounding communities of Stoneham, Woburn, Medford and Arlington, met Tuesday evening in the vestry of the First Congregational Church to form what is to be known in the future as the Winchester Choral Society. The new organization is the result of months of planning and hard work by a small group of public minded citizens who have long felt that there is a distinct place in the community for a musical society which will sponsor vocal music of a high grade and make it available for everyone.

Mr. J. Albert Wilson, who has been secured as director of the society, is enthusiastic over the possibilities of the group present at Tuesday's meeting. Most of the singers invited to attend the first rehearsal are trained vocalists, many now holding concert and church positions. Mr. Wilson's ability as a vocal director is too well known to need comment. He served the Church of the Epiphany for 20 years as organist and choir master, later serving as organist and choir director at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church. He is now filling a similar position at the First Congregational Church and is known throughout the district as a sound musician of proven ability.

After preliminary remarks by Mr. Wilson it was decided to organize and a committee was appointed to draft by-laws and to return nominations for officers. This committee, the members of which are Mrs. Celia Eames of Woburn, Mrs. Lila Martin of Stoneham, Mrs. Gertrude Sharkey of Medford and Mrs. Idabelle Wunning, Louis E. Goddu and Clifford Cunningham of Winchester, is to meet tonight and will report its findings to next Tuesday's meeting of the entire chorus.

Tentative plans call for the society to give perhaps two concerts a year and it is hoped to interest music lovers generally in the support of so worth while a project. Messrs. T. Grafton Abbott, Harry C. Sanborn, John E. Page and Frederic S. Snyder are sponsoring the society which is to be strictly a community affair with membership limited only by the vocal ability of the applicant.

Francis E. McHugh a member of the freshman class, in the school of B. A. at Northeastern University, who lives at 10 Canal street has been elected vice-president of his class. Mr. McHugh was very active in football and basketball during his high school career.

WINCHESTER PLAYS FIRST HOME FOOTBALL GAME TOMORROW

Winchester High School plays its first home football game of the 1929 season on Manchester Field tomorrow afternoon when it will meet the eleven of Belmont High at 3 o'clock.

Coach Mansfield's boys have been coming along nicely, if a bit slowly, and last Saturday against Arlington showed flashes of really good football. The home team's record to date includes a 14-0 defeat at the hands of Stoneham, a 7-7 tie game with Concord and a 13-7 victory over Arlington. The improvement in the team has been steady and unless Belmont has one of its good clubs this year "Polly" Harris' boys will find the going a bit rough tomorrow.

Belmont has not been getting into the headlines to any great extent this season and we figure the locals have a good chance to finish out in front in Saturday's battle. Coach Mansfield is likely to start the same line which answered the opening kickoff at Arlington; comprising "Cliff" McNeil and "Eddie" Hitchborn, ends; "Hoss" Symmes and "Bob" Welburn, tackles; "Bill" O'Connell and "Dan" Smith, guards; and "Don" Emery, center. Captain Godfrey will start at one halfback with Henry Newman opposite and "Olio" Lee at fullback. Frank Dolan will bark signals.

Aside from its being the first home football game of the season the occasion is likely to be memorable because of the fact that seats in the stands will cost 25c apiece. Permission has been secured to charge for the privilege of sitting down at the games and the police have had orders to keep everyone off the bleachers who can not show tickets. This ruling should operate to the advantage of the school treasury and will be welcomed by those who have been unable to buy seats in past years because of a crowd of youngsters who have been filling most of the available places in the stands long in advance of those who would have been glad to pay for them.

REV. SYDNEY B. SNOW TO HEAD THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL

The many friends of Rev. Sydney B. Snow, D.D., learned with interest of his induction on Thursday as president of the Meadville Theological School, of which he has been acting head since the spring of 1928. The induction exercises concluded the biennial conference of the American Unitarian Society which opened at Chicago on Tuesday and were particularly impressive. Rev. Mr. Snow is a native of Winchester and was educated at the Harvard Divinity School and served for a time as pastor of King's Chapel in Boston, later holding pastorates at Concord, N. H. and Montreal.

Miss Ruth Elder, who has recently returned to Winchester from an extended European trip, spoke Tuesday evening at the First Congregational Church on the theatres of Germany and Russia.

MISS AVERY'S LECTURES

Miss Eunice Avery's current events lectures which start here Nov. 12, promise to be of even greater interest than ever this year.

Miss Avery has spent a most interesting and unusual summer, having visited India by way of London and Paris. While in England the election campaign was under way and in France the Briand ministry was succeeded by that of Monsieur Poincare.

With the aid of the British foreign office, the India office and many friends Miss Avery met all kinds of opinion in India. In Bombay it was her good fortune to meet and talk with Mr. Gandhi, later she had tea at the house of Pandit Nehru, president of the All-India Congress and at Allahabad she called in a typical Purdah home in a mud village.

Miss Avery spent one morning with the first Indian woman to be admitted to the bar in the United Provinces. She travelled in the Rajput with its camels, its State elephants and wild peacocks, its native princes and child mothers, and through the lovely vale of Kashmir, flowering among the snow-capped Himalayas.

Miss Avery was the guest of missionary and lawyer, business man and journalist and talking with them got their viewpoints on India's future. It is, Miss Avery feels, a critical time in India's history and the next two or three years will be the test of relations between the white and colored races, the East and the West, and it all affects our own American future in the Philippines, China and the evolving East.

It is a land of contradiction and contrast, a land that combines the Arabian nights and motor lorries, a land that has the most interesting schools in the world at Srinagar, the most beautiful gardens in the world at Shalimar and one of the most vital problems in the world, England's India.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

Deserting comedy for straight dramatic roles, Karl Dane is now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden, in a picture that is proving conclusively to his many admirers that he is a true master of character creations. The picture is "Voice of the Storm," a melodrama of the telephone service in which Dane plays the role of a heroic linesman, eager in battle as he is in jest. Sharing honors with Dane are Hugh Allan as his buddy, Martha Sleeper as his buddy's sweetheart and Theodore Von Eltz as the rival for the girl. The second feature on this program is next to the last episode of "The Final Reckoning" starring Buffalo Bill, Jr.

"Sally's Shoulders," the feature picture coming to the Orpheum for the first three days of next week, has been filmed from the serial written by Beatrice Burton which thrilled a nation of newspaper readers. It is the story of a girl whose shoulders carried the burden of an ungrateful family and whose lips carried a smile through all the heartaches and struggle. Lois Wilson portrays the role of Sally and is ably supported by an all star cast headed by Huntley Gordon and Lucille Williams. Surrounded by an excellent cast and with a story ideally suited to him, Hoot Gibson, irrepressible cowboy romeo will appear in "Smilin' Guns" as the second feature on this program. The supporting cast is headed by Blanche Mehaffey.

OBSERVED 91ST BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Eliza Purrington, numbered among Winchester's oldest residents, quietly observed her 91st birthday on Wednesday, Oct. 16, at her home, 161 Cambridge street. In deference to her wishes no formal observance of the occasion was attempted, but during the day there were messages of congratulation from old friends received at the Purrington home and many visitors, including six of Mrs. Purrington's seven grandchildren, living in this district; Mrs. William Edwards of Winchester, Mrs. Mary Kellogg of Somerville, Mrs. Clara Weeks of Somerville, George F. and Ralph L. Purrington of West Medford and Walter E. Purrington of Medford. The family gathering was enlivened by the cutting of a splendid birthday cake, according to the time-honored custom.

Despite her advanced years, Mrs. Purrington is in excellent health and retains her keen interest in life to a remarkable degree. During the 60 years of her residence in Winchester she has witnessed a remarkable change, especially in that section of the town in which she makes her home.

When she came to Winchester with her husband, the late Joseph Purrington, there were perhaps half a dozen houses between her home on what is now Cambridge street and the so-called center of the town. She lived first in a small house on the farm of Henry Emerson, situated approximately at the corner of the present Calumet road and directly opposite the original Wyman School on Church street.

Mr. Purrington, who died 12 years ago, was for some years Mr. Emerson's farm foreman before joining with his brothers Walter and Charles, and his son, George F. Purrington, in the operation of an extensive truck farming business with headquarters at the family homestead, then numbered 153 Cambridge street. In this house Mrs. Purrington has lived for 55 years and now makes her home with her son, the George F. Purrington mentioned above, who is engaged in the commission produce business in Boston.

Mrs. Purrington was born at Tamworth, N. H., and was married when 17 years of age at Albany in the same state. Besides the grandchildren spoken of there is another granddaughter, Mrs. Sarah Perkins of Fryeburg, Me., five great grandchildren and three great-great grandchildren. The STAR joins her many friends in wishing Mrs. Purrington many more happy birthdays.

WINCHESTER COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL NOTES

Blues Make Clean Sweep in Tennis Tournament

Monday the Blue team completely whitewashed the Orange team in the fall tennis tournament which opened the intra-mural athletic activities at the Winchester Country Day School. The victory gives the Blue team a five point lead in competition for the trophy awarded to the team scoring the most points during the school year.

Fessenden 24—Winchester C. D. S. O. In the first football game of the year, Winchester Country Day fell before a more experienced team from Fessenden. The game showed up the weak points of the team, and all the boys have been working hard this week to strengthen their play for the game Friday, Oct. 18 against the Penn School of Concord. This game will be played on the Winchester Country Day School field at 3 o'clock. Tuesday afternoon, Mr. John Cape, a former football player of note, spent the afternoon on the field where he discussed various points of the game for the players and aided the coaches in demonstrating various methods of tackling, blocking and charging.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Ten men in an English manor house, pursued by the weirdest, most uncanny enemy men ever faced forms the basis of the screen's most gripping mystery story of the year, "The Unholy Night" which comes to the University for four days starting Sunday. It is a fantastic drama of bewilderment laid in a London fog and a haunted manor. The play is an adaptation of Ben Hecht's "The Doomed Regiment" by Edwin Justus Mayer. The cast is more than adequate. Ernest Torrence, in the role of the mysterious "Dr. Ballou," plays a strange role, different from anything in his past career, and makes it more than convincing, and Dorothy Sebastian, as "Efra," the mystery woman, has another vastly different part.

The companion feature "Fast Company" was adapted from the play by Ring Lardner and Geo. M. Cohan and the dialog sparkles with Lardner's ready slangy wit. Evelyn Brent, spit-fire of many a crook melodrama, is seen here as the hard-boiled actress who succumbs to the wise-cracking, small town hero. Richard "Skeets" Gallagher provides a bit of fun along with Jack Oakie, popular young comedian of the smart-cracking type who was seen in "Close Harmony."

Jeanne Eagels, who scored such a great success in "The Letter," combined with a cast of sterling stage favorites including Frederic March, Halliwell Hobbes, Blanche LeClair and Hilda Moore brings to the University another outstanding stage play presented in a more spectacular form by the living screen for three days starting Thursday.

The companion feature is "Hold Your Man" with Laura LaPlante.

CHAPTER 2—WANDERING IN THE BALKANS

The following letter has been sent by Miss Carolyn D. Smiley of Symmes road, this town. Miss Smiley is at present on a world tour of mission stations of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, her itinerary including France, Turkey, Africa, India, Ceylon, Phillip-pine Islands, China and Japan. She sailed June 19 from Hoboken, and expects to return to this country by the first of Sept., 1930.

Miss Smiley was herself a missionary in India for six years, teaching on the staff of the Ahmednagar Girls' School for a time, and later doing educational and social work in Satara, India. Born in Rhode Island, she attended Middlebury and Mt. Holyoke College. She has already made several long tours, one of which included Burma, Malay, Java, Ceylon, Egypt, Constantinople and other sections of Europe. She is well known among Boston and Greater Boston society and club women, and has done considerable speaking in Indian costume.

Dear _____:
Traveling in the Balkans should be considered a leisurely pastime, never a matter of business. There seems to be plenty of time so no one hurries.
Best of all one finds friendliness and courtesy all along the road and a great variety of interests. Money changing is one!

My Balkan journey began at Vienna. On Thursday night, Aug. 29, I passed by the important appearing gate-keeper in the Oat station and joined a variety of passengers chained off in one section of the waiting room.
When the signal was given that the train was ready we filed out to the platform to find our respective places;
a few first class, some second, the majority going third. My second class berth was in a most impressive red car marked, "Internationale Wagon Sit." On the side was a white card with red letters, "Vienna-Budapest-Belgrade-Sofia-Stambul." I caught barely a glimpse of my five bags, for immediately two officials accosted me, demanding my ticket, reservation and passport. Then I was taken to my small compartment already overflowing with my baggage. Never travel with too many bags in the Balkans!
Two porters were standing around saying "goodnight" to me several times the signal for tips. Just as the train was about to start, the pullman porter, an Austrian, came my way, took a look at my luggage and said,
"Too much. You are only allowed 30 kilos." I agreed with him but felt just like the small boy in "When a feller needs a friend." Looking at helpless as possible seemed to do the work, for he said, "Never mind, no one is coming in with you. It will be all right." Much relieved, I locked the door and prepared for a night of sleeping over the wheels.

At the Hungarian frontier I was not disturbed, for the porter had my ticket and passport. Always have the porter stand between you and the outside world! Knowing that we would reach Budapest early Friday morning, I was ready at 6:30 a. m. when we pulled in to the station. Armed with Hungarian money, I sallied forth for food and ate some unattractive thick slices of bread and impossible tea in the station restaurant. Then calling a taxi I bade him take me to the Hotel Britannia where the manager was most obliging in telling the taxi man what to show me in Budapest. We rode up one street and down another, crossed the beautiful bridges, climbed the hill to see the royal palaces and the view, drove around the impressive looking Parliament building, had a glimpse of the park and was back at the station in an hour and a half. Using Hungarian and many gestures my taxi man had done his best to show me Budapest—a beautiful city full of charm on every side a city worthy to command the attention of tourists.

The country between Budapest and Belgrade was too flat to be interesting. Everything looked dried up. It was a relief to reach Belgrade at 5:30 p. m. There seemed to be quite a commotion when we pulled in—officers rushing up the platform. They were there to meet an Englishman and his wife who soon emerged from one of the compartments. I contrived to bask a little in their glory, for I stroled along in the rear. Finding an old taxi—the good ones having departed with the procession—I drove to the Hotel Excelsior, a dismal appearing place where several lonesome looking Englishmen were sitting around. The cafe in the center of the city had attracted my attention so I walked back, not very far, and chose a table from which I could watch Serbians at play. No one paid the least attention to me except to glance knowing I was either English or American. I had a very restful hour studying types and listening to the music while I sipped tea. Thinking that I could go back to my compartment, I sauntered along to the station about 7:30. Passing by the guards who looked about to stop me, I walked way down the platform to find this Internationale car dark as night. Officials came after me, shaking their heads, talking strange languages and pointing to the station.
I used every language I knew, saying I wanted to go in, but met with no response. Nothing was left for me to do but to sit in the funny old station restaurant until 11:30 p. m.
I drank more tea, tried the Turkish coffee and read Booth Tarkington's
"The World Does Move." If only it moved in Serbia! At 11:30 the gate was opened and several of us—homesick, tired, Internationale pilgrims—were allowed to return to our compartments. Wheels and all, I slept and woke up to find the train winding its way through mountains. I knew we were nearing Bulgaria.

One must possess tons of patience to enter Bulgaria. There are two frontier towns—the Serbian and the Bulgarian—where the train waits for hours. Nothing seems to be happening unless a passenger or two are hailed out of compartments to pay duty on new articles. For the first time in Europe, my luggage was opened—every bag—but I had no duty to pay. The Bulgarians make a lot of money from revenue at the frontiers.

Finding no one to meet me at Sofia, I hired a carriage to take me to the Imperial Hotel—recommended to me as the only hotel in Sofia free of insects! The missionaries say the Imperial Palace is good, too. After lunch I walked over to 21 Rue Belcheff and surprised Miss Elizabeth Clarke.
The Haskells were away so my letter had not been opened. Sunday morning I moved over to Miss Clarke's and then attended church. The minister, Mr. Furnajee, is one of our leading pastors in Bulgaria. His son attended Union, New York, and spoke at our National Council meeting in Detroit in May. He is in Bulgaria now to work with young people. I had a very happy, busy week visiting our missionaries, seeing the schools, college, and community work. Sofia offers endless possibilities for all kinds of service. There is nothing remarkable about the city but it grows on one. The people are attractive and have a perseverance good to see. They are having a struggle, for Bulgaria is awfully poor. The roads are half torn up in many places and no money for repairs. Every inch of my anatomy has been well exercised going over those roads. How people stand it day after day is a puzzle to me!

Friday, Sept. 6, came altogether too fast—it beckoned me on to Salonica. There was much red tape over my passport, but one of the workers took it to the police station for me while I was enjoying a tea party at Miss Baird's in her new apartment at the Community House.
The Haskells and Miss Memon were at the station to see me off. That Sofia railroad station is one of the wildest places at train time I have ever been in. Friday was bazaar day so countless peasants came in with their wares from the surrounding villages.
The costumes were most picturesque and the wearers a happy lot. Every game of peasants eager to get a good seat in the third class. Dr. Haskell got through somehow or other and had the porter secure a good place for me in second class. The mob rushed for third so I would have had no trouble finding a place. I had loads of room, a Turk and his mother being my companions. They had been traveling five days from Asia Minor.
The mother ate her bread and coffee too fast so had indigestion. I presented her with a soda mint which in due time showed its healing qualities.

On reaching the Jugo-Slavian frontier my passport was taken as usual.
In a few minutes, however, three officials appeared to tell me I needed another visa to go through Serbia a second time. I was led off the train to a small dingy room in the station where my passport was stamped and restamped. It seemed to require three officials to perform this ceremony. This done, a policeman put me back on the train and I sighed a deep sigh of relief. It was 10 p. m.

All the missionaries at Sofia groaned when they knew I had to change at Nish so I expected almost anything. We arrived at 1 in the morning. Nish is the junction in Serbia for all the trains going to Greece, Turkey and Vienna. Mrs. Haskell wrote a note in French and German in which she asked the station master to give me a room over the station. Hopping off the train I was surrounded by uniforms asking me where I was going. I said "Salonica" and made my way through the restaurant (much comment as I passed) to the counter where I produced the note. It had the desired effect. The manager beckoned me to follow him through a back door and up stairs where I was introduced to a clean room with a clean bed. At least I could stretch out and even slept with trains shrieking away outside my front window. The only thing desiring to enter my window was a cat. I arose early for my train for Greece came in at 6:30. Off for Greece!

The trip to Salonica was fascinating even though hot and long. We followed the river Varda running its course through the mountains which looked bleak. A Bulgarian in my compartment told me he fought there during the great war so pointed out many interesting places. There is still a lot of barbed wire in spots. We passed soldiers guarding the track here and there—always the bridges. As I remember, we stopped at two very hot looking cities with hardly a tree in sight.

At the Greek frontier two officers looked at all the bags belonging to my Bulgarian and Greek neighbors, but very courteously pasted the customs labels on mine without opening them.
I had nothing to declare. I reached Salonica at 8:30 p. m. and found no one at the station. A hotel runner was very helpful in getting me into a taxi which took me to Anatolia College. They were more than surprised to see me—my letter had not been opened for the missionaries were away. I found such a gathering of the clans from vacation, I decided to stay in the hotel in the city so drove back there. It was a very fine hotel, not expensive from our point of view. I can't tell you how thrilled I was to eat my breakfast on the veranda and gaze at boats in the harbor. Most of my time I spent with the missionaries seeing the work. Dr. White has a superb site for the college. My last day there I spent with Ann House, a 1912 classmate. Ann and her husband drove me into the city and helped me get my train—the sleeper for Athens.

Being weary of so many all-day journeys I came by sleeper to Athens, arriving here at noon. I took a room at the Hotel Anglerterre near Constitution square. Funny hotel but all right. They were in the midst of housecleaning. As soon as I could I hurried over to the American Express where I found 16 letters forwarded from Paris. What a joy to have home mail again! After lunch I came out here to Dr. Marden's, surprised them and found a tea party in full swing.
It gave me a splendid chance to meet missionaries, Armenians and Greek friends. I spent the night at the hotel, for I had to go over early to the American Express to see about boats for Smyrna. The telephone not facilitating business, the Englishman in the office and I walked over to the Italian office to make a personal call on the agent. He would be more interested in booking me if he saw me.

As for the boat "Egea," he did not know when it would go but thought sometime Monday. Cargo boats never hurry. They are like the busses here in Athens—you sit in one and wait until it is full of human cargo before you start. This may mean half an hour or more. What would some of our American business men do?

You have me to date. Why worry over my Smyrna boat when I can live with delightful people see refugee work, visit our girls' school, wander over the Acropolis and watch the moon turn the Aegean Sea into silver! If only you were here, too, for I miss you

Yours,

Carolyn D. Smiley
P. S.—Am sorry I could not include the stories of our mission work.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

500 RUTHERFORD AVENUE
BOSTON 29 MASS.

October 16, 1929

To our Customers—
Present and prospective:

We have just completed a new pasteurizing and bottling plant at 500 Rutherford Avenue, Charlestown.

As you will see, it is an imposing and spacious building. Although architecturally handsome, it is the equipment and arrangement inside that has chiefly concerned us. For here we have designed and constructed the most sanitary, most efficient, and most modern milk plant in the world.

We have put into it the newest, the most dependable milk handling devices that scientific minds have produced. Not one thing has been left undone to make it just what it was intended to be—the very best of its kind.

It represents the utmost in sanitation, the staunchest in steel, concrete and tile construction, while in efficiency it is right up to the minute—no less.

This Company is a New England institution. It is New England owned, operated, and managed. It is directed by the second and third generations of the founder's family.

This plant is the culmination of 83 years of Hood service. It typifies the spirit which has actuated our progress. This spirit of onwardness, of intense regard for the rights, comfort and safety of our customers, of determination to do things well, had its origin in the character of our founder. That it survives today undiminished, you may visualize in this great plant just completed.

You are invited to visit us on October 17th, 18th and 19th, and inspect the plant.

Very truly yours,

ESTABLISHED 1846

THE chemical and bacteriological laboratory is equipped for 250,000 tests per year. Pasteurizing and bottling plants are supplied with filtered fresh air. The entire plant is so constructed that it can be flushed with water and live steam at the end of each day's run. It contains a laundry for the men's working suits and each operative is regularly examined for physical fitness by a well-known physician.

MUSIC GARDEN

The Music Garden met for the first time this season on Monday evening, Oct. 14 at the Home for the Aged on Mt. Vernon street. A goodly number of members were present and the cordial greetings heard everywhere demonstrated clearly that the Garden remains dear to the hearts of all.

The evident pleasure of our hosts in entertaining the club added immensely to our own enjoyment. We wish to take this opportunity of thanking them for the numerous courtesies extended. We hope to repeat the experience at some future date.

An "ad. lib." program was presented under the direction of Mr. S. J. Trudeau, chairman of the program committee. Excellent renderings of the various numbers testified to the fact that our Gardeners have not been idle during the summer recess.

At the conclusion of the musical features, refreshments were served and a social hour spread its charm over the gathering.

Telephone Efficiency

When is an inch equivalent to four miles? The answer is when you hold your mouth away from a telephone transmitter. When you place your lips at an angle to the mouth-piece or show your alveolus toward this mechanical ear in some other way, you thereby push your listener miles away from you.

W. A. Jackson, superintendent of telegraph of the Michigan Central railroad, figured out this loss of speaking efficiency and sent a memorandum about it to all his employees. He advised: "Talk directly into the telephone transmitter at a distance of not more than one-half inch, using a clear, moderate tone."

Great Work, Anyway

Governor Morris actually framed the Constitution, but its execution was due chiefly to James Madison, who is popularly known as the "Father of the Constitution."

GIVES BATTLE TO POLICE, FOLLOWING TRIAL

After being fined $10 in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning for a motor violation, Wilton E. Graham, 24, a radio salesman of 629 Main street, Malden, engaged in a scuffle with Sgt. William H. Rogers of the Winchester Police Department and then battled several officers before he was returned to court to face an assault charge.

Graham had been summoned into court by Sergeant Rogers for a violation of the motor vehicle laws and had been found guilty by Judge John G. Maguire. He had been unable to pay the assessed fine of $10 and while arrangements were being made to secure the money, was walking about the corridor of the court house. Sergeant Rogers remonstrated with him and attempted to take him into the court officer's room when it is alleged Graham turned upon him and knocked him down.

Chief of Police William R. McIntosh of Winchester and Chief Jeremiah Cullinane of Reading went to Sergeant Rogers' assistance, but it was only after a struggle that Graham was returned to the court-room.

Sergeant Rogers prepared a complaint, charging Graham, who is tall and powerfully built with assault and battery upon a police officer. The policeman testified that Graham struck him twice and had knocked him down. Graham, in the cage, was enraged at Sergeant Rogers' testimony and at one point leaped to his feet and challenged the truth of the latter's remarks. The prisoner was restrained by several police officers and was found guilty by Judge Maguire who sentenced the Malden man to serve three months in the House of Correction. Graham appealed. All in all, the occasion was one of the most exciting witnessed in the Woburn Court for quite some time.

TWO PLATOON SYSTEM WORKING WELL

The two platoon system at the high school seems to be working out very successfully, in fact many of the pupils like it better than the former arrangement. The teachers have no longer hours than formerly, but now their hours have been changed. Some stay just for the morning session while others come for the afternoon. A number teach from the middle of the morning to 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon. They are those who teach both freshman and upper class subjects.

Following are the teachers at the morning session:

Miss Marion Bailey
Miss Helen Brownson
Miss Marjorie Darling
Mr. Lawrence Eager
Miss Eleanor Gould
Miss Florence Parker
Miss Mary Perham
Mrs. Ella Stacy
The afternoon teachers are:
Mr. Samuel Graves
Mr. Rowland Humphrey
The teachers on part-time are:
Mr. Bertram Albro
Miss Frances Allison
Mr. Arthur Butters
Mr. John Fuller
Mr. Raymond Haywood
Miss Ethel Knowlton
Miss Eva Palmer

HEART TO HEART TALKS

(No. 1)

Thinking of the special needs of the Winchester of 1929 and of the years to come, one would say that the community needs, almost more than anything else, right and sound thinking—and that is a part, and a very essential part of human conduct, for it may, and it ought to be its inspiration.

Everyone it seems, is trying to "do something," but pitifully few in Winchester as elsewhere are careful to ask, or to make an effort to ascertain, whether what they are proposing to do is right or wise. The result is a distressing, and even dangerous amount of fussiness.

Conduct is a very broad and comprehensive word, covering the whole of life, and all of life's spiritual processes. It is religion, at its highest and best estate, in action—in action, and also in attitude and thought. It is the whole life of the individual that is renewed and transformed, through that transformation, becomes new.

There is no man in or out of Winchester who can not enter into the better way of living. If people could understand this—and surely it is the business of the church in Winchester to make people understand it—we should soon see such a lift in the level of morality as we cannot now even imagine. There are tremendous issues hanging on the decision between the service of good and the service of evil and downright cussedness.

Vast is the responsibility of the people of Winchester for their own redemption. "Thus saith the Lord: Behold, I set before thee the way of life, and the way of death."

Eugene Bertram Willard

Water Connoisseurs

Managers of archeological expeditions into the Orient find that the water boy is one of the most important personages about the diggings and one who must be taken care of. Without this institution the laborers would refuse to work, says a member of a recent expedition into Turkey. The Turk and the Greek and all other peoples of the Levant drink four or five times the amount of water that we occidentals drink. And, what is more, they insist on its being pure. They have a fine taste in water vintages. Turks have been known who could distinguish between water from a stream which had flowed through an oak forest and that which had flowed through a forest of firs. They also drink from one spring and refuse another.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A sharp tongue and a dull mind are usually found in the same head.

Economy is not measured by what we save, but by that accomplished with what we spend.

Character is the result of difficulties conquered.

The wonder of it is that there are not more accidents on that Bourne bridge over the Canal. With slippery steel wheel tracks, short two by six planks scattered over the roadway and side rails dating from horse-drawn vehicle days, the natives are fully alive to its dangers. But those who do not use it regularly are in the midst of the danger before they realize it. If this bridge were privately owned, the State would demand that it be put in proper condition. On the Cape Cod highway its danger is second only to the strip of road between Middleboro and Bridgewater.

While Winchester's campaign against the mosquito nuisance has of necessity been at rather an inactive stage during the past summer, the Board of Health has by no means lost its interest in the problem and is neglecting no opportunity to keep thoroughly posted upon what is being done elsewhere to combat this universally abhorred pest of the warm weather season. Tuesday a meeting was held in the Hotel Statler, Boston, under the auspices of the Cape Cod Chamber of Commerce, to which various representatives of communities interested in mosquito control were invited. The thought behind the meeting was to effect some sort of state wide organization for a really effective fight against mosquitoes by districts. Inspector Maurice Dinneen represented the local Board of Health and in a larger sense the town at the meeting which was attended by some 60 men and women representing fully 25 communities. During the meeting a committee of four was named to formulate plans for the organization of a Massachusetts mosquito association, by means of which it is hoped to line up communities generally in some sort of comprehensive campaign. There is in existence now by virtue of legislation what is known as the State Reclamation Board which is in effect a consulting board for communities wishing assistance in making an intelligent approach to their own particular mosquito problem. Through the medium of this State organization it is hoped to tie up communities by districts in a concerted action which will be State wide. It was pointed out at Tuesday's meeting that public interest must be aroused to the necessity of combating the mosquito nuisance before much of any worth while progress will be made. Reports from Brookline showed that town to be 90 per cent free of control work. Winchester has had few summers in which the mosquito pest has been more prevalent than that just past, and it seems likely that the next Town Meeting will see a determined effort made to really interest the town in a campaign of extermination.

The police succeeded in getting a conviction and a $5 fine in their case at Woburn Monday, charging the operator of a motor vehicle with driving too close to a piece of fire apparatus, enroute to a fire. BIG HOOD PLANT OPENED

Thousands Inspect New Building for Handling Milk at Charlestown

The fine milk plant of H. P. Hood & Sons at Charlestown was formally opened on Wednesday when the handsome building recently erected and credited as being the finest of its kind in the country was inspected by guests representing the New England States, municipal governments and heads of various business industries. Governor Allen and members of his council, Mayors of surrounding cities, town officials and members of the business world were present.

At noon a banquet was served to 200 or more invited guests, and from then on the big plant was open to inspection by a vast throng eager to see the new outfit and witness the unparalleled facilities this company has inaugurated in the handling of its product.

Executives of the company guided groups of visitors through the immaculate plant. From cow to customer, milk distributed by the Hood Company is carefully, painstakingly guarded against impurities. The company takes pride in the fact that it is one of the largest of New England industries, serving some 300,000 persons daily. Realizing the least trace of uncleanness would seriously jeopardize their future, they have spared no agency in order to serve New England with the purest of milk.

Dr. Charles H. Hood, president of the company, welcomed his guests, briefly explained the functions of the new home of Hood, posed, knife in hand, cutting the ice cream model of the plant while cameras clicked.

Groups of a dozen men and women were conducted through the plant on an inspection tour each unit described by a Hood official. A unique feature of the large office space was the specially constructed ceiling, covered with sound dampeners providing library-like quietness.

NOONAN SCHOOL CHAPTER ENJOYS LECTURE

Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald, president of the Noonan School Mothers' Chapter, was hostess on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 to a large group of ladies from the districts who enjoyed a talk on "Nutrition" given by Miss Regina M. Feeney, Home Demonstration Agent for the county.

Preceding the session with Miss Feeney, the ladies present listened with interest to a talk by Miss Bishop, County Director of the 4-H Clubs, who desires to have the chapter sponsor a club of girls over 10 years of age. Miss Feeney first prepared a dish called "spring casserole" made by placing in a baking dish alternating layers of cooked chopped meat, cooked spinach and white sauce, with a finishing layer of mixed bread crumbs and grated cheese. Ordinarily one large baking dish of the "spring casserole" is prepared for the large group present it was found necessary to prepare three large dishes. Mrs. Jane King and Miss Alice O'Donnell preparing the second and third casseroles.

During the 25 minutes that these dishes were baking, Miss Feeney demonstrated the preparation of "blushing apples," using a syrup of sugar and water flavored and colored with cinnamon candies.

By this time Miss Feeney had completed her talk and the group had compiled their daily nutrition scores. So all were ready to adjourn to the beautifully decorated dining room for lunch.

Sumach and oak boughs made a brilliant setting for the autumn effect which was achieved by the use of fall fruits and vegetables. The centerpiece of red and yellow branches combined with the fruits and vegetables was very lovely and many streamers of Halloween color completed the effect. During lunch 12 candles of the same colors were lighted. To supplement the demonstration, Mrs. McDonald made baking powder biscuits and coffee which together with home-made jellies and relishes completed a very appetizing lunch.

Miss Feeney poured and those who assisted her included Mrs. Jane King, Miss Katharine F. O'Connor, Mrs. Harry E. Brown, Mrs. Margaret Donovan, Mrs. Louis Capone, Mrs. Valerie O'Connor and Miss Alice O'Donnell. The next meeting of the class will take place Nov. 13, at the home of Mrs. Jane King, Main street.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

Our Club kept to its regular schedule this week and enjoyed one of Frd's good lunches at the appointed hour.

Again was President Roscoe seized with the wanderlust and again Vice-President Loring directed our destinies from the high-seat. Again the 500 watt cravat pursued its dazzling course. How we shall miss it when its coruscations cease. There will not, there cannot be a worthy successor.

A night letter from President Roscoe at Minneapolis conveyed his greetings to the Club from that distant city. We wish him godspeed.

It is a source of gratification to us that so many visitors continue to accept our hospitality. It seems assured that we shall not sink into provincialism so long as we can rub elbows with our brother Rotarians.

No speaker was provided at this meeting. Instead the time was devoted to a minute consideration of our new song sheet.

Many of those present, having doubtless taken the cue (not queue) from our capable leader in singing, were strongly of the opinion that a bald-headed man of necessity possesses vocal cords peculiarly well adapted to the production of mellifluous harmonies.

A bald-headed chorus was formed forthwith, and without further ceremony, aided and abetted by our fine pianist, proceeded to produce certain vocal effects unprecedented in the annals of music.

Whereupon other members of the assemblage insisted on a demonstration of the merits of a well-thatched poll as a necessary support to your singer of excellence. And so another chorus, innocent of the wiles of modern Delilahs, gave their vigorous attention to one of the numbers on our song sheet.

Owing to the lack of competent judges, no decision was rendered as to who was victor in this neo-choral contest.

We wish to offer congratulations for the improved showing in attendance at recent meetings. Do not slip.

So many Rotary Clubs are within easy distance that it requires comparatively little effort to keep the record on the threshold of perfection. The Secretary will gladly assist any member in finding a convenient club meeting. We anticipate a continuance of the present gratifying conditions.

Percentage of attendance for Oct. 10—93.10 per cent.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Lady Lies," one of the outstanding all-talking pictures of the season, is the attraction of the big Granada Theater in Malden will offer starting tomorrow, with special shows on Sunday. "The Lady Lies" is the story of a prominent and successful lawyer who is a widower and who, to the disappointment of his two young children and his relatives, falls in love with a woman who is not, in their opinion, of equal social standing with him. The family powers of intervention are brought to bear and the plot deals with the weighing in the balance of a true love affair and a family's selfish ambitions. Walter Huston and Miss Colbert are ideally fitted for a talking picture of this character. Each is a finished actor and Broadway favorites.

"The Dance of Life," an all-talking, singing and dancing picture, with Nancy Carroll and Hal Skelly as the stars, completes its run at the Granada today. This is one of the most successful pictures of the season and has everything that goes to make up satisfactory entertainment. Catchy, new, especially written songs are heard, interspersed with a number of old-time favorites. The settings are marvelous with the magnificent "Follies" sequence, shown in natural color by the Technicolor process. In this scene 80 beautiful girls take part and are seen in color and heard in sound.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

Beginning Monday at the popular Bowdoin Square Theatre and for the week the management will offer Billie Dove in the First National Vitaphone talking picture, "Her Private Life" with a cast that includes Thelma Todd, Walter Pigeon, Montagu Love, and Zazu Pitts. The story is one that concerns the unhappy marriage of an English noblewoman. Another talking picture will be, "The Unholy Night" a mystery thriller with many exciting moments. Ernest Torrence, Dorothy Sebastian, Roland Young and Polly Moran appear in this offering. Charlie Chase will be heard in the talking comedy, "Stepping Out" and the Hearst Metrotone Sound News, also the "King of the Kongo" and stage vaudeville will make up the bill. There is a new show every Sunday at the Bowdoin.

THE SERVICE OF A GENTLE FRIEND

(Written for the Winchester Star)

A friend's heart is sad, his frame is weary. Sin, fear, and sorrow will not cease, Life is a burden, death is dreary, Is there no God to give him peace? Wait on, O weary soul, expending Thy feebleness in sights like these: Peace, at its Lord's right hand attending, Will come soon as they Master please. How rich, how beautiful, and tender The service of this gentle friend! Kind help none but Himself can render—Himself the Servant He will send. Even so, Lord Jesus, come, come quickly! Sweet light of peace, dwell in our friend here: And when his lamp burns low and sickly Always let Thine be strong and clear. By all means peace, and peace forever. Drawn from the past of pain and tears, Flowing right on like God's own river, Calm and eternal as His years. Eugene Bertram Willard

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

A speaker here in Winchester once said that human beings need more earth contacts, and there seems to be ground for the idea.

A Winchester woman remarked that "excitement is bad for small babies." If the bigger the baby, the greater the excitement—well, we leave Winchesterites to figure it out for themselves.

How many folk here in Winchester remember when mother's bustle was legitimate prey to be impressed into service as a baseball mask?

And when the town bully would break fence pickets along Main street by hitting them with the palm of his hand?

It is the pursuit of happiness that makes so many people in and out of Winchester happy.

Winchester old timers who used to read skull and crossbone thrillers have snuff reading about Pirate mutiny.

Twilight in Winchester—with its pallid cloak of sombre gray. Twined dimly through with scarlet gold and mauve.

Falls heavily—and irresistibly tonight. No hand can stay its coming—none can falter. On the brink of Destiny—it is inevitable. And yet—as the Winchesterite gazes into its darksome core, Its laden pulse of unsolved mysteries, He stands transfixed within a vision Before the solemn still awaking of New Hope.

There is a common impression in and out of Winchester that women are poor motor car drivers. It is imprudent to generalize. Men drivers are so much more numerous than women that they naturally would figure in a greater number of accidents. Still we feel sure that women are more careful because they are afraid to take chances to the same extent that men will.

A Winchesterite clamoring for equality exposes a feeling of being inferior.

A Winchester Miss feels great elation This she does confess: When she can spell occasion With two e's and one s.

It is all right to sympathize with criminals. One can be decent to a bad dog without taking the muzzle off.

If a Winchesterite don't love his wife anymore, it just goes to show that he used very poor judgment when he selected her for his bride.

A Winchester store keeper of years ago insisted on spelling lamb "lam." He argued that if "h-a-m" spells ham, then "l-a-m" must spell lamb.

If there is an individual who is entitled to a great deal of credit, it is the Winchesterite who stands up by himself, strong in his own opinions and his own position, and who is not pulled this way and that way by men who want him to join in schemes of many sorts. Organization is all right, for "in union there is strength," but the Paragrapher insists that every Winchesterite owes it to himself to maintain his own individuality and his own independence.

"Life Long Reader of the Star" has favored us with the following:

If I could write in grand, immortal words Some poem, full of sentiment, and solemn, As did of old remember, classic bards, Most like I'd not contribute to your column. If some heroic urge could thrill my heart, If soul of Keats or Shelley might imbue me With spark to set aflame my smoldering art, "Your affairs and mine," I fear, would mean naught to me. If I, instead of silly verse or pun, Could write immortal stuff or even hint it, I fear that I should miss alot of fun; Then, too, as like as not, you would not print it.

You are wrong, brother. The Star, as well as The Paragrapher, always welcomes verse by local talent. Probably no fear that a poet like "Life Long Reader of the Star." Even if he like inspired romantic bards of yore, His pen could lightly tell of female graces, If he could write like Byron or Tom More He'd very likely overlook the traces.

We are told that Winchester leads many communities of its size in public library book borrowing, and reckoning up the favorite volumes missing from our book shelves we rise to assert that Winchester also leads many communities in private borrowing.

Winchester's biggest economic question is: Is it better to have a big equity in a small automobile or a small equity in a big automobile?

A man less than a dozen miles from Winchester asks a divorce because in 21 years his wife never spoke to him. This is a case of too much of a good thing.

Success never comes to a Winchesterite who is afraid to face failure.

We know a fellow here in Winchester who has a heavy load to carry because his wife tries to share it by putting all his earnings on her back.

A friend writes in to inquire what we would suggest as a good joke to play on his wife. Why not promise her you will get home early and keep your word?

Just as the Paragrapher was getting ready to avail himself of the proposed lengthening of human life to 175 years, along comes a gland expert and marks it down to 125. We knew there was a catch to it somewhere.

A meditating Winchesterite lifted up his eyes unto the hills When Sunset trailed her mantle through the West. And as he looked all turmoil and unrest Passed from his soul, as solemn music thrills The deeper sense in man and grandly fills His soul with striving toward its utmost best. So did the scene in the Almighty's own splendor dress. Bring to Winchesterite's heart release from petty ills.

That boy less than a dozen miles from Winchester who won a bread-baking contest may, if he acquires similar skill in sewing and dish washing, grow up to be the petted husband of some devoted flapper.

There are block-heads right here in Winchester—they don't all come from the "sticks."

If a Winchesterite expects to occupy the foreground, it is well to have a good background.

Each week we say its growing worse, How shall we lift this traffic curse, Relieve Winchester's roads of car congestion And solve our Sunday outing question? The answer is "Excelsior!" The time has come for us to soar, To rise above Winchester's crowded lanes In winged cars or diver planes. Eat and in the uncongested air Eat chicken cold or roast beef rare, With ice cream cones or frozen pie, From hot-dog blimps that hover by.

To those Winchesterites with dry whistles the main trouble is that, although ethyl is back, it is the wrong ethyl.

A Winchester man boasts that he is one of that small minority who have recovered from endocarditis. There are all kinds of dignities and distinctions. You may meet an unassuming Winchesterite who seems to you entirely insignificant and yet for all you know he may be one of the mortal few who have never had mumps or measles, pyorrhea or halitosis.

"Wed, stay wed and live long," advises Doctor Bundesen. The choice is between a short life and a merry one or a long life and a married one.

It is not virtue if a Winchesterite feels cheated when it pays him no dividends.

The children of the Winchester of 1929 are so sophisticated that few parents can get away with a lie.

It is faint praise, but a Winchester fellow says for the saxophone, that people can't talk while playing it.

Climate Varies Little

The island of Bermuda has an equable climate. Frosts are unknown and the ocean winds are tempered by the Gulf stream. Bermuda is principally a winter resort sought by those who wish to avoid severe winters.

YELLOW BIRD ADDS COMILLAS TO AVIATION GAZETEER

The Yellow Bird has added the village of Comillas to Ver-Sur-Mer, Eisen, and Llanelli, as out-of-the-way places brought into the spot-light of world news by the landing of transatlantic airplanes from America, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Santander shares fame with Comillas, for it was to that important coastal town of northern Spain that the flyers were taken by automobile after their landing, and it was from Santander that the telegraphic news of the completion of the transoceanic flight sped out to the world.

Port of Fishing Snacks Comillas lies about 30 miles west of Santander along a rugged coast washed by the waters of the Bay of Biscay. It is a village of only 2700 inhabitants, and its tiny port can accommodate only the fishing snacks and small ore-carrying boats that ply the local waters. All along this northern coast of Spain are mountains and rugged hills, many of which project into the sea, forming little hill-girt bays and coves. Some of the small bays have been almost filled with sand. It was on such a sand-filled little bay near Comillas—Oyambre Beach—that the Yellow Bird came to earth.

By a coincidence, the flyers, in landing in the vicinity of Santander, terminated their flight near a city which has already served as the goal of a transatlantic contest in speed and navigation. In 1928 the international yacht races which started in New York came to an end in Santander harbor. This year Santander will be the terminus for similar races starting at Southampton, England.

Visitors Mostly Spaniards Santander's port opens off the Bay of Biscay 90 miles west of the better known resort, San Sebastian, and 120 miles west of Biarritz. Although Spaniards throng to its beaches to escape Madrid's summer heat, Santander is little known abroad.

The town is progressive, modern, prosperous, and therefore is not sought out by tourists in search of ancient landmarks. However, between a sun-scorched, crumbling cathedral and a sun-warmed sandy beach, the Spaniards prefer the beach.

Hidden from the Sea Santander cannot be seen from the sea. It has been built deep within the harbor behind a mountainous peninsula which shelters the homes of 77,000 Santander dwellers from Bay of Biscay storms. It consists of Pueblo Alta, with an undistinguished cathedral rearing its head, and Pueblo Baja, where liners and coastal steamers land their passengers, and freight boats take on red Camargo iron ore for Britain's blast furnaces. Santander takes a leading place among the north coast ports shipping ore from the many Spanish mines in the Austrian provinces.

Over the ridge that protects Santander from storms lies the Sardinero, the favorite "playa" or beach—a long, warm arm of reddish-yellow sand embracing a bright blue sea. Many costly villas look upon the Sardinero.

The citizens of Santander recently presented to the royal family of Spain a summer palace, "La Magdalena," on a headland near the city. It has come to be recognized as one of the most delightful of the royal residences. In recognition of the Spanish king's love of sport the palace was equipped with a bathing beach, a yacht landing, tennis courts, and a polo field.

Keep Ideals High

A famous artist strictly resolved not to look at silly or funny pictures, simply because, when he himself wished to paint, all these funny pictures crossed his thoughts, and consequently they were interwoven in his work. Hence he made it a rule to look only at great masterpieces. By doing this he ever kept his mind full of great conceptions, and thus he found it much easier to paint great pictures himself. If people would only make it a rule to observe only that which is great and good, they would find it much easier to live a great and pure life.

Evening Visits

Seven to eight-thirty o'clock in the evening is usually a good time to call on friends—either personally or by telephone.

In the warm months, particularly, many people spend their evenings out-of-doors. To find them, you must make your call in the early evening hours.

Traffic records show that a greater percentage of calls can be completed promptly between seven and eight-thirty than at any other time in the evening.

Plan your social calls during this period. Take advantage of the low evening rates which apply on station-to-station calls above forty miles.

BOYS WANTED IN WOBURN CAPTURED BY WINCHESTER POLICE

Two South Boston boys landed in the toils early on the morning of the holiday through the promptness with which the local police co-operated with the neighboring authorities of Woburn.

At 12:45 Saturday morning Officer William Rooney of the Woburn Police arrived at headquarters to notify Lieut. John Harrell that three young men, whose automobile had been involved in an accident in that city, had escaped in the direction of Winchester. There had been four in the machine at the time of the accident and one had been arrested by Officer Rooney.

Lieutenant Harrell brought the alarm and Sgt. Thomas E. Cassidy set out in the Police Ford to take a look around the West Side. Picking up Patrolman Archie O'Connell and John Hanlon he drove along Cambridge street and came upon two of the young men attempting to hide in some shrubbery near Calumet road.

When arrested by Patrolmen O'Connell and Hanlon the fugitives gave their names as Louis Polson and Richard Malony, both of South Boston and aged 16 and 15 respectively. They were turned over to the Woburn police.

WINCHESTER GIRLS TRIPPED ALUMNAE

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team won its third straight game of the season last Saturday morning, defeating a strong Alumnae group, 3-0, on Manchester Field. Superior team-play and better condition enabled the inexperienced high school girls to set down the stronger individual Alumnae players who several times failed to pass when passes would have meant tactics.

Muriel Carr, who has been showing strongly in the high school's games to date scored all three of her team's goals, two of which came in the first half.

THOMAS ALVA EDISON

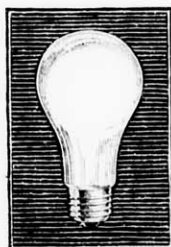

—[1879]—

As the Colossus of Rhodes bestrode the harbor of that ancient city... lighting the way for mariners far out at sea, Thomas A. Edison, figuratively bestrode the oceans... a greater Colossus, a more gigantic figure of flesh and blood... He bears a torch that lights the world

October 21 marks the fiftieth anniversary of the incandescent lamp, Edison's greatest contribution to mankind. For a year or more preparations have been going on to pay a fitting tribute to his genius. Congress has honored him in the name of the nation, with a special medal. The President has eulogized him in unstinted words of praise. Great men everywhere strive to add lustre to his name.

This wealth of homage, to which we add our smaller voice, is rightly due. Yet there is still a finer pang.

gryic. Tonight in every corner of the earth a billion lights are flashing. They vie with the stars in brilliance and number and each one seems to utter a name—the name of "Edison." This, after all, is the greatest tribute, for only the creature can adequately honor the creator

WINCHESTER HIGH WON FROM ARLINGTON

Outclassed Old Rival in Columbus Day Clash, 13-7

Showing its best football of the season, Winchester High School rushed its way to a 13-7 victory over Arlington High on the Spy Pond Athletic Field, Arlington last Saturday morning in the first Mystic Valley League clash of the season for both schools.

The score does not indicate Winchester's superiority over its old rival. The locals were easily three touchdowns better than Arlington on the holiday and this despite the fact that both Coach Mansfield's first string ends were on the sidelines from injuries. McNeil and Hitchborn, who were on the wings in place of Murphy and Morton did a great job out there and the former is deserving of special praise for his fine work in the third position he has been called upon to play this fall.

Another hitherto second string performer who showed strongly at Arlington, was Newman, big senior half-back, and from his work last Saturday, this rangy athlete is going to be a hard man to keep out of the lineup.

The Winchester rushline outcharged and outfought their opponents in convincing fashion, allowing Arlington but a single first down by rushing all morning. Coach Mansfield's charges did much the better tackling of the two teams and covered the Arlington passes rather better than those of either Concord or Stoneham. That this department of the locals' defensive game is still in need of bolstering is shown by the fact that Coach Downes' boys scored their one touchdown (and narrowly missed another) through the air.

Godfrey kicked off and on the first play Galucci shot off a forward pass which Winchester grounded nicely. Hagerman punted to the Winchester 40-yard line and the locals at once launched an offensive drive which took the ball to Arlington's 14-yard stripe. Robinson and Lee did the bulk of the carrying and each gained at will. The former was hurt as the locals' advance was halted near the Arlington goal line and Newman went in to play his left halfback position.

Arlington took the ball on downs at its 14-yard line and Hagerman kicked short to his own 45-yard line. Dolan went in for Brown at quarterback as the period ended.

Play hovered about midfield to start the second quarter until the ball came into Winchester's possession near the touchline on Arlington's 45-yard marker. Dolan caught Arlington asleep with a kick from scrimmage formation, Lee's boot being touched down by McNeil on Arlington's 2-yard line. Hagerman kicked to his own 45-yard line and on a triple pass play, Dolan made a first down at the 35-yard line. Godfrey kicked off another first down on a similar play but a pass from Lee to Hitchborn failed by inches and on a run from kick formation Lee was nailed for a 5-yard loss by Hagerman.

A pass from Lee to Hitchborn made a first down at Arlington's 14-yard line and alternating his three backs Dolan drove the eleven to a first down on the 4-yard marker. The ball was in the corner of the field and after two off tackle plays had failed to gain, Newman hit the center of the line for 2 yards. On the next play Lee crashed over for the score, striking inside guard. Hitchborn kicked the goal from placement.

Clark went in for Dolan and Godfrey kicked off, the Arlington receiver nearly getting clear for a touchdown before being tackled by Clark. After two ineffective Arlington passes the half ended.

Godfrey kicked off and the ball was returned to the Arlington 25-yard line. Hagerman kicked at once to Dolan on Winchester's 30-yard line and the little quarterback ran the oval back 10 yards. Newman got 8 yards at tackle and on a triple pass play, Godfrey made a first down inside midfield. On his next rush, Newman fumbled and Arlington recovered on its 42-yard line.

Galucci passed over the center of the line to Lane who took the ball to the Winchester 35-yard line and a similar pass, Galucci to Alexie resulted in the latter running 20 yards for a score. From a fake kick formation, Adams rushed over for the extra point.

Godfrey kicked off again and as Winchester held fast, Hagerman kicked to Dolan at midfield. Here the locals unleashed a real attack which combined some pretty line drives and triple passes with Newman several times breaking through for good gains. A pretty pass from Lee to Dolan added to the local yardage and as the period ended the ball was in Winchester's possession on the Arlington 15-yard line.

Straight old fashioned line bucking took the leather to the 4-yard line, but here Arlington braced and turned back three thrusts at its frontier. On fourth down, big "Olio" Lee literally burst over at tackle for the touchdown, Arlington smothered Hitchborn's attempt at goal.

Winchester kicked off and after returning the ball to the 45-yard line, Hagerman punted to Dolan at Winchester's 15-yard line. Donovan went in for Hitchborn and Winchester rushed to its 30-yard line where a fumble was recovered by Arlington. Here in four thrusts from kick formation, Arlington made its single first down by rushing in the entire game.

A flat pass was good for 6 yards and took the ball to Winchester's 14-yard line where the locals held for downs. After three linebacks Lee kicked to midfield where Galucci was downed in his tracks by O'Connell. A pretty pass from Galucci to Lane took the ball to Winchester's 12-yard line and on the next play Galucci tossed off another pass which Lane failed to catch across the Winchester goal line.

After three line thrusts, Lee once more kicked to midfield and O'Connell again tackled Galucci for no gain. The teams hardly had time to line up as the final whistle blew.

Horses, starlings, dogs, goats, skunks, hornets, an occasional cow and bluejays have from time to time found their way onto the blotter at Police headquarters, but Sunday evening's call from a resident of Prospect street to rid his family roof-tree of a bat which had come uninvited and unannounced was something else again. Nevertheless the police rallied to their standard of "service" and Patrolman Charles Harrold, according to unofficial reports, handled the situation efficiently.

BADLY INJURED WHEN AUTO AND ELECTRIC CRASH

Frank Dimodana, Jr., 16, of 43 Cotting street, Medford, was seriously injured at 1:45 o'clock Monday afternoon when the Ford coupe he was driving north on Main street collided with an electric car of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company at the junction of Main and Washington streets.

The electric, which was going south on Main street, was in charge of Conductor Richard J. Bowman of 119 Washington street, Reading. Just how the accident occurred is not known. It is thought that possibly Dimodana was unable to get his car out of the car tracks or that the machine got out of control.

Dimodana and Edward Hughes, 16, of 11 North avenue, Medford, who was with him, were hurled from the car and when help arrived were laying on the ground in a dazed condition. The accident occurred near the residence of Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne and he was quickly on the scene, followed by Dr. Daniel G. Dennett, also a nearby resident. The physicians rendered first aid and ordered both boys removed to the Winchester Hospital where they were taken by Patrolmen James P. Donaghey and John Hogan in the ambulance of the Kelley & Hawes Company.

At the hospital Dimodana and Hughes were treated by Dr. Burgoyne. The former was badly injured and it was first thought that he had sustained a fractured skull. He was badly bruised and cut, especially about the face and head and his name was placed upon the hospital danger list. Hughes sustained cuts and abrasions and a bad shaking up but was not thought to be seriously injured. The Ford was completely wrecked and was towed to the Central Garage. Several panes of glass in the trolley were broken.

CONOMO POST-SEASON NOTES

It seems that the hard luck which came into the life of "Vin" Farnsworth when a premature explosion ruined the fireworks display which he was personally conducting at Conomo on July 4th has dogged his footsteps to Winchester. Now we learn, unofficially to be sure, that the well known resident of Copley street had the appearance and utility of his garage badly marred when his automobile recently failed to stop at a reasonable distance from the rear wall of the building. "Vin" denies that his mind was on the late lamented Conomo "bakes" when the accident occurred, and avers that his machine in some way got locked in gear when he released the clutch.

Wednesday evening while the Conomo team, comprising "Pete" Pittman, "Don" Boothby, Ober Pridie, "Frank" Lane and Harris Richardson, was busily engaged winning its match in the Calumet Bowling tournament the ladies gathered at Mrs. Richardson's home on Mt. Pleasant street to enjoy a thrilling game of hearts in the absence of their husbands. The cards languished as the conversation grew in interest and it was decided to form the Conomo Ladies' Auxiliary for the avowed purpose of maintaining the enthusiasm of the summer at the close, throughout the winter months. Just how the good old "Conomo Spirit" will be maintained so far from the salt spray and kelp is not known but we believe the ladies have several schemes in process of incubation. It is understood that the new organization already has the sanction of the mayor, and is hoping to win the approval of the entire aldermanic council.

The Annual Cafe Concert, which is anticipated each fall with interest and pleasure, will be held in the assembly hall of the church on Friday evening, Oct. 25.

There will be the usual excellent musical offerings, in the form of instrumental and vocal selections, and in addition there will be other entertainers who will provide much amusement.

Refreshments will be served during the intermission and there is quite a choice of good things.

Those who regularly patronize this concert will find it as pleasing and entertaining as in past years, and those who have never been present, in past years, may find it an agreeable surprise.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE AT NASHUA

Mrs. Ila B. Green of 179 Washington street was painfully injured Monday shortly before noon at Nashua, N. H., where she was struck and knocked down by an automobile, driven by Alexander Lapin of Litchfield. Mrs. Green had stopped in Nashua on her way from Hampstead, N. H., to Boston and was crossing Temple street near the Union Station when the accident occurred. She was taken to the Memorial Hospital in a passing automobile and treated for two broken ribs and injuries to her left hand, arm and leg. On Tuesday she was removed to the Vincent Memorial Hospital in Boston where her condition is reported as satisfactory. Lapin was arrested by the Nashua police for operating an automobile with faulty brakes.

The marriage of Miss Mary Farris, a Boston attorney and the daughter of Mrs. James Duncen Farris of 11 Inman street, Cambridge, to George Edmund Willey of this town is to take place on Saturday, Oct. 26, at the Farris home.

BUSH-MASON

The marriage of Miss Annette Elizabeth Mason, daughter of Mrs. Howard Curry Mason of 11 Lloyd street and the late Mr. Mason, to J. Danforth Bush of Wilmington, Del., took place last Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Unitarian Church with the Minister, Rev. George Hale Reed, officiating.

Preceding the entrance of the bride party Organist F. Percival Lewis played the Entre and Benediction. Nuptial from Dubois' Wedding Suite, Postlude in A by Dubois, Handel's Largo and Sweet Mystery of Life by Herbert. For the wedding march he played the familiar music from Lohengrin and as a recessional the Wedding March by Mendelssohn. The church of the church was banked with evergreen and decorated with vases of yellow chrysanthemums. There were candles on the altar and at either side of the entire center aisle.

Miss Mason was given in marriage by her brother, Clinton Staples Mason of Winchester, and had as her only attendant her sister, Miss Frances B. Mason, also of Winchester. Henry McComb, Bush of Charlottesville, Va., was his brother's best man. Ushers included George Winchester of Wilmington, Del., cousin of the bridegroom; Johnson Reeves of Blue Bell, Pa.; Edward H. Eames of New Haven, Conn.; Dean R. Walker of Braintree, a classmate of the bridegroom; at Williams; Harry A. Wilcox of Hamden, Conn.; and David Hunter Strother of Washington, D. C.

The bride's gown was of white satin and princess lace, the skirt forming a short train. Her veil of Italian lace was caught in a cap with orange blossoms and her shower bouquet was of white roses, valley lilies and orchids. The maid of honor wore a gown of orange satin, princess style, with slippers to match, and carried a Talisman roses.

At the reception, following the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving by the mother and brother of the bride, the maid of honor and the brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Decorations in the reception room were yellow chrysanthemums, Talisman roses, smilax and autumn leaves. The Wilcox trio of Winchester played.

The wedding journey is to take Mr. and Mrs. Bush by motor through the Shenandoah Valley to Hot Springs, Va. They are to be at home after Jan. 1 at 152 Elm street, West Haven, Conn.

The bride was graduated from Wheaton College with the class of 1925 and for the past two years has been a member of the Wheaton Alumnae Council. Mr. Bush, who is the son of the late Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. Danforth Bush of Wilmington, Del., is associated in business with the Automatic Signal Corporation of New Haven, Conn. He prepared for college at Taft School and was graduated from Williams in 1926, subsequently doing graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, of the Wilmington Club and the Massachusetts Order of the Society of the Cincinnati.

OBSERVED GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison A. Hatch, widely known residents of Winchester, observed the 50th anniversary of their wedding Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, at their home, 26 Eaton street. A monster surprise party, attended by more than 100 long time friends and neighbors was tendered the happy couple who had been "lured" from their home to permit the arrival of the unexpected guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch attended a dinner party early in the evening at the West Medford home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Whittemore. Four generations were represented at the dinner by Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. Lottie C. Baldwin, her niece; Mrs. Ruth E. Whittemore, her grand-niece; and four-year-old Wayne E. Whittemore, her great-grand-nephew.

A telephone call, announcing the arrival of distant relatives caused the Hatches to hasten home where they were completely surprised to find themselves surrounded and showered with congratulations by their host of friends. A large number of anniversary gifts was literally heaped upon the living room table and more than 250 greeting cards were received.

The real feature of the celebration, however, was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Hatch by their little great-grand-nephew of a handsome model ship, which he announced "had got lost at sea and run on the rocks at 26 Eaton street." Gold pieces were suspended from the rigging and crammed the hold to overflowing, the whole being the gift of relatives and friends. Mrs. Hatch voiced her own and her husband's appreciation in a very few words which left nothing to be desired. The home was gay with flowers and streamers while a dainty collation helped to make the evening one of pleasant sociability.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch were married in Everett in 1879 by the Rev. R. Perry Bush of Chelsea. Mrs. Hatch was born in Malden in 1859 while Mr. Hatch was born in 1851 in Winchester. The latter is now retired after many years of activity as a contractor and builder. He is secretary of Winchester Council, Royal Arcanum, and was prominently identified with the Winchester Baseball Association when that organization was sponsoring one of the leading semi-professional nines of Eastern Massachusetts.

John Lake of Winchester is making a fine showing in the annual fall tennis tournament at Kent's Hill Seminary, Me., according to a report received yesterday from the athletic authorities of the school.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The Court is to be congratulated on the show which was staged last Thursday night in Lyceum Hall with a full house in attendance. The farce entitled "Then and Now," dealt with the machinations of a scheming maid named Jenny Jinks who sought to lure from the "straight and narrow" a gay gentleman named John Jiggs, whose suspicious wife, Maggie, is for a time deceived by his actions.

The plot revolved around a C. D. of A. rehearsal which was to be held that evening at the home of Mrs. Jiggs. During the rehearsal many novel features were introduced. The farce, a very clever one, was written by the Court Historian, Miss Katharine F. O'Connor. Miss O'Connor, also took one of the leading parts, that of Maggie Jiggs.

Mrs. Frances T. Conlon coached and directed the show and took the part of the errant husband, Mr. Jiggs. The third lead, Jenny, the maid, was admirably portrayed by Mrs. Thomas Cassidy. The other parts were taken by Mrs. Josephine O'Brien, Mrs. Nellie Moffett, Mrs. Jane King, Mrs. Mary McGrath, Mrs. Nora O'Melia, Mrs. Catherine Rowen and Miss Mary E. Martin. Miss Mary O'Melia led the chorus and dancing girls and Miss Helen O'Connor, led the ponies. Miss Mabel M. Coty presided at the piano and Mrs. Mae O'Neill, G. R., made the announcements.

Next Thursday night D. D. Frances Ahearn and staff of Arlington will install the newly-elected officers of the local Court. Supper will be served in charge of Sister Sarah Cassidy.

The Court extends its hearty congratulations to Miss Katharine F. O'Connor, Court Historian, who last Monday night was appointed by the Selectmen to fill the vacancy on the Board of Registrars.

FAMILY DAY AT CHURCH

All Winchester Churches Sunday Morning at 10:30

Last year the Protestant Churches of Winchester, at the suggestion of their ministers, observed Family Day at Church on a chosen Sunday. The plan worked so well a year ago that this year, again, the ministers have designated next Sunday, Oct. 27, as Family Day for all our churches, and call upon their constituents to observe the day with them by attending divine worship at the morning service.

The purpose of Family Day is to renew for one Sunday, at least, the custom of our forefathers, when the entire household attended church as a family, occupying the family pew.

We believe there is a spiritual value in the entire town taking part in this common enterprise of public worship in the House of God. We do not mean that this shall be the only day in the year when our families shall attend church as families, but are hoping that bringing the church into the consciousness of the people in this way will have permanent results throughout the year.

The ministers will preach special sermons next Sunday morning, and they look to their people with confident expectation to make this event an inspiring success.

WINCHESTER AT WAKEFIELD

Winchester High School plays its second Mystic Valley League football game of the current season tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 with Wakefield High at Wakefield. The locals defeated Arlington on Columbus Day and are favored to win from Wakefield on Saturday. Toward the end of last week's game with Belmont, Coach Mansfield's charges showed a real offense which has been threatening to develop all season. The locals have been working hard all week to correct the faults which cropped out against Belmont. The team will probably line-up as it did last Saturday, though Coach Mansfield may decide to make a radical change in two positions in the hope of producing a scoring punch.

EDITOR OF CHILD WELFARE TO ADDRESS HIGH SCHOOL

Means of securing the co-operation of the child in the home will be the central points of discussion at the first meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher Association on Tuesday night at the high school, at 8 o'clock.

President Leonard O. Waters will, at the meeting, announce plans of importance to parents and teachers of high school pupils. The Executive Committee is launching a program that promises to stimulate and illuminate parents and teachers alike.

For the keynote speaker of the first of the vital meetings, President Waters has secured Mrs. Martha Sprague Mason of Winchester, Editor-in-Chief of Child Welfare, and first vice-president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

President P. M. T. Remington of the Child Welfare Company writes of Mrs. Mason as follows:

"Mrs. Mason was born in Boston, educated in Cambridge and Arlington. She is a graduate of the College of Liberal Arts, Boston University, and taught in the high school of Andover and of Wakefield.

"After her marriage, and while living in Buffalo, Mrs. Mason was president of the Western New York Branch of the Collegiate Alumnae Association (now the American Association of University Women); registrar of the D. A. R., Buffalo Chapter; and Secretary of the Buffalo School Association.

"As president of a local parent-teacher association in Bedford, and at the same time chairman of the Bedford School Committee, she demonstrated results attained when School Committee, Superintendent, teachers, and parents work together for children.

"In the Massachusetts branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Mason has held the positions of secretary, vice-president and editor of the bulletin.

"She has conducted parent-teacher courses at the University of Vermont, the University of New Hampshire, the Normal School at Keene, N. H., and at the Wheelock School, Boston; and has edited the National Congress textbook, Parents and Teachers, published by Ginn & Co.

"In 1923 Mrs. Mason was appointed an associate editor of Child Welfare. She was elected a vice-president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in 1923, re-elected in 1926 and again in 1928."

Before assemblies of the upper classes and the freshmen on Monday, President Waters of the local P. T. A. spoke upon the significant role that the parent plays in the Association and exhorted each to remind the parent of the meetings.

THOSE BUSY MINISTERS

"Can the minister in the average modern church, which through church amalgamations or enlargement of constituency has to be of a considerable size to ensure a sufficient salary and adequate equipment and assistance, really know his people and so arrange matters that his people may know him? The lack of such mutual knowledge is undoubtedly real in at least a fairly large number of churches and communities, and it is likewise a matter, justly or unjustly, of complaint and reproach. Only a few weeks ago we met casually a woman who had been connected for some years with a large suburban church—in the Middle West—served by a brilliant minister whose brilliancy was evidently overshadowed by the complaint, voiced apparently on behalf of her fellow members, 'We don't feel that we know Dr. ...'"

Possibly every case of such lack of mutual knowledge would bear analysis and investigation on its merits—or demerits. How vitally is the one who complains really concerned about knowing his, or her, minister? How much is that concern a matter of desiring to know the minister at his best? It is our judgment that every minister who is worth his salt is at his best, or at least most truly revealed in his real character, in his pulpit. If that is not so there is some question whether he has any justification for being in a pulpit at all. Yet how many of those who express the desire to know the minister better complain of his lack of pastoral and personal visitations, etc., attend upon his preaching with regularity and with persistent intelligent interest. If we are not mistaken, one of the problems that confronts the average minister is that of securing, apart from the faithful few in every church, a congregation of those whose attendance is sufficiently regular and persistent to make a preaching ministry carefully planned and developed really effective. Can there be anything more discouraging to a minister than to prepare sermons, individually or in a series, into which he puts his very mind and heart, revealing himself in all in which he would most wish to be known, and then finding those who complain that they do not know him conspicuous by their absence?

We do not absolve from blame the minister who is cold or neglectful toward his people, and above all, we deprecate the common degradation of the ministerial function into preaching at people when preaching ought above all else to be a communing with them; but it does seem that in many cases an unfulfilled and direct responsibility rests upon the people."—[The Congregationalist, Oct. 17, 1928.]

The Misses Ella and Lillian G. Horne and Mrs. Nathaniel M. Nichols, all of this town are members of the committee in charge of the tea to be held in connection with the reception to the new officers of the New England Women's Club at the Hotel Kenmore next Monday.

MISS ALICE FULLER TWOMBLEY

Miss Alice Fuller Twombley, aged 53, died Tuesday night, Oct. 22, at her home, 81 Wildwood street, following an illness of only four days with pneumonia. Her death occurred within a week of that of her father, William A. Twombley, who passed away the previous Wednesday.

Miss Twombley was born in Winchester and attended the old Wyman School, later graduating from the high school. She was graduated from the Boothby Hospital Training School for Nurses in Boston and for some years followed her profession of nursing with great success. About 15 years ago she opened with her sister the Misses Mary Tea Room on Cambridge street and had since devoted her time and energy to this, and the Misses Mary Shoppe which she later opened at the corner of Waterfield road and Thompson street. Her business and professional life had brought her into close contact with many of the town's people and she was held in esteem by all who knew her.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Eva Fuller Twombley, two sisters, the Misses Helen and Eliza Twombley, all of Winchester; and one brother, William A. Twombley of Arlington.

Private funeral services were held yesterday morning at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church. There were many beautiful flowers. Interment was in the family lot at Wildwood Cemetery.

FIREMEN MADE GOOD STOP

The Fire Department made another good stop yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. D. W. Blood, 50 Yale street. The alarm came in by telephone at 5:11, Box 58 being pulled in at the Station. Upon their arrival at the house the men found the fire had started from sparks which had fallen down into the ash pit of the fireplace, the door of which was open. The fire was quickly put out, but considerable smoke damage was done throughout the house.

At 1:53 the same afternoon the men were called to put out a grass fire at the corner of Cambridge and Wildwood streets.

BAPTISTS HELD FINAL DEDICA-TION SERVICE

The final service of dedication of the new First Baptist Church was held last Sunday morning when the church was dedicated to "Great Causes." Probably no more inspiring address has ever been heard in Winchester than that delivered by Homer J. Councillor, S.T.D., of the Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, D. C. The members of the church and friends completely filled the spacious auditorium and a most interesting program was enjoyed. Mrs. Archambault Pinfield the popular organist presided at the beautiful new memorial organ and selections were rendered by the new quartet composed of E. Lillian Evans, soprano; Valerie Wrightmyer, contralto; Dean N. Hanson, tenor and Edward W. Hall, bass. The congregational singing was led by the new vestal choir under the leadership of Mrs. Rachel S. Browne, director. The service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne while Rev. Edward Payson Drew, D.D., an old and much beloved friend of the church offered prayer.

Dr. Councillor's address came as a natural climax to the remarkable series of addresses on preceding Sundays and made a deep impression on the large audience in attendance. Dr. Councillor is a most convincing as well as inspiring platform speaker and his outstanding position at the nation's capital made his address one of timely public interest. After a few remarks of a felicitous nature, Dr. Councillor said in part:

"The world do move." This classic bit of homespun philosophy harvested from the vernacular is today forcefully demonstrated in the purposes to which this magnificent building is to be dedicated. In our religious yesterday, not so far removed, a service such as this would have been unknown. Then the causes you have given me the privilege of suggesting would have been considered without the pale—in the realm of secular endeavor. Now we know that the sphere of Christianity embraces every phase of human life and human relationship. The silent cloister and the tumultuous market-place alike are its field.

Our missionaries long since learned this lesson, and the testimony of the conquests of the Christian physician, the consecrated educator, the godly agriculturist is confirmed and corroborated every day in the experiences of the city rescue mission with its bowl of soup and clean bed and in the ministry of those churches motivated by the spirit of service, laboring in this larger field.

Only a fortnight ago in Washington a nationally known authority in the field of optometry pointed out a direct connection between inaccurate or incorrect vision and criminal conduct, and every branch of medical science has its similar tales. Who can accurately measure the influence of the physical upon the spiritual?

Men living in poverty and disease can certainly never be at their best and the deadly plague having its origin in the squalid filth and dank stench of the rat infested water front neither recognizes nor observes social caste. The plague of sin born in the sordid dens of hopeless, disease-infected poverty takes its toll of broken hearts and ruined lives from the big house on the avenue. However, betterment in social and economic conditions has always come from those who, having found a higher plane of living, stretch forth the hand of brotherhood to help those less fortunate.

We are living in a wonderful age, an age made alluring by a renaissance of the spirit of adventure as manifested in the search for truth. Research laboratories, institutes, societies, forums—their name is legion in every city. An inherited tendency of the church, begotten in the dark age of blind superstition, has been to view with an unfriendly attitude certain of those disclosures.

The church should be a leader in the search for truth giving her reassuring support to every honest searcher. Half truths, misinterpreted truths may lead astray, but the truth itself can only lead to its origin—the heart and mind of God. The church has nothing to fear but everything to gain by the advance of human knowledge for it is but the further revelation of God and His handiwork.

In the long ago Aristotle taught that the family and not the individual was the unit of society, and in our own day a great statesman said, "The foundations of national glory are set in the homes of the people. They will only remain unshaken while the family life of our race and nation is strong, simple and pure."

In the building of character, the church, the school, and similar social institutions are but secondary to the home. "The hand that rocks the cradle" still determines in large measure the destiny of the man of tomorrow.

When God grants to us the privilege of parenthood He gives to us life's greatest blessing and lays upon us life's greatest responsibility. The church may well name among the great causes to which it will dedicate its labors the preservation of the integrity of the home.

Perhaps our people are not guilty of the contempt of familiarity but all too many are addicts to the drug of indifference as they contemplate the duties of citizenship.

It is time the Christian church set a watchman upon the walls of our nation to sound the trumpet call of duty. How can we explain the fact that with the controlling majority of American citizens members of some branch of the Christian church it was necessary for the President of these United States to plead with his fellow citizens for law observance? Jesus admonished His countrymen to "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." When the day comes, and God grant it may be soon, that this direct principle dominates the civic consciousness of every Christian man and woman from the Plymouth Rock to the Golden Gate a new era will have come in our national life—one such as we have long prayed for but never seen. How simple and yet how significant!

The application of the principles of Christ to the problems of our industrial, commercial and professional relationships. In this day of absolute interdependence, is it not strange that men should live in a state of constant warfare.

What a marvellous opportunity for the church to demonstrate the reality of Christ's declaration "All ye are brethren." When men meet in the spirit of sincere Christian brotherhood all problems cease to be. Social, economic, industrial differences which now befog the highways of life will disappear if we release upon them the glorious radiance of the teachings of Christ.

No one is more conscious than I, that even the simplest and most ordinary of the individual rights of citizenship here or in other civilized nations have been assured by the crimson cost of human sacrifice upon the battlefields of the centuries, yet, as the years of study and travel have widened the horizon of understanding I am more and more convinced of the utter folly and the absolute inefficiency of war between civilized peoples.

The first time I stood beneath the Arc de Triomphe, there was enacted a scene I shall never forget. Beside the bronze tablet inscribed to the memory of the greatest of all heroes—the unknown soldier—stood a simple peasant, leaning heavily upon his crutch. Years of toil had bent his shoulders. He hesitated a moment and then with indescribable gentleness placed among the other flowers a wee handful of blossoms he had brought with him, watering them with the tears that fell unheeded from his eyes. The tragedy of that pathetic figure visualizing the boy of his dreams sleeping there laid hold of my heart. My tears joined his, and my soul revolted at the thought that in our enlightened day such a story could be told.

Why should we not dream of—no, more, labor for—the day when "They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; and nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Upon the Christian church and the Christian church alone rests the responsibility of the gigantic task of proclaiming far and near the gospel of the Prince of Peace, until all men everywhere shall know and serve Him, and peace shall reign "from sea to sea, and from the rivers unto the ends of the Earth."

And now, in the words of Solomon, "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter." There came to Jesus upon a certain occasion an inquirer asking as to the greatest of the commandments, to whom the Master replied: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy mind, and with all thy might, and with all thy strength, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind."

and . . . thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Today we are asking, "To what great causes shall this dream of architectural loveliness be dedicated?" The answer seems immediately apparent: "To the supremacy of God, as evidenced in eager, wholehearted, unstinted service for our fellowmen in every known relationship."

May the blessing of God be upon you in this high endeavor.

WHEN A VIOLET WAS GUARDED FOR 150 YEARS

Fall flowers for football games and other outdoor festivals of the golden months of Autumn are going to be more popular than ever this year, according to local florists. Roses, 'Mums and Violets will be freely used for outdoor wear.

Speaking of violets, Mr. George F. Arnold, one of our local florists, tells us the following story of "One little Violet" which was the cause of one of the most remarkable postings of a sentry in all history:

"It is told that while she was strolling through the Tsarskoe Park, near the Russian capital, Catherine the Great one morning spied the first violet she had seen that spring, and she was so delighted that she ordered a sentry to be posted there to guard the flower and to protect it at all costs from being picked.

Each day a huge Russian soldier circled the little blossom and at night he was relieved by another soldier who continued to circle all night. Finally the flower withered and died, but Catherine forgot to rescind her order and the sentries continued to be posted there. When, at last, the Empress and the violet both had died, the posting of this sentry had developed into a tradition of the park. For 150 years, day and night, winter and summer, a sentry continued to circle the spot, although he was guarding only a memory of a modest little violet that once had smiled its spring greeting into the face of a queen."

WINCHESTER GIRL SCOUTS

Winchester Girl Scouts, 68 strong, journeyed to Cedar Hill Saturday with their Commissioner, Captains, Lieutenants and mothers, by private automobiles to have a picnic around their own cabin, each one carrying a sizeable box of lunch, the Council supplying hot cocoa and marshmallows. Eight Scouts of Troop 5 hiked from Arlington with Captain Parker and arrived almost as soon as the autos, declaring it a wonderful hike and not so far. Everyone wants to go again, often. The Council is deeply grateful to the many automobile drivers who so cheerfully responded to our call.

Troop 5 has grown tremendously in size and meets in two divisions. The high school freshmen meet on Thursday mornings at Cedar Hill where they are making bows and arrows under the tutelage of Mr. Jordan, and are passing off certain pioneer requirements. The Wadleigh girls of Troop 5 are meeting in the afternoon Thursday, Thursday being Scout day all over Winchester, and will soon begin to meet in the playroom of the Baptist Church. We are very grateful for the use of this attractive room. If you should listen to them you would hear much buzzing about a Halloween party coming next week.

Taking advantage of the good fall days, seven girls from Troop 5 rolled their warmest blankets and went to Cedar Hill for an overnight trip, our cabin lacks an indoor fireplace so we have the Lincoln Scouts to thank for the use of their attractive log cabin, where we put our cots and made our beds. It certainly was novel to cook our fish chowder over the campfire with the aid of a couple of flash lights, and to go to sleep in the flickering firelight. The maze is always attractive, but you should see it by moonlight to fully appreciate it.

Our Senior Troop 3, had their first get-together last week in the form of a supper at Captain Parker's and after eats played games that pertained to the scribe badge.

We need leaders and on Nov. 15 we are forming a training class for Captains to which all our Winchester friends are invited to join. They will be six lessons under the Metropolitan District director, Miss Simmet, and all information may be obtained from any Council member or Mrs. Hall, 8 Lawrence street, tel. Win. 0687-J. If you do not desire to become a Captain but wish to know more about scouting, this is an opportunity to learn, and we will welcome you. Our first class will meet at Mrs. Arthur Loftus' home, Rangeley at 10 o'clock Friday, Nov. 15, lasting 1½ hours.

The October meeting of the Wyman Mothers' Association held Wednesday afternoon was one of unusual merit. Mrs. Henry K. Spencer's play, "The School in the 1900's" was well presented and thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Spencer and Mr. Quinn were most helpful in their talks to the mothers. Mr. Quinn explained in detail the need of the two divisions in some of the grades because of the increase in pupils and told how carefully the divisions had been worked out making it possible for the pupils to study under the best conditions. A reception to new members and tea concluded a very profitable afternoon.

On Nov. 19 there is to be a book meeting, notices appearing later.

FENN SCHOOL, 6-0

Last Friday afternoon before a large number of spectators the football team of the Winchester Country Day School pushed over a touchdown to beat the Fenn School of Concord, 6-0.

The game was well played and the Winchester boys showed the results of their hard and faithful practice.

Victory was dearly bought, however, as Winchester's quarterback, Rupert Vittinghoff, received a bone injury in the arm, which will keep him from playing the rest of the season. "Dud" Bradlee is also on the injured list with knee trouble.

This week the team plays Rivers School away from home and on the three following Fridays will entertain teams here.

Mr. Cape has worked with the coaches several afternoons, helping the team round into shape.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Every emotion has its price and if we want to enjoy it we must pay for it.

portant part in the destinies of men, few can be driven into any particular line of effort.

Cultivate your sense of humor, it is a saving grace in many a hard situation.

If we don't discipline ourselves, the world will do it for us.

ness. Curb and bit your mind.

HOW LONG MUST WE TOLERATE THE MOSQUITO?

To the Editor of the Star:

"Mosquitoes seem to be about the only drawback in beautiful Winchester."

So said Major Skinner, the Director of Mosquito Control of the Gorges Memorial, after carefully examining the swamps and fith along the Aberjona River two years ago. They can be exterminated, he says, in the same way they were driven out of the Panama Canal Zone and from the shores of New Jersey, long famous for the number and size of these poisonous insects. Since then he has been busy in exterminating this pest from such places as the Chicago Metropolitan District, Bar Harbor, Old Orchard, Cranberry Isles, and other places in New England.

I spent the greater part of August in Winchester this year, and in whatever part of the town I happened to be in the complaint was the same: "The mosquitoes are so thick and fierce that we cannot sit out of doors with any degree of comfort." Has not the time arrived when the citizens of the town in self-defense should make a determined fight to drive this pestiferous cuss beyond our borders?

If it were possible for the State of New Jersey to rid itself almost entirely of its nationally famous pest, can we not if we take hold of this problem with judgment and vigor, do as well in Winchester. The remedy is simple, but it must be thoroughly done to be effective. Dredge the streams and fill the low places where stagnant water accumulates and either have clear water or solid ground where our swamps and marshes along the river and ponds now furnish the best possible breeding place for these troublesome neighbors.

In a recent letter Major Skinner said that much dredging in streams is now well done with dynamite at about one-fifth the cost of the old methods.
If the Waterways Committee, the Board of Health, and the Park Board, supported by the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee, will lay out a comprehensive program for this work, I believe the citizens of the town will cheerfully back them up.

Every one who spent the summer here will favor it, I am sure, and those who did not, should be willing to vote with them. It will cost money, but every improvement in living conditions costs money. Isn't it worth it?

OUR WATER SUPPLY

To the Editor of the Star:

In a neighboring paper there appeared an unsigned statement as follows:

During the past dry summer the North Reservoir was down four feet below high water and the South was down three and a half feet, but even with this dry spell this is not the record, for about 20 years ago when we had a much smaller population the North was down seven feet and the South down five feet. We have plenty of water for some time to come,
and we can have plenty more by raising the small dam between the middle and South reservoirs about four feet for a distance of 300 feet. This will enable the South to hold millions of gallons of water in reserve and can be drawn on in an emergency. The residents of the town may not know it, but the South Reservoir has not been taking water from the middle reservoir for over two months. Last spring we were losing millions of gallons of water over the South dam when it might just as well have been saved by storing in the middle reservoir. There are men interested in our water supply who will if plans turn out as expected request the town at the coming town meeting in March to have a committee of practical business men appointed to look into the matter of conserving our supply of water.
The bugaboo of Metropolitan water supply need not alarm Winchester residents, as we have, and can have plenty of water for the next 50 years
if it is properly looked into.

The above statement in regard to the Winchester Water Works is very misleading. The person who gave the information did not know the facts in regard to the Water Works. The Water Board has been in constant communication with the State Department of Health in all matters pertaining to the Water supply of Winchester.

The State Department of Health has made a survey of the reservoirs for the town and has given definite information in regard to them. By their advice the water of the middle reservoir is being reserved for an emergency supply to feed either the North or South reservoirs in case they are drawn dangerously low. The Water Board is keeping careful records of the level of the water and the overflow of the reservoirs, also the consumption of water by the town.
In a few years we will know the capacity of our reservoirs and from these records can be determined the best method of increasing the water supply.

Much propaganda has been put out to force the Water Board to do certain things which do not appear to the majority of the Board for the best interest of the tax payers and for which they will not receive any material advantage. The town is very fortunate in having a number of high grade engineers among its citizens and I know the Board would welcome the advice of any committee that the town might see fit to appoint. Meantime the Water Board is accumulating the necessary records so that the matter can be intelligently handled when the time comes that the town needs to increase its supply.

Yours respectfully,
Edmund C. Sanderson
Chairman of Water and Sewer Board

YAKUTSK: CHILLY METROPOLIS OF NORTHEASTERN SIBERIA

In its flight of more than 3000 miles from the Ural Mountains across Asia
the Graf Zeppelin sighted only one sizeable town. That was Yakutsk on the banks of the Lena River barely 300 miles south of the Arctic Circle.
A bulletin from the Washington, D. C.
headquarters of the National Geographic Society deals with this isolated metropolis of northeastern Siberia.

Journey to Yakutsk Long and Arduous

Yakutsk is one of the northernmost towns in the world, says the bulletin, ranking in this respect with Nome, Alaska; Trondhjem, Norway; and Archangel, in European Russia. Some of these competitors are actually closer to the North Pole than Yakutsk, but the latter undoubtedly takes first honors in the coldness of its climate. The mean temperature for January is 46° F. below zero, while the mean for July is only 66° F. above zero, a temperature which in the United States means chilly autumn weather.

If one travels to Yakutsk other than by dirigible, he must negotiate a long and arduous journey. The nearest railroad, the Amur branch of the Trans-Siberian Railway, lies 600 miles south of Yakutsk, across almost impassable mountains. Even higher mountains, those of the Stanovoi range which the Zeppelin had great difficulty in crossing, lie between Yakutsk and the Pacific coast 300 miles to the east. The natural outlet of the region is the Lena River which, however, flows northward into the Arctic Ocean where ice conditions usually interfere with navigation. The most traveled route connecting Yakutsk with the rest of the world lies up the Lena River and over the mountains near its headwaters to Irkutsk on the Trans-Siberian Railway near Lake Baikal. This road is more than 1500 miles long and it requires from 25 to 30 days to traverse it.

Since the building of the Trans-Siberian Railway, Yakutsk has been left far to the north of the beaten path across Siberia. Strangely enough however this far northern town was one of the principal bases of operation when the Russians were extending their control eastward into Asia. This was because the geography of the country made it easier for the pioneer Cossacks to travel along the great streams of the north and their tributaries. In this way the headwaters of the Lena were reached and that river was followed eastward. A fort was built in Yakutsk in 1632 on the right bank of the Lena, and the town was moved across the river in 1640. At that time the Amur Valley, which has played such an important part in Russian affairs, had not been discovered by the pioneers. With Yakutsk as a base, adventurous bands of Cossacks went southeastward between 1643 and 1650 and began the conquest of the Amur Valley which was to be the real path for Russia to the Far East.

A Place of Exile
From the seventeenth century on Yakutsk was used as a place of exile for Russians who had incurred the Tsar's displeasure and for Poles and other war captives. Later hundreds of religious sectarians whose tenets were not acceptable to the Orthodox Church were sent to Yakutsk to join the political exiles. Several thriving and prosperous villages near the city are maintained by colonies of Skoptzi, fanatics whose aim is to subdue all things physical to the spirit.

Since 1920 Yakutsk has been the capital of the Soviet State of Yakutia which goes by the official name of "The Yakutian Autonomous Soviet Socialistic Republic." The city now has a population of about 10,000 of which about half are Russians. The remainder are Yakuts and members of other Siberian tribes. The Russian Orthodox Cathedral is the dominant building of the city. Practically all of the other structures are low and are built of wood. The chief activity of the city is as a market for the thousands of furs that are brought in from the marshes and forests that extend in every direction.

TURKU: FINLAND'S ANCIENT CAPITAL

Abo, Finland's former capital, has been celebrating its 700th anniversary.
Turku, former capital of Finland, has (to the confusion of the newspaper-reading public) been celebrating its 700th anniversary.

These are not twin cities, explains a bulletin from the Washington, D. C.
headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Scratch Abo and you will find Turku.

Do You Know Winchester?

As a celebration souvenir, upon the completion of the alterations and redecorating of our banking rooms, we have issued an interesting ILLUMINATED MAP OF WINCHESTER, measuring about 18x25 inches, printed on the finest quality of Strathmore Japan paper and suitable for framing.

Here you see, drawn carefully to scale and in their relative positions, all the thoroughfares, railroads, tracks and boundaries of the town and one secures, perhaps for the first time, an idea of the locations of Winchester's unequalled reservoirs of pure water. The town hall, central fire station, churches, schools, railroad stations, and many residences are shown, though greatly enlarged in size. The Country Club, with perhaps the first plan of all the greens in Winchester, is clearly indicated, as well as our beautiful lakes. One may pick out the playgrounds, water towers, gasometer, Aberjona River, Middlesex Fells Reservations, and last, but not least, The Winchester National Bank, conveniently located at the square, and facing the Common.

One of these maps is yours for the asking and you will know our beautiful Town better for owning one.

NAME ADDRESS

the World War, this former Finnish capital wishes to drop its old label (in this case of Swedish origin) and to be known to the world by a name from its own language. But habits cling, and Abo and Turku must for a time live side by side in the world's news.

Bakers Furnish "Funeral Cakes"

Abo, or Turku lies on the south-western coast of Finland where the Aura River empties into the Baltic Sea. The city is almost bisected by the narrow, yellow Aura, which is dotted with all kinds of craft; steamers, trawlers, motor boats and white-sailed market boats, many of which are painted a bright red, says the bulletin. Although it has more than 60,000 people Turku is a quiet place where the Finns walk leisurely along the cobble-stoned streets and throngs of people such as rush down American thoroughfares are unknown. The streets are traversed by single-track trolley cars and the street lights hang from tall, white, handsomely carved standards.

The market place is the busiest spot in Turku. Every morning at 6 o'clock peasants and peddlers arrive to set up stalls and booths in the immense square in the middle of the town which serves as the market. Some come in wagons and some in boats. The latter can come up the River Aura and land in the streets near-by. Commerce is lively until noon. After that the stalls are bundled up and the square is deserted except for stray pedestrians.

An unusual feature in Turku's food is furnished by the "mourning cakes" which the city's bakers cook for distribution at funerals. They are wrapped in black crepe and tied with black ribbon. The variety of cakes in a Turku pastry shop in addition to these somber tidbits, would bewilder an American baker.

Finland's First and Second City
Turku is the principal starting point for passenger traffic to Sweden, but it takes an experienced mariner to reach the sea from that place. The town is protected by the Aland Archipelago, thousands of islands and islets and rocks which form one of the densest island groups in the world. In winter an icebreaker is used to keep a channel open among the islands; and as Finnish winters are long and cold, the icebreakers are kept busy.

Turku has an anomalous position.
It is Finland's first and second city.
In population and commerce it is second to the present capital, Helsinki.
In culture and learning it is first.
Finland's first university was located there and at present there are two such institutions, one for Finnish-speaking and one for Swedish-speaking students.

Turku was Finland's first capital.
Christianity was first taught there and the first Christian converts were baptized in the River Aura. The oldest cathedral and the oldest castle in Finland are to be found in Turku and nearly all the historic homes of the Finnish nobility are in or near the city.

With the exception of the cathedral and the castle, modern Turku has been built since the disastrous fire of 1827, when the old town was almost entirely destroyed in a blaze that burned for five days. Both the castle and the cathedral are grim structures with little exterior ornament. The cathedral has a long, narrow vaulted interior and most of the immense treasure which was once kept there has disappeared.

region again for, he adds, in matter-of-fact fashion.

We then found the bridge leading across the river into Kouka territory burned, so this prevented us from going even to the base of the mountain.

One of Doctor Rock's memorable contributions to science was the location of the chaulmoogra tree, the oil of which arrests the progress of leprosy, and which is so successfully used now that the number of patients in various leper colonies has been materially reduced. Later, while heading an expedition of the National Geographic Society, Doctor Rock sent back to this country a blight-resisting chestnut tree which is being experimented with by the Department of Agriculture as a means of reforesting chestnut areas devastated by the blight.

A complete set of the Choni classic writings, hand-bound between pine board covers, deposited in the Library of Congress, in Washington, attests one of Doctor Rock's most important discoveries; his explorations among the people of an ancient Tibetan principality, ruled by an hereditary prince, the existence of which was unknown to the Chinese themselves. It was in a Choni lamaseria that Doctor Rock located printing blocks of the Kandjur and Tadjur, chief Tibetan classics, and effected the preservation of a set of the two classics which are of priceless value in a study of world religions.

Several years ago we received through your kindness a collection of Rhododendron seeds, most of them having been gathered in Western China by Dr. Joseph F. Rock, under National Geographic Society auspices.

Blossom for First Time
We were successful in germinating the majority of these seeds and for the past month or so many of them have been coming into blossom, for the first time in this country. These constitute both a striking color display and a very interesting botanical exhibit, and will mark a new departure in the cult of the genus Rhododendron locally.

Many forms are yet too small to have borne flowers, and it may be years before we are able to estimate fully the debt we owe to your Society and to Doctor Rock.

The rest of the story—the chapter which embodies the adventures and dangers of plant hunting in remote world areas—is hinted by Doctor Rock in a letter received at the National Geographic Society headquarters the same day. The letter was written in the "wild west" of China's Tibetan borderland, a region where Doctor Rock was the first explorer to enter many areas, and where he has discovered many new plants of economic value, revealed strange tribes, and studied ancient religious rites hitherto supposed to have been effaced from human rituals.

More Plants of Value
During the summer while exploring we collected thousands of specimens of plants and earmarked such as would prove of value if introduced into the United States, Doctor Rock writes. When we returned to our base in the fall and requested the tribal King to exert his good influence with the outlaws of Mt. Kouka he was obliged to decline for various reasons. He did, however, grant us permission to go as far as the foot of one of the peaks.

Half way to the region a runner overtook us with a letter from the King and one from a bandit addressed to the King. It happened that after our second tour of Mt. Kouka in August a severe hailstorm destroyed the barley fields of a tribe that lived to the southeast. This calamity they attributed to the displeasure of the residing deities in the snow peaks, caused by our collecting plants and birds and our climbing about those sacred peaks. They said they had planned to rob us on our second visit but now they would kill us. So the King exhorted me not to go near the mountain.

Bridge Burning Barred Visit
Apparently it was not the menace of the superstitious tribesmen that kept Doctor Rock from visiting the region again for, he adds, in matter-of-fact fashion.

We then found the bridge leading across the river into Kouka territory burned, so this prevented us from going even to the base of the mountain.

One of Doctor Rock's memorable contributions to science was the location of the chaulmoogra tree, the oil of which arrests the progress of leprosy, and which is so successfully used now that the number of patients in various leper colonies has been materially reduced. When we returned to our base in the fall and requested the tribal King to exert his good influence with the outlaws of Mt. Kouka he was obliged to decline for various reasons. He did, however, grant us permission to go as far as the foot of one of the peaks.

Half way to the region a runner overtook us with a letter from the King and one from a bandit addressed to the King. It happened that after our second tour of Mt. Kouka in August a severe hailstorm destroyed the barley fields of a tribe that lived to the southeast. This calamity they attributed to the displeasure of the residing deities in the snow peaks, caused by our collecting plants and birds and our climbing about those sacred peaks. They said they had planned to rob us on our second visit but now they would kill us. So the King exhorted me not to go near the mountain.

Bridge Burning Barred Visit
Apparently it was not the menace of the superstitious tribesmen that kept Doctor Rock from visiting the region again for, he adds, in matter-of-fact fashion.

We then found the bridge leading across the river into Kouka territory burned, so this prevented us from going even to the base of the mountain.

One of Doctor Rock's memorable contributions to science was the location of the chaulmoogra tree, the oil of which arrests the progress of leprosy, and which is so successfully used now that the number of patients in various leper colonies has been materially reduced. Later, while heading an expedition of the National Geographic Society, Doctor Rock sent back to this country a blight-resisting chestnut tree which is being experimented with by the Department of Agriculture as a means of reforesting chestnut areas devastated by the blight.

A complete set of the Choni classic writings, hand-bound between pine board covers, deposited in the Library of Congress, in Washington, attests one of Doctor Rock's most important discoveries; his explorations among the people of an ancient Tibetan principality, ruled by an hereditary prince, the existence of which was unknown to the Chinese themselves. It was in a Choni lamaseria that Doctor Rock located printing blocks of the Kandjur and Tadjur, chief Tibetan classics, and effected the preservation of a set of the two classics which are of priceless value in a study of world religions.

CALUMET NOTES

Monday evening, the 8th, Calumet and Kernwood opens the Mystic Valley League tournament at Kernwood Club, Malden. Rooters in addition to the actual participants in the events are earnestly invited to attend and the cavalcade of automobiles will leave the Calumet Club at 7:30 p. m. sharp. If you haven't a machine, come to the club and transportation will be gladly furnished. Let's start off with a bang. "Ed" Merrill is in charge of Calumet's end, hence all will be O. K.

On Wednesday, the 13th, Arthur Kelly and his bridge crowd of men will hold their second bridge tournament. There's plenty of room for more tables and if you haven't joined yet, Arthur can no doubt fix you up. There's not much need be said about the Halloween party, except that the committee in charge is strongly desirous of having the reservation cards in promptly, in order that they may know how many to serve. It is to be a costume party, with prizes for the best, funniest and most unique, but if you prefer to come in ordinary dress, you will be just as welcome.

Last Saturday evening the board voted in 19 new members, but there is still room on the list for about a dozen more and members are urged to fill up the vacancies promptly, for many new people have moved to town and this is one way to get acquainted and have a good time at the same time.

Mrs. Arthur Butters will have charge of the next afternoon bridge, Nov. 10.

The ladies' afternoon bowling tournament Tuesday, resulted in some interesting competition and good scores. The first prize for high single string (flat) was won by Mrs. Preston with the second prize for high single with handicap going to Mrs. Boothby. Mrs. Preston turned in 103 and Mrs. Boothby's score, with handicap, was 124. Mrs. Lincoln with 173 won the third prize for high two strings, flat; and the fourth prize for high two strings with handicap went to Mrs. Simonds with 191. Mrs. Thomas Barnard and Mrs. Vernon Hall were in charge of the tournament.

Tuesday evening's bowling brought out some good scores, chief among them being Frank Higgins' three string total of 262, on a high single of 129. George Purrington rolled 323 on the night's high single of 131 and the veteran "Joe" Gendron had 310 on a high single of 122. There were several who turned in scores of better than 300.

Team 1 took three points from team 18 and team 2 took all four points from team 4. Teams 1 and 3 split even and team 5 took three points from team 7. The scores follow:

UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

Ernest Dudley Chase will entertain the Men's Club of the Unitarian Church at their supper to be given in Metcalf Hall on Nov. 1. Mr. Chase has traveled extensively, especially through the European countries. Each year he and Mrs. Chase spend their vacations sight-seeing and the movie camera is an important part of their equipment. Mr. Chase has a large number of reels which he has obtained on his different trips. We have seen quite a few of them and can state they are very interesting and educational. The pictures that will be shown will be those which were taken this summer and have never been shown in public. They are from Czechoslovakia, Austria-Hungary, Germany, Northern Italy and Switzerland. Altogether they comprise about 3000 feet of film and Mr. Chase informs us they are the best pictures he has ever taken. The producer will personally lecture and tell us all about the different pictures shown.

The supper will be served by a competent corps and a big evening is assured.

MRS. BEATRICE GRANGER SARGENT

After an illness of two years duration, Mrs. Beatrice Granger Sargent, wife of Edward Sargent, died Tuesday, Oct. 22, at her home, 544 Washington street.

Mrs. Granger was the daughter of Thomas and Anna (Hamilton) Granger and was born 10 years ago in Cambridge. She lived before her marriage in Woburn, where she enjoyed a wide circle of friends. She came to Winchester 13 years ago and had since made her home here, having been a member of the First Baptist Church of this town. She was also a member of Hope Rebekah Lodge of Woburn.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

EMBLEM CLUB NOTES

The first dancing party of the season held in Lyceum Hall on Wednesday evening under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Fitzgerald and Miss Margaret Sullivan, two of the young members of the Emblem Club was a great social success.

The hall was very prettily decorated and both of these young ladies deserve much praise for the fine manner in which the affair was conducted. The music was furnished by Leo Daley's Orchestra of Lowell, and was of a very high order.

There were two feature dances, a balloon dance and a prize waltz. The winners of the prize waltz were Mrs. Bernard F. Cullen of this town and Mr. Peter E. Griffin of Woburn, and appropriate prizes were given to them.

Dancing continued until a late hour everyone present having spent a very enjoyable evening.

MRS. GALE TO READ AT "CELEBRITY BREAKFAST"

Mrs. Marian Perham Gale will read from her published works before the League of American Pen Women at their celebrity breakfast, to be held at Hotel Statler on Oct. 28. Hon. Carl E. Milliken, secretary of Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, will speak on story material for the movies, and Dr. Earl Marlatt of B. BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

At the Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday the management will offer a picture and vaudeville bill of surpassing merit. The United Artists sensational talking picture, "Three Live Ghosts" will be the top feature with a cast of popular screen stars that includes Joan Bonnet, Hilda Vaughn, Robert Montgomery, Charles McNaughton and Claud Allister. It is replete with dramatic as well as comedy situations. The patrons will find it most brilliant in every detail. Another feature will offer, Ken Maynard in "Lawless Legion," a chapter of American history in which "Tarzan" the horse will be seen. The Laurel and Hardy comedy will offer, "Bacon Grabbers." The Hearst Metropole sound news and selected vaudeville will round up the program. There is a new show every Sunday at the Bowdoin.

Members of the freshman class at high school, because of the two platoon system are obliged to get in their athletic training during the morning. Some 30 girls are learning the fine points of hockey play under the direction of Miss Margaret Centerville, high school varsity coach, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. About 40 boys are receiving football instruction from Meldon Wenner of the Department of Physical Education and there are several promising youngsters in the group.

When You

Telephone

Three factors account for the remarkable increase in out-of-town telephoning. They are—

SIMPLICITY—whether the call goes one mile or a hundred, you may give the number to your local operator.

SPEED—almost instantaneous, whether you call your next-door neighbor or a friend a hundred miles away.

LOW COST—the lowest rates consistent with rendering good service.

The evening period from seven to eight-thirty has been instituted to provide low rates on social calls at the time when you are most likely to find friends at home.

On calls by number at distances above forty miles, the evening rates are about one-quarter less than normal day rates. And traffic records show that a greater percentage of calls can be completed promptly during this period than at any other time in the evening.

Plan your social calls during this seven to eight-thirty period. We are sure you will be pleased with the speed and economy of this service.

WINCHESTER GIRLS BEAT STONEHAM

The Winchester girls' field hockey team defeated Stoneham on their field, last Friday afternoon, 1-0. It was a very fast, fighting game and a good one to watch. The ball was taken from one end of the field to the other, but no one seemed to be able to push it over the goal line. The field was covered with dust. Sometimes the girls were even unable to see the ball which made playing very difficult. Both goal-keepers played a very fine game and it was because of their competent work that the score was no higher.

During the second half, Winchester played an offensive game practically all the time. Many shots were aimed at the goal, but R. Berchell, Stoneham's "goalie" was successful in stopping the ball. The one point was shot from out of the midst of a dusty scrimmage directly in front of the goal posts by Janet Nichols, left wing for Winchester.

Winchester's second team won their first game of the season by the same score as the first team. Olive Boutteller, center forward, made the only goal.

MEN'S BANQUET AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Nearly 200 men participated in the Men's Dedication Banquet at the First Baptist Church on last Friday evening. Under the direction of John C. Casler, Harry Moulton and William A. Snow, a sumptuous chicken dinner was spread upon the tables. Lively singing, led by Edward W. Hall and Mr. Stromberg, punctuated the evening's entertainment. As master of ceremonies Clarence A. Warren presided with sparkling humor.

The President of Everyman's Class, Harry Moulton, was presented and made a capital speech. The first speaker of the evening, Rev. Samuel M. Lindsay of Brookline, forcibly presented "The Art of Living Together." He urged the desirability of new ideas and new methods in a new church. "Unless people can live happily together within the church," he said, "the church can never hope to teach the nations of the earth to live together in peace and good will."

Brief remarks were made by the pastor and Harry Sanborn, teacher of the class drew a laugh from the crowd by his witty allusion to members absent on Sunday mornings.

Dr. Charles Tozier was asked by Mr. Warren to introduce Professor Rogers of Technology, the second speaker of the evening. Professor Rogers proved to be like a cold water bath in the morning. Everyone's blood was set tingling. He shakes church people awake by compelling them to more sharply define truth. He is a good tonic if taken in small doses. No one doubts his brilliancy in the field of literature, but Professor Rogers becomes entertaining when he tries to speak with authority in the field of religion. Professor Rogers was strong in smashing theological furniture and in throwing time-honored beliefs out of the window, but he was weak in offering anything to replace what he wants to destroy. However, as the boys say, "It was a good show."

TURNER AND DICKSON WON AT COUNTRY CLUB

Dear Sirs: I have been suffering from rheumatism over a long period of years. Recently I read your advertisement in the State of Maine Sealer of Weights and Measures Bulletin, and purchased some of your Specific. WINCHESTER AND BELMONT BATTLED TO A TIE

Locals' Scoring Surge Came too Late —Previously Held Visitors
on Goal Line

The football teams of Winchester and Belmont High Schools battled to a scoreless tie last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field before 2500 cheering fans. The game was hard fought and on the whole pretty much an even thing, though as time wore on Winchester evinced a superiority which toward the end of the final quarter became very pronounced. Time and the position of the ball, alone prevented Coach Mansfield's boys from scoring just before the final whistle.

Belmont had a noticeable weight advantage and in the second quarter all but rushed Winchester of its feet. The visitors employed an adaption of the old Minnesota shift which bothered the local boys until they were able to discover a defense for the unorthodox formation. The Belmont backs were big, heavy boys who on the whole failed to make the most of their possibilities.

While Winchester's lack of scoring punch was disappointing to its followers the game showed clearly that Coach Mansfield's charges have an offense that will click, given a good running back, able to get away fast and hold his feet when jostled. The running of Ghirardini, after his insertion into the lineup, and that of Newman late in the game was the best shown by local backs this season. Little "Gerry" was the real spark-plug of the Winchester team and only the lack of time prevented his carrying the ball across the Belmont goal line.

On the local rushline big "Bull" O'Connell played a whale of a game with "Buz" McNeil and Ralph Ambrose also showing to advantage on defense. The right side of the local frontier looked very weak in spots.

Winchester missed a fine opportunity to score in the opening quarter when it came into possession of the ball at midfield. Godfrey and Newman made a first down and then Lee shot off a flat pass to Hitchhorn who lost the ball while in stride about 25 yards from the Belmont goal. Toward the end of the quarter Dolan misjudged a Belmont punt deep in his own territory and the ball struck him to bounce away toward the Winchester goal. A poor tackle by a Belmont forward permitted Francis to touch the ball down outside his goal line. Lee kicked out of danger and as the quarter ended Belmont held the ball at midfield.

The locals got another tough break to start the second period. After holding Belmont at midfield the visitors punted to Winchester's 16-yard line where Lee immediately returned the kick. The Belmont quarterback fumbled and the ball was recovered by Winchester in the enemy's country, only to have an offside penalty return the ball to the local 6-yard line. Lee kicked again to his own 30-yard line and Emery was hurt, his place being taken by Ambrose. The Belmont offense started up the field only to be stopped when Godfrey recovered a loose lateral pass at the Winchester 9-yard line. Lee kicked short to the 26-yard line where O'Connell felled the Belmont back in his tracks. An end run by Oddie, followed by a line buck took the ball to the 10-yard line for a first down. An off tackle slash made it second down on the 4-yard mark and a moment later the ball was a single foot from the Winchester goal line. Belmont failed to push it over as the half ended.

It was a great goal line stand by Winchester and apparently took something out of the Belmont attack, though the visitors kept the ball well in local territory during the third quarter. Twice "Polly" Harris' boys kicked to Winchester's 10-yard line but each time Lee punted out of danger.

Winchester was in possession of the ball at its own 20-yard line to start the final quarter and Brown went in for Dolan at quarterback. Newman got 13 yards at end, but Lee fumbled and then got only 3 yards at tackle. Ghirardini went in for Lee and made 2 yards at tackle. Newman punted and the kick was partially blocked by two Belmont linemen and recovered by Donovan at midfield. It looked like a real break for Winchester but Referee Kewar, by what rule we can't imagine, gave the ball to Belmont at the point of recovery. This was only one of several sour decisions which hurt Winchester's chances during the afternoon.

Flaherty went in for D. Smith and Belmont was forced to punt, the ball being downed four yards from the Winchester goal line. Newman hit off tackle for 6 yards and Ghirardini got away at end for 17. Emery went back into the game for Ambrose and Captain Godfrey dashed off his own left tackle for 23 yards, taking the ball to midfield. "Bart" was just about clear for a touchdown when he slipped and fell, preventing a possible score. Ghirardini hit the line for 9 yards and a pass was grounded before Newman ran off tackle for a first down on Belmont's 40-yard line. Godfrey got 15 yards at tackle, but Winchester was penalized 15 yards for holding to slow down its attack. A pass, Godfrey to Ghirardini, made up 10 yards and again very probably would have resulted in a touchdown, had not "Gerry" fell as he turned after catching the ball. Two Winchester interferers were ahead of the runner to handle the Belmont wing and safety backs. Newman made 5 yards at tackle and then got off a beautiful spiral which fell across the Belmont goal line.

The visiting attack failed to get going and a short punt was taken by Brown at midfield. On a nice triple pass play Brown got 20 yards at right end. Ghirardini got away at end and was forced outside at the Belmont 10-yard line. "Gerry" was a real running fool and once again crashed into the line for five yards. Time was nearly up and Wilmer Smith was rushed into the lineup for Brown. Smith at once shot off a flat pass which was just too short for Godfrey to reach on the Belmont goal line. Clark went in for Smith and another pass was smothered for a loss of 5 yards. A third pass, Godfrey to Gerry was completed but the latter was run outside about 5 yards from the Belmont goal line as the final whistle blew.

One of the most efficient helpers during the day was the genial Steward of the Calumet Club, Mr. Fred Scholl who was always present wherever needed.

Much of the delicious luncheon, which consisted of perfection salad, potato chips, hot rolls, home-made cake and coffee, was donated by members of the group, as were the numerous prizes.

The highest score was held by Mrs. C. J. Sittenger, other winners were Mesdames Morey, O'Donnell, Farnum, Geo. Goddu, Hull, Cummings, Metcheur, Davis, Pride, Bostwick, Tobey, Murrant, Baugher, C. W. Young, Priest, Lowell, Gilpatrick and Miss Fontaine.

The boys at the Bedford Hospital also shared in the good time when Mrs. Dutting and Mrs. Simon arrived with a large box of home-made cakes.

This successful affair will help to carry on financially the worth-while work in which some of these women have been interested since the close of the war, when so many brave boys returned, either maimed or mentally shattered, to be placed in institutions under the care of the U. S. Government. Even now, new cases are developing daily and the work is growing rather than decreasing. These women, by their weekly visits to the hospital, have lessened the needs of the various patients and are able to help them in very many ways.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

Rarely is one privileged to see a photoplay which combines all the elements of interest that are seen in "Protection." This intensely entertaining production is the feature attraction at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. In "Protection" there is drama, comedy, thrilling action, love, romance, vigorous character work, and above all, the suggested moral that evil cannot prosper. The theme features a clash between a king of racketeers, backed by the prestige of a group of politicians, and a hard-boiled managing editor of a newspaper who refuses to be intimidated either with bribes or machine guns. The second feature on this bill is the latest episode of "The Final Reckoning" starring Buffalo Bill, Jr.

Emil Jannings, supported by two of Hollywood's most popular featured players, Esther Ralston and Gary Cooper, has produced another of his grippingly powerful human dramas for Paramount. The picture is "Betrayal" which will be the feature offering at the Orpheum Theatre for the first three days of next week. Jannings' characters have always been taken from life and in this story of the Swiss Alps. It is a soul-stirring story of the love of two men, one young and the other rich, for a glorious woman. Esther Ralston is the fascinating charmer whose beauty backs the hearts of two men. Gary Cooper portrays the friend who sacrifices honor for love, "Hard Boiled" starring Sally O'Neil will be the second feature on this program. This is the story of a plucky chorus girl who plays her game and loses, but will not admit defeat. It tells of the frenzied jealousies, love and hate that flame along Broadway. Lillian Tashman heads the supporting cast.

A fellow here in Winchester wants to know if it is true that cleanliness is next to godliness, why does it take so much advertising to sell soap?

Most men here in Winchester are as anxious to get rich as most women here in Winchester are to be beautiful.

Our Questionnaire:

1. How many men here in Winchester wear spats?
2. How many Winchesterites know the meaning of "essellated"?
3. Who was the most popular Selectman in the history of Winchester?
4. When was the first electric iron used in a Winchester household?
5. How many miles is eternity ahead of the reckless Winchester driver?

Some thoughts of a newcomer about Winchester:

I found a community of culture. Where schools are second to none. It's truly a town not waiting in the future that is really worth while. A place where the hand of fellowship is extended with a friendly smile.

With all the efforts of this spire of progress to keep civilization from going downward we noticed a sheik on Main street whose socks were rolled to the ankle.

As an old-time Winchesterite remarked: The short skirt reminds of a barbed wire fence, because it protects the property, but doesn't shut off the view.

There is such a thing as a smiling voice. A lot of people here in Winchester have heard it over the telephone.

Some pretty women here in town are unconscious of their beauty, but the majority are not even momentarily forgetful.

For one Winchester fellow of our acquaintance, a new money-making scheme would be the old-fashioned way of earning it.

We know several cases right here in Winchester where love does not always hold the controlling interest in a matrimonial partnership.

The Paragrapher

(No. 2)

No man or woman in Winchester can conform to the standard of truth unless we believe in it, and we cannot hope to maintain it unless we try to live by it. The question is not simply one of measuring up to our best self, but of strengthening it in every way possible as against our worst self. Every thought that we think and every act that we perform under the inspiration of our best self tends to reinforce it, and to make it easier for us to live in harmony with it. Thus habits are formed, thus character is built up. On the contrary, every departure from it makes the next departure easier.

The greatest traitor imaginable is that of the Winchesterite of fine character who yields anything to what is known as expediency. "To thine own self be true"—and the self is the best self. To be true to anything else is to be false to that. A great responsibility rests on those on whose steadfastness others count.

We have eminent authority in support of the statement that no one can live or die to himself. We are all bound together, and everyone depends on someone else. That is why it is so necessary for each Winchesterite to be true and brave and faithful in the face of all temptations. Plenty of excuses may always be made for a temporary weakness or yielding, but the results abide.

The high duty of every man is to strengthen his best self in every way possible, and then to make it the ruling principle of his life. Only so can he play his part in a community in which moral strength is almost the chief of the virtues.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Al Jolson's new picture "Say It With Songs," an all-talking, all-singing Vitaphone triumph, which comes to the big Granada Theater in Malden tomorrow for a run of seven days, is the story of a man who, by a trick of fate, loses love, liberty and opportunity through his devotion to a child—and the child is played by little Davey Lee. In this new hit Mr. Jolson sings a number of exceptional new songs and also several old favorites. Others in the cast are Marian Nixon, Holmes E. Herbert, Kenneth Thomson and Fred Kohler. Some of the song hits sung by Jolson in the picture are "Little Pal," "Why Can't You," "Back in Your Own Backyard" and others. "Say It With Songs" will be shown at the Granada for seven days starting tomorrow, with special shows on Sunday.

"The Lady Lies," an all-talking picture with Walter Huston and Claudette Colbert, as the stars, closes a successful run at the Granada today. Critics have pronounced "The Lady Lies" the best example of clever dialog to reach the screen.

Diet for Sailors

The serving of proper food at sea has always presented great difficulty. People not familiar with naval service often wonder what the sailorsman eats while away from port. In 1794 each man got one pound of bread, one pound of pork, one-half pint of beans or peas, four ounces of cheese and one-half pint of distilled spirits a day. As late as 1887 the diet was built around bread, salt, or pickled beef or pork, peas or beans, potatoes, cheese, sugar, coffee and tea. A typical breakfast of the up-to-date man-of-war consists of chilled grapefruit, french toast, soft-boiled eggs, bread, butter, coffee. Dinner features vegetable soup, pot roast, gravy, creamed corn, combination salad, pie, bread, butter and coffee.

THE WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The second meeting of the Women's Republican Club will be held at Association Hall on Vine street at 2:30, Wednesday, Nov. 6. The program for the afternoon promises to be as enjoyable and instructive as the October meeting. Mrs. E. F. Wellington of Malden, representative of the State committee, will speak for five minutes.

The main speaker for the afternoon will be Mr. Charles Batchelder, who will lecture on the Philippine Islands, their people and problems. Mr. Batchelder has lived in the islands for many years and has been employed by the government, so is well versed in conditions there. He will discuss such important questions, as the independence of the islands, the possibility of purchase by Japan and the making of Manila the gateway to the East. During the lecture Mr. Batchelder will show lantern slides. The Education Committee takes pleasure in announcing a course in Home Economics, consisting of four lectures as follows:

Wednesday, Jan. 15—Miss Agnes Donham will discuss the very interesting subject of the budget, having chosen as the title of her talk, "Income Management Clinic."

Wednesday, Jan. 29—Miss Tighe of the Edison Electric Company will speak upon "Modern Uses of Electricity."

Wednesday, Feb. 12—Mrs. Carolyn Dewing will give a most instructive talk upon "Interior Decorating."

Wednesday, Feb. 26—Miss Burns of the Sally Service at Bricks will give many helpful suggestions about gardens.

This course should prove both interesting and instructive and the Education Committee hope that many women will avail themselves of the opportunity which it offers.

The meetings will be held at 10:30 in the morning and in private homes, the homes to be announced later.

Anyone desiring to enroll for the course will please communicate as soon as possible with Mrs. Jesse S. Wilson, Chairman of Education, 22 Lakeview road, tel. 1703-R.

HALLOWEEN FROLIC

Master Billy and the Misses Mara and Margaret-Mary McDonald entertained 30 of their young friends from 6 to 7:30 last Tuesday evening at a Halloween party at their home on Hill street.

All the little guests came in costumes and masks and each carried a jack-o-lantern. The lanterns were added to the decorative scheme and placed in various places where too much darkness prevailed.

At 6:30 a grand march was started, led by little Brother King and "Jim" O'Connor, to a stirring march on the piano played by Mr. McDonald.

The judges were Mrs. Jane King, Mrs. Margaret Donovan and Miss Susan Brown.

Prizes were awarded to Ruth O'Neil, Brother King, Joseph Zaffina, Eleanor Rowen, Fred Donovan, Frances O'Brien and Rose Russo.

Mrs. King directed the games to the delight of the children, the most popular game being "The Halloween Witch Touches Your Left Cheek." Every time some unsuspecting youngster received a spot of burnt cork on the cheek this game developed into a riot of hilarity. "Skip to Maloo, My Lady," after the games and after receiving their Halloween caps and noise-makers all marched to the dimly lighted and gayly decorated dining room where ices and cakes in Halloween shapes were served, followed by pop-corn and candy.

REV. AND MRS. S. B. SNOW MAKE ANNOUNCEMENT

The Rev. and Mrs. Sydney Bruce Snow of Chicago, where their home is at 5700 Woodland avenue, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Miss Alice Snow to John Burr Frost of Montreal, Canada. The wedding, which will be confined to a small family group, will take place on Monday, Nov. 11, in Windsor, Vt., where Doctor and Mrs. Snow have their summer home.

THOMAS MURPHY

Thomas Murphy, 76, died Wednesday, Oct. 30, at his home, 23 High street. Funeral services will be held from the late residence this Saturday morning, Nov. 2, with a solemn requiem mass in St. Mary's Church at 9:30. Relatives and friends are cordially invited to attend.

The Board of Selectmen has voted to place a street light at the junction of Meadowcroft road and Rangeley and a second at a point 300 feet north of this corner.

MICHAEL MAHER

Michael Maher, a resident of Winchester for more than 50 years and widely known as a former employee of the Town's Highway Department, died late Wednesday evening, Oct. 30, at his home on Washington street, following a week's illness with pneumonia.

Mr. Maher was 74 years of age and a native of Ireland. Nearly all of his life in this country had been spent in Winchester and he enjoyed a wide circle of friends among older residents of the town. During his active years he was employed by the Highway Department but, of late, due to failing health, he had been retired on a pension. Surviving are a daughter, Miss Mary E. Maher, and a son, Thomas J. Maher, both of Winchester.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning, Nov. 2, from the late residence, 246 Washington street, at 9:45 o'clock. A solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 10:30. Interment will be in St. Paul's Cemetery, Arlington.

FUN AT THE CROSSING

During the rush period shortly before 8 o'clock Wednesday morning a number of automobiles were caught on the south side of the center crossing in front of an approaching train. The group included two big stone trucks and several passenger cars. It is reported that a lady driver heading the group stopped just over the east rail to ask some questions. The gates on the north crossing were lowered and there was considerable shouting. Officer Noonan jumped from his box and got the line in motion, but not before the locomotive engineer slowed his train.

On Thursday morning a car became stalled on the south crossing in front of two approaching trains, holding up the lowering of the gates. The driver, after vain attempts to start, jumped out and pushed the car back. Later in the morning an express narrowly missed striking two men at the north end of the crossing.

WINCHESTER AT MELROSE

Winchester High School's football team plays what many believe to be its hardest game of the season tomorrow afternoon at Melrose with the fast stepping Melrose High eleven which has been running rough shod through all opponents in its class.

The game is a Mystic Valley League engagement and is one which both schools want to win. Melrose is a prohibitive favorite and rightly so, since it has a club of seasoned veterans with a real punch in the backfield.

Winchester has shown flashes of good football this year, but it must be admitted, only at rare intervals. At Wakefield last Saturday the locals played their poorest game to date and it goes without saying that any such exhibition against Melrose will result in an overwhelming defeat. We look for Winchester to show a complete reversal of last Saturday's form and to be a fighting football team tomorrow. He would be a rash man who would predict a local victory.

DANCING CLASSES HOLD HALLOWEEN PARTY

After the regular Tuesday afternoon dancing classes of the Associated Studios in Waterfield Building all the classes gathered together in the hall and held a Halloween party. The entertainment began with an exhibition dance by Jean Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fabian Moran of Church street, who was dressed in an attractive orange costume, trimmed with black. Games were played by the children and each participant received a small Halloween favor. Sandwiches and pop corn balls covered with orange paper, to represent pumpkins, were given to each pupil.

MRS. BELCHER TAKES CHAMPIONSHIP

The finals in the woman's club championship at the Winchester Country Club were played off Monday, Mrs. Donald M. Belcher winning the title, Mrs. Winthrop Jackson was runner-up.

Many in Winchester will learn with interest of the marriage Wednesday evening in St. Charles' rectory, Woburn of Miss Gertrude M. Shaughnessy to Nicholas Joseph Cooke, both of Woburn. Miss Shaughnessy, who is the daughter of Mrs. Agnes Shaughnessy, is a former resident of Winchester and is a graduate of St. Mary's High School. She and her husband are to make their home in Manning court, Woburn.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

Our meetings of Oct. 24 and Oct. 31 were representative Rotarian gatherings and we are pleased to commend the efforts made by our members to keep the attendance mark at a high level. One thing we would like to suggest. Rotary International keeps a record of and reports each month, every 100 per cent meeting held by any Rotary Club whatsoever. It is a long and imposing list, but the Rotary Club of Winchester has not appeared thereon for many months past. We have been so near the charmed circle several times, but have managed to keep just outside. Our suggestion is that every member shall determine to attend a meeting of some Rotary Club, preferably the Winchester Club, within the next 12 days. The time is ample. The determination is the thing. We await your decision.

The Club was entertained on Oct. 21 by a representative of the Boston Traveler who displayed motion pictures showing various incidents pertaining to the collection of our daily news items. We were reminded that the reporting of events which seem commonplace, is frequently accompanied by much that is exciting and dangerous to the reporter.

Entertainment on Oct. 31 was strictly a home product. "Doc" Hinder's our genial song leader was given a well-earned respite from his regular duties. His place was taken by our versatile vice-president Louing. Alouet-te? Yes indeed!

The art of auto-biography is not unknown to our members. Several have ventured into this field with marked success. Their efforts have been duly appreciated by those who listened. On this occasion our good friend Ralph Bonnell introduced us to some of the high spots of his business career. It is not given to all to handle these matters with skill. To Ralph it was given and he in turn gave to us. The little touches which appeal to our sentiments, the little confidences which come to the surface in a narrative of this sort are powerful influences in cementing friendship. There is deep philosophy in the thought that one cannot hate a man if he really knows him. It is the part of Rotary to foster this philosophy. Let us have more auto-biography.

Attendance percentage for Oct. 17—93.10 per cent.

Attendance percentage for Oct. 21—93.10 per cent.

HEARING HELD ON BACON STREET TRUCKING

Winchester was well represented Wednesday morning at the hearing held in the State House by the Department of Public Works for the purpose of considering the proposed exclusion of heavy trucking on Bacon street.

The Board of Selectmen has passed a regulation excluding from Bacon street motor trucks which with their load, if any, exceed four tons; and though the Board has the right to make regulations excluding motor vehicles from ways within its control, such regulations do not become valid until the Department of Public Works has certified, after a public hearing, that they are consistent with the public interest.

Winchester's case at Wednesday's hearing was presented by Town Counsel Addison R. Pike who called as witnesses about 15 residents of Bacon street. These testified to property damage and much annoyance from the trucking and further statements were made by Chairman Joseph W. Worthen of the Board of Selectmen and by Town Engineer James Hinds. The entire Board of Selectmen was present at the hearing as was Chief of Police William R. McIntosh. The Department of Public Works announced no finding, but it is likely that a decision will be reached within a few days.

UNIQUE HALLOWEEN PARTY

Mrs. S. D. Cole entertained 36 couples last evening at a most unique Halloween party in her home, 7 Woodside road.

The guests were ushered into the cellar which was most artistic, if a bit eerie, in decorations of Halloween paper and jack-o-lanterns. A large grotesque head and body, covered partially with white, presided over the apartment and turned around so naturally that all voted they would not care to stay alone with it. In the center of the room a long table was heaped high with seasonable refreshments and in a cleverly conceived alcove gypsies in costume told fortunes for the more daring.

In addition to the usual Halloween revelry there was novelty bridge, each player being obliged to wear large, clumsy working gloves. General dancing was also enjoyed during the evening.

POLICE ACTIVE

The police of Winchester, in keeping with the State wide campaign, have been rigidly enforcing the new traffic regulations and many motorists have been summoned into court this week for violations of the motor vehicle laws. Patrolman James E. Farrell and Patrolman John Murray have each appeared in court as complainant against operators for driving while under the influence of liquor and in each case have obtained convictions with $50 fines. A steady stream of motorists have been visiting headquarters with tags for violation of the laws relating to parking and lights. In connection with the enforcement of traffic regulations here it might be well to state that Winchester, in comparison with many other places has been singularly free from motor fatalities. The last fatal accident to occur in Winchester was during May of 1928. The previous one was in Oct. 1927.

WINCHESTER GIRL SCOUTS

An advanced training course for Girl Scout leaders will be held in Winchester, beginning Nov. 15, at the Methodist Episcopal Church, and continuing for six Friday mornings, from 10 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock. We hope many of our Winchester people interested in the Girl Scout movement will take this course, and those who can give the time for leadership will confer with our Commissioner, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, 8 Lawrence street, telephone 0687-J.

For a long time a dream, at last a reality, the Girl Scout mounted troop held its first meeting at the Glenwild Riding School last Saturday. Twenty-four Scouts reported. They were divided into two patrols according to ability, the first going for a ride through our beautiful Fells,—the second, with their instructors to a near by field where they learned the intricacies of sitting on a horse and staying there. It is the ambition of each Scout to pass her "Horsewoman" badge in addition to the fun of learning to ride. The following girls belong to the troop:

Barbara Bancroft, Esther Loftus, Dorothy Bidwell, Alice Lyman, Priscilla Blaisdell, Elizabeth Philbrick, Pearl Campbell, Jean Phelps, Frances Cove, June Pettengill, Mary Little Fuller, Margaret Plummer, Janet Fuller, Judith Reed, Norma Godfrey, Annette Randall, Mary E. Hall, Natalie Steens, Frances Kelly, Nancy Snyder, Marjorie Kidder, Anita Wilson, Peggy Kemerson, Mary Worthen, Eleanor Lamore.

Captain Symmes' Troop 1 meets at the Wyman School and is filled to capacity, four full patrols, 32 girls. Four of Captain Symmes' High School troop girls are assisting her in the teaching of tenderfoot and second class work. After regular troop meeting Thursday a Halloween party was enjoyed, refreshments served, and games played that involved the second class nature work.

Winchester Council will have charge of the cake table at the big "Kettle Drum" to be held at Cedar Hill Nov. 15 and 16 to which all friends of scouting are invited. Captain Parker will have her hands full with all kinds of live animals for sale, so if you are looking for a kitty, a rabbit, a bow-wow, or even a wee piggie, just inquire of Captain Parker and she will be able to meet your demand.

A BIT UNUSUAL

The local police, who thought they had experienced every request possible for their services, had to revive their opinion last week when two young men arrived at headquarters with what they claimed was a poisonous adder which had fallen from a bunch of bananas. The reptile was confined in a bottle and was estimated at about three feet in length. Would the police give any advice as to the best way to kill the snake. They would! But advice was their limit! The young men were obliged to seek an executioner outside the membership of the force.

Hard upon the heels of the snake episode, a youngster arrived at Headquarters with the remains of a cat, enclosed in a stout box, which he wished the police to bury. He too, drew a blank. Apparently there are limits to what our officers feel called upon to do in protecting the community's life and safety.

LEGION PLANS OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

The plans for the observance of Armistice Day, as made by the Armistice Day Committee headed by past Comdr. W. Allan Wilde, were announced to the executive committee of Winchester Post last Wednesday evening and include a very elaborate Community Armistice Night Frolic and Dance, in which plans they have been assisted by the Ladies' Auxiliary Unit of the Legion Post, The Fortnightly, the Calumet Club, Winchester Lodge B. P. O. E., Waterfield Lodge I. O. O. F. and the Winchester Rotary Club to be held in the Town Hall Monday evening, Nov. 11. Dance music will be furnished from 8 until 1 o'clock by Jerome's Red Ramblers, a first class dance orchestra with complete arrangements of modern dance numbers and an extensive six act cabaret.

The committee has invited Miss Clara Shear, formerly of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, now associated with the Cosmopolitan Opera Company of Boston, as special guest artist. It is planned that Miss Shear will sing at 8:30 in the evening to allow as many as possible to have the privilege of hearing this popular operatic star who has so endeared herself to music lovers wherever she has appeared and who is undoubtedly headed for great heights in the operatic field.

The members of Winchester Legion Post plan to join the United Veterans' Council of Woburn in their elaborate parade planned for the morning of Armistice Day and to send a large delegation with their colors to this parade returning from Woburn in time to parade from Winchester Legion headquarters to the Winchester War Memorial Statue for dignified exercises at 11 o'clock in the morning in commemoration of the cessation of World War hostilities 11 years ago. In this parade the members of the Legion Post will be escorted by the Boy Scouts of Winchester and their Boy Scout Band.

At 2:30 in the afternoon before the starting whistle of the Winchester-Watertown High School football game on Manchester Field, the Legion will again be assisted by the Boy Scouts and their band in lending a touch of military color to a game which promises to be one of the best home games of the High School schedule, marching on to the field for a military flag raising at the flag pole on the field.

Tickets, at $1.50 per couple and $1 single, for the Community Armistice Night Frolic may be obtained at Hevey's Pharmacy, at the Star Office and at Legion Headquarters.

DISTRICT NURSING

The purpose of the Winchester Visiting Nurse work is to provide nursing care for the sick who cannot or should not go to hospitals, to teach health and to prevent disease.

Our visiting nurses, two graduates and one student nurse from the hospital, respond to every new call but continue care only if a doctor is in charge of the case. They give skilled bedside care to the sick and care for crippled and chronic invalids. They advise expectant mothers in matters of hygiene and give maternity care to mothers and new babies. They give nursing care to policy holders of the Metropolitan and John Hancock Life Insurance Companies entitled to same. And they assist the doctor in minor operations in the home.

Except for confinements and operations the fee for nursing visits is one dollar for calls requiring one hour or less.

In the year 1928-1929 the total number of visits made was 4629—1525 of these were paid for in full, 2486 in part and 616 were free. New members for the association are needed—$3 a year. Will you join?

POLICE MADE TWO RAIDS YESTERDAY

Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy with Patrolmen James E. Farrell, John Hogan of the Police Department conducted two successful liquor raids yesterday. Armed with a search warrant the authorities searched the premises of Giuseppe Michienzi at 10 Summer street during the forenoon and seized approximately 240 gallons of wine in six hogheads and two half barrels.

In the afternoon the men seized a barrel of wine, two empty barrels and some ale at the residence of Salvatore Scaturro, 95 Swanton street. Samples of both seizures will be submitted to the State for analysis before further action by the local authorities.

Mrs. Lilla B. Green of Washington street, who has been undergoing treatment at the Vincent Memorial Hospital of Boston for injuries sustained when she was struck by an automobile at Nashua, N. H., about two weeks ago, is expected to return home today.

WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM WON AT WALTHAM

The Winchester Town Football Team, composed of former high school players, outclassed the Waltham "Webs" last Sunday at Waltham, 26 to 0.

"Archa" Amico's boys gained at will through the Waltham line, the local ball carriers seldom being downed for advances of less than 5 yards. Doherty was the star of the Winchester attack, scoring a pair of touchdowns after scintillating runs of 40 and 50 yards. Carroll contributed the feature play of the afternoon when he heaved a 45-yard pass which "Package" O'Melia converted into a touchdown.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 the Town Team meets its toughest test of the season when it stacks up against the strong Woburn Cardinals at the new high school athletic field in Woburn. The Cardinals are the same eleven which last season defeated a crack alumni team on Manchester Field and will be a hard club for the "Townies" to take.

In Captain "Archa" Amico and his brother, "Nutsy" Amico, the Town Team has two of Winchester's greatest football stars while Neil Kerrigan, "Musky" Tofuri and Roy Horn were important cogs in last year's Red and Black eleven. Others who will appear in the "Townies" lineup at Woburn are O'Melia, McDonnell, Carroll, Cumpone, Doherty, Quigley, Farina, Fleming, Smith, Roy Horn and Lumblard.

TAKES APPLAUSE AT HORSE SHOW

Winchester Girl the Star at Boston Garden Yesterday

Miss Ellen Harding of Fells road Winchester, was the star of the Boston Horse Show yesterday afternoon. The 15-year-old girl showed the courage and skill of a veteran in her handling of Pawnee, a big grey gelding owned by Byron W. Anthony, Jr., of Providence in the touch and out sweepstake, and although Lismore, an Irish hunter from Dublin, owned by Capt. John O'Dwyer of the Irish Free State and ridden by Capt. Cyril B. Hart, won the blue ribbon, the doughty Captain was forced to participate in two jump-offs to gain the decision.

The gallant Captain Hart was most apologetic at taking the blue from his young adversary and entertained Miss Ellen following the competition in his private box, where she was the envy of all the debutantes during the remainder of the show.

GEORGE H. HUSE

Word was received here yesterday of the death at South Jacksonville, Fla., of Mr. George H. Huse, a former well known resident of this town. He had made his home in Florida for the past five years, moving there after a residence of a number of years in Boston.

He made his home in Winchester for many years, and was a prominent member of the Calumet Club. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons.

Mr. Huse is survived by a widow and one daughter, Eleanor. The funeral services are expected to be held on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Congregational Church, and the burial will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Greco of Everett avenue were among the hosts at dinner preceding the Channing-Minor dance in Boston last evening. The affair was in honor of their debutante daughter, Miss Constance Greco, who will be formally presented at a dance later in the season.

THE FINAL DEDICATION SERVICE

The remarkable dedication services of the First Baptist Church which have received such wide notice because of their unusually high order were brought to a close Friday evening by a Thanksgiving banquet. High praise was accorded the dedication committee, Clarence A. Warren, chairman; Mrs. Charles A. Burnham and Daniel C. Linscott, for the success of the general program.

The closing banquet was in every way a delightful festivity. The formal dignity of dedication was translated into the geniality of a family gathering under the magic wand of the toastmaster, Clarence A. Warren. Without premeditation, under Mr. Warren's guidance, the program spontaneously progressed with sallies of wit, scintillations of cleverness, breathless surprises interspersed with waves of laughter which sent the guests to the highest point. For a long time it appeared unlikely that the spell of the evening could be broken before midnight but the habit of temperate hours finally won the contest.

A host of capital, impromptu speeches and songs featured the occasion, bouquets were generously passed around and, last, but not least everyone agreed that a better turkey dinner than was had could not be served anywhere. Mr. William A. Snow, as chairman of the dinner committee, proved himself a past master of the art of banqueting a crowd to the satisfaction of the most critical.

Mr. William A. Holman of Portland, Me., who has been an interested advisor in the building project of the Winchester church made the principal speech of the evening. He alluded to the brilliant work of Dr. F. H. Divine financial campaign leader, and said that on the occasion of Doctor Divine's second visit to the Portland church he raised more money than on his first visit. "You will make no mistake" he remarked "if you ever find occasion to call Doctor Divine back for a second visit."

The Rt. Rev. Thomas Casady, D.D., Bishop of Oklahoma, is to preach at the Church of the Epiphany on Sunday, Nov. 10 at 11 o'clock.

WILEY-FARRIS

Miss Mary Wallace Farris, of 11 Inman street, Cambridge, and George Edmund Willey of 47 Wildwood street were married last Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James Duncan Farris. The ceremony was performed under a canopy of rose and orchid colored chrysanthemums at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church.

Mrs. Farris gave her daughter in the marriage and the latter had for her honor attendant her sister, Mrs. Harold E. Dailey of Arlington. Another sister, Miss Addie M. Farris of Cambridge, was bridesmaid. Miss Marie Elise Dailey of Arlington, niece of the bride, was flower girl and two other nieces, Miss Louise Plumania Dailey of Arlington and Miss Ruth Marie Temple of Dedham, were ribbon girls. Albert Neues of New York City was Mr. Willey's best man and the ushers were Harold Dailey of Arlington and George Rittenberg of Dorchester.

The bride wore a gown of eggshell satin, princess style, with a collar of Chintella lace, beaded with pearls and crystals. Her cap shaped veil of Brussels lace was held in place with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of Easter lilies. Mrs. Dailey and Miss Farris wore frocks of pale orchid satin, trimmed with Chintella lace, and hats to match. Their flower girls wore Tallisman roses. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a carnelian seal ring, bearing the family crest and coat of arms. Mr. Willey presented his groomsmen with a platinum Rotary ring, having a diamond center.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Willey being assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, who was gowned in orchid transparent velvet with hat to match. The house was profusely decorated with dahlia shade chrysanthemums, ferns and palms. Music was furnished by the Square and Compass trio.

The wedding journey is to take Mr. and Mrs. Willey to upper Canada. Upon their return they are to make their home in Winchester.

The bride was educated at Convent School in Canada and at Burlingame Private School. She is a graduate of the Portia Law School, the Boston University College of Law and has studied at the Harvard Summer School. She is a practicing attorney, a member of the Boston Bar, the Massachusetts Bar, and of the Lambda Alpha Epsilon sorority. Her clubs are the Business and Professional Women's Club, Canadian Club, the Massachusetts Women Lawyers' Association and the American Bar Association. Mr. Willey is widely known here as a former chairman of the Board of Selectmen. He is president of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association and is prominently identified with many Masonic and business organizations. He is a member of the Boston Rotary Club, of the Calumet Club and of the Winchester Country Club.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

One of the best State Conventions in the history of the State organization was held in Springfield from Oct. 22 to 25. Chief among the plans adopted to defeat any repeal of the State prohibition law, is a house to house campaign.

Among the many notable speakers were Mrs. Mitchener, president of Kansas, and Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, vice president of the National organization. Mrs. Smith said in part, "Prohibition is the most unanimous expression of the sentiment of the people of the United States ever voiced upon any question. It received a larger vote in Congress, was ratified by more State Legislatures, has had more affirmative Supreme Court decisions than any other amendment. The people who oppose prohibition are those who always have violated the law, and those who today are doing the same thing. A small group desire repeal because of the horrible chain of appetite! A larger group because it seems 'smart' in their own eyes to evade the law. But the opposition to the law, the misrepresentations in newspapers, and otherwise, the agitation for law repeal is being carried on by those who are financially concerned and seek their own selfish interests. The enforcement machinery shows a credit balance. The Federal Commissioner's figures show that the expense of enforcement in nine years has been $141,000,000 in round numbers. The fines and penalties collected and the legitimate sources of revenue have totaled $160,000,000. A balance of $19,000,000. Some loss of revenue? Yes, but a gain in bank savings, more homes owned, a 200 per cent increase in children's apparel, a 150 per cent increase in house furnishings, a higher standard of living, more young people in schools and colleges, and more people owning automobiles. One phase of the question the wets have not attempted to argue is the economic benefits of prohibition."

The resolutions presented by the committee and adopted, stated that national prohibition is the only method of dealing with the liquor traffic; that the W. C. T. U. is entirely in accord with President Hoover in his stand on prohibition and the Kellogg Peace Pact; that there is no denial of the benefits derived during the last nine years under prohibition and the citizens of the United States should stand by this just law, that the organization pledges itself to rouse the citizenry of Massachusetts to the need of prohibition; to inform themselves and others concerning candidates for office and elect only those who are worthy; that they co-operate, agitate, and educate through every department for the benefit of the children of the Commonwealth.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Alice G. Ropes, Woblaston; Vice President, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton, Winchester; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Grace M. Putnam, Brookline; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Annie M. Bennett, Brookline; Assistant Recording Secretary, Mrs. Florence Packard, Malden; Treasurer, Miss Maud E. Fiske, Brookline.

The police were obliged to go to Highland avenue near Madison avenue last Sunday evening to dim the lights of an automobile parked so that the bright rays blinded approaching drivers. This condition is met at many places, in and out of Winchester, and is especially trying on much frequented highways.

UNIVERSITY THEATER

Long waited but well worth the waiting for, "The Cock Eyed World," Raoul Walsh's masterful Fox Movie-tone effort comes to the University for the entire week starting Sunday. Based on a story by Laurence Stallard and Maxwell Anderson, who co-authored the memorable "What Price Glory," it features Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe and Lily Damita—Lowe and McLaglen again the fighting marines but now, in times of peace, confining their chief battle to passages at arms over their various lady loves. Lily Damita, more fascinating than ever, is their girl of the tropics, Leila Larnell, their Russian girl and Jean Bary their New York girl.

"The Cock Eyed World" has every ingredient that makes for real pastime: humor, sparkling dialog, hectic love scenes, tense drama and a happy combination of all those things that appeal from the screen, especially to the feminine sex. The supporting cast is excellent, with El Brendel, former star of musical comedy and vaudeville, reaping plenty of honors with his incomparable portrayal of a Swede Marine, "Olson." Joe Brown, Bobby Burns and Ivan Linow also have important roles.

In the companion feature Richard Dix as "The Love Doctor," the story from the famous play "The Boomerang," has an awful time escaping his own advice. He being under the illusion that you can forget heart troubles. "The Love Doctor" is a snappy farce of a young doctor and his society patients. The women he cures with his kind words, the men with his lovely nurses.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Mothers' and Fathers' Night

This year, instead of the general meeting in the High School, there will be a meeting in each elementary school. After considering the matter, Mr. Quinn, Miss Pratt and Mrs. Townner, president of the Association, felt that a larger number of fathers and mothers could be reached if the above arrangement was made. Accordingly, notices will be sent from each school.

Mr. Laurence F. Jones of Crescent road is playing on the Dean Academy Soccer team. Their games this fall have included matches with the Harvard freshman, Worcester Academy, Andover and the Durfee Textile of Fall River.

FIRST MEETING OF HIGH SCHOOL P. T. A. A SUCCESS

The first fall meeting of the High School Parent-Teachers' Association opened with a snap and fine spirit which promises a most successful year for the organization. Despite the fact that there were several other important meetings in town the same evening, there were over 100 parents present.

Mr. Albert H. Dalrymple, retiring president, extended his congratulations and felicitations to the new president, Mr. Leonard Waters who spoke vividly on the importance of the teachers and parents knowing the child. Mr. Waters outlined briefly the year's program which will concern itself with some of the different phases of parent education.

The principal speaker of the evening, Mrs. E. C. Mason, editor-in-chief of "Child Welfare" which is the National organ of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, spoke interestingly on the opportunities facing the local organization and its beneficial relationship with the national organization. Mrs. Mason made every parent present conscious of the responsibilities and privileges of his individual parenthood and his membership organization of over one and one-half million. She particularly praised the local society on the splendid percentage of men present.

A brief period devoted to an open forum in which unassigned questions were read from the platform and discussed from the floor proved one of the many unique features of the first meeting.

The High School Orchestra of 15 pieces, under the direction of Miss Marian Knightly, played for the genuine pleasure of the audience, "Chanson Triste" by Tchaikovsky; "Frat March" by Barth and "Non-politan Nights" by Zarnecnik. Miss Knightly led the audience in an enthusiastically enjoyed period of singing several old songs, unusually loved.

At the close of the meeting the teachers of the school constituted a receiving line for meeting the parents present. Tags, bearing the name of the teacher and his subjects, or the parent and pupil, facilitated the spontaneous cordiality. The hall was decorated in keeping with the Halloween spirit and cider and eatable doughnuts added to the pleasure of the occasion. Much of the success of the meeting was due to the following very active membership committee which enlisted the attendance of the parents and persuaded their membership:

Mrs. Henry K. Fitts, Chairman
Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Davis
Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Parsons
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert West
Mr. and Mrs. J. Waldo Bond
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barry
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson
Mr. and Mrs. William M. Little
Mr. and Mrs. Sewall E. Newman
Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Godfrey
Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Friend

The atmosphere of warm friendliness and congeniality was sustained actively by a busy and gracious hospitality committee composed of the following:

Mrs. Arthur S. Kelley, Chairman
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong
Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Bidwell
Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Dalrymple
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Johnson
Mr. and Mrs. William M. Little
Mr. and Mrs. Sewall E. Newman
Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Godfrey
Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Friend

JAMES F. BUTLER

James F. Butler, a former well known resident of Winchester, died Saturday, Oct. 26 at Atlantic, following an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Butler was 36 years of age and was a native of Winchester, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Butler. For a time he was employed at the Central Hardware Company and had many friends among the young people of the town.

After leaving Winchester about 8 years ago and before moving to Atlantic, where he made his home at 19 Windsor road, Mr. Butler had been a resident of Cambridge. Besides his parents he is survived by his wife, three children and a sister.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday with a requiem high mass in the Sacred Heart Church, Atlantic.

DINNER BRIDGE FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Mrs. William H. Hevey of Canal street gave a dinner bridge at her home Tuesday evening in honor of her sister, Miss May Foley, a teacher at the Noonan School, whose marriage to John H. McHale of Stoneham is to take place on Nov. 6. Covers were laid for 40 guests, the table decorations being pink and silver.

Bridge was enjoyed following the dinner and at the conclusion of play Miss Foley was showered with many handsome gifts of interest to the bride-to-be. Last week Miss Foley was guest-of-honor at a luncheon given at Glendale Farm Inn, by her sister teachers at the Noonan School.

COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL NOTES

Thursday afternoon the Winchester Country Day School football team journeyed to Hingham to clash with Derby Country Day School.

The schedule of games for the remainder of the season is as follows:

Nov. 8—Penn School at Concord.

15—Roxbury Latin at Winchester.

Last Friday, Winchester was defeated by River School of West Newton 19-6. The local team scored in the first quarter after carrying the ball over 50 yards. Winchester made seven first downs to 10 for Rivers. Injuries prevented W. C. D. S. from putting her regular team on the field, but all the players did good work. Dave Kenerson has been an outstanding player for the team in every game.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB

The second fall meeting of the Men's Club will be held in the parish house, Monday, Nov. 4. An especially fine chicken dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. following which there is to be a very interesting illustrative talk by Mr. A. A. Nothrop on the construction of the Conowing Dam. As this is one of the major engineering developments of recent years it is hoped a large number may be in attendance.

HALLOWEEN WHOOPEE AT FIRST "CONGO" CHURCH

The young people of the "Congo" Church gave a very successful Halloween party Friday night, Oct. 25. A ghost none other than Lawrence "Little One" Keepers greeted each person as they entered the darkened gymnasium. Dr. Malcolm recounted a most gruesome story and to enhance its realism enlisted the aid of oysters and raw meat which he passed around to everyone in the dark room. These slimy pieces of meat were supposed to represent human hearts and brains, among other things. Gordon Gillett and William Allen were in charge of the "torture chamber" which afforded fear and amusement for many. Olive Boutillier did a very clever gypsy dance besides telling fortunes in most approved fashion. After other games were played the young people danced. Seasonable refreshments, consisting of cider, doughnuts and apples were greatly enjoyed.

The committee in charge of the party included Marjorie Malcolm, chairman; Helen Bidwell, Kenneth West, Caroline Mercer, William Allen, Donald Bates and Gordon Gillett. The mothers who assisted were Mrs. Herbert West, Mrs. James Allen and Mrs. William W. Malcolm.

MURPHY—HASTINGS

Miss Helen Hastings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hastings of Allston, was married Saturday evening, Oct. 26, to Mr. Henry Carroll Murphy, of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Murphy of 25 Marion street. The ceremony, attended only by the relatives and a few close friends, was performed in the chapel of St. Aidan's Church, Brookline by the Rev. Thomas F. Garrity. Mr. Ramon Murphy, brother of the groom was best man, and Miss Marjorie Hastings, attended her sister as maid of honor. The ushers for the reception, which was held at the Hotel Commander in Cambridge, were Mr. Edward Butler and Mr. Frank Valley of this town, Mr. Edward Hastings of Stoneham, brother of the bride and Mr. George McCarthy of Brookline.

Upon returning from a wedding trip which will take them to Chicago and points west, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will take up their residence in Waretown.

Jane, her daughter Aida Johnson
Mayno, Cumma's daughter-in-law Katherine Waldo
Henry Berry Lowrie, last of the outlaws Francis Felt

In "The Voice of the Snake" these people have been given the parts:

WINCHESTER GIRLS DEFEAT SWAMPSCOTT

The Winchester High School girls' field hockey team defeated the Swampscott girls after a very exciting game on Manchester Field Tuesday afternoon by the score of 3-2. No goal was made until the middle of the first half and then the Swampscott center forward, Elizabeth Whitney sent a long shot through Winchester's defense for the opening score. This seemed to arouse the fighting spirit of the local girls, for Ruth Wadleigh, left inside, immediately dribbled from the 50 yard line and caged the ball. The whistle blew soon after, leaving the score tied at the half.

At the resumption of play, after a scrimmage in front of the Swampscott goal, Janet Nichols, added another point to the Winchester score. Swampscott rallied and its left inside, Edna Swain, tied the score by a very clever shot just out of Capt. "Pug" Mercer's reach.

The deciding goal was scored by Janet Nichols, who made a clean shot through the goal after receiving a pass from "Midge" Brown, Winchester's right wing.

Mary Cutler's accurate defensive shots showed up well in the line of defense.

The Winchester seconds defeated Swampscott's second team 3-1, three goals being made by Olive Boutillier and two by Winifred Williams. Swampscott's goal was made by C. Johanson.

The summary: SWAMPSCOTT
M. Brown, right inside, A. Welch, M. Kendrick, left inside, P. Buckley, M. Carr, center, J. Whitney, R. Wadleigh, right inside, E. Swain, R. Nichols, left inside, K. Koek, M. Tompkins, right inside, L. Wharton, B. Locke, left inside, E. Crosby, C. Nichols, left inside, B. Jordan, M. Carter, right inside, D. Rutledge, B. Shaw, left inside, J. E. Leonard, C. Mercer, right inside, B. Odienne
Score: Winchester 3, Swampscott 2. Goals made by: Ruth Wadleigh, Janet Nichols 2, E. Whitney, E. Swain, Edna Swain, Mary Cutler, M. Hayden, R. Wales.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Life is much more than stocks and bonds and love much more than rate per cent.

He who gives in friendship's name, will reap as he has spent.

The only difference between a rut and a grave is in length and breadth.

Don't cloud your mind wheels up with the mud of jealousy.

Men should not forget that their jawbone is not their backbone.

With all these lady drivers losing their licenses in the auto safety campaign, some of us who do not agree with Superintendent Crowley may have a sigh of relief—including Chief DeCourcy.

THE STAR COMMENTS

Winchester people should take more than passing note of the coming concert and dance to be given by Winchester Post, American Legion, on Armistice Day, Nov. 11. At this entertainment there is to appear an artist of exceptional ability, and with the name of Clara Shear, formerly of the Chicago Civic Opera Company and now lyric soprano of the Cosmopolitan Opera Company of Boston heading the list, there is immediate assurance of an evening of exceptional enjoyment. It should be unnecessary, with this announcement, for the Legion to advertise further its fine array of talent, but it may be said that there are to be six vaudeville acts of exceptional merit, and an orchestra which is so good that its booking must be made far in advance.

The STAR is pleased to recommend this entertainment to the townspeople. Winchester can well be delighted with talent of this ability, and if Winchester Post is ambitious enough to provide it for our entertainment, we should give it our hearty support.

NOT A BOLSHEVİK

To the Editor of the Star:

There appeared in the Star last Friday a letter from Mr. Edmund C. Sanderson, chairman of the Winchester Water Board in which an exception is taken to an article written by myself.

He gives the readers of your paper the impression that this article is a stab in the back to his department and from his article the residents of the town might get the idea that it was some Bolshevik attempting to pull down the Winchester reservoirs.

Now then Mr. Editor just a small space in reply to Mr. Sanderson. In the first place let me say that there was no criticism of the Water Department either expressed or implied but a plain statement of the necessity of looking into our present supply and adding to it when the time comes. Many of your readers who read the article in question in your paper have spoken to me about it and failed to see anything that the least exception could be taken to.

Let us analyze the article. I stated the North Reservoir was down four feet below high water and the South three and one-half feet. You admit yourself these figures are correct, and go me one better by saying the North Reservoir is now down five feet. I also stated this was not a record which you admitted to me is also correct.

Not to unduly alarm the Winchester people I stated we had plenty of water but that we might add to this supply by at least 75,000,000 gallons by raising the dam at the Middle Reservoir, and I will also add here for your benefit if you do not already know that the present North Reservoir can be raised 13 feet above its present level by the construction of a new dam. I also stated we were losing millions of gallons of water last spring over the South Dam or to be exact about 8,000,000 gallons every 24 hours. Do you dispute that statement?

I also stated that if plans go through that the town will be asked to name a committee of business men, not engineers who will go over the ground thoroughly and report on the matter of adding to our present supply. This matter will rest entirely with the citizens of Winchester not with you or I.

Now then Mr. Sanderson where are the misleading statements to which you take exception? Instead you are the one that is attempting to do the misleading, in the very first paragraph you write, you inform the citizens of Winchester that the Water Board is in constant communication with the State Board of Health. Now then inform the residents of Winchester in what way the State Board is going to supply us with water if we run short.

You know as well as I do that the State Board passes on the purity of our water and nothing more. If Mr. Sanderson would pay more attention to the people of the town and less to the politicians at the State House we would be better off.

Of course we can connect with the Metropolitan supply if we have to, but why junk one of the finest natural supplies of water in Massachusetts when by a little careful study we can add millions of gallons to our present system at a fraction of the cost it will be to the town to unite with the Metropolitan District. Is there any answer to that Mr. Sanderson?

You were born and brought up in Winchester and so was I and you are not too young to remember the battle that took place in 1890-91 when after the work had laid idle for almost 10 years the job of completing the South Reservoir was undertaken. Where would Winchester be today for water if the public spirited men of a former generation did not insist on completing what was started.

Mr. Sanderson is evidently looking at the present, but I believe in looking ahead as our first citizens of the town did 40 and 50 years ago. All the facts and figures in the world will not dispute the statement that we must look into our water supply at the earliest opportunity.

Now citizens of Winchester this is not a personal matter between myself and Mr. Sanderson but it should interest every taxpayer and resident of the town.

Finally after reading this article I will leave my case in the hands of the good citizens of Winchester feeling that they are the court of last resort.

THANKS FIREMEN

To the Editor of the Star:

I wish through your paper to extend my appreciation to the Deputy Chief and members of the Winchester Fire Department for the carefulness and quick work in responding to a fire, which looked very bad at my home, Oct. 24 and the manner it was handled by these men. It is certainly a credit to the town and a feeling of safety to all its citizens to have such a department.

TOWN GENERALLY QUIET LAST NIGHT

While it was too early for a complete check-up as the Star went to press this morning, the opinion at Police Headquarters seemed to be that conditions generally were good throughout the town on Halloween.

Most of the complaints received during the night were from residents on the West Side where it was several times necessary for Sgt. Thomas Cassidy and his patrolmen to disperse a crowd of about 100 children and young people whose pranks in many instances were something more than mischievous. The cemetery sign post and mail box was pulled down, a street sign was uprooted, several street lights broken and considerable damage was done at the Country Day School. On Sheffield West one house was literally plastered with eggs and tomatoes.

One resident of Winthrop street notified the police that his garage and hen house had been painted red while another householder on the same street found his driveway painted a vivid vermilion. Two cars were stolen from the monster barn dance in the Perkins Barn on Cross street and three arrests for drunkenness were made.

A Packard sedan, owned and operated by Henry S. Taylor of 26 Glen road while stopped on signal at Church and Bacon street was struck in the rear by a Cadillac touring car owned and driven by George Nelson Parker of Billerica. On the pretext of getting more light for a conference with Mr. Taylor, Parker drove his car to Lagrange street where he and a companion abandoned it and took to their heels. Both machines were damaged, the Cadillac being towed by the police to the Central Garage. Mr. Taylor reported the incident to the police who are investigating.

William Eaton, 3-year-old son of Henry Eaton of 14 Lockman street, was injured about the head when he fell from the running board of a truck on Cross street near Loring avenue. The machine was driven by Andre Lentime of 62 Fowle street.

On the credit side of the Town's ledger is the fact that there were neither legitimate nor false alarms of fire during the night. We like to believe this was not wholly due to the rain.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

On next Wednesday evening a large delegation of members from the local branch will be numbered among those who attend the State banquet of all the M. C. W. G. branches in this district.

This is the second annual banquet and Hon. Michael Williams of New York will be the speaker of the evening. The program will also include vocal and instrumental numbers.

The committee in charge includes all branch regents and from the activity which the committee has been displaying everything points toward the same success for the second banquet as was true of the first banquet.

It is gratifying to realize that in the space of so few years they are included in a membership organization throughout the entire State organization ranks very large and the work which their combined efforts are able to accomplish receives much favorable comment.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Next Thursday evening in Lyceum Hall Miss Frances Ahern, D.D., and staff of Arlington, will install the newly-elected officers of the local Court. Following the installation there will be a supper and entertainment in charge of Mrs. Thomas Cassidy, assisted by a competent committee.

PHILIP MANSFIELD

Philip Mansfield, a prominent Boston attorney, died suddenly this morning at his home, 126 Mt. Vernon street. He was in his 54th year. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

ANNUAL FALL TENNIS TOURNAMENT HELD

Helen Bidwell and William Gilpatrick Won Singles Titles

Deborah Gilbert and Frances Pettin-gell Doubles Winners

The annual fall boys' and girls' tennis tournament, sponsored by the local Park Department, was held on last Friday and Saturday at the Palmer street courts. Regular school sessions were suspended because of the teachers' convention in Boston.

Helen Bidwell, a nationally ranked junior star, proved too good for the field in the girls' singles, finally defeating Lucy Fowle, recent winner of the Longwood girls' tournament, in the championship match, 6-2. Lucy, one of the most promising of the town's younger girl players, had to face stern competition from Dorothy Parks of Arlington and Frances Pettin-gell, a veteran campaigner and high school player, before winning the right to face Helen in the finals.

On the boys' side of the tournament "Billy" Gilpatrick was the outstanding figure, winning his semi-final match from Norman Dalrymple 6-2, and taking the championship round from Albert Cutter, 6-3.

"Billy" and Albert teamed nicely to win the boys' doubles championship, taking their semi-final match from B. Cushman and A. Rogers, 6-2, and defeating Lorimer Walker and Norman Dalrymple in the finals 6-1.

As usual the girls' doubles produced plenty of good tennis before the teams squared away for the final rounds. Lucy Fowle and Aria Glidden and Carolyn Abbott and Made-line Little, Frances Pettin-gell and Deborah Gilbert and Marjorie Brown and Sylvia Hatch were the teams bracketed in the semi-finals. Lucy Fowle and Aria Glidden and Frances Pettin-gell and Deborah Gilbert were the surviving combinations, meeting in the final round of the tournament on Sunday. Frances and Deborah, ex-members of the championship teams at high school, were the ultimate winners, the score being 6-3.

Grace Cutter was the winner of the girls' consolation, taking the final match from Carolyn Kellogg, 6-4. The final match in the boys' consolation is yet to be played with Lorimer Walker and Bradbury Gilbert the participants.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

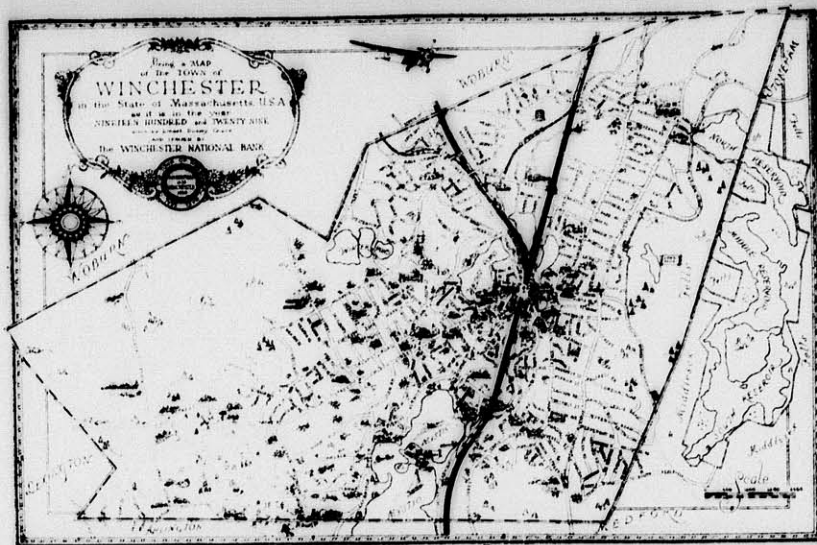

Work was begun this week by Contractor James J. Fitzgerald upon a new walk and driveway with extensive grading and filling at the William J. Noonan School lot.

Captain Eugene S. Flaherty of the Fire Department began his annual vacation on Wednesday. "Gegan" is likely to be found on the sidelines at the next two high school football games as his son, "Joe," is a member of the Winchester eleven.

Shortly before 9 o'clock Tuesday evening Desk Man James Callahan, on duty at the Central Fire Station, noticed a grass fire in progress on the Parkway in front of the High School building. A piece of apparatus soon put out the blaze.

We noticed recently the first complaint about radio we have yet seen on the blotter at Police headquarters. Last Friday, shortly before midnight, residents in the vicinity of Loring avenue complained of noise of a radio being run in a house with the window open. Officer John Murray was assigned to straighten out the situation.

Wednesday, shortly before 3 o'clock in the afternoon a Dodge sedan, driven by Harry Meek of 1 Webster street while coming down Webster street, skidded and tipped over on the sidewalk in front of the residence of Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne. The machine was damaged and Mr. Meek was reported as badly shaken up.

Do You Know Winchester?

As a celebration souvenir, upon the completion of the alterations and re-decorating of our banking rooms, we have issued an interesting ILLUMINATED MAP OF WINCHESTER, measuring about 18x25 inches, printed on the finest quality of Strathmore Japan paper and suitable for framing.

Here you see, drawn carefully to scale and in their relative positions, all the thoroughfares, railroads, tracks and boundaries of the town and one secures, perhaps for the first time, an idea of the locations of Winchester's unequalled reservoirs of pure water. The town hall, central fire station, churches, schools, railroad stations, and many residences are shown, though greatly enlarged in size. The Country Club, with perhaps the first plan of all the greens in Winchester, is clearly indicated, as well as our beautiful lakes. One may pick out the playgrounds, water towers, gasometer, Aberjona River, Middlesex Fells Reservations, and last, but not least, The Winchester National Bank, conveniently located at the square, and facing the Common.

One of these maps is yours for the asking and you will know our beautiful Town better for owning one.

Chief David H. DeCourcy of the Fire Department returned this week from Birmingham, Ala., where he attended the annual convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs. He admitted that his personal pleasure at the convention was somewhat marred by the absence of his particular "running mate," Chief Tracy of Woburn, but otherwise reported a profitable trip. Among other things he stated that we in this district know nothing of grade crossing hazards such as exist in the south and south west where the wrecks of automobiles are left at the scene of accidents as mute warning signals. If we had talked with "Dave" a bit longer, we might have been convinced that we really have no crossing problem at all in Winchester.

Charles Gainey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gainey of 15 Elmwood avenue was injured about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening when he was struck by an automobile which was turning into the Shell Filling Station in the center and which was driven by William Mahoney of 15 Baldwin street. The little boy was picked up and taken home where he was attended by Dr. Milton J. Quinn. He was not thought to have been badly injured.

Miss Virginia Farrar of Myrtle street entertained 25 of her friends with a Halloween party at her home on Wednesday. Games, refreshments and dancing were enjoyed until a late hour.

Angelo Ghirardini, former Winchester High boy, is making a great success of himself at Worcester Academy. He is vice-president of the Senior Class, a monitor, member of the Student Council and secretary of the Athletic Association. As guard on the football team he is playing a very outstanding game.

Capt. Caroline Mercer, goalie; Mary Cutter, fullback and Muriel Carr, center forward of the Winchester High varsity hockey team have been chosen to go to the All-Boston Public School field hockey try-outs.

The chief of police has been ordered by the Selectmen to have the "no right turn on red" sign removed from the beacon at Church, Bacon and Fletcher streets.

Complaints have been received by the police from residents in the vicinity of Bacon and Central streets and Everett avenue about the flashing beacon recently installed there. The chief complains seems to be that the beacon interferes with radio reception.

Rev. John E. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, was one of the committee in charge of arrangements for the fall convention of the Woburn Association of Congregational Churches, held Wednesday at Medford.

TEACHERS ENJOY HALLOWEEN

The farmers, housewives and their children connected with the Winchester Teachers' Club held a very successful Halloween party in the Mystic School Hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 30. The hall was decorated with festoons of orange and black crepe paper, Jack-o-lanterns and witches. After various relay races, dancing was enjoyed.

The party was in charge of a very efficient committee headed by Miss Dodge of the Mystic School.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton Clarke (Priscilla Larned) of Mt. Vernon street are the parents of a daughter, born Thursday at the Winchester Hospital.

SEC-TREAS. DRESSER CHOSEN AS DELEGATE

The first get-together luncheon meeting of the Propeller Club of Boston, this season, was held in the Chamber of Commerce Building Wednesday afternoon and was attended by about 75 members, mostly identified with different branches of the maritime industry. Prof. Lawrence B. Chapman, the president, was chairman.

Frank E. Dresser, the secretary-treasurer, of Ridgeway, this town, was named delegate to the national convention of Propeller Clubs to be held in New York next month, and also to be the Boston representative on the board of governors of the Propeller Club of the United States.

Albert T. Gould, well-known admiralty lawyer, talked interestingly on the history and commercial activities of Labrador.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Cock Eyed World," a picture that everyone has heard about and one that everybody wants to see, is the special attraction the big Granada Theater in Malden will offer for seven days starting tomorrow. Since the advent of talking pictures, no production has roused the enthusiasm and won such acclaim from all over the country as has been accorded "The Cock Eyed World." Playing at the Rosy Theater in New York a few weeks ago it smashed all attendance records for any theater in the world. "The Cock Eyed World" is based on a story by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson who co-authored the memorable "What Price Glory." And the picture features the same two stars, Victor MacLaglen and Edmund Lowe, who appeared in the "Glory" picture. Lowe and MacLaglen are again fighting Marines but now, in times of peace, confining their chief battles to massages at arms over their various lady loves. The trend of the story takes the Marines to Russia, to the tropics and to New York and Coney Island. Lily Damita is their girl of the tropics, and some girl she is. Lolia Karnelly is their Russian charmer. Quelling an uprising in the tropics is their only opportunity to do the battling the marines are noted for but even in this minor engagement the director has elipsed for drama, force and thrills and battle of "What Price Glory." "The Cock Eyed World" has every ingredient that makes for real pastime: humor, sparkling dialog, hectic love scenes, tense drama and a happy combination of all those things that appeal to eye and ear.

Today for the last times the Granada will offer Al Jolson in his new singing and talking hit, "Say It With Songs." This new Jolson picture presents this famous star in a role that permits him to sing many favorite hits including "Little Pal," "Stay in Your Own Back Yard," "Use to Be" and "One Sweet Kiss." Little Davey

Lee who appeared with Jolson in "The Singing Fool" has another great part in this new production.

ORPHEUM THEATER

George O'Brien reaches the highest spot of his career in "Masked Emotions" the current attraction at the Orpheum Theater, Malden. He gives a vivid, and at the same time, sympathetic interpretation of the role of a college man who sets out to avenge an attack on his chum made by a ruthless Oriental and a band of coolies that is being smuggled into the United States. Out of the maelstrom of thrilling plots and counterplots, a most interesting romance develops between O'Brien and Nora Lane who portrays the daughter of a sea captain who O'Brien believes to be in league with the smuggling gang. "Masked Emotions" is a picturization of "A Son of Anak," a serial that was printed in the Saturday Evening Post and was written by Ben Ames Wilson. This production is recommended to those who enjoy a picture that embraces plenty of thrills and romance. The second feature on this program is the first chapters of "Pirates of Panama" the thrilling new action drama serial starring Natalie Kingston.

The simple, yet age-old beauty of the harvest season forms the aesthetic basis for the theme of "Hungarian Rhapsody," a Paramount release, which will be the feature picture at the Orpheum Theatre for the first three days of next week. The picture opens with a "long shot" of a vast wheat field in which hundreds of workers are engaged in mowing the golden shafts into windrows. The plot thereafter revolves about the harvest-festival spirit which engages the principals of the drama and lifts them out of themselves into a new universe of gorgeous thrilling romance. Hundreds of sturdy Hungarian peasants swinging their long scythes and the gayly caparisoned cavalry troops dashing through their military formations for the general's inspection make this production one of the most gorgeous that has ever been filmed. There is an all star cast headed by Lil Dagover, Willy Fritsch and Dita Parlo. "The Woman I Love" starring Norman Kerry, Robert Frazier and Margaret Morris will be the second feature on this program. This is an absorbing drama of the story of the life of a girl of today.

All opinions, properly so called, are stages on the road to truth. It does not follow that a man will travel any further; but if he has really considered the world and drawn a conclusion, he has traveled as far. This does not apply to formulae got by rote, which are stages on the road to nowhere but second childhood and the grave. To have a catchword in your mouth is not the same thing as to hold an opinion; still less is it the same thing as to have made one for yourself. There are too many of these catchwords in the world for people to rap out upon you like an oath and by way of argument. They have a currency as intellectual counters; and many respectable people say their way with nothing else.—Robert Louis Stevenson Joys of Self-Sacrifice "Husbands should share the housework with their wives," says a woman's paper. We despise those selfish husbands who want to do it all themselves.—Boston Transcript.

How Great Men Died

When Napoleon felt that his last hour was approaching he did not put on the imperial robe and crown, but asked to be dressed in his field marshal's uniform, even to the boots.

Augustus Caesar arose from his couch, carefully adjusted his toga and met death standing. Julius Caesar, when slain drew the folds of his toga over his face that his enemies might not see his death agony. Siward, earl of Northumberland, left his bed and put on his armor, saying: "A man should not die like a beast." Lord Nelson, while being carried below with the fatal bullet in his back, took out a silk handkerchief and covered his face to conceal it from the crew.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

(No. 4)

Home is the place where men need their religion most, because it is at home that men are not only most tempted, but most inclined to show their meanness. There is seldom anyone to call a man to account in his own house. There he can too often play the tyrant with impunity, and there are homes in Winchester as elsewhere where he not infrequently does so misbehave himself as to render his presence intolerable to all within his power.

There are a great many people in and out of Winchester who profess to be Christians, and it would be interesting to get at the precise number of those whose families or dependents derive any benefit from their master's supposed religion—whose wives thank God that they have religious husbands, whose children thank God that they have religious fathers, whose employees thank God that they have religious employers. We hope there are many such, because the professedly religious man, whose wife and children and employees do not have occasion to thank God for a religious husband and father and employer, has no religion which will pass muster either in this world or in that which is to come.
A truly religious man, whatever his station, puts his religion into his daily life and vocation, and makes it tell beneficently in the humblest duties as well as in the highest.

Eugene Bertram Willard

Frank Knox Linscott, Boston attorney who died last Saturday night at his East Milton home, was the brother of Daniel C. Linscott of Central street. The deceased was a graduate of Bowdoin in the class of 1888 and of Boston University Law School.
He was admitted to the bar in 1892
and entered the law office of his father, the late Daniel Clark Linscott. He had practised in Boston continuously for 37 years. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from the First Baptist Church, Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The combined charm of a lovely October day and an attractive program made the first meeting of the season an unusually large one. From 2 to 2:30 the club members, new and old, were greeted by the officers, Mrs.
Christine E. Hayden, president; Mrs.
Idabelle H. Winship, 1st vice president; Mrs. Alice S. Jenkins, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Beatrice M. Dabney, recording secretary; Mrs. Irene D.
Sittinger, corresponding secretary;
and Miss Mary L. Hodge, treasurer.
The meeting opened with the singing of "America, the Beautiful," Mrs. Annette S. Hughes, leader, and the Salute to the Flag. Mrs. Hayden in calling the meeting to order, extended her cordial greetings to every member, asking all to pledge themselves to a year of friendliness, service, and the carrying out of the many worthwhile activities of the club. She spoke of the work done by the program committee during the summer in an effort to give the very best and most attractive program possible this year, and sincerely hoped that the members would show their appreciation by constant attendance, as nothing was more stimulating than a large gathering of club members, both to the guest artists and to those who are striving to make the club life successful. Mrs. Hayden stated that many compliments had been received from outside clubs on our book. The committee chairman, Miss Mary A. Fitch, Mrs. Valerie T. O'Connor, Cooperation with War Veterans; Mrs.
Elizabeth S. Hall, Dramatics; Mrs.
Gladys K. Wilson, Legislation; and Mrs. Annette S. Hughes, Music, gave interesting sidelights on committee activities for the season. Mrs. O'Connor urged the members to co-operate with the local Legion Post in their Armistice celebration; Mrs. Wilson stressed the value of the course of study offered by her committee in Parliamentary Law; Mrs. Hall invited the club members to attend the Dramatic afternoon, making note of the fact that there will be three only this year;
Miss Fitch announced the very attractive program of her committee, and Mrs. Hughes spoke of the formation of a Glee Club, directed by J.
Albert Wilson, and of its value as an entertaining feature in club life. Mrs.
Hayden voiced the sentiment of the club when she stated that we would all await with impatience the first appearance of the "Fortnightly Glee Club." For the Literature Committee, Mrs. Anna M. Swanson announced the possible opening of a club circulating library. Mrs. Marion P.
Gale and Mrs. Idabelle H. Winship gave most interesting reports of the May Federation meeting at Swampscott; in the absence of Mrs. Gale her report was read by Mrs. Hazel L. Pur-rington, who particularly urged the members to subscribe to Federation Topics. These splendid reports were fittedly ended by Mrs. Winship by a quotation from one of the Swampscott speakers, "I want my creed to be an understanding heart, a sense of humor, the power to love, a few moments of silent meditation and the sense of the presence of God." The guest artist of the afternoon was Miss Helen Simpson, actress impersonator, who gave three numbers, "The Flower Shop," "Poinsett and Company" and a sketch from one of Lovet Taylor's plays. Miss Simpson was well received and her characterizations were skillful and attractive. Miss Simpson has a charming personality which she brings into play with telling effect.

The social committee, in charge of Mrs. Estelle R. Little, added a final note of hospitality and cheer in its serving of coffee, cake and nuts. The tables were attractively and daintily arranged, fall Chrysanthemums adding to their charm, and giving the Autumn note. Mrs. Bertha K. Danforth, Mrs. Martha W. Kelly, Mrs.
Gretchen H. West and Grace B. Ascetine assisted at the tables.

Art Committee
It is hoped that the members will make an effort to attend the lecture,
"Cathedral Windows of Europe," by Dr. Kenneth White at Metcalf Hall, parish house of the Unitarian Church,
on Wednesday, Nov. 6 at 2:30 o'clock.
Doctor White is a distinguished critic who has followed the study of art merely for love of the beautiful, a man of leisure and of culture. Metcalf Hall will provide a perfect setting for an exquisite picture and the committee deeply appreciate the kindness of the church co-operation.
There will be classical music by the Ampeio during the presentation.

Literature Committee
On Monday, Nov. 4, at 2:30, the first study in "Creative Reading" will be offered by this committee. The course will be under the general editorship of Robert Emmons Rogers, Professor of English in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and will be in effect a resume of current literature.
The first afternoon will be in charge of Mrs. Helen H. Murray and Mrs.
Florence I. Cross, and will take two books for a basis of study, "The Art of Thinking," by Ernest Dimmet and the "Cradle of the Deep," by Joan Lowell. Mrs. Anita S. McGaragle and her committee cordially invite the members to attend this course in Current Literature. The meeting will be in Fortnightly Hall.

BRUNO—GEOGHEGAN
Last Sunday evening in St. Mary's rectory Miss Helen E. Geoghegan and Anthony V. Bruno, both of Winchester, were united in marriage by the Rev. F. Conrad J. Quirbach.
Miss Geoghegan, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Geoghegan of 121 Sylvester avenue, was attended by her sister, Miss Katherine Geoghegan of Winchester. James V.
Bruno of Winchester was his brother's best man.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a veil of tulle and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her attendant wore a frock of Nile green with a picture hat to match and carried pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. James Bruno of 21 Chester street. The house decorations were cut flowers, potted plants, autumn foliage and multi-colored streamers.

Mrs. Geoghegan was assisted in serving the wedding supper by Mrs.
Anna Taylor of Woburn and the Misses Virginia Bruno, Margaret Geoghegan, Mildred Bruno, Mary Geoghegan, Sarah Earle of Watertown and Mary Harrigan. During the evening there was vocal and instrumental music under the direction of Frank O'Leary of Boston.

On their return from a honeymoon trip to Canada by way of New York and Niagara Falls Mr. and Mrs.
Bruno are to make their home in Winchester at 9 Richardson street.

The Club met in the social hall of the Unitarian parish house on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 29. The president, Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott brought forward, several recommendations which were discussed and adopted. Among them was one that a loan fund should be established for the sake of helping needy students in college.

Mrs. Harold Beebe, President of the Smith College Group presented to the members of the Club, Prof. Robert E. Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology whose subject was "Significant Books of the Year." He mentioned among them the new edition of Encyclopedia Britannica, "The Tragic Era," "Queen Elizabeth," "Art of Thinking," "Farwell to Arms" and "Dynamo."

WORK IN THE WINCHESTER ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

The Junior Red Cross work which has been done by the pupils in the Winchester schools during the year just closing has reached the same high standard as that set by previous years. The outstanding purpose which has brought about these activities has been that of service. The children are looking for opportunities to serve.
The reports which are submitted each month show the large number of ways in which the children have found to be useful to others.

The outstanding feature of the year was a joint meeting of all the Junior Red Cross organizations in the elementary schools of the town. This took the form of a Red Cross meeting.
The purpose was to demonstrate to the members of the Mothers' Association and others the Junior Red Cross work as it is regularly carried out in the schools.

The program was as follows:
Earning Membership in the Junior Red Cross Filling the Christmas Boxes Things which the Children make for those less fortunate than ourselves
The Junior Red Cross News
The Poster
The Christmas Boxes
The Junior Red Cross News
The Junior Red Cross News
The Junior Red Cross News

Officers representing the different pupil organizations sat on the stage.
The president of the Washington
School organization presided.
The poise of the children, the efficiency with which the program was carried out and the intense interest which was exhibited showed the value of this work to the children in our schools.

Each elementary school has had a pupil organization and held regular meetings. The programs have included the following subjects: favorite poems, safety, our activities, health dramatizations, bird program,
kindness to animals, thrift, Lincoln, meals that are good for us, fire prevention, schoolroom thrift, good Americans, services performed to earn Junior Red Cross membership, patriotism.

The following are representative activities in which the children have participated in carrying out the service idea. This is by no means a complete list, but gives a general idea of what the work has consisted.

127 letters to sick classmates
156 scrapbooks
124 favors
553 jointed animals and toys
19 baskets food Thanksgiving
5 baskets food Thanksgiving
110 Christmas gifts fathers and mothers

WINCHESTER LOST TO WAKEFIELD

Forward Pass in Final Quarter Deciding Factor

A lackadaisical Winchester High School football team lost a Mystic Valley League engagement to an alert, fighting Wakefield High eleven at Wakefield last Saturday afternoon by the score of 7 to 0. It was the worst game we have seen Winchester play in years.

Perhaps the local boys were over-confident or perhaps Wakefield was especially good last Saturday. We don't pretend to say. But surely the winners deserved their victory. No team can play the stupid football Winchester showed at Wakefield and finish anywhere but second best. Coach Mansfield's boys know much better than to make the mistakes they made last Saturday, but laying the mistakes aside, our chief indictment against the team was its utter lack of fight, the complete absence of a will to win. The fighting spirit displayed against Concord, Arlington and Belmont was missing at Wakefield and any continuance of last Saturday's indifference will prove fatal in the remaining games.

Winchester was without the services of big "Boss" Symmes, on the bench with a bad "Charlie-horse," and the loss of the veteran tackle hurt. "Bob" Lee, playing his first game at end, did well enough and contributed a stellar catch of a forward pass in the first quarter such as we have not seen since "Clint" Mason's time. It was a touchdown play, if "Olio" hadn't slowed up after making the clutch.

Bruce Colpas, playing Symmes' tackle, did a fine job in a new assignment and gave everything he had while on the field. He repeatedly broke through the Wakefield line and with more experience will be a hard man to keep out of there.

"Don" Emery was easily the star of the local team and it is safe to say made more than half the local tackles. The fact that Emery was unable to be in two places at once accounted for many of Wakefield's long gains.

On the whole the local's line play was poor. The boys failed to shift over to meet the Wakefield running attack while the ends repeatedly permitted the opposing ball carriers to get outside them. The local secondaries were very slow in coming up and seldom met the runner at or near the line of scrimmage. Whenever the boys played as they have been coached to play they stopped Wakefield dead.

There were several times when the Winchester strategy was very sour, notably at the beginning of the second quarter when the locals had the ball at Wakefield's 25-yard line, third down, 5 yards to go. Gharardini was rushed into the game, obviously to give Winchester a first down at or inside the 20-yard line, a fine position from which to score. "Gerry" is a very hard young man to stop when he has two chances to make five yards, but the little battering ram wasn't used and Winchester had a forward pass intercepted and returned to the 41-yard line. During the entire quarter "Gerry" was in action he carried the ball only once.

Again at the end of the game, Wakefield had scored 7 points and there remained about 3 minutes to play. Winchester elected to kick-off despite the fact that it had showed no super-defense for Wakefield's running plays and the game was nearly over. When the locals did come into possession of the ball at the Wakefield 38-yard line instead of risking everything on a long pass such as pulled last year's Arlington game out of the fire and scored against Woburn a year ago, a conservative flat pass was pulled off which though completed resulted in a gain of only 13 yards, with seconds to go. Two more conservative forwards were attempted, the second of which was intercepted to make Wakefield's victory safe.

Winchester had one chance to yell when just before the half ended Lee shot off a pretty pass which carried 17 yards from the line of scrimmage to Hitchborn who caught the ball 25 yards from the Wakefield goal. The big Winchester end made a nice catch but was too slow about to avoid the opposing wing and safety backs who downed him before he got started. This same Hitchborn made a corking catch of a Lee pass late in the game, pulling down the oval in the midst of a cloud of scarlet jerseys after a fine jumping clutch.

The Wakefield touchdown came at the very end of the last quarter which opened with the ball just inside Wakefield's territory in Winchester's possession. Newman was forced to kick and the ball went only to his opponent's 22-yard line. Colbitts sliced off tackle for 13 yards but McNeil spilled a thrust at his end for a loss of 5 yards and Wakefield drew a 15-yard penalty for the illegal use of hands. The ball was at Wakefield's 15-yard line when the Winchester forwards were badly fooled on a run from kick formation by Atwell who galloped to midfield before he was tackled by the local safety man, Clark. A thrust at Colpas' tackle was stopped with little gain and Burbine went in for Edison of Wakefield. Atwell once more skirted Winchester's left flank for a first down on the local's 40-yard line. Winchester was offside and from the 35-yard stripe, after two line plays had been messed up, Burbine passed out to the right to Colbitts who was tackled on Winchester's 29-yard line. On the next try at Lee's end Newman came up fast and hurled Burbine for a 5-yard loss. Winchester, however, drew a 15-yard penalty for piling on and it was 1st down on the 19-yard line.

A pass, Burbine to Colbitts, made another 1st down at the 9-yard line and Symmes went in for Colpas at tackle. On the first play "Boss" broke through and dropped Colbitts, then O'Connell and Emery stopped a thrust at center. McNeil broke up a try at his end and it was 4th down, 8 yards to go. The ball was in position to pass or kick, but Wakefield elected to pass and Burbine got off a looping forward right over the center of the pushline, through the arms of three Winchester players, to Melanson who scored the touchdown. A second pass, Burbine to Atwell, a flat pass out to the right, added the extra point.

EXHIBITION OF PHOTOGRAPHS

From Oct. 28 to Nov. 16 there will be an exhibition of photographs of "The Passion Play of Oberammergau," loaned by the Library Art Club in the Public Library.

Oberammergau is a small village in Bavaria 45 miles from Munich. In 1633 the country was devastated by the plague, and the survivors vowed to God that if the disease should be stayed they would perform a Passion Play every 10 years. Except in times of war this pledge has been kept and is still regarded as a religious observance.

HOME HYGIENE CLASSES PLANNED BY RED CROSS

With the reopening of schools the Winchester Chapter of the Red Cross is resuming the teaching of classes in home hygiene and care of the sick under the direction of Mrs. Sewell E. Newman, chairman of the committee in charge. The instructor is Miss Franchere of the Stoneham School Department.

These courses teach the value of sunlight and fresh air and general cleanliness, and combat the harmful medical superstitions which grew up in the days before the discovery of germs and disease transmission.

The Red Cross courses in home hygiene have the warm approval of school and health authorities, as an aid to maintaining health. Students in schools, as well as adults, obtain an understanding and appreciation of the need to guard and maintain health, to create an interest in working for better civic conditions, and to become acquainted with future responsibilities as home makers.

Two of our Winchester High School girls, who completed this work have gone on with the training and have become nurses. Miss Jane Yetter, one of these girls, is now employed in the Winchester Hospital.

Mrs. L. H. Elliott of 16 Stevens street reported to the police that while she was driving her automobile last Friday on Cambridge street near Everett avenue something hit the hood of the machine and glanced up, breaking the windshield. An examination of the car led the authorities to believe that the damage had been done by the contents of a shot gun. Mrs. Stevens stated that there had been no other cars in sight when the incident occurred nor could she see anyone about the neighborhood. The small pit-marks of the shot were plainly visible on the hood.

You may have asked yourself "how can Hood's know just what every cow on every farm is producing in the way of quality milk?" It's a big job, nevertheless, we do know, and here's how we manage:

The advance guard in this system are the inspectors. Practical, trained milk experts who drive the roads from farm to farm keeping a watchful eye on everything that affects Hood's Milk. Next come the veterinaries, professional men graduates of the best schools. They look after the cows. Then the Hood laboratory where the milk from every farm is regularly submitted to the most searching scrutiny.

Bacteriologists examine it through powerful microscopes. Chemists weigh the total solids, check up the butter fat content, its purity and its cleanliness. If the first line and the second line have missed anything, here is a guard it cannot pass. The laboratory's "yes" or "no" is final. You may enjoy this protection, without cost, with every bottle of

A LECTURE on CHRISTIAN SCIENCE Entitled An Outline of Christian Science By PETER V. ROSS, C. S. B. of San Francisco

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 5, First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester, held a lecture in the Town Hall. The lecturer, Peter V. Ross, C. S. B., of San Francisco, Cal. was introduced by Mr. Ernest W. Hatch who said:

First Church of Christ Scientist of Winchester extends to you a cordial welcome. Your presence here tonight indicates your interest in the subject of Christian Science. Those of you who have been students for any length of time have received in your own experience many proofs of the healing power and spiritual uplift of this great truth. Many of you have perhaps been healed simply by reading our textbooks.

There are probably some persons present, however, who have never before attended a Christian Science lecture, but are just beginning to be interested in Christian Science. To bring the subject before such as these, as well as for the benefit of older students, the Board of Lectureship was established by Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Under the auspices of the Art Committee an unusual treat was offered at Metcalf Hall on Wednesday, Nov. 6, when Kenneth White, Ph.D., delivered his charming and enlightening lecture on, "The Religious Art of Europe in Color and Stone."

Music was furnished by the Chickering Ampico, and the well chosen selections made a fitting accompaniment to the exquisite pictures, which reproduced in color the most noted and beautiful stained glass windows in the cathedrals of France and England.

The audience could not fail to catch the spirit of the speaker and a realization that the primary aim of art is to express and promote a profound religious spirit. Designers of these pictures in transparent color, just as our most famous musicians of all ages, strove to combine all resources to achieve spiritual ends.

Although not a few rare windows of the 12th and 13th centuries (called the golden age of stained glass) were destroyed through wars, and religious animosity, there are still remaining to us many marvellous examples of this fascinating art.

The audience followed the development of this craft from the earliest specimens at St. Sophia in Constantinople created in the 4th century, through all the ages to its marked revival in the present day. In closing Doctor White urged his listeners to encourage American artistry and to visit the studio at 1 Washington street, Boston to see the great window there exhibited, before it is placed in Doctor Fosdick's Church in New York City.

WORKING OUT A COMMUNITY PROBLEM

"For we are all woven together in the great web of Humanity."

There are Winchester families suffering from the ills of life, plus enervating poverty.

Thanksgiving, "The Day of Bounty" is at hand.

The Thanksgiving Committee desires contributions of complete dinners or cash for such dinners.

Always there has been an understanding sympathy for Winchester's handicapped families.

Will you not give as generously as before?

Notify or telephone, Town Hall, Department of Public Welfare, Win. 1833 from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. or Nathaniel M. Nichols, Secretary of Conference, Thanksgiving and Christmas plans, tel. Win. 0343, from 8 a. m. to 12 m. and 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

STATEMENT BY ANDREW W. MELLON, THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

In the last seven years the American Red Cross has spent annually an average of $927,000 out of its own funds and $6,750,000 in funds contributed by the public in the relief of disaster victims. That is has the trained staff to deal with the work of relief and reconstruction is due entirely to public support in membership.

The $927,000 has been chiefly expended each year in the hundred or more disasters in communities which are not aided by public subscriptions. Instead of asking the public for funds every time a small disaster occurs, the Red Cross appeals to it once a year for memberships. In this way it is enabled to care for those small disasters from its general funds; and so, when one joins the Red Cross, one is contributing to the sufferers in many small disasters by putting the Red Cross in a position to meet these emergencies as they arise.

(Signed) A. W. Mellon

Gene O'Sullivan, well known here, has just returned from his annual two weeks' vacation in Maine. He brought back a 10-point buck which was said to be one of the largest that had passed through Bangor this season. A large bag of birds also bore testimony to the success of his trip.

WINCHESTER GIRL SCOUTS

The Captains and Lieutenants met Tuesday evening with the Commissioner, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall and after supper was served a very enthusiastic business meeting followed. All Captains planned Thanksgiving and Christmas cheer for their troops to distribute in the way of baskets of food, and toys, and many new activities for the winter.

On Wednesday, the Council met at the home of Mrs. Bidwell and voted to permit the Scouts to assist the Red Cross by placing the posters in the centre of the town this Thursday. Council members and captains supervising. The Council will contribute the money for the turkeys and also cook them for the Scouts' Thanksgiving baskets. The Council and Scouts are surely proving they live up to their motto, "Be Prepared" and their slogan, "Do a Good Turn Daily."

Halloween parties were numerous among the troops. At Troop 5, an old witch (who proved to be Mrs. Roger V. Pettigell) came into the room leaning on a cane and carrying a candle. She asked in a very quavering voice if anyone would like her fortune told. Foolish question—is there anyone who does not want to know the future at Halloween? Everyone helped herself to a blank piece of paper that the witch carried in a Jack-o-lantern, and then watched with breathless interest while her piece of paper was waved over the candle. Low and behold the wish appeared and great was the merriment over some of them. At the urgent invitation of all the old witch remained to the refreshments of cider and doughnuts. She had hardly gone before another arrived and told some gruesome ghost stories as we sat around a make-believe camp-fire.

Troop 4 held their Halloween party on Saturday in Mrs. Phelps studio, played games pertaining to Halloween and Patrol 1 had charge of entertainment. Patrol 2 taking charge of refreshments, sandwiches and cider.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The second annual State banquet held last evening at the Statler Hotel was a tremendous success in every way.

Some 400 officers and members from the branches together with a representative body of clergy from the local branches attended.

All the speakers were in agreement on the vital importance of the individual branches and all emphasized the important part they play in the charitable work of the diocese.

The principal speaker was, Hon. Michael Williams of New York.

Regent Ambrose of the local branch served on the general committee.

A large delegation was present from Winchester and all are now anticipating eagerly and pleasantly the third annual banquet.

Regular monthly meeting of local branch will be held next Thursday evening.

LEGIONAIRES HEARD "BOB" BURLIN

"Bob" Burlin of radio fame was guest and principal speaker at the November banquet of Winchester Post, A. L., held last evening in the Post headquarters on Washington street. A hot turkey supper with all the "fixings" was served to a large gathering which filled every available bit of space at the tables. Comdr. Richard Parkhurst introduced Mr. Burlin, who held the closest attention of his audience with a series of stories and readings embracing a wide range of subjects. Former Comdr. W. Allan Wilde spoke briefly upon the plans for the observance of Armistice Day and motion pictures of the recent national convention at Louisville were shown through the courtesy of former Comdr. Nathan Thumlin. Other "movies" included shots of the West Point Cadets during their Boston visit and views from many big time football games.

FIRESIDE NOTES

Its open fireplaces, homey atmosphere and private dining room are making an earlier appeal than last season as shown by bookings for private parties.

Among those entertaining recently are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ash of Fairview terrace. A dinner party of 20, Mrs. Eugene Wilde, a luncheon bridge, Mrs. John Ayer, a family dinner party Sunday.

WINCHESTER SECONDS TIED NEWTON

The fast-stepping Winchester High School second varsity football team held the Newton High School seconds to a 6-6 tie last Friday afternoon on Manchester Field. Newton scored in the first quarter on a long end run by Bruin.

Winchester evened the count in the last quarter when Newman plunged over the goal line after the home team had made a long march down the field.

Last Saturday morning the high school freshmen eleven journeyed to Newton for a game with the Newton High Sophomores, returning on the long end of a 6-0 score after an exciting battle. Knowlton, Pearson and Welburn looked very good for the locals who have been working out mornings on Manchester Field under "Mel" Wenner of the Department of Physical Education.

THEODORE VON ROSENVINGE

Theodore von Rosenvinge, a Boston attorney with offices at 24 School street, died suddenly of an acute heart attack on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at his home, 88 Church street, following a brief illness. He was 59 years old.

Mr. von Rosenvinge was the son of Frederick Wilhelm and Emilie (Muller) von Rosenvinge and was born in Ribe, Denmark. He was educated in schools and universities in Denmark and in 1889 came to this country, taking up residence in Boston, where he began the study of law. He was admitted to the bar in 1899 and had practised his profession in Boston continuously since that time.

His practice dealt largely with people of Scandinavian origin, an intimate knowledge of their language and customs making the deceased especially adaptable to the administration of their affairs.

Mr. von Rosenvinge was a member of Palestine Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Everett where he made his home before coming to Winchester three years ago. He was also a member of Palestine Commandery, Knights Templar, of Chelsea, and of Allope Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He was affiliated with several Scandinavian societies and with other organizations of a business and professional nature. He was a member of the Massachusetts Bar, the Boston Bar and of the American Bar Association.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ada von Rosenvinge, and three sons, Theodore, Jr., a Boston attorney, associated with his father's office; Melvin, a student in a Boston Law School; and Norman von Rosenvinge, all of this town.

Private funeral services will be held at the late residence on Saturday morning and will be conducted by the Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church. Interment will be in Forest Hills Cemetery.

CHARLES M. JENKINS

Charles M. Jenkins, a resident of Winchester for the past 18 years, died Wednesday afternoon at his home, 18 Mystic Valley Parkway, following an illness of several months' duration.

Mr. Jenkins was born 67 years ago at Prince Edward's Island. As a young man he came to Boston and entered the pattern making business, being president of the Boston pattern making firm of C. M. Jenkins & Co. at the time of his death. Before coming to Winchester he had made his home in Winthrop where he was a member of Winthrop Lodge of Masons. He was a member of Winchester Royal Arch Chapter, of the Boston Employers' Association and was also a deacon of the First Congregational Church.

Surviving, besides his wife, Mrs. Alice S. Jenkins, is a daughter, Mrs. George A. Schildmiller of Detroit, Mich.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon in the First Congregational Church with the Pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, officiating. Interment will be in Oak Grove Cemetery.

"RELIGION AND LIFE"

Dr. Samuel Macauley Lindsay of Brookline begins on Sunday a series of notable addresses on "Religion and Life" at the First Baptist Church.

Among all denominations, Doctor Lindsay is regarded as one of the three outstanding preachers of Boston. His own church is crowded at every service and hundreds of university students look to him as their pastor. Those who have not heard his rich Scotch accent, his rhythmic diction and fascinating delivery will have a treat in store.

Doctor Lindsay will deal with the technique of the spiritual life in a fresh and vigorous way. The meetings are free from denominational bias aiming at a re-interpretation of religion in the experiences of modern life for all.

The evening service on Sunday will be set forward to 4:30 and Doctor Lindsay will preach at this Vesper service. Each night he will also preach at 7:45 except Saturday.

WINCHESTER CROSS COUNTRY TEAM WON AGAIN

Winchester High School Cross Country team defeated the Concord High runners over the local course Wednesday afternoon, 23-32. Capt. Henry McCormack of Winchester, the individual winner, ran the 2 1/2 mile course in 14 minutes flat. Following is the order of finishing:

H. McCormack, W. R. Winchester, W. S. Lawrence, C. T. Williams, C. G. McCormack, W. W. Stalker, W. O. Purrell, W. K. West, W. J. Macome, C. F. Drummey, C. S. Hanley, C.

WATERTOWN HERE THE HOLIDAY

Watertown High School's league leading football team will be here Monday afternoon for a circuit engagement with Winchester High on Manchester Field at 2:30. The game had been originally scheduled for Saturday, but co-operating with the local Legion Post the high school management was glad to change the date to Armistice afternoon. Watertown is a real attraction this fall and should draw a big crowd.

On paper Winchester does not look to have much of a chance with the boys from the arsenal town who have been going high, wide and handsome since an early season defeat at the hands of Waltham. Watertown has completely outclassed such teams as Woburn, Wakefield and Arlington with a forward passing attack, admittedly the best in the Mystic Valley.

Johnson, Watertown's quarterback, is probably the best Mystic Valley League passer since Glen Kedrick's day and he has a couple of real receivers in Captain Sherman and McDermott, the capable Crimson ends.

Winchester has all fall been especially susceptible to the aerial game and just how the locals will react to the best passing attack they have faced is problematical. The Red and Black rushline should more than hold its own with Watertown and if the boys will play as they did during the last quarter against Belmont and Melrose, the visitors will have a defense problem of their own to worry over.

Coach Mansfield is going to start Ghirardini, hard running back, at the signal barker's position in a desperate effort to change the locals' plan of campaign. Captain Geoffrey, Lee and Wilmer Smith will be "Gerry's" starting mates. "Don" Emery will start center with "Bill" O'Connell and "Joe" Flaherty, guards; Paul Welburn and "Hoss" Symmes, tackles and "Johnny" Murphy and "Buz" McNeil, ends.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

Winchester Rotarians gathered at the Calumet Club for their regular meeting last Thursday. It was a typical Indian summer day auguring well for the month's activities.

At this time we had our first opportunity to greet Harry T. Winn as a member of our Club. We believe that Harry is and will continue to be a whole-souled Rotarian. As such both he and the Club will profit greatly from our new relationship. To him President Roscoe extended cordial greetings which were echoed by all present.

A report was presented by George Davidson as chairman of the Public Welfare Committee.

"Doc" Sheehy presented to us as his guest, Doctor Lombard of the Massachusetts Board of Health, who addressed us. Doctor Lombard confined his remarks to the activities of the Board with reference to future conditions.

It seems that the efforts of our physicians and medical organizations during the past 25 or 30 years have resulted in a marked decrease in the death-rate in Massachusetts. A further examination of available statistics discloses that this decrease in confined almost wholly to our younger citizens and that infant mortality in particular, has been lessened.

In the case of individuals, 40 years of age or more, the mortality rate has been practically stationary for a long period of years. It is this latter condition which more and more is receiving attention from the State Board of Health. Chronic and contagious diseases are being diligently studied, as well as the customs and living conditions of various inhabitants of the Commonwealth. A Board of Survey has visited several of our towns and cities which exhibit well-diversified economic conditions. It will be remembered that they came to Winchester some two years since.

Of necessity it will take a long time to produce definite results in work of this character, but enough has been done to show its real value. The funds provided by the Commonwealth and the work of our medical experts will surely bring about conditions resulting in an increase in the "expectation of life" for our citizens. It is needless to say that this work is not confined to Massachusetts.

Membership cards for the coming period are now being distributed to members. Please remember that your signature must be affixed as indicated on the card.

Attendance percentage for Oct. 31—96.55 per cent.

A REQUEST FROM THE LEGION

Winchester Post of the American Legion is requesting a general display of flags throughout the town on Monday, Nov. 11 and is asking the several churches to toll their bells during the two minutes of silence proclaimed by the Governor and commencing at 11 o'clock on Armistice Day.

STORES TO CLOSE ARMISTICE DAY

President George F. Arnold of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce has announced that stores, generally throughout the town will be closed on Armistice Day. The chain stores have expressed their willingness to co-operate and the banks are not to open. The STAR Office will be closed all day.

Andrew F. Anderson of 18 Kenwin road has been drawn to serve as a traverse juror at the Superior Criminal Court in East Cambridge. Albert B. Sells of 18 Glen road has been drawn to serve as a traverse juror in the Superior Civil Court, also at East Cambridge.

BAILEY-SOAR

A wedding of unusual local interest took place in Winchester on Saturday evening when Miss Margaret Ethel Soar became the bride of Adin Burton Bailey. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride, 5 Pierpont road, Winchester, by Rev. George E. Heath, pastor of the Center Methodist Church of Malden.

The bridal party stood before a bank of palms on either side of which were tall candelabra. The house was decorated throughout with chrysanthemums and American beauty roses, the dining room being done in flowers in shades of yellow.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of ivory satin and tulle, with ivory tulle veil fastened to a turban shaped head dress. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lily leaves.

Miss Dorothy White of Medford was her only attendant. Miss White wore a gown of peach taffeta shading to gold. Her slippers were of gold and she carried a bouquet of autumn flowers in shades of yellow.

Vernon H. Hall, Jr., of Winchester was the best man and Curtis S. Leonard and F. Homer Glaven, both of Medford were the ushers. The bridal party entered the room through an aisle formed by a ribbon held by Vernon H. Hall, 3rd.

About 130 guests were in attendance at the ceremony and reception which followed. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey were assisted in receiving their friends by their parents, Mrs. Soar wearing a velvet gown in a dahlia shade and Mrs. Bailey in black velvet. Music was furnished for the occasion by an orchestra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Soar, of Winchester, formerly of Somerville. She is a graduate of Northfield Seminary in 1925 and of Mt. Holyoke with this year's class. She has been employed as librarian in the high school at Fairhaven.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Edward Bailey of 264 Riverside avenue. He is a graduate of Medford High School and of Mt. Hermon. He graduated from Yale University with the class of 1927.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey are on a wedding trip which will include Washington, D. C. They will live for a time at Pottsville, Pa., where Mr. Bailey is employed as civil engineer with Stone & Webster, Inc.

WINDOWS TO BE DEDICATED

First Congregational Church Sunday Morning

Two new aisle windows, the gift of Mrs. William I. Palmer in memory of Mr. William Irving Palmer and in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Parker, 1st, will be unveiled at the morning service in the First Congregational Church next Sunday morning.

These windows are the work of Reynolds, Francis & Rohnstock of Boston; who have done the chancel windows and side aisle windows of the church.

The window in memory of Mr. William I. Palmer, dedicated to Service, the upper Medallion being that of a woman sheltering two waifs, and the lower Medallion that of the Good Samaritan.

The window in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Parker is an interpretation of Justice, the upper Medallion represents St. Michael slaying the dragon and the lower medallion, Justice with her scales.

These windows sustain the high order of workmanship of the windows already in, and will match the other with lows in color and design.

Doctor Chidley will preach a special sermon at the Dedication Service on "Friends and Friendship." The public is invited to this service.

VIRGINIA WARREN PARIS ARTIST

The annual concert season for which Paris is noted is now in full swing and one of the most brilliant programs presented thus far and the one which has attracted the most popular attention was held in the Maison Picquet, Salle Chopin, last Friday evening, when Miss Virginia Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Warren of Everett avenue, was the artist. Miss Warren possesses a wonderfully clear coloratura soprano voice and her concert was sponsored by Mme. Maurice Bokanowski, widow of the late Minister of Commerce, Industry and Aviation, and by Mme. Driesch, both leaders in the social life of Paris, and she also had the patronage of many other prominent and influential figures, both French and American, with whom Miss Warren has become very popular during her two years in Paris.

Her program consisted of a varied arrangement of English, French, German and Italian groups, all of which were enthusiastically received. Her concert attracted wide spread attention and no less than 13 music critics paid her the compliment of attending and their comments in the various publications represented were very flattering, as was the case following her concert there last year.

Last Sunday afternoon Miss Warren sang for the Students Atelier, the organization of American students in Paris, and on Monday afternoon she was the guest of honor of the American Women's Club at a farewell reception and sang several selections in her usual brilliant manner.

Miss Warren sails for America on the Berengaria Nov. 9, and at the December meeting of the Women's Baptist Social Union of Boston, to be addressed by President Barbour of Brown University, she is to be the soloist.

WINCHESTER EXHIBITORS SCORED AT HORSE SHOW

Several Winchester exhibitors were among the winners at the brilliant horse show concluded in the Boston Garden last Saturday evening.

Only one blue came to town, Arthur Black's "Abbie's Irish Rose" being adjudged first in the class for fine harness horses. Mr. Black's handsome mount, "Flamingo," took the red in the event for park hacks over 14.2 hands. Both entries were exhibited by their owner.

In the event for pairs of saddle ponies, not exceeding 14.2, one to be ridden by a girl and the other by a boy, both riders to be under 16 years, Miss Marjorie Danforth's "Boiling Over" took a red, paired with "Feathers," ridden by John Tolman and owned by Miss Danforth's father, Abner L. Danforth.

Besides featuring Thursday afternoon's show with her exhibition of horsemanship in the touch-and-out sweepstakes event for jumpers, Miss Ellen Harding rode Byron W. Anthony's "Royal Express" to a fourth in the Corinthian Class for amateur members of recognized hunt clubs in livery. Miss Harding's defeat in the touch-and-out by Captain Cyril B. Harty of the Irish Free State came only after two jump-offs had been necessary and established the 15-year-old Winchester girl as one of the outstanding performers of the show.

Her sister, Miss Joan Harding, on "Peaches" finished third in the horsemanship class for children under 12 years and also rode Alexander Pratt's "Jolly Gay" to a third in the event for Shetland saddle ponies.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

During the late war, a Kentucky judge, though too old for service, had a tremendous influence upon recruiting and made a deep impression on the new young soldiers. Each boy looked upon him almost as a father. Months after the boys had sailed for France, the judge noticed, sitting in a group by the village green, one of his favorite boys. The judge rushed up, hand outstretched. "Why, Tom," he exclaimed, I am glad to see you. But why are you here—oh, my boy, I did not know you had lost your legs!"

There was a pause, and then that gallant Southern boy replied, "I did not lose them sir, I gave them."

Thinking of this boy and his tragic offering, can we not give, not to the Red Cross, but through the Red Cross to some one whose need is very great.

The roll call will begin Monday, Nov. 11. The town is divided and each division has its captain. These captains have done their work. There is a worker appointed on every street. She is a volunteer worker and hopes to make the street 100 per cent. The courtesy and good-will of our townspeople is very remarkable and the workers enjoy the pleasant contacts made. The large donations are deeply appreciated, but the family that joins 100 per cent is what we try for most.

We hope that the business men who have joined in Boston in the past will this year transfer their Red Cross affections to the Winchester Chapter. Boston is hard after its quota, but we want our quota, too. Last year we received an honor flag for having "gone over the top." We must get another flag this year, as to slip backward is not the spirit of Winchester.

The Girl Scouts will place posters and cards in the stores about town. The Boy Scouts will deliver the folders. The help that the Scouts give us is efficient and spontaneous, and we could not get along without it. In all the churches, too, announcement of the drive will be made.

The roll call is an annual thing and we feel that the good-will of Winchester people is the most precious thing we have to back up the work of the Red Cross, as well as any other charitable work. At board meetings, there is no discussion of particular names and no one who fails to give is made conspicuous. What we want is freely given memberships from every home in Winchester.

The captains of the drive are as follows: Mesdames Arthur Loftus, Carroll Hilton, Sewall Newman, Arthur Thad Smith, James Allen, Carlisle Burton, Percy Bragdon, William Gillett, Harper Blaisdell and William Adrians.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

One of the members of that Board is with us tonight to talk about this subject of Christian Science. It gives me much pleasure to present Mr.
Peter V. Ross, C. S. B., of San Francisco, Cal.

Not far from Chicago, as you all know, is a town which has become widely known in recent years partly because its leading citizen insists that the earth is flat. At once the question arises, Where is the flatness? Certainly not in the earth, but in this man's mind. It exists there as a belief or an illusion. Some day the simple truth that the earth is round will dawn upon the man. Then the flatness will come to an end; it will be cured. The whole affair, therefore, exists in the mental realm.

More and more in these days are we recognizing all things as existing in a mental realm. Christian Science puts disease there, along with evil, and insists that disease, instead of being a physical condition, instead of being a stubborn reality, is a belief or an illusion of the human mind, which the truth will cure.

PERFECTION OF MAN

What is the truth that will cure any person of his suffering? Simply this: God has made man perfect and maintains him in perfection; and whenever any individual, whatever his suffering may be, begins to grasp the fact that God has fashioned him in perfection, he will necessarily begin to drop his belief of distress and step forth into the liberty of the sons and daughters of God.

It is inconceivable that God should have made anything imperfect. Flaws in the universe would bring the universe to an end. And the perfect man under consideration is not away off in the clouds. He is not a man yet to be born or come into existence. The perfect man is here and now, and you are the man.

Not your outward physical self.
Confessedly he is imperfect enough.
The perfect man is your spiritual self,
the man God has made you. Your supposed physical self is really not a man, is really not you. It is the human mind's mistaken sense of what you are. As you begin to realize that God has created you in spiritual perfection, and hold to this realization as best you can, and repudiate the suggestions of evil and sickness as lying and illusory, the mistaken sense of yourself as material and mortal begins to melt away and pass out of your experience and the true sense of yourself as spiritual and free comes out more and more in your experience.

Then it is that your health gets better, your morals improve, your intellectual faculties expand, and your capacity for doing things enlarges, because you are commencing to find yourself, you are getting acquainted with the genuine man God has made you.

Several months ago a woman visiting relatives in one of the great cities of the North found one of her knees so painful that she could scarcely get around the house. While she was in this condition her relatives induced her one evening to attend a Christian Science lecture. She was decidedly interested in the discourse, and the next morning discovered herself moving about in perfect freedom.
Her knee was all right. It had been so, she then realized, from the moment the lecture closed. In order to make quite sure of her healing she walked up and down a flight of stairs and found her knee equal to the test.
The truths she absorbed at the lecture had accomplished their work. They had aroused her from the dream or illusion of fear and helplessness which had enveloped her and brought her out into a recognition of the harmony and freedom which God designs for every one of us to enjoy.

NATURE OF DEITY

We used to think of God, at least most of us did, as a man magnified, a sort of king occupying a throne beyond the clouds. But in the light of Christian Science we see that God is divine Mind. Why do we say He is Mind? Because He knows all things and is present everywhere, and there is nothing but Mind that can be all-knowing and everywhere-present.
And when we think of God as Mind
we immediately think of Him as Life also, because Mind and Life are essentially the same. And associated with Mind and Life is Love. These three are inextricably identified with one another, and they are, as you know, the Christian Science names for God.

They are the Scriptural names for Him also, because as you read the New Testament carefully you find that it defines God as Spirit, Love, Mind, Life—all in accordance with Principle, that is, perfect, unerring, eternal. You do not find "Principle" in the Bible as a name for God. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has given us that expression. At first you may say that Principle is not an adequate term for Deity. This is because you are accustomed to think of principle as cold and mindless. But Principle in its full sense is intelligent and animate. Indeed divine Principle is nothing less than Mind, Life, and Love creating and sustaining all of God's creatures, man included.

HEALING OF DISEASE

When you conceive of God as Mind, Life, Love, Principle you at once see that He is everywhere and that you are always in His presence. I know a woman who for years was almost an invalid. One morning, while in unusual distress, she picked up a book one of her friends had left with her the day before and read for a few minutes until she came to a sentence something like this: "If you realize the presence of God this realization will destroy disease."

She put the book aside because these words arrested her attention.
She tried to get the meaning, the significance of the words. She reasoned somewhat like this: "If God is everywhere, and I know that He is, then He is right where this pain and weakness of mine seem to be; and if God is there those things are not there." Almost immediately she felt freer and stronger. In a short time she was well.

What was this woman doing while thus reverently and intensely declaring the absence of disease and the presence of God, the presence of Life harmonious. She was giving herself a Christian Science treatment. There is nothing mysterious then, about a Christian Science treatment. It consists, for the most part, in realizing the presence of God and the necessary absence of disease or imperfection of any sort.

PRESENCE OF GOD

The presence of God! How seldom do we consider what this means! The presence of God as Life means the absence of disease, means that God is your life, and therefore that your life is unfettered and uncontaminated.
Disease and mortality are the illusions and dreams of the human mind, which are broken up and dissipated when you are aroused to the fact that actually you are an expression of boundless and eternal Life.

The presence of God as Mind means that really there is only one Mind,
and that this Mind, as Paul declares, asserts itself through you, giving you the vision to penetrate the illusions of suffering and evil and equipping you with the ability to go out into the world and make your life useful and successful.

The presence of God as Principle means that your genuine self is a man of Principle, not a faltering, sickly, frightened mortal. Nothing finer than this can be said of you. A ray of light coming from the sun brings with it all the elements or qualities of the sun. So man, emanating from God, brings with him and possesses God's qualities. The divine qualities, then, are all assembled in your real self, making your true self a man of Principle, a man of divine intelligence, a man of imperishable Life. This is the great truth which, so far as you discern it, will set you free.

God must express Himself. Otherwise He would be practically nonexistent. And He expresses Himself in individual men and women. Mind, Life, Love find expression in you.
Thereby your spiritual self becomes God's witness, a witness to limitless intelligence, everlasting Life, measureless Love. In the language of Genesis man is the image and likeness of God; and Mrs. Eddy declares on page 516 of her great book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "Man, made in His likeness, possesses and reflects God's dominion over all the earth" (page 516).

Now we must keep in mind that the man endowed with freedom and dominion, the perfect man we here have under consideration, is not physical man. Christian Science claims neither perfection nor permanence for him.
What we call physical man is really not man but only the human mind's distorted picture of man, for the human mind has a dull, blurred vision and does not see man as God has made him. Your supposed physical self, with its weakness and limitation and disease, is not actually you but the erroneous human sense of you, and as you gain the true sense of yourself
you necessarily lose the false sense.
This is what Paul styles putting off the old man and putting on the new.

How near God is after all! How inseparable from every one of you!
You have striven to find Him. You have striven to find the genuine man you believe He made you. And all the time God has been at hand. All the time your perfect self (though not confined to any limited area because spiritual man is unrestricted) has been here, right where your imperfect suffering self has seemed to be. Paul sums up the whole situation when he declares that God is above you, in you, and through you;
and when he further declares that in God you live, move, and have your being. This shows where God is. It shows where you are. You are in Him, and He is manifested through you. Hence the at-one-ment of God and man.

Yet with all this nearness you cannot see God. You cannot see Mind and Life, though you can see their expression in man. Well, you cannot see beauty except as you see it exhibited in the sunset, the flower, or the bird. You cannot see beauty itself as an abstraction. It has to be identified in something before it becomes visible. One day when Jesus was talking to his disciples, Phillip impatiently interrupted him with the demand,
"Show us the Father." Jesus replied,
"He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." That is, he who has seen the real man has seen God expressed, has seen an expression of divine Mind and Life.

Constantly you are aware of this expression. You are continuously aware of the presence of intelligence, are you not? So far as that intelligence is sound and good it is the manifestation through you of all-knowing Mind; and when you feel the energy and the movement of Life you are feeling the presence of God (God is Life, your life) and you realize that He is closer than hand or breath, closer, if could be, than thought. He finds expression through you, making you, to use Paul's graphic picture,
"The temple of the living God."

PRAYER OR TREATMENT

At this point you may recall Mrs.
Eddy's ringing words, "You are well,
and you know it" (Miscellaneous Writings, page 220). Why are you well? Because the Life manifested through spiritual man, and hence through your genuine self, is God, a Life which knows no pain, obstruction, deformity, or limitation of any kind.
And how is it that you know you are well? Because divine Mind equips you with a vision that sees through the shadowy illusions of disease and recognizes the perfection in which God has clothed you.

These sublime truths may at first seem dim and remote. But as you meditate on them, and discern their reason and significance, they become transparent and vital. More than this they become operative in the affairs and conditions of everyday experience and transform your life for the better, supplanting weakness with strength, wavering with purpose, failure and discouragement with confidence and usefulness. Then is the word made flesh.

Meditation upon spiritual truths and realization of their power is prayer, for prayer consists not so much in asking God for help as it does in realizing that already He has supplied us everything needful. Such prayer tends to awaken us from the dream of human lack and suffering and limitation to the boundless plenty and opportunity and freedom that God has showered on all hands. Then we begin to realize that heaven is here and now, awaiting our recognition of it;
begin to realize that eternal Life is here and now and that we have already entered upon it.

DISCOVERY OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

What we know about Christian Science has come to us through Mary Baker Eddy. This Science was revealed to her in the year 1820. She was a New England woman, refined and intensely religious. She had her full share of trouble and suffering.
Finally, as the result of an accident,
she reached the point in her career where her physician informed her that she could hope to live only a few hours longer at most. In this extremity she turned to her Bible for consolation.
She had always been a profound student of the Scriptures. And while reading one of the Gospel accounts of healing performed by Christ Jesus
she felt a sense of peace and strength steal over her.

She arose, dressed, presented herself to anxious friends sound and well.
Other people have been healed with reading the Bible. Nobody knows how many. But Mrs. Eddy was not content with being healed. She must know how she was healed. She must understand the process of spiritual healing. To this end she continued her study of the Scriptures until it was revealed to her that Jesus in healing the sick, feeding the hungry, and even raising the dead was employing Science. She continued her study until she came into an understanding of this Science, which she afterward most appropriately named "Christian Science." Then when people came to her in distress she applied her newly-discovered Science to the situation and was gratified to find that it brought relief. Having thus discovered and tested Christian Science she next set forth its principles in her remarkable book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and gave this book to the world so that all may understand this Science and use it to bring about better conditions in their lives.

Sixty years ago this great woman was alone in her conviction that only the good is real. A God who is good cannot, she maintains, create evil and disease. Hence they are at most only the suppositions of the human mind—
the carnal mind as Paul has it, or mortal mind as Mrs. Eddy sometimes styles it, a false mentality which she describes as enmity with God and which she logically insists must eventually yield to the divine Mind.

But she held her ground against the general current of human opinion until she gained the support of multitudes of intelligent people and inaugurated the Christian Science movement, becoming its Leader and finding an enduring place among the foremost benefactors of the race. In accomplishing all this she exhibited not only marvelous spiritual discernment but a degree of courage and resourcefulness that has never been surpassed.

TEMPORARY NATURE OF MATTER

Her fundamental proposition that God is Mind or Spirit, and therefore that the earth and the fullness thereof are mental and spiritual, has the support of both reason and revelation. The material senses and the human mind, with their dull, limited vision, would have us believe that we are material mortals inhabiting a material world. But Mind finds expression in thoughts and ideas, not in solid physical objects. Only when we rely upon the physical senses of touch and sight do things seem hard and stationary and man a physical figure so many feet in height and so many pounds in weight.

This blurred, heavy sense of things constitutes matter. Matter, therefore, is not the substantial reality it appears. It is a mistaken concept of things, and this mistaken concept of things as heavy and localized disappears as physical sense yields to spiritual sense or true vision. The disappearance of matter, then, does not mean that the foundation of things crumbles or that you vanish and lose your identity. It means that you part with the erroneous sense of yourself as material and heavy and suffering, and gain the true sense of yourself as spiritual, free, buoyant, incorporeal.

INCORPOREALITY OF MAN

Sometimes you get a hint of this lightness and buoyancy in your dreams for then you occasionally find yourself soaring through the air like a bird. You do not lose your self; you lose only your heaviness.
You get a further instructive hint of incorporeality from your shadow.
How light and jaunty it is as it walks down the street with you. It meets and passes other shadows but does not collide with them. A heavy dust rolls over it but it comes out unhurt. Why does your shadow enjoy such confidence and safety? Because it is incorporeal. It has no solidity, no density, no thickness. Yet, to the physical eye, it has identity,
it is there.

You, your real self, are incorporeal.
This is why you are so safe. Really there can be no collisions, no accidents for you, no inflammation, no congestion in you, except in belief or illusion or dreamland. You are more in the nature of consciousness than corporeality. You are an assemblage of thoughts and ideas rather than of cells and atoms. You are an individual consciousness not a physical body.
Constantly you are seeing and feeling and knowing, you are aware of things, and, most wonderful of all, you are aware of yourself. Whence comes this consciousness, this awareness? It is the manifestation in you of the all-knowing Mind, the eternal Life, we call God. Thus it is that you are a witness, safe and enduring amidst the supposed dangers of mortal existence, to Life and Mind boundless and eternal.

CHANGING SENSE OF BODY

Many are the illusions that throng human experience. But the one that makes you the most trouble is the illusion that you are incased in a physical body and hence that the hurt or destruction of this body means your hurt or destruction. The fact is, you are spiritual. You cannot be compressed within a material habitation.
Spiritual man is free and unconfined.
You are outside your lead pencil.
Likewise you are outside the physical body. Your pencil wears out. It needs replacement. Your body too wears out. It needs repair. And so rapid and radical is the work of repair and reconstruction of the body that you have a new body every eleven months, so the physiologists say. You can readily think of some of your friends, perhaps, who have a new body oftener than they have a new overcoat.

There is not a person in the audience who has not already had several different bodies and every one of you is due to have nobody knows how many more. Some of you have had twenty, some thirty, some perhaps sixty. And you put off one body and put on another without any great amount of distress, did you not? It did not hurt so much. You survived the process. You lived through it all. Why? Because you are an individual consciousness wherein God continuously asserts Himself regardless of whether you lose your pencil, your overcoat, or your body.

You have a very different sense of body according to the varying state of your thought. When all absorbed in work you quite forget your body.
It neither hurts nor boasts. And how light and precise are its movements! At other time, notably in your dreams occasionally, your body becomes so heavy you cannot stir hand or foot. Sometimes in your dreams you have a long trip before you. You have to reach San Francisco, New York, or London instantly. Immediately you become aware of a body so light and free that you put it on the opposite side of the globe if that is your destination.
Meanwhile your friend sees you in your easy chair at home quietly nodding over the evening paper.

CONTINUITY OF LIFE

All this should help you to understand what takes place when death comes and your present sense of body is abruptly abandoned. Evidently you still remain aware of a body, for as Mrs. Eddy says, in that wonderful way she has of saying things, "Mortals waken from the dream of death with bodies unseen by those who think that they bury the body" (Science and Health, page 429). Why unseen? Because of unbelief and dullness of vision. But when you go through the experience of death you will still find yourself thinking and living, because consciousness, that consciousness God gives you, continues and persists on and on beyond the grave. It will survive your present body as it has already survived the twenty, forty, sixty previous bodies. Hence the permanence of individual man; hence your eternal life.
"Consciousness," says Mrs. Eddy,
"constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered" (Science and Health, page 425). Here is suggested the importance of entertaining good and healthful thoughts and rejecting evil and sickly ones.

Consciousness grows by what it feeds upon. You grow by the kind of thoughts you entertain. There is no limit to your possibilities for unfoldment if you govern your thoughts.
Right thinking is not far removed from prayer. And he who takes time every day to realize the presence of Mind and Life expressed through him will not be disappointed. He will find himself growing in vision and strength. He will come to recognize himself not as a mortal but as an immortal; come to know himself as God has made him, not as physical sense has tried to belittle him. Rising above limitations and dangers, he will come into the enjoyment of God-given powers and opportunities hitherto scarcely dreamed of. Heaven will no longer seem remote nor eternal life
a thing of the future.

SPIRITUAL VISION

How may one develop this vision that enables him to see himself and others cleansed of the "muddy vesture of decay" with which mortal sense would clothe him? By being good, by holding to right and kindly and healthful thoughts, rejecting their opposites, by reverently realizing as best he can that divine Mind now equips him with this vision, and finally by gaining that sense of safety which comes as one recognizes that he lives in a world that is safe and among people who are good and kindly because governed by divine Principle. Cultivate the habit of looking out upon the world, and at the people in it, with that intelligent, generous eye which is focused to see in every individual, regardless of his race or religion, the man of Principle that God has made him. The growing sense of confidence which comes to one as a result of this tolerant mental attitude at once begins to eliminate the fear that has been freezing up his life and clouding his vision.

A LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

As Paul worked along these lines he was, to use his words, "caught up into paradise" where he saw things as they are, and found them so marvelously beautiful that he could not describe them. In somewhat the same way John was uplifted and enabled to see the new heaven and the new earth wherein people do not have heavy suffering bodies. Imagine yourself in a world where you were divested of all heaviness and suffering. Paul and John caught glimpses of such a world here and at hand. These men were not so different from you and me. They were still groping in the dubious twilight of mortal existence even as you and I; still struggling with the same temptations, the same infirmities, with which we struggle, yet at times they attained, and we can attain, that vision whereby men see things as they are in all their wonder and glory.

There are people right among us, in all this hurry and confusion of modern life, who in some measure enjoy this vision, but we hear little of what they see because people of fine sensibilities hesitate to voice their extraordinary experiences. They do not care to encounter the stolidity and ridicule of ordinary mortals. I know a little girl and her aunt. They are both Christian Scientists. One day while they were down town they saw a cripple. Everybody was looking at him as is usual on such occasions. The little girl, after observing him and the people for a moment, said, "They don't see what we do, do they Aunt Emily?" The girl glimpsed something of the real man right where the people thought they were seeing deformity and weakness; and she naturally supposed that her aunt, as a Scientist, was also glimpsing the perfect man in place of the grossly imperfect mortal outlined by physical sense.

You are not going to forget, then, that not only do you stand in the presence of a perfect God, but that you also stand in the presence of a perfect man. And that man is you. If you cannot do better than simply say these things you will be helped, because they are true, and the truth, when thought or declared, becomes dynamic. It goes to work to break up the dreams and illusions of limitation and suffering. But you will do better than to simply repeat these statements. You will get the reason for them. In other words you will realize something of the presence of a perfect God and perfect man, and as you do so you will necessarily lose the belief of imperfection and distress that has been making your life a burden.

THE WORKS OF CHRIST JESUS
The greater the man, if greatness be measured as it should be by spirituality, the more constant his practice to commune with divine Mind. This was exemplified in the life of Christ Jesus. The gospels often refer to his habit of prayer. Mark speaks of him on one occasion, as rising up a great while before day, going out to a solitary place, and there praying. More and more in this way did Jesus become endowed with the divine Mind, more and more was his consciousness uplifted, until for him matter and mortality, with the limitation and suffering that follow in their train, ceased to be. He emerged into the unobstructed realm of Spirit. Then what power he enjoyed! At one time he desired to be across the lake. Immediately he was on the other side. On that same occasion he walked on the water in defiance of the law of gravitation. Gravity cannot pull on a corporeal man, neither can time and space restrain him. Jesus annihilated lack or want, clothing the man whom he restored to reason and feeding the people who followed him out in the desert when no supply, beyond a few loaves and fishes, was visible to physical sense.

HIS OVERTHROW OF DEATH

Disease and evil, in their worst forms, became unreal to him and he made them unreal to others. Even death could not make good its boasts in his presence. He stopped the funeral at Nain, called back his friend Lazarus who had been gone four days, communed with Elias and Moses centuries after they had passed from mortal sight, and finally, in his personal experience, proved the truth of his own words, "If a man keep my saying, he shall never see death." You all remember the occasion: his stirring the forces of evil to the point where they were bent upon his destruction, his seizure at night by the mob in the garden, the tumultuous trial in the morning, the cruel execution, the hurried burial. Three days afterward he rolled away the stone from his sepulchre, appeared to his friends a number of times, talked with them, ate with them. At one time, affirms Paul, he was seen by five hundred people at once. Then at the end of forty days he ascended, that is, he became invisible to the physical eye. But this does not mean that he ceased to exist. Every man who has ever lived continues to live. And certainly this holds true of the greatest man the world has ever seen.

What had Jesus accomplished in this last scene of his earthly career? He had permitted his enemies to do their utmost to destroy him, apparently they had destroyed him, then he came back alive the selfsame man. He had proved that individual life cannot be destroyed. You will see that your life cannot be destroyed nor brought to an end as you come to realize that you are an individual consciousness, not a physical body, a consciousness wherein limitless Mind and imperishable Life find expression making you God's witness. He proved that individual life is indestructible and continuous; he stepped forth into the freedom and the power of an endless life, a state to which every one of us may rightly aspire.

For if you do not keep in mind that what Jesus said of himself is essentially true of you, if you do not keep in thought that what he did you can do so far as you understand his Science, you are losing the vital part of his message. He did not put himself in a class apart from you and me. He referred to his Father as our Father, which makes us all of the same family. Indeed we call him our elder brother, immeasurably wiser and better than we, certainly, but our brother still. He made it clear that what he did you can do if you believe and understand him. And Christian Science is awakening you to this fact. It is enabling you to go out into the world and at least begin to prove that evil, disease, and even death are unreal—nothing more than mortal illusions and dreams which God has not created and does not recognize and which are quite separate and apart from your actual existence. And as you go on in this work you will eventually reach that point in your career as certainly as Jesus reached it in his when you too will step forth into the freedom and the power of an endless life.

METHODIST WOMEN SPONSORED SUCCESSFUL HALLOWEEN BAZAAR

A most successful Halloween Bazaar was sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church last Friday in the church hall and ladies' parlor.

Autumn decorations of foliage and pumpkins made an attractive setting for the various tables and booths and for the gift shop which was in the parlor, apart from the hall. A feature of the bazaar was a most unique grab in the shape of a huge cauldron, presided over by a witch, the whole conceived by the Queen Esther Girls under the direction of Mrs. Andrew McDonald.

An appetizing supper was prepared and served at 6:30 p. m. by the Young Women's Club of the church with Mrs. Jennie Roberts and Mrs. Marion Goodenough in general charge. Mrs. John Mead was in charge of the dinner decorations.

Following are the committees:
Fancy Work—Mrs. Chas. Dodge, Mrs. E. L. Dunning.
Food—Mrs. Chas. Brown, Mrs. Frank Roberts.
Apron—Mrs. G. R. Baneroff, Mrs. R. W. Dwyer.
Twenty-five and Fifty Cents—Mrs. B. F. Minor, Mrs. R. Carter.

White Elephant—Mrs. G. H. McMillan.
Candy—Mrs. A. P. Welburn.

MISS CLARA SHEAR

LEGION TO OFFER HIGH CLASS PROGRAM FOR ARMISTICE NIGHT FROLIC AND DANCE

Miss Clara Shear Boston's own soprano now singing with Cosmopolitan Opera Company of Boston is to be featured as the guest artist at the annual Armistice Night Frolic and Dance to be held by Winchester Post, No. 97, of the American Legion, in which plans they have been ably assisted by the Auxiliary Unit of Winchester Post, The Fortnightly, the Calumet Club, Winchester Lodge B. P. O. E., and Waterfield Lodge, I. O. O. F. and Winchester Rotary Club.

Miss Shear's home is in Malden where she is well known and recognized as a lyric soprano of unusual ability. She began her local study with Weldon Hunt of Boston from whose studio she enters the musical world with highly successful renditions of "Lakme" and "Lucia" with the Boston Society of Singers. She then went to Italy and studied with famous masters. During the course of her study in Italy, she appeared in opera, making her debut in "La Boheme," winning enthusiastic acclaim from all her audiences. Returning to this country for a concert tour, she was guest artist with the San Carlo Opera Company with great success which culminated in a contract with the Chicago Civic Opera Company where she remained two years and then returned to the concert stage.

Thus in the short time of her career, she has gained for herself an enviable place among the great artists of the musical world. Critics and public unite in acclaiming her one of America's most gifted and charming artists, due to possession of a voice of singular sweetness and purity, histrionic ability and vivid personality.

Of her debut with the Chicago Opera Company, Herman Devries in the Chicago American says "Clara Shear was an unequalled success. She knows her way about the boards of an opera house as though indeed born to the profession. A decided new asset to the company."

The Boston Transcript describes her as a singer with "An excellent voice . . . clear, smooth, resonant tones . . . warm and finely timbered," while the Boston Globe refers to her as "a delight to the eye and ear and a notable artist," and in the words of the Chattanooga Times "She was good to listen to and to look at—a first rate operatic artist."

Miss Shear is now a member of the Cosmopolitan Opera Company of Boston which opens shortly and is taking the leading lyric soprano roles in "Hansel and Gretel," "Norma," "Pagliacci," "Ballo in Maschera" and "Carmen." It is indeed a strange coincidence that her reappearance in Boston in Opera after an absence of two years will be on the same stage where eight years ago she began her operatic career as "Lakme" and "Lucia." Then—a promising young artist with a coloratura soprano voice, today—a matured operatic star—a lyric soprano capable of conveying all the emotions from happiness to sadness.

Winchester is indeed fortunate in having this opportunity to hear Miss Shear sing in the Town Hall on Monday night, Nov. 11, at the Community Armistice Night Frolic and grateful thanks are due Miss Shear for appearing and thus assuring a success of the evening's entertainment.

Music for dancing will be furnished by Jerome's Red Ramblers who leave nothing to be desired in the requirements of a modern dance orchestra. The program also includes six cabaret acts now playing in various places of entertainment in Boston and in view of the fact that the number of seats are limited because of the fact that the hall will be arranged for dancing, only 500 tickets are being issued and it is therefore desirable for those who care to go to obtain their tickets in advance which can be secured at the Star Office, Hevey's Pharmacy, or at the Legion House.

The members of Winchester Post are planning to join the United Veterans' Council of Woburn in their parade in Woburn on Armistice Day morning. Automobiles will leave the Winchester Legion House at 8:30 returning at 10:30 for a short parade to Winchester's War Memorial statue on the grounds of the High School at 11 o'clock in which parade the members of the Post will be escorted by the Boy Scouts of Winchester and their band.

Members of Winchester Post, No. 97, of the American Legion and the Boy Scouts of Winchester are to be guests of the High School Athletic Association at the Winchester-Watertown High School football game, which promises to be one of the best games of the local high school schedule, at 2:30 on Manchester Field. Seats in the stands have been reserved for the Legionnaires and Scouts.

CONFERENCE ON THANKSGIVING AND CHRISTMAS

The keynote of the times is co-operation. In any community program where there is organized co-operation the work is more effectual and economical. More and more we take counsel together. Winchester religious and philanthropic organizations are interested in making Thanksgiving and Christmas, family days of homey delight and joy in every home group in the town, and Monday, Nov. 11, sent representatives to a conference held in the office of the Department of Public Welfare, Town Hall. Seventeen representatives were present and made the following decisions:

Voted—It was the sense of the meeting, that the plans of last year in regard to Thanksgiving and Christmas giving, be continued.

Voted—To establish a Thanksgiving Exchange Bureau where all families to receive Thanksgiving supplies shall be registered.

Voted—That the Thanksgiving Exchange Bureau be established in the office of the Department of Public Welfare, Town Hall, tel. Win. 1383.

Voted—To appoint a committee of four (4) to have full charge of all plans. Committee named: Miss Caroline A. Butters, executive secretary of the Department of Public Welfare; Miss Phyllis Moffette, public health nurse; Mrs. Alice M. Gormley, district supervisor of the Winchester Visiting Nurse Association; Mrs. Ethel R. Savage, school nurse.

Voted to notify all orders and organizations not represented at the conference of the Thanksgiving plans and urge each group to spread notice of the establishment of the exchange bureau and its purpose among its membership, and also urge members giving individually to register such kindness with the bureau, or not wishing to do that to make sure the recipients of their bounty are not already registered.

The Thanksgiving Exchange Bureau will be open from 2 to 5 p. m. the week of Nov. 10, and from 9 a. m. to 12 a. m. and 1 to 5 p. m. Nov. 18 through Nov. 27.

THE SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Mr. Charles E. Barrett, treasurer of the Winchester Committee of public-spirited citizens in charge of the annual appeal of the Salvation Army here announces that, up to yesterday noon, a total of $250 has been raised.

This is the result of contributions sent by friends through the mail in response to the campaign letter and is also the result of the annual house to house canvass being made by collectors each armed with positive identification in the form of letters signed by Mr. Vincent P. Clarke, chairman of the local committee.

The committee states that only a brief time remains in which the appeal can be conducted and, accordingly, they urge everyone who intends to give to the work of the Salvation Army this year to do so just as soon as possible so that the appeal books may be closed and the funds made available for the use of the Salvation Army officers in their work.

Mr. Barrett, the treasurer, explains that funds given now are more effective than subscriptions received after the appeal has been concluded as the Army work proceeds on a budget basis, being ordered for the year upon funds actually in hand.

The pastor conducted the service. The officers and members of the society robed in vestments marched in at the beginning of the evening worship and were seated at the front of the church during the regular service. After the sermon the Pastor requested the officers to stand and he informed them of their duties and responsibilities and asked them to step upon the platform. Each officer took a candle from the table and lighted it from a large candle on the center of the table. The other members of the Society came forward and did likewise. Recent complaints with local telephone service resulted in the New England Telephone Company making a thorough examination of its cables in the center. It was found that during the work of repairing the railroad crossing one of the big 600 wire cables had been pricked with a pickaxe, permitting water to seep into the break. Three hundred feet of cable had to be replaced, the work being completed in about 24 hours from the time the trouble was located Monday afternoon.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Every man who marks out his own freedom, gives freedom to others.

Happiness never reaches perfection until it is shared.

Walking is a splendid exercise, but it causes many to be run down by an auto.

A thing done right today means less trouble tomorrow.

If you get into trouble, keep it to yourself, do not introduce it to all your friends.

With the completion of the Metropolitan trunk line sewer to the south of Winchester and the beginning of active operations on the sewer to care for the waste from tanneries in Woburn, the local Waterways Committee is at last approaching the point at which it can start its campaign of cleaning up the town's Abenonk River and adjacent ponds. Until the danger of repeated outside pollution could be removed the committee rightfully believed it impractical to attempt to relieve conditions which its members have long recognized as unsavory and potentially dangerous. A comprehensive plan for putting the town's waterways in a healthy condition which will be a credit to the community will be presented at the coming March meeting and an article in the warrant will ask for funds in order that a start can be made at once. Citizens will do well to give this project serious thought. With outside pollution removed the matter of our river's condition and appearance is put squarely up to us.

NO GODLINESS

At least, in the United States Post Office, for according to an order recently issued no more soap is to be furnished in the local Federal Building. If the carriers and clerks desire cleanliness they can furnish it themselves. What nonsense! Still, some young clerk is probably making a name for himself and undoubtedly we shall soon be supplied with the number of billion dollars saved by this ruling against wasteful extravagance, and someone will be right there for the credit. Of course, with this Federal precedence, we might eliminate soap from our own plant, but we imagine it would be only a matter of minutes before some health department or other efficient board would appear and demand its reinstatement, for private business is ever under the watchful eye of energetic government officers. What a shame it is that some foolish official planned our new Federal building with those magnificent shower baths and wash bowls? We regret that we elaborated so upon them when we described the new building, for it must be a blow to everyone to learn that they are of the same classification as the maps on the walls—to look at only. Winchester folks should remember the poor Federal employees this Thanksgiving in the plans now formulating for the usual distribution of cheer, and if our Board of Health goes get into a controversy with the Federal authorities let us all back it to the limit.

McHALE—FOLEY

A wedding having both Winchester and Stoneham interest was that of Miss May H. Foley and John McHale who were married Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in St. Mary's Rectory by the Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach. Miss Foley is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Foley of 30 Canal street. Mr. McHale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John McHale of Stoneham.

Mrs. Alice Fitzgerald of Winchester attended her sister and Paul McHale of Stoneham was his brother's best man. Ushers were John F. Fitzgerald, William H. Trevey and Thomas Higgins, all of Winchester.

The bride wore a wedding gown of ivory tulle caught with orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Fitzgerald wore flesh colored taffeta with a horsehair hat to match and carried sweet peas and roses.

Only members of the immediate families attended the reception which was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother. The house decorations were pink and white chrysanthemums with a background of palms.

The wedding journey is to take Mr. McHale and his bride to Montreal by way of New York City and Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will make their home in Winchester at 238 Washington street. The bride is widely known as a member of the teaching staff at the William G. Noonan School. Mr. McHale is a Government employee and has many friends throughout the district.

Massachusetts Official Lauds Decision in Refusing Poultry Farm Permit

The local Board of Selectmen were recently petitioned to grant permission for the erection of buildings and the maintenance of a poultry farm on the west side section. In refusing to grant this permit, the Board set forth its reasons and argued the case. This unusual procedure has resulted in commendation from Mr. E. T. Hartman, a State official, who has written the Selectmen as follows:

Mr. George S. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen, Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:

A newspaper clipping has brought me the decision of the Winchester Board of Selectmen in the Baghdoyan matter. I am writing to express my appreciation of the nature and soundness of this decision. I think there can be no question that the decision is sound, even in the interest of the man who made the application. Such an intrusion as was proposed, if it consisted of a number of small houses like automobile overnight camps, would have affected the land of the owner and much additional land with the result that it would have been developed for dwelling somewhat approaching the shack type and the welfare of the town would have been definitely and permanently injured. Too many of our towns are allowing just such encroachments and every one is to the permanent detriment of the town. As to the decision itself, that is, its nature and the method of its presentation, it is new and I am sure highly commendable. The reasons are well argued. I know of no similar instance where a board of selectmen has taken such a step. Boards of Appeal sometimes do it, though not often. It reads like some of our ablest courts' decisions on zoning and is obviously the work of a lawyer, both of which are strong points in its favor and in no sense detrimental. Should the applicant see fit to go to the courts, or even to the board of appeals, the case is before them in an unusually correct manner.

I may explain that so far as I am personally concerned my chief interest is in proper zoning administration. Many of our cities and towns are constantly overstepping the purpose and intent of zoning laws by granting special privileges to individuals. In the meantime, more and more people are seeking homes in protected areas. The presence of a zoning law is no evidence of protection. Before there is protection one has to know the nature of the law and the attitude of the enforcing officers and whether or not they are supported by the townspeople. I can congratulate your board on this evidence of its attitude.

Sincerely yours,
E. T. Hartman

The Selectmen's argument in the matter was as follows:

Oct. 21, 1929

In Board of Selectmen:

In the matter of the application of Nerses M. Baghdoyan, made under the provisions of Section 6 of the Zoning By-Law, for permission to erect buildings and structures on the premises, owned by him, situate on the northeasterly corner of Pond street and Cambridge street, and to use the same for the purposes of a poultry farm in accordance with the provisions of Paragraph C of Section 3 of the By-Law, a public hearing thereon having been held the 30th day of September last past, after notice as required by said Section 8, the facts appear to be as follows:

Applicant owns about 11½ acres of land in the location above described, together with adjoining land in Woburn upon which, near to both streets, are a dwelling house occupied by the applicant and his family, and a barn and out buildings. Apparently none of these are now used or have been used in recent years for any commercial or industrial purpose. The land to a depth of 300 feet on Pond street, and to a depth of 150 feet on Cambridge street, is within the small business zone established in this district by the Zoning By-Law. The rest of the land, however, is within a single-residence district, within which buildings and structures may not be constructed or used for the purposes of a poultry farm except by permission of the Selectmen. For personal and family reasons which are in themselves highly commendable, the applicant desires to erect and maintain, upon that part of his land in Winchester which is within the residential district, a number of poultry houses for the purpose of raising poultry for sale.

Winchester is only one of many Massachusetts towns which under the authority of the statutes of the Commonwealth have in comparatively recent years enacted a Zoning By-Law. This By-Law, which places limitations upon the purposes for which an owner of real estate may lawfully use it, has been enacted by the citizens for the benefit of the town as a whole. In its administration the voters have given the Board of Selectmen certain narrowly limited powers to adapt the operation of the By-Law to exceptional circumstances. In such cases the Selectmen may allow certain specified buildings to be constructed or used for purposes for which other buildings in the same district cannot lawfully be constructed or used. This power should be exercised only where peculiar or extraordinary circumstances justify such specially favored treatment, not extended to other property in the same district.

A commercial poultry farm, however well conducted, is likely to deter the most desirable residential development of the vicinity. One of the beautiful residential sections of Winchester is steadily reaching northward

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS

No motor truck or other motor vehicle which with its load, if any, weighs more than 4 tons shall be operated upon any part of Bacon Street, provided however that this regulation shall not apply to motor vehicles operating on said Street for the collection or delivery of goods or merchandise from or to residences thereon, or in connection with the construction, reconstruction or repair of said street, the water supply system, the sewers and drains or the lines, pipes or conduits of any telegraph, telephone, gas or electric company, therein.

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of a regulation adopted by the Selectmen and certified by the Department of Public Works, after a public hearing held October 30, 1929, to be consistent with the public interest, all in accordance with the provisions of Section 18 of Chapter 90 of the General Laws as amended by Section 8 of Chapter 357 of the Acts of 1928.

toward the applicant's property. Not only the present neighborhood which is still a few hundred yards south of this applicant's land, but also a probable future extension of that neighborhood up to and perhaps over that land, must be the object of the Board's consideration. The Board cannot grant this application for a limited period of years. The permission once granted lasts throughout the life of the building or buildings to which it relates. Whether or not the erection of buildings and other structures for these purposes would in fact now or hereafter deter or retard such development, the possibility of its doing so is clear.

The applicant assures the Board that if and when the value of the property for residential purposes becomes greater than for those of a poultry farm, he will sell it. To that suggestion the answer is two-fold: That his proposed use of this property might itself for many years prevent this or other land in the locality from becoming more valuable for residential purposes, and that the use of the land by the petitioner or some other future owner will not necessarily be governed by his apparent financial advantage. The civic and financial interest of the town in the steady progress of such a residential development as is now approaching this property is very substantial. To this public interest the apparent private financial interest of the individuals who may from time to time own this property, affords no sufficient safeguard.

To grant this special privilege to the applicant, however commendable his motives may be, would therefore in our opinion not be consistent with the public welfare. The purpose for which permission is sought would be

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING

Although Wednesday afternoon, the day of the regular monthly meeting had many conflicting interests going on in town, the hall was well filled with an audience which was more than well paid for their attendance.

Mrs. Alfred Radley, the president, opened the meeting and devoted ten minutes to reading the first section of the Constitution of the United States, the continuation of reading of which will be read at subsequent meetings.

Mrs. Wellington, a member of the State Committee, spoke briefly about the work of her committee saying they were an elective body of men and women who serve their party by smoothing out difficulties within its ranks and promoting the election of Republican candidates after the voters have selected them at the Primaries and not until that time. She regretfully stressed the fact of so many Democratic victories being due to Republican apathy.

The feature of the afternoon was the lecture on the Philippine Islands, illustrated by lantern slides and given by Mr. Charles Batchelder, the internationally known traveler and economist. Mr. Batchelder also held the office of Secretary of the Interior of the Philippines during the period of 1914-16. He handled his subject so ably and interestingly that his lecture proved an exception to the rule where anticipation is greater than realization. His audience gave absolute attention for more than an hour to the discourse of his subject. He brought out fact after fact of the immense importance of this American possession of some 25 years. He believes there is as yet so little education among the Philippines, less than a third attending any school, that the development of the islands would be held back by native government. He said less than one eighth of the soil was cultivated and rich mines unworked. All of which if developed, would bring to the government sufficient money for the best of schools and other needed advantages for the natives. He said our present markets for American trade had almost reached the saturation point. That South America and Africa, our nearest neighbors were not consuming markets to any extent and we must look to the East coast where over half the population of the earth live in a progressive state for markets; and that Manila harbor presents an ideal site for a trans-shipping port between America and eastern markets, a tremendous asset to the United States.

RED CROSS COMBATS MALNUTRITION

The Red Cross nutrition service, according to the new annual report of the American Red Cross, instructed a monthly average of 116,392 persons over the country in the last year. Public attention is concentrated on the problem of child health as never before, and the nutrition service of the Red Cross is an outstanding force in arousing interest in the relationship between health and proper eating and food practices. Statistics for the last year show a monthly average increase of more than 23,000 persons instructed in nutrition and food selection classes. A monthly average of 11,000 children and adults were reached through home visits, conferences, consultations and public talks.

The Red Cross nutritionist is now a familiar figure in many sections of the country. During the year, 1407 teachers received Red Cross nutrition instruction, of whom 431 received extension credit for such courses in colleges. An average of 1852 volunteers a month assisted in Red Cross chapter nutrition programs. Parents and children thus learn what selections of foods are necessary in building up bodies and maintaining sound health. Not only children in schools, but homemakers and fathers have learned about the nutritive values of foods and their relation to child welfare.

Chapters have reported that school superintendents and health authorities attribute as much as a 20 per cent increase in school attendance due to improvement in health through nutrition teaching.

As the list prepared by the committee has been changed by the Steward and placed in a sealed envelope and will be fastened to one of the blackboards in the bowling alleys.

This envelope will not be opened until 10 o'clock Saturday night, Nov. 10, and then, only then, will it be known for what particular string or strings the prizes will be awarded. It may be for the best single string, with or without handicap, it may be for the best two string totals, with or without handicap, and it may be for something else. Who knows?

It, therefore, behooves the members to roll as many strings as they wish and to turn all their string scores over to the Steward. The committee will announce the prize-winners as soon as possible after the conclusion of the bowling on Saturday night, Nov. 10.

There will be an entrance fee of 50c to be paid to the Steward before bowling.

The three prizes will be awarded for anyone of the following strings: Best single string with handicap. Best single string without handicap. Largest number of strings rolled. Tenth best string, flat. Second lowest string, rolled. The highest single string divided by two. The highest single string divided by three. Best two-string total. The highest total pinfall.

The Steward will cross out six of these classes, seal the envelope and take it on the board, where it will remain until the close of bowling on Saturday night, Nov. 23, where it will be opened by a member of the Bowling Committee.

Notice to Card Players

Journey over to Arlington next Tuesday evening and see the bridge game between Arlington and Winchester at the Middlesex Sportsman's Club at Spy Pond. Good time for everybody.

The party on Halloween night was attended by about 120 people, of which about half were in various costumes. The costumes were of all kinds, some of which were very good. Four prizes were awarded, one to the prettiest costume which was won by Mrs. Marietta V. Lincoln who wore a colonial costume; another prize was awarded to Mrs. Blanch Barnard, whose costume was most significant of the season—that of a witch. Miss Mary M. Brown was awarded a prize for having the most unique costume—that of a colored girl all in black and made up in black face. A special prize was awarded to Mr. Kenneth Pratt and Miss Naomi Underhill, who came dressed as the opposite sex and in old fashioned clothes. Refreshments were served and among other things included apples, doughnuts, cider, significant of the occasion. The party was in charge of Mr. Wm. H. Little, who was assisted by Mrs. Little.

Last Saturday evening an old fashioned bean supper with all the fixin's was served at the club to a large gathering of members. A very enjoyable entertainment was furnished by Messrs. Charles O. Gilman and Edward M. Sugrhan, together with Mr. J. B. Felt of the club, who proved beyond question his ability to outdance any musician. "Ed" Merrill was in charge of the affair.

On Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 12, there will be a ladies' afternoon of bowling at the Club. The afternoon will be in charge of Mrs. Thomas Barnard and Mrs. Vernon Hall, and these ladies wish to give notice that the tournament will start at 2:15 sharp.

On Tuesday evening of next week, Calumet will visit the Middlesex Club at Arlington for its third series in the league. It is anticipated that the teams will be accompanied by a large number of other club members.

Next Wednesday evening there will be a bridge tournament for the gentlemen and on Saturday night, the 16th, there is to be a smoker and entertainment.

Club Now Leads Mystic Valley League In its first home series and its second match in the league, Calumet won 12 points out of the 15 total when it met the Towanda Club of Woburn on Monday night. Calumet took all but two points in bowling, the straight pool, cowboy pool, three cushion billiards and two duplicate bridge points.

In the bowling, both the first and second teams lost one string each. Higgin's was high roller with 125 and 332, with Ralph Purrington following with 123 and 323. McColgan of the visitors rolled 112 and 323.

ANNUAL BAZAAR BY CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN

Lattice work and colorful hollyhocks formed artistic decorations for the annual fall bazaar, held Wednesday under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the First Congregational Church in the church parish house.

Most of the booths and tables were in the upper hall, though space for rugs, orientals and other articles was provided in the adjoining ladies' parlor. A tea room, decorated in a color scheme of yellow, was open in the lower hall from 2 until 5 o'clock and a hot turkey supper was served at 6:30 in the evening. Motion pictures were shown in the vestry, in the afternoon for children, and in the evening for the adults.

Mrs. Maurice F. Brown and Mrs. George S. F. Bartlett were general chairmen in charge of arrangements, Mrs. James Nowell serving as treasurer.

Others in charge of special committees were:

- Supper—Mrs. Walter Tibbets
- Decorations—Mrs. Franklin J. Lane

THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE VATICAN, NEWEST WORLD STATE

The "City of the Vatican," newest state to take its place among the nations of the world, as a result of the treaty between Italy and Pope Pius, is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Although the smallest existing entity with an international status, says the bulletin, "The City of the Vatican" embraces within its limited boundaries the world's largest and one of its most beautiful churches; many of its rarest and costliest art treasures and books; and has as its "capitol" the most extensive and probably the best known palace in existence. In addition the new state is ruled over by the Pope, to whom hundreds of millions of people in all parts of the world look as their spiritual leader.

Home Older Than Christian Era

The name, Vatican, is believed to have come from an old Etruscan settlement, Vaticanum, on the right bank of the River Tiber. At any rate in Roman days before the Christian era, this district was known as Ager Vaticanus, and as the years passed the name came to be attached specifically to Vatican Hill or Monte Vaticano. The region was not considered to be a portion of ancient Rome, but was recognized as a district apart from it.

Between Vatican Hill and the river, a distance of perhaps a half mile, is a level area. It was there that Nero had his circus, in which St. Peter is said to have been put to death. The body of the Apostle is reputed to have been buried near the foot of Vatican Hill, and over the spot now rises the majestic Basilica of St. Peter, the world's largest and perhaps its most famous church.

The region of the Vatican—the tomb of St. Peter—began to play a part in the Catholic faith about 90 A. D. when a small oratory was built near by. But pagan influences were still in the ascendancy in the general region and remained so even after Constantine built the first Basilica of St. Peter in 319. A little later convents, chapels and churches began to spring up in the surrounding district, and it became definitely Christian.

Vatican Hill Bought in Middle Ages The fine hill behind St. Peter's did not come into possession of the Church until the middle ages when the Popes bought portion of its slopes, and finally acquired the entire eminence.

After the right bank of the Tiber took on a Christian character, and the tomb of St. Peter gained in importance, a residence was built near the basilica and was occupied from time to time by the Popes. The pontiffs continued to live, however, in the Lateran Palace across the river and the city from Vatican Hill.

St. Peter's and its neighboring buildings were pillaged by the Saracens in 847 and immediately afterward Pope Leo IV inclosed the church and the Vatican property by a high, fortified wall. The Vatican then became the fortress citadel of the Popes, and on several occasions it was necessary to resist sieges there.

The Vatican buildings were added to, and by 1300 an extensive palace had arisen. Soon came the temporary removal of the Papacy to Avignon, France. During the 70 years of the exile the Vatican Palace fell into disrepair. Its restoration was begun when the Popes again took up their residence in Rome in 1378. After a few years the Vatican became the regular Papal residence and has remained such ever since.

The territory of the new City of the Vatican is to be only a little larger than the present Vatican grounds. It is slightly more than a half mile across from east to west, and slightly less than a half mile across from north to south. The new state thus covers about a quarter of a square mile, or, very roughly, in the neighborhood of 160 acres.

Palace of 1000 Rooms

The Vatican Palace which extends northward from St. Peter's contains approximately 1000 rooms. The outer walls of the buildings inclose more than 13 acres of grounds; and the actual buildings, exclusive of interior courts, cover seven and a half acres. Much of the palace was not intended to be a residence and has never been so used. Hundreds of the rooms are given over to art objects and constitute the Vatican Museum, housing one of the world's most remarkable collections. The Vatican Library, filling numerous other rooms, is also one of the outstanding libraries of the world. Only about 200 of the rooms are used by the Pope, his officials, guards, clerks and servants.

One of the small additions to the territory of the Vatican will probably extend the grounds on the southwest a hundred feet or so to an existing railway. Then a station, established just outside a gateway, will make it possible for diplomats accredited to the Vatican City and distinguished visitors, to step directly on to soil of the new state.

Like some of the states of Germany, the new Vatican state has scattered fragments of territory under its sovereignty. One is the Cancellaria Palace, about a mile from the Vatican, in the heart of Rome. It was built in the 15th century from stones taken from the Colosseum, and is the residence of an important ecclesiastic, the Cardinal-Vicar of Rome.

Scattered Territories of New State

Most important of the scattered fragments is the Lateran Palace and the Church of St. John Lateran on the eastern edge of Rome. It was in this palace that the treaty recognizing the existence of the new state was signed. The existing Lateran Palace is relatively new, but on its site was the first home of the Popes, presented to them by Emperor Constantine, in 312, following his conversion to Christianity. Near-by rose the Church of St. John Lateran. The present church structure is also relatively new, but by virtue of its predecessors on the same site it has a unique status, out-ranking even St. Peter's. It is the Cathedral of Rome and of the world, the mother church of the Catholic faith. In it all the Popes were crowned until, following the fall of the temporal power of the Papacy in 1870, the Popes confined themselves to the Vatican and St. Peter's.

A third bit of outside territory under the sovereignty of the new state is Castel Gandolfo, a country estate about 17 miles southeast of Rome in the Alban Hills. The estate consists of extensive grounds and a commodious castle overlooking beautiful Lake Albano. This region, "the Roman Switzerland," has been a resort country for Romans since the days when the early emperors had pleasure villas around the lake and its sister body of water, Lake Nemi. Popes of the Middle Ages used Castel Gandolfo for a summer residence, and it may be put to similar use again now that the settlement of the "Roman Question" has released the Pope from his self-imposed imprisonment in the Vatican.

FAMOUS PACIFIC CROSSINGS

The passage of the Graf Zeppelin across the Pacific in 68 hours—the fastest voyage by any man-made mechanism over the greatest of the world's oceans—stirs memories of other historic events on the huge sea, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The first white men to see the Pacific were Portuguese sailors who entered its western edge in 1512, pushing farther than Vasco da Gama, who lazied the trail around the south end of Africa and to India 15 years earlier. But these early voyagers entered the waters of the Pacific without realizing the significance of the great ocean.

Balboa Discovered Ocean in 1513

The really romantic discovery of this great ocean by white men came from the new world side when Balboa stood on a mountain in Panama on Sept. 25, 1513, and saw a vast expanse of water stretching away to the south and west. He called it "the Great South Sea" and modestly took possession of it all for Spain. Thus the Pacific has played a part in the activities of the western world for only a little more than 400 years.

Who first crossed the Pacific and when, is not known. The broad waters were probably crossed far back in the dim beginnings of civilization on the earth; for the people of the South Sea Islands and the great weird statues on Easter Island lead many observers to believe that the roving islanders continued on east to the Americas.

The first crossing of the Pacific by white men came in 1502-21. Magellan sailed into it through the strait that bears his name, Nov. 28, 1520, and set sail westward. It was Magellan who gave the ocean the name by which it has ever since been known. One hundred and eighty days after Magellan's ships entered the Pacific, they reached the Philippines. He had made a stop of only a few days at the Ladrones Islands. The "sailing time" of this first Pacific transit can therefore be set down roughly as 100 days.

Spaniards Crossed Regularly in 80 Days

When the Spaniards had planted colonies in Mexico and in the Philippines they established a regular once-a-year galleon service across the Pacific between the two. These earliest of Pacific "liners" made the one way voyage of 80 days. Slowly, sailing ships of better design cut this crossing time in half.

The first steamship to ply Pacific waters was the Telica, which sailed from Panama to Guayaquil in 1825. It was blown up soon after its arrival at the latter port. Upon discovery of gold in California in 1849, steamships rounded South America to San Francisco and established regular steamer lines between the Isthmus of Panama and California ports. In 1862 the French sent a steamship around Africa to Hong Kong, and so into the waters of the eastern Pacific.

Some of the early steamships plying on the west coast of the United States made the trip to Honolulu and after more or less lengthy stops steamed on to Asia. But up to 1867 no definite crossing on regular schedule had been made. The first crossing of a steam "liner" came in 1867. A side wheeler put out of San Francisco on Jan. 1 of that year and reached Yokohama in less than a month. Soon regular service was established between San Francisco and Yokohama on a 22-day schedule.

Steamers Now Cross in Nine Days

By degrees this period has been cut down until a normal crossing is now made by steamships in two weeks or a little less. The fastest crossing by steamers has been between Yokohama and Seattle when highly valuable silk cargoes have been rushed across in less than nine days.

In 1928 the huge airplane, Southern Cross, wrote a new chapter in the navigation history of the Pacific when she flew from Oakland, California to Brisbane, Australia, a distance of nearly 7500 miles, in 82½ hours of flying time. This flight, however, was not non-stop. Stops were made in Hawaii and in the Fiji Islands, and nine days elapsed between the take-off in California and the landing in Australia.

The record just established by the Graf Zeppelin divides the best competing record by three. This non-stop flight across the Pacific, virtually along the great circle route for steamships between San Francisco and Yokohama, was made in approximately 68 hours—a few hours less than three days.

Bird Statistics

The most abundant birds in the United States are the robin and the sparrow. The densest bird population on record in America is said to be on an island estate near Washington.

Deepest Rivers

The Amazon is the deepest river in the world, being 1,200 feet at its mouth and 620 feet one thousand miles from its mouth. Next is said to be the Saguenay, which is 500 to 600 feet deep.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

(No. 4)

Not often has there been more truth compacted in so few words as is found in a simple line of Coleridge—"Greatness and goodness are not means, but ends." When men in and out of Winchester seek goodness for the reward it may bring, and for the sake of winning the reward, and strive to be great, that they may win wealth, fame, power or place, they invariably miss the true mark—it must be so. For they are not "means," but "ends," things to be loved and desired even though they bring with them loss and sorrow.

It is only with goodness thus thought of that greatness is associated—only such goodness as is itself strength. It is as it is with loyalty. The man who is loyal to his community for what he can get out of it—who, in other words, makes loyalty a means rather than an end in itself—is, as will be generally agreed, not loyal at all. One cannot love for hire—the thing is quite impossible.

Coleridge applied the same principle, and with entire correctness, to goodness and greatness. Of "the good, great man," the poet says that he hath

Three treasures—love and light,
And calm thoughts, regular as infant's breath.
St. Paul was not playing with paradoxes when he wrote to the Corinthians: "My strength is made perfect in weakness," and again: "When I am weak, then am I strong."

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell are lovers again—reunited under the direction of Frank Borzage in their first talking picture, "Lucky Star" which makes its local premiere Sunday for four days at the University. The trio who gave you "7th Heaven" and "Street Angel" are said to surpass their previous triumphs in this spoken drama of a couple that wins regeneration through suffering.

"Tonight at Twelve," the sensational and daring screen production of Owen Davis' famous stage play, is the companion feature. The picture has an all-star cast worthy of that name—Madge Ballamy, Robert Ellis, Margaret Livingston, Vera Reynolds, Norman Trevor, Hallam Cooly and George Lewis. While being classified as a mystery-farce, "Tonight at Twelve" has a different effect.

"Street Girl" which comes for three days starting Thursday, was adapted from W. Carey Wonderly's story, "The Viennese Charmer," a dramatic and realistic tale of that little known but intensely human district, New York's "Little Hungary." Miss Compson is seen as a girl of the streets who obtains employment as a violin player and entertainer in a small Hungarian cafe. Coupled with the tense drama is sparkling comedy furnished by Jack Oakie, Hew Sparks and Joseph Cawthorne, three of the screen's best comics.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

We have often seen it happen. When a Winchesterite is sick in bed That a friend will come to see him And remind him of the dead: And a friendly neighbor drops in With a bit of news to tell Of another neighbor not far away Who is awfully sick and won't get well.

A level headed churchman here in Winchester declares that no church is ready for a revival as long as the members are afraid to sit close together.

A certain Winchester fellow of our acquaintance is financially embarrassed. That is, he is deeply in debt, but it doesn't seem to embarrass him any.

Our ancestors had more leisure far than we. But still, when all is done and said, They made poor use of it, you see, They spent the most of it in bed.

A man, remarked a man in Winchester Square the other day, should wear some sort of sign to show that he is married. Most fellows here in Winchester do. Most generally a sign of distress.

A Winchester husband says he don't for the life of him see how the average husband can stand these modern dressmaking bills. He says his wife always makes her own clothes. Maybe that is the reason his fellow-Winchesterites so seldom see him in her company.

One fellow of our acquaintance believes in the observance of the Golden Rule—he always likes to have other people keep it in mind when they are dealing with him.

And we know a Winchester fellow who puts on a long face and says he is discouraged, when the fact of the matter is he is too lazy to try again.

The theory that a high percentage of the forest fires are due to carelessness on the part of smokers merely whets The Paraphraser's curiosity to know what percentage of this percentage should be charged up to the women smokers.

The life we seek with envying zeal Is where all wealth may lie: But that Winchesterite is richest who can feel Beauty of earth and sky.

THE MEMORY OF OTHER YEARS

(Written for The Winchester Star)

The bright hours of childhood, youth's short romance,
And manhood's dreams of power and fame,
Again come back to cheat the heart,
So changed by Time, but still the same.
The mingling tones of voices gone,
And breathing round us sweet and low,
And eyes are beaming once again,
That smiled upon us long ago.
We gaze within those loving orbs
Which never coldly turn away.
We clasp the hand and press the lip,
Of forms that but in memory stay.
We feel the influence of a spell,
And wake to smile or melt to tears,
As pass before the dreaming eye
The light and shade of other years.
Eugene Bertram Willard

Mail Order Molars

Nobody says "false teeth" any more. Even "artificial teeth" is rather bad form. If you want to be loose and hearty about it you can say "store teeth," but the most elegant and nice way is to talk about "plates."—American Magazine.

Historic Date

Through an act of congress, slavery was abolished in the District of Columbia on April 10, 1862. This was a step toward the abolition of slavery throughout the United States, which took place a year later.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Winchester Fortnightly will act as hostess to the department conference for the 7th and 8th districts on Monday, Nov. 18, at the Unitarian Church. The morning session will open at 10 o'clock, the afternoon session at 1:45. This is our next regular meeting. Mrs. Nathaniel E. Smith, director of the 7th district, will preside at the morning session, and Mrs. Philip H. Tirrell, director of the 8th district, will have charge of the afternoon. The officers of the State Federation will be guests of the club, these being Mrs. Azel A. Packard, president; Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, first vice president; Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, second vice president; Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, third vice president; Mrs. John H. Kimball, fourth vice president; Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, clerk; Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, chairman of membership; and Mrs. Charles G. Weatherbee, corresponding secretary. This conference should be of more than usual interest to the members of the Fortnightly, for it gives an opportunity to get in close touch with the work of the State Federation. The program will be interesting and instructive. During the afternoon session there will be a musical program under the direction of Mrs. Idabel H. Winship. We are indeed fortunate in having such an inspiring setting for this conference, and we are deeply appreciative of the courtesy extended by our Unitarian friends. Luncheon will be served at noon and it is desirable that tickets be reserved at once. Reservations can not be made after Nov. 14. Will those desiring tickets communicate with Mrs. Carl J. Sittiger, tel. Win. 1575.

Music Committee

The next meeting of the Glee Club will be on Tuesday, Nov. 12. Quite a number have enrolled for this course, but more voices are needed. This should be one of our outstanding activities, offering as it does a chance to get in line with other clubs, and giving an opportunity seldom offered, for voice training under such a splendid leader as J. Albert Wilson. The group meets at 10 o'clock on alternate Tuesday mornings. Will those interested telephone Mrs. Annette S. Hughes, Win. 1556.

Literature Committee

The committee is to be congratulated on the good attendance at its first meeting of the season. The chairman, Mrs. Anna W. Swanson, opened the meeting informally by giving a short explanation of what the course in "Current Literature" would cover, and spoke of the value of reading with a purpose. Mrs. Helen H. Murray gave a brief description of the first book under consideration, "The Cradle of the Deep," by Joan Lowell, and a most interesting discussion was the result. Those who had not read the book will probably do so now, if only to determine its literary value. Mrs. Blanche Barnard read extracts from the debate in the June issue of the "Bookman," between Lionel Colcord and Heywood Brown, the one a caustic criticism of the book, the other a defense, and stressed the fact that though readable it might not be of literary value. Mrs. Florence I. Cross next took up the second book, "The Art of Thinking," by Ernest Dimnet, and held her audience for 40 minutes by her clear and incisive diagnosis of the subject. She demonstrated by personal experience the value of systematic ideas in daily life and described her method of solving the problems of housekeeping and child training. The next meeting will be eagerly awaited.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE CLUB TO SPONSOR CLASS

Educational Projects to be Considered

The Women's College Club of Winchester is sponsoring a course open to members and others who are interested. The subject is the study of current educational projects, including the Progressive School Movement, the Fairhope School, the Winetka plan, the platoon idea, the Junior High School, the Junior College, experiments in college work and religious education.

Mrs. William E. Spalding will lead the class. Meetings of the group for discussion will be held twice a month. There will be a preliminary meeting for organization at Mrs. Spalding's, 379 Main street, Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 10 a. m.

For further information call Mrs. John Carr, Win. 1013 or Mrs. Judson L. Cross, Win. 0949-W.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

The Ladies' Friendly Society will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Unitarian parish house next Tuesday afternoon. The executive board will meet at 1:30 p. m. The large meeting of all members will convene at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. Maxwell Savage, the speaker for the afternoon. Tea will be served.

All the members of the Ladies' Friendly have been invited to the neighborhood meeting at the Lexington Unitarian Church, Nov. 12 at 2 p. m. Mrs. Thomas G. Rees, president of the General Alliance will be the speaker. The Lexington branches have invited the Alliances of Medford, Arlington, Belmont and Winchester to this meeting.

Mere Man

Henri Daube, French painter, was speaking in cynical mood about the modern woman: "Nowadays, a lady's male acquaintance takes precedence in this order—her friend, her suitor, her dancing partner, her bridge favorite, her barber, her husband."

COLLINS—RILEY

Rev. John P. Gorham, pastor of St. Charles Church, Woburn, officiated at the marriage ceremony in St. Charles Rectory last Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock when Miss Margaret Theresa Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Riley of 34 Fowle street, Woburn, became the bride of Thomas Henry Collins of this town, son of Mrs. Frances Collins of 8 Fitzgerald avenue.

Miss Riley was attended by Miss Catherine Feeney of Woburn and Mr. Collins had for his best man, his brother, Frank Collins of Winchester.

The bride's gown was of white satin, trimmed with seed pearls, and having an over-skirt of Duchess lace. Her veil was of Duchess lace, held in place with a coronet of pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Feeney wore a gown of peach crepe, Princess style, with a picture hat and shoes to match. Her flowers were Talisman roses.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a necklace of cut crystal and that to his best man, a pen and pencil set. The bride presented her attendant with a necklace of crystal and pearls.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents which was decorated for the occasion with autumn foliage and chrysanthemums of yellow, white and bronze. A wedding supper was served to more than 150 guests.

Upon their return from a honeymoon spent in New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Collins are to make their home on Leonard street, Woburn.

The bride has many friends among Woburn's younger set and Mr. Collins is well known in Winchester where he is a member of the Knights of Columbus. He is employed by the Page & Shaw Company as traffic manager at the Cambridge plant.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

How quickly a sedate and conservative young princess, fresh from the tutelage of royal governesses and the decorum of a European court, may be transformed into a typical American girl of the period during a visit to New York is gaily demonstrated by charming Sue Carol in "The Exalted Flapper," the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theater, Malden. In a brief period, according to the diverting story by Will Irwin, the princess goes in for bobbed hair, short skirts, slang and jazz with such enthusiasm that on her return home she is mistaken for an American "flapper" by a prince of a neighborhood country, who would cheerfully renounce his royal robes for her. Barry Norton portrays the prince opposite Miss Carol and Irene Rich, film player of distinction, is the queen. "Pirates of Panama," the absorbing new serial starring Natalie Kingston is the second feature on this most interesting program.

Sustained interest is the first essential of a successful screen drama. "The One Woman Idea," the feature picture coming to the Orpheum for the first three days of next week, has that, and more. "The One Woman Idea" has to do with a Persian prince who falls in love with the wife of a fellow passenger on a steamship bound from London to Port Said. But, as the prince announces upon discovering that she is married, "I am a Mohammedan and a Mohammedan never touches the property of another," he finds himself with a problem on his hands. Rod LaRocque, who portrays the prince, is the outstanding player. Co-starred with LaRocque is Marceline Day, a most charming leading woman, who has a dual role—the wife with whom the prince falls in love and a half caste dancing girl in his harem. Douglas Gilmore as the philandering husband deserves special mention. "The Bondman," the second feature on this program was actually produced on the Isle of Man and in Sicily from the great novel by Sir Hall Caine. It stars Norman Kerry and tells the story of two brothers in exile.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

A new era in motion picture entertainment comes to the big Granada Theater in Malden tomorrow when "The Hollywood Revue," M-G-M's stupendous cinematic combination of the variety, musical comedy and revue stages, will open an engagement of seven days, which includes special shows on Sunday. This is a motion picture that has equal proportions of eye and ear entertainment, and is the first motion picture to be absolutely devoid of plot, yet thoroughly interesting and exciting from start to finish. It has no plot because it is a series of skits, songs, dances and chatter, a melange of the sort of stuff one sees in high price shows like the "Follies," "Vivantes" or "Seandals."

Over 25 stars of stage and screen appear in "The Hollywood Revue." Among the notables are such stars as John Gilbert, Bessie Love, Conrad Nagle, Marion Davies, Joan Crawford, Charles King, Anita Page, Norma Shearer and many others. The regular program of talking short subjects and acts is presented in addition to "The Hollywood Revue," which opens a seven day engagement on Saturday of this week.

"The Cock Eyed World," a picture that has been breaking all attendance records at the Granada closes its sensational run today. This story of the marines, with Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe as the stars, is a picture that has caught the public fancy for fair. It is chock full of laughs and broad humor. Lily Damita as the fair siren who keeps the buddies fighting for her favor does much to make the picture a hit.

Add Contagious Diseases

A Saco (Maine) mother charged her small son never to go into the homes of any of his little friends if a placard was displayed, as he might be exposed to a contagious disease. The other day she sent him to a neighboring home on an errand. He returned immediately, saying, "Mother, I can't go in that house. The folks have hemstitching."

JERUSALEM: WHERE THREE FAITHS STRIVE FOR SUPREMACY

Jerusalem, Holy City to adherents of three religions, and recently the scene of bloody riots between Jews and Arabs, is described in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society which quotes a communication to the Society from Maj. Edward Keith-Roach, O.B.E., Deputy District Commissioner of Jerusalem Division of Palestine.

The capital of the Land of Three Faiths remains unique, maintaining its position not by towering skyscrapers, Byzantine art, or Roman architecture, but by sheer personality, says Major Keith-Roach. Centuries of religious fervor, of pilgrimage, of historical event, of great actions, have given it distinction.

Sacred to Jew, Christian and Moslem

Almost as sacred in the eyes of the Moslems as are Mecca and Medina, Jerusalem is a place of pilgrimage for the Moslem world. For the Jewish people it is the City of Cities, toward which their thoughts ever turn. It is the first city Christians hear of at their mother's knee.

Jerusalem stands upon two hills, with a slope to the east, facing the sunrise and the desert. Ravines have determined the limits of the city on the east, south and west. Northward the country is more open and the ancient city tended to sprawl in this direction. Today the old, gray-walled city of minarets, towers, and flat roofs dotted with domes is being encompassed by a New Jerusalem, a striking contrast of red roofs, but the valleys on its three sides still keep the modern encroachments at a respectful distance.

In Palestine all roads lead to the capital. The south road from Beer-sheba, Hebron and Bethlehem, joins the city at the Jaffa Gate. Toward the northwest corner of the city wall runs the road from the sea at Jaffa. At the Damascus Gate ends the great north highway, from Nablus, Nazareth and Damascus. Toward the northeast corner, past the Garden of Gethsemane, the serpentine trail climbs the Judean Hills from Jericho and the Dead Sea, attaining a height of 2600 feet above sea level, from 1300 feet below, in about a score of miles.

On alighting from a train from Egypt, Jaffa, or Haifa, the first thing to arrest the attention is the name of the station, printed in three official languages—English, Arabic and Hebrew.

Next, choice must be made of transport as horse-drawn gharries, saddled donkeys, or, at times, aristocratic camels vie with American automobiles for patronage.

Flag of Knights Still Flies

Taking a car, we ride down the Bethlehem road toward the citadel. On the right, high above the Ophthalmic Hospital, flies the flag of the Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. Eight hundred years ago noble knights and occasionally fair ladies set forth from England, Germany, France, Austria and other parts of Europe to wrest the Holy Land from the Saracens, and under that flag the knights played a great part in the history of the city.

Here is our first glimpse of the walls. Apart from one enclosing the Haram (the Temple area, containing the Dome of the Rock) which is largely Herodian, they were rebuilt by Suleiman the Magnificent in 1542.

Down the road we go, past the Sultan's Pool, up to the Jaffa Gate, called by the Arabs "The Gate of the Friend," because it looks toward Hebron, the home of Abraham, "the friend of God." The citadel, a mighty fortress of five towers, looms high and imposing. The great blocks forming the foundations date from Roman times, but the building itself was probably constructed mainly in the 14th century. The street passes the citadel and, through a breach in the wall, enters the Old City.

Jerusalem is now, as always, a city of many tongues. In the last census 29 linguistic groups were recorded. To get an intimate glimpse of Jerusalem, let us enter the Walled City by the Jaffa Gate and make our way down David street on foot.

In few streets of the Old City are carts or motor cars allowed. So narrow are the covered ways that it would be impossible for such vehicles to pass, even were it not for the steps by which the city streets climb steep hills, once steeper than they are today. As in the Psalmist's time, Jerusalem is "built as a city that is compact together." In times of festival when the streets are congested with traffic, the sightseers, chiefly women and children, throng its flat roofs.

Some of these buildings were destroyed or badly cracked in a recent earthquake, but, considering the intensity of the shock in other parts of Palestine, the Holy City escaped lightly.

No University Rest Day

David street is a series of long, shallow, greasy, cobblestone steps, and a good stick with a sharp point is not to be despised. Walking is difficult, as one constantly skirts every sort of bundle borne on men's shoulders or donkey's backs. The world is busy bargaining amid the traffic, so it is best to take time and drift slowly with the crowd.

A remarkable feature of the Holy City is that, although each of the three communities has its own weekly day of rest, the city itself never has one, and every day some shops are open.

Donkeys bearing heavy burdens pass by, pushed and prodded by their drivers, or ridden by little boys who call out ceaselessly, "Oh-ah, oh-ah!" These children perch upon a saddle on either side of which are fastened old gasoline boxes containing all sorts and conditions of cans made from the ever-present petroleum tins.

In a modern city, one meets people daily for years without knowing their religious beliefs. This is impossible in Jerusalem. Be he occidental or oriental, every man's religion is known to all and also the fidelity with which he carries out the obligations imposed by his faith.

Fault of the Public

We do not blame the political orators much for taking advantage of the situation, and there is a great disposition among the rank and file to mistake terrific bawling for fearless thinking.—Ohio State Journal.

Speedy Camel

In a regularly supervised camel race held at Tunis, Africa, on March 6, 1926, one of four racing camels was clocked over a 3 1/8 mile course in 12 minutes, averaging approximately 32 minutes 40 seconds to the mile.

Began Great Industry

The first instance of lumbering being done in the Hudson River valley was when Henry Hudson sent his ship's carpenter ashore to make his vessel a new foremast, fashioned from one of the trees of the forest.

Erie Canal

The total length of the Erie canal is 340 miles. The canal proper is 122 miles long, 150 feet wide and 12 feet deep. The total cost of construction, including terminals, amount to about $175,000,000.

LOWER CALIFORNIA RISES FROM THE SEA

Lower California, the long, narrow peninsula of western Mexico, which stretches southward from the United States-Mexican border, is reported to be slowly rising from the sea. Surveyors show the land area to be growing wider, while the elongated Gulf of California, between the peninsula and the mainland of Mexico, is steadily becoming narrower and shallower.

The rising of a considerable area of land is not some strange portent of a world cataclysm, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is a perfectly ordinary process of Nature that, together with the sinking of other areas, has been going on for hundreds of millions of years.

The World's Ups and Downs. Poets may talk of the "everlasting hills" and "terra firma," but science must take these terms in a most Pickwickian sense. The "everlasting hills" are washed away rather promptly; and the "firm" earth, if one considers it over periods of geologic time, rises and falls as though riding on some cosmic seesaw.

It is fortunate for man and his development that the solid earth has not been a static, unmoving thing. Had it not reacted to the grinding of the waves and the ice sheets, and to the burdens these forces placed upon it, it is highly probable that there would not be a square foot of dry land today; but that instead an ocean, two miles deep would cover the whole globe.

The latest geological thought sees in the continents masses of relatively light solid matter which float on top, glassy, material some 40 or more miles below, much as icebergs float in water. The ocean basins are looked upon as underlain by heavier solid matter which does not float as high as the light land. There is a balanced condition; but various forces are constantly tending to disturb this balance. To regain its balance the land must readjust itself; warping up here and down there; rising a bit vertically at one place, and sinking somewhat at another; or perhaps shifting a little horizontally.

Erosion One of Chief Causes. Several forces, operating usually over very long periods, make these readjustments necessary. The slow contraction of the earth, because of cooling, causes squeezings at certain points. The very slight slowing down of the earth's speed of rotation undoubtedly causes other changes in pressure, even though the loss may amount to only a few seconds in millions of years. One of the most potent of the forces, however, is more easily observed at work, and operates over shorter periods of time. This is erosion. Heavy burdens of rock are washed away from one place and deposited at another, thus throwing the balance out. The region which has its load reduced tends to rise; the area which receives an additional burden, tends to sink. Later this situation is changed, for when the lower portion of the sinking material is forced into the hot, plastic material far down, it melts and owing to expansion and the generation of gases, it rises somewhat as bread dough rises when it is cooked. This is one of the factors in mountain building.

With all the evidence of past risings and sinkings (or uplifts and subsidences, to put it technically) before us, it is only to be expected that places can be found in the world where the processes can be observed at work over a series of years. Sometimes the earth's ups and downs occur very suddenly in connection with earthquakes. A part of the coast of Alaska rose 47 feet over night in 1899 as the result of a severe earthquake. After the Messina earthquake of 1908 a considerable area of the "toe" of Italy and the eastern coast of Sicily was found to have sunk several inches. The Japanese earthquake of 1923 changed depths in Sagami Bay, south of Tokyo and Yokohama, by hundreds of feet, and some sections of the shore were raised six feet.

In some parts of the world slow movements have been in progress for long periods without, apparently, being accompanied by serious earthquakes. Portions of the upper Baltic region are rising at the rate of about one foot each 30 years; and at the same time sections of southern Denmark are sinking at the rate of one inch in 25 years. One of the world's best examples of slow uplift in the past is found in the region of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. Geologists explain the tremendous depth of the erosion in this great gash by the gradual rise of the region while the river cut its way. It is somewhat as if one pressed a block of wood upward against a saw moving at a fixed level.

PRINCE OF STORY-BOOK LAND GOES AWOLING

A comic opera kingdom where goose girls drive snowy geese through winding lanes and turreted castles top massive hills has broken into print again through the announcement of the engagement of its ruler, Prince Franz to a Viennese woman. Engagement announcements are not always of international interest but Liechtenstein is famous as one of Europe's four tiny independent states; San Marino, Andorra and Monaco. Liechtenstein is next to the largest with its overwhelming area of 65 square miles.

Electric Lights Can't Banish Past. A visit to Liechtenstein in its jewel-like setting in the eastern Alps between Austria and Switzerland is like a journey into the past, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Electric lights and other modern improvements do not detract from the picturesque quality of the country-side with its wayside shrines and tall crucifixes or the famous castle, Burg Vaduz, the home of Prince Franz, with its gabled towers and mullioned windows.

The winding roads that travel the small country's mountain sides are traversed as often by long strings of cattle or huge wagons loaded with hay as they are by tourists' automobiles, the bulletin continues. Agriculture is the chief industry of Liechtenstein's 10,000 population and scenes such as those that inspired Millet's famous picture, "The Angelus" are common throughout the countryside. The farm houses are either natural color wood structures that merge into the colors of the landscape or small, cheerful stucco affairs that resemble the Swiss chalets across the border. Hay is stored in wooden huts whose roofs are kept on by large stones placed on them.

Liechtensteiners Once Spoke Mongrel Latin. Until the 17th century, Romansch, a language derived from the Latin, was spoken by the now German-speaking Liechtensteiners. The old language still persists in some of the place names like Samina, Gavadura or the capital, Vaduz.

Vaduz is the fairy tale capital of a story-book land. The old castle looks like a medieval robber baron's stronghold as it tops a hill overlooking the town. It has been restored in a 16th century style of architecture and the illusion of medieval life is helped every summer when the Liechtensteiners, dressed in raiment of ancient styles, put on old plays there depicting the lives and loves of the minnesingers, the famous bards of the Middle Ages.

Great Artist's Pipes Prized as Art Relics

One does not often hear of smoker's pipes being ranked high among art relics. The date of the introduction of tobacco precludes them from boasting of remote antiquity of origin, though your smoker who makes the coloring of a pipe a solemn ritual may have very pronounced views on its artistic claims. Nor is his point of view ignored by the fine arts authorities, for, adjacent to a rich collection of snuff-boxes, there may be seen at the museum of decorative arts, in the Louvre, a number of well-seasoned pipes, most of which must have belonged to hearty smokers. Perhaps the most noteworthy are a couple of briars which belonged to the painter Corot. It is said that he smoked these pipes while painting several of his greatest works, and if so, they have a legitimate claim to distinction. Pipes attributed to illustrious men are not uncommonly met with elsewhere in Paris, usually in cafes which were frequented by the great, but they are sometimes of doubtful authenticity. Verelme, for instance, would appear to have left a pipe in almost every cafe he frequented, and these were many.—From the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

REV. S. M. LINDSAY

DOCTOR LINDSAY OF BROOKLINE SPEAKS

The last two addresses in the remarkable series given by Dr. S. M. Lindsay of Brookline at the First Baptist Church are to be held tonight and Sunday at 4:30 p. m. The services have been thronged with eager listeners who have not wished to miss a single sentence of Doctor Lindsay's inspiring interpretation of religion in terms of modern life.

The service is unadorned simplicity itself, a few quiet hymns, prayer and the address; but Doctor Lindsay's depth of insight, human helpfulness, and sweep of pulpit power give one new and undreamed of sources of power. A community aspect has marked the services due to the presence of many from surrounding towns as well as from many denominations. Tuesday, delegates of deacons from ten different towns were present.

Doctor Lindsay speaks tonight at 7:45 and the last service is Sunday at 4:30.

IN HONOR OF 90 YEARS

Winchester's aged residents are receiving considerable attention this season, and on Friday last it was Miss Helen M. Hitchings of 183 M. V. Parkway who was honored. She observed her 90th birthday on Saturday the 9th, but was tendered a tea on the 8th by Mrs. John L. Ayer at her apartment on Lewis road. She received many of her friends and a quantity of beautiful flowers. On Saturday she also received many visitors and congratulations.

In honor of the occasion the following verses were written and presented to her by an admirer:

In honor of Your 90th Birthday Best wishes we all give
To honor a celebrity.
Four score years and ten to live
A life of sweet serenity.
No Edison do we honor here
Upon this happy family night
But still we feel great honor's due;
We all absorb your light.

A useful life is like pure gold
Just hoarded up for all the race
The evidence we all behold Forever shining from your face.

SENTENCED IN LIQUOR CASES

Two Winchester men appeared in court at Woburn during the past week to answer charges arising from recent successful liquor raids conducted by the local police. Salvatore Scaturro of 95 Swanton street was in court last Friday morning, charged with manufacturing, keeping and exposing liquor for sale. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve three months in the House of Correction with sentence suspended for one year.

Giuseppe Michienzi of 10 Summer street, at whose home the police made one of the biggest liquor hauls in years, appeared in court yesterday. His charges were the same as those preferred against Scaturro and he too pleaded guilty. Michienzi was sentenced to serve three months in the House of Correction, suspended for one year, and was also fined $50. Both men lost their liquor which was perhaps the most unkind cut of all.

TOWN TEAM AT WOBURN

Winchester Town Team, fresh from a win over the strong Bedford Athletic Club will visit Woburn on Sunday afternoon for a football game with Woburn Cardinals on the new high school athletic field off Montvale avenue.

WINCHESTER OBSERVED ARMISTICE DAY

Simple Service at Memorial in Morning—Evening Festivities in Town Hall

With the big frolic and dancing party in the Town Hall Monday evening, Winchester Post, 97, of the American Legion brought to a close its observance of Armistice Day. While this year's program was not so elaborate as that of a year ago it was nevertheless very well worked out and neither pains nor expense were spared to make the evening's festivities entirely worth while.

Under these circumstances the attendance at the frolic, though larger than in 1928, was somewhat disappointing to the Legionnaires who offered together with dancing several feature events and novelties of real merit.

As guest artist the Legion presented Miss Clara Shear, soprano of the Cosmopolitan Opera Company, which is now playing in Boston. Miss Shear charmed her audience, not alone with her singing, but with a most attractive personality. There was nothing of the temperamental prima donna in her manner when, following her introduction by Comdr. Richard Parkhurst, she graciously announced that she would sing both classical and popular selections that her program might "please everyone."

HOME FOR THE AGED

In explanation of the postponement of the annual Reception Day at the Home for the Aged, allow me to say that it was done to avoid conflicting in any way, with any of the other fairs, in which the various churches are interested or furthering.

The people of this town have never been more thoughtful of the needs and pleasure of this Home than in these recent weeks, and hearty thanks are due to one and all who have contributed to its upkeep.

A further pleasure will be enhanced if on Dec. 11, from 3 to 5:30 p. m. the public will honor the yearly Reception Day of the Home by inspecting the house, learning its community value, calling upon the individual members of the family in their rooms and availing themselves of things offered for sale.

We offer these articles for sale on their own merit and at a moderate price. In anticipation of the Christmas season the articles have been made attractive with the gift purpose in view. They also have a practical value and will appeal to discriminating buyers.

The "Home" orange marmalade, so popular last year, has been put up in gift size tumbler and advance orders can now be placed.

May we not have the co-operation of the public on this occasion.

TWENTY-FIFTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Flaherty of 16 Oak street were guests of honor last Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Shaughnessy, 7 Webster street, where more than 100 relatives and friends gathered to congratulate the popular fireman and his lady upon the 25th anniversary of their marriage.

Cut flowers and autumn foliage combined to form attractive decorations and dainty refreshments were served during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Flaherty were showered with congratulations and received many beautiful gifts.

They were married Nov. 10, 1904, in St. Mary's rectory by the Rev. Fr. Madden. Mrs. Flaherty having been before her marriage Miss Mary Thornton. They have since made their home in Winchester. Mr. Flaherty being one of the oldest permanent members, in point of service, of the Fire Department. They are the parents of five children, two boys and three girls.

APPOINTED CHAIRMAN

Mrs. Arthur G. Robbins of Winchester has been appointed by the Massachusetts Civic League to be the chairman of the 6th Middlesex Senatorial District for their Children's Welfare Committee. This committee was organized when the Children's Code Commission and the Special Recess Commission to study school requirements were appointed by act of the Legislature of 1929. The object of the committee is to conduct a State wide campaign of education and organization in preparation for the report of the Children's Commission created by Act of the General Court of 1929—"relative to dependent, delinquent and neglected children and other children requiring special care" and the Commission to Study School Requirements.

Each Senatorial Chairman is asked to appoint a representative in each one of the towns or cities in her district. Mrs. Robbins has appointed the following: Mrs. Howard Bradford of Arlington, Mrs. Charles Holyoke of Medford, Mrs. Daniel C. Dennett of Winchester and Mrs. Walter L. Dodge of Woburn.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk by Ralph Gordon Snodgrass of 13 Elmwood avenue and Margaret Louise Flaherty of 13 Edgemoor road, also by Joseph Cargill Kennedy of Wiscasset, Me., and Alice Skillings Cook of 2 Rangeley.

Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols and Treasurer Harrie Y. Nutter represented Winchester at Tuesday's meeting of the Massachusetts Collectors' and Treasurers' Association at the Parker House in Boston.

GRADE CROSSING

Further Hearings in Superior Court

The petition of the Board of Selectmen for appointment of a special commission to consider abolition of the grade crossing at Winchester center was again argued in the Superior Court for Middlesex County, in East Cambridge, on Nov. 8. The Selectmen had procured and filed in court the resignation, on account of ill health, of Prof. George F. Swain, the only surviving member of the special commission which acted in this matter several years ago.

After the danger of the situation had been emphasized at some length on behalf of the Board of Selectmen, the Court declared that the situation at Winchester center was very bad, and that undoubtedly public safety does require abolition of this crossing at grade.

It was pointed out by counsel for the Boston & Maine Railroad that a legislative commission was working on the proposed revision of the laws relating to grade crossing abolitions, and that during the summer Mr. Justice Whiting, of the Superior Court, after hearing arguments on the petition of the City of Worcester for abolition of certain grade crossings within its limits, had postponed that matter until late in April, 1930, when the sittings of the 1930 legislature would presumably be finished. Counsel for the railroad therefore urged that the petition of the Town of Winchester be continued to a date not earlier than April 20, 1930.

The Selectmen, however, though consenting to postponement until after the report of the legislative committee should be filed, pointed out that this report was required to be filed not later than Dec. 4, 1929, and that if after filing of the report a revision of the laws by the 1930 legislature should be unlikely and if extended hearings on the abolition of the grade crossing were to be held during 1930, it would be desirable to begin them early, and to know of it in ample time to bring before the Winchester Town Meeting in March such aspects of the matter, if any, as might require action by the Town. The Selectmen therefore urged that the postponement at this time be only until a date much earlier than April 20, 1930. This request was granted by the Court, and the matter was continued until Jan. 17, 1930.

MRS. FANNIE AYER WELD

Mrs. Fannie Ayer Weld, a life long resident of Winchester and widow of George A. Weld, died Thursday morning, Nov. 14, following a long illness. She was the daughter of Albert and Caroline (Styles) Ayer and was born in 1857 at Symmes Corner in the old Ayer homestead on Sanborn street. Her father was for many years Town Clerk and Assessor.

Mrs. Ayer attended the public schools and was graduated from the Winchester High School. She took an active interest in civic and religious affairs, held membership in the Women's Fortnightly Club and was Senior Deaconess of the First Baptist Church, of which she had been for 53 years a member.

She is survived by two sons, Dr. Stanley B. Weld, a practicing physician, of Hartford, Conn., and Alfred O. Weld of Winchester. A brother, Albert Eugene Ayer of Winchester, also survives with four grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from the home of her son, Alfred, on Myrtle terrace, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS. AGNES M. TOBIN

Mrs. Agnes M. Tobin, wife of John M. Tobin of 36 Wildwood street, passed away early Wednesday morning at her home following a brief illness.

Mrs. Tobin was 39 years of age and was born in Marlboro, the daughter of James F. and Margaret (Williams) Fitzmaurice. She was educated in the Somerville schools and was graduated from the high school in that city where she made her home for 20 years before coming to Winchester about three years ago. She was a member of the Philomathia Club of Boston.

Surviving, besides her husband are four children, Ethel 9; John 7; Alice 5; and Edith 3. Her parents, living in Somerville, also survive with six sisters and two brothers.

The funeral will take place Saturday morning from the late residence with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 11 o'clock. Interment will be in Holyhood Cemetery, Chestnut Hill.

MAYNARD HERE TOMORROW

Winchester meets what looms as another strong opponent tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 when the Red and Black eleven entertains the Maynard High football team on Manchester Field. Maynard is playing for the first time in Winchester and its win over Marlboro on the holiday and a previous tie game with the strong Leominster team marks it as a likely outfit. The visitors are reputed to be a good passing team with plenty of defensive strength.

MISS HENRIETTA HATCH

Funeral services for Miss Henrietta Hatch, retired school teacher who had recently been living with her nephew, Frederick S. Hatch of 20 Jefferson road, were held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 10, in Littleton, N. H. Interment was in the family lot at Glenwood Cemetery there. Miss Hatch was born in Littleton, April 27, 1857 and taught school in North Andover for about 30 years.

LEGISLATIVE COMMISSION READY

Soon to Report on Grade Crossing Elimination Plan for State

The special commission created by the Legislature to consider the subject of grade crossing elimination, throughout the State, which has been practically at a standstill in Massachusetts for 15 years, has reached an agreement, soon to be reported to the General Court, to provide for the systematic resumption of this work along an entirely new plan.

Under the agreement, the initiative will be taken by the State Department of Public Works, with the plans subject to the approval of the Department of Public Utilities, and the cost of the work, over which there have been endless controversies in the past, will be borne equally between the railroads and the State.

The share of the Commonwealth will come, not from general taxation, as was formerly the case, but from the so-called highway fund, made up of the revenue derived from the automobile.

The Public Works Department becomes an important part of the plan, for its oversight over the highways and automobiles will often reveal plans by which grade crossings may be eliminated by a relocating of highways at a far lower cost than would perhaps be possible by the building of underpasses or overpasses.

That there will be a united demand for the adoption of the recommendations of the special commission, of which Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Newton is chairman, now seems evident. The railroads are understood to have agreed to the new proposal, especially as grade crossings have always been a source of heavy expense to them.

FOUND STOLEN TRUNK IN WINCHESTER

To Patrolman John Hanlon of the Police Department goes the credit for the recovery of a trunk, stolen from the Hotel Savoy in Boston sometime previous to Tuesday afternoon.

Officer Hanlon was enjoying a day off Tuesday and was returning from Arlington to Winchester in the afternoon when his attention was attracted by two men who were apparently examining something in the bushes at the side of the road near the Robinson estate on Cambridge street.

Leaving his machine, Officer Hanlon investigated and discovered a trunk, containing books, papers and other personal effects. He removed the trunk to Headquarters where an investigation disclosed the fact that it was the property of William D. Spencer of Greenfield, a former Williams student, now studying at the New England Telephone School in Boston.

Further investigation found the trunk to have been stolen from where it had been left in the Hotel Savoy. The books and papers were apparently intact, but a check-up found some clothing and other articles missing. Mr. Spencer ordered the authorities to ship the trunk to his home in Greenfield.

MONDAY NIGHT WHIST CLUB

Mrs. Agnes Morrison Quinn was the hostess on Tuesday evening of this week at her summer home at Silver Lake, Wilmington, to the "Monday Night Whist Club" of Winchester.

Owing to a previous serious accident to one of their members, it was in the form of a belated Halloween party. During the evening a pleasing concert was rendered by an orchestra, with solos by Grace Hushen, Mabel Foley and Beede L. Sloan of Milford, N. H.

Just as the party was about to partake of a bountiful luncheon, Lila B. Green, in behalf of the club presented Miss Nellie M. Sullivan, one of their most popular members, with a beautiful Cameo pin, as a token of their esteem.

The house was tastefully decorated with Halloween decorations and at a late hour the party motored to Winchester.

WINCHESTER GIRLS STILL IN HOCKEY RACE

The tie game between the Stoneham and Winthrop field hockey teams played yesterday at Stoneham leaves the Winchester High girls in a top tie with Winthrop for Southern Division honors, each having scored 5 points. Melrose, with one more game to play, has a chance to make it a triple tie by defeating Swampscott. Winchester has lost only one game, to Melrose and has played one tie.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

The Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League will assemble on Thursday morning, Nov. 21, at 10 o'clock at the First Congregational Church for an all-day sewing meeting.

Mrs. DeCamp and her committee have planned for a large amount of work, and as there is much to be accomplished, it is hoped that every member who can possibly find it convenient, will attend. Everybody is welcome. Bring a box lunch. Hot coffee will be served by the committee.

The fact that R. A. "Al" Somerby of Winchester and "Sammy" Payne of the B. F. Keith Company are in charge of the entertainment program for the annual Elk's Charity Ball ensures those who attend an evening of real pleasure. Both are busy with arrangements for the show and promise some real attractions.

WINCHESTER "GOALIE" ON HONORARY TEAM

Caroline Mercer, Winchester High School's sterling little field hockey captain, was chosen as goal-guard on the honorary All-Boston eleven at the final team try-outs Wednesday afternoon at Newton. She was the only one of the local girls to survive the preliminary try-outs and was selected for her position by a group of competent judges of hockey play.

"Puggy" as she is known to her friends and team-mates, is the second Winchester girl to be selected for the honorary team, Dorothea MacKenzie, captain of last year's unbeaten, untied Winchester eleven, having been chosen right wing in 1926 and again in 1928.

Miss Mercer has been "goalie" on the high school club for the past two seasons and has also been a member of the school's championship tennis teams. She is popular with her school and team-mates, all of whom were delighted to learn of her selection for All-Boston honors. Modest and retiring, "Puggy" was much more concerned with her team's failure to defeat Melrose for its division championship than she was with her own good fortune.

She has played fine hockey for the past two years and especially this fall her steadiness in the Winchester net has meant much to an inexperienced team. Her playing during the final try-outs came in for much praise not a single penalty being called upon her during the afternoon.

"Puggy" is a senior at high school and is reported as heading for a school of physical education another year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mercer of 37 Oxford street.

CHORAL SOCIETY MAKING PROGRESS

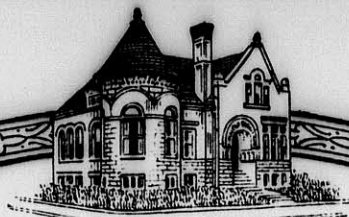

Recent rehearsals of the Winchester Choral Society make it convincingly apparent that the organization is rapidly developing into a musical group of real merit. At present the chorus numbers approximately 85 with by far the larger number of its members, singers of long experience. Mr. J. Albert Wilson, director of the society, has announced that the chorus will shortly reach 100 voices and plans are already underway for a series of concerts, the first of which is to be given shortly after the New Year.

Feeling that the Society is in the strictest sense a community affair and believing that there are many in and around Winchester who will be glad to lend financial support to the project, associate memberships have been created and a campaign is now in progress to enroll those interested.

Associate or supporting members shall, upon the payment of $4 annual dues, receive two tickets for each of the Society's concerts and have their names inscribed upon the programs for the events. Tickets may be secured from Mr. Wilson, from President Clifford Cunningham, from any member of the Society or at the STAR Office.

DRIVE MAKING PROGRESS

The annual appeal of The Salvation Army in Winchester is making good progress according to reports received by Mr. Vincent P. Clarke, chairman of the committee of citizens in charge of the campaign. Mr. Charles E. Barrett, treasurer, reports that, up to last night, the sum of $955 has been subscribed. In the remaining period of the appeal, the committee plans to make a special effort to insure success. The chief activity of the campaign now, is the house to house canvass being made by uniformed Salvationists each bearing a credential letter signed by Mr. Vincent P. Clarke as chairman.

CARE OF SICK PART OF BETTER HOMES MOVEMENT

Contributory to the better homes movement in Massachusetts has been the Red Cross instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, under the auspices of local Red Cross chapters. According to the annual report of the American Red Cross, now made public, there were 3193 Red Cross certificates issued in this State in the last year to pupils completing the courses and passing the tests. Several times that number, however, took this instruction at least in part without trying for the certificates.

Most of the pupils have been maturing high school girls, with a smaller number of classes composed of housewives. Along with simple and practical ideas of the care of the sick, they have obtained new conceptions of the importance of sunshine, fresh air, cleanliness and wholesome living. One feature of the work is the handling, bathing, dressing and feeding of babies and young children with a view to safeguarding their health. Women and young girls who were previously bewildered and helpless in the presence of illness have come out of these classes helpful and self-reliant, prepared to be of service.

The Red Cross annual report shows that during the fiscal year which ended June 30, there were 66,049 students under instruction, or a gain of more than 6358 over the previous year. They were instructed in small groups in 3218 classes. Red Cross certificates were issued to 42,234 students completing the course.

CAROLINE NICHOLS ELECTED CAPTAIN OF W. H. S. HOCKEY TEAM

Caroline Nichols, who played a hard swift game at half back this year on the varsity was elected captain of next year's field hockey team after the game with Watertown, Tuesday. She made the varsity team during her Sophomore year and has been steadily improving ever since, until everyone is sure that her playing makes her worthy of becoming captain. She has shown very good sportsmanship during her hockey career and her teamwork with the other girls is remarkable. Caroline is a very fast runner and has been a main cog in the Winchester defense. Beside starring in hockey, she excels in other sports.

AXEL EDWIN BERGSTROM

Axel Edwin Bergstrom, a former widely known Winchester business man, died Saturday night, Nov. 9, at his home, 222 Washington street, after a long illness. While in Sweden, following his retirement from active business, he underwent a serious operation last February and had been in failing health ever since. His condition became worse during the summer and he returned to Winchester during the latter part of August.

Sunday, Oct. 27, his condition became critical and his son, Axel E. Bergstrom, Jr., was wired to return to Winchester from the business on which he was engaged in Stockholm. The latter started at once and was able to catch the S.S. Aquatania sailing out of Cherbourg for New York, arriving in Winchester, a distance of more than 5000 miles, 22 hours before his father's death.

The deceased was 68 years old and a native of Gottenburg, Sweden. When 21 years of age he came to this country and settled in Boston, subsequently living in Denver, Col., and Chicago before coming to Winchester in 1897. He established himself as an upholsterer and cabinet maker, remaining in business here until April, 1928, when he retired and returned to Sweden. His shop was for some years at Main and Thompson streets, later being at 15 Thompson street. His long business career had made for him a wide circle of acquaintances and friends among Winchester people in all walks of life.

Surviving are his wife, Hulda C. Bergstrom, and one son, Axel Edwin Bergstrom, Jr., both of Winchester. Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. A. W. Sundel of West Roxbury. Bearers were Joseph M. Donahue, Patrick F. Maguire, George Nowell and Charles Johnson, all of Winchester, and August and Ernest Johnson, both of Belmont. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

FIREMEN MADE FINE STOP

No Water at Scene of Hot Roof Fire

A fine stop by the Winchester Fire Department, aided by two pieces of apparatus from Woburn, last Sunday forenoon, undoubtedly prevented the destruction of the house on Ridge street, owned by Francis R. Henderson of Cambridge and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Heiligman.

The local department was notified of the fire by phone at 11:44 a. m. and found upon arrival that the blaze had started under the eaves at one corner of the house. The fire had made good headway before the arrival of the apparatus and the fact that there is no water available in the district lent added difficulty.

Chief David H. DeCourcy quickly ordered the ceiling of the room, above which the fire was blazing, to be ripped out in order that the men could better get at the flames. Two chemical tanks from the Woburn apparatus, which had answered a box alarm, and the Winchester department's five tanks were unlimbered and after a stiff fight of about an hour and 30 minutes, the last of the flames were quenched, apparently from chimney sparks.

The fire was confined entirely to the corner of the roof where it started and the damage was astonishingly small. Not a pane of glass was broken and only the one ceiling, ripped out to get at the fire was destroyed. It was hard to believe, while standing on the first floor of the house, that so threatening a blaze had raged above.

Mr. Henderson expressed himself as delighted with the efficiency of the firemen while the insurance adjuster was amazed at the slight damage done.

Efficient handling of the automobile problem by Patrolman James E. Farrell and Motorcycle Officer John Hogan of the Police Department won the commendation of the Fire authorities.

MRS. AVERY OPENS HER LECTURE COURSE

On Tuesday, Nov. 12, Miss Eunice Avery gave her first Current Events lecture at the Wyman School Hall.

Miss Avery spoke of her visit to India, made during the past summer and promised in her succeeding lecture to give a more detailed description of the fascinating places she saw and interesting people she met.

In India today the question most discussed is whether India is well or badly governed under British rule. Miss Avery firmly believes that whatever affects the British Empire affects America also, and England's two problems today are her unemployment and her problem in India.

Like England we, too, have our problem in our administration of the Philippines for although they are much smaller than India, yet the difficulties are much the same.

In Delhi when Miss Avery was there the temperature every day ran up to 133 degrees for it was the dry season in India and everywhere the heat was almost unbearable.

To hear the names alone of the places Miss Avery visited was to feel the mystery and magic of the East. Udaipur, with its women in their orange and red saris, Jaipur with its rose-colored buildings like a city of the Arabian Nights, Agra and Delhi and the Vale of Kashmir, loveliest spot on earth.

From Kashmir a pass 9100 feet high led to Benares and on to Allahabad, most sacred city of India. Benares in many ways is India itself, the India the world should not lose.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

No man can buy, borrow, beg, or steal a smile, neither is it any good until given away.

Any man who can forget the things he doesn't care to remember, has a good memory.

All men can do more faithful work with encouragement than under the lash of criticism.

Laughter is that sound one hears when he chases his hat blowing down street.

The man who takes the first prize, is he who when driving his car is in collision with another and politely admits that he alone was too blame.

We hope that those football fans who bring their dogs to football games on Manchester Field will in the future keep the animals leashed during the actual playing periods. The small army of canines wandering about the gridiron on the holiday added little to the enjoyment of either players, officials or spectators.

As we stood at the exercises at the war memorial in the morning of Armistice Day and later attended the Legion frolic and dancing party during the evening, we were struck by the apparent lack of general interest in the efforts of the veterans to fittingly commemorate one of the really significant holidays of the year. Both the formal exercises at the monument and dancing party were well conceived and in their own right worth the interest the boys asked us to take in them. We're wondering why there wasn't more community support. We surely haven't so soon forgotten the promises we so eagerly made our veterans when they returned to us from France.

The underpass at the railroad station has been a feature of importance connected with every plan for the grade crossing elimination. Now that we have apparently run into a wall so far as the crossing elimination is concerned, the question arises whether we should include with it abandonment of the underpass? We have so few crossing points on the railroad throughout town that such can be utilized, either for foot or vehicular traffic, should be taken advantage of. While no one would care to live on Bacon street and see it turned over to automobile trucks, when one considers that there are but four crossing points from Montvale to West Medford, the truck drivers have got an argument, especially with the highly congested traffic in the center. No one will cross the tracks at the station today and climb the two long flights of stairs. They had rather walk to the center and back. And yet this is an important crossing point and one much safer than that at the center. If, as appears to be the situation, we cannot at this time further the elimination of the center tracks, why not carry through the long projected underpass at the station? The Town has appropriated $15,000 to back up its desire to eliminate our death trap in the center—why not use it now, since we can do nothing at the center, in constructing the station crossing? It would at least relieve considerable foot traffic from the center and provide a feature of convenience for everyone in town.

COMMENDS LOCAL MUSICAL HOURS

To the Editor of the Star.

Winchesterians have long been justly proud of the music in their churches; indeed the town is famous in and out of Boston for Mr. Wilson's Episcopal Choir of a few years ago. Recently the organ has come to the fore. Many of the churches, new in building, are new in organ also—and the organs are such as to attract attention among men of the trade.

The Unitarians, with their excellent new instrument, gave a series of highly interesting recitals last winter, and now, Friday evenings at five, the Baptist Church opens its doors to the music. One cannot commend too highly these hours of music; they furnish perfect antithesis to the exertion of the day and prepare one wholesomely for the work, or rest, of the evening. The music is, of course, the raison d'être of these recitals, but as quiet thoughtful relaxation and recreation they have no equal. It is hoped that as many as possible will take advantage of them.

OBSERVED 25th ANNIVERSARY

Relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Murphy gathered at their home, 28 Salem street, last Sunday evening to aid the happy couple in observing the 25th anniversary of their marriage by the Rev. Fr. Madden in St. Mary's Church. The Murphy home was prettily decorated and refreshments were served. Among the many gifts received was a large purse of silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy have made their home in Winchester since their marriage. Mr. Murphy having been for more than 20 years in the employ of the Eastern Felt Company. They are the parents of five children.

ROTARY CLUB

Thursday's session of our club was gratifying in several respects, particularly in the matter of attendance. All but two of our own members were present and we entertained 12 guests and visitors. There appears to be a good prospect that we can register a 100 per cent meeting as we did last week. We strive to make November a 100 per cent month.

For his services in procuring the speaker this meeting we are indebted to our good friend Lawrence Bliss, secretary of the Rotary Club of Arlington. The address of Mr. Bruce Snowdon, research representative of the National Association of Dyers and Cleaners was teeming with interest. He took as his subject "Cellulose Acetate." This perhaps means little to the average layman, so we will hasten to explain as well as our limited understanding will permit, that acetate is a chemical which is coming into wide use as the basis of a new line of fabrics and dress-goods. These goods seem destined to furnish a most acceptable substitute for cotton and silk. They wear well, they are washable, the special dyes with which they are treated produce marvellously beautiful effects.

They may also be treated so as to exhibit various lustres from dull to extremely brilliant, and as draperies the effect is most satisfactory.

And all this at a price no greater than would be paid for a good grade of silk. If we may judge from the samples which Mr. Snowdon displayed there is a great future for this class of fabrics.

We would further say that the uses of this wonderful chemical, cellulose acetate, are by no means confined to the production of cloth fabrics. As an example of its employment in a widely different field we would state that it is a component of the non-shatterable glass which is being so generally adopted by automobile manufacturers, etc.

At the close of his remarks Mr. Snowdon was called upon to answer an avalanche of questions which he did with unflinching courtesy.

VISITING CLUB ENJOYED MUSICAL PROGRAM

Mrs. Robert F. Lybeck entertained 36 members of the Art Lovers' Club of greater Boston yesterday afternoon at her home on Everett road. A musical program was presented with introductory remarks by the club president, Mrs. James Cohen.

Mrs. Cohen briefly outlined items of interest in the lives of the great composers; Tchaikovsky, Cyril Scott, Richard Strauss, Dvorak, Selim Palmgren, Claude Debussy and Edward MacDowell, characteristic selections from the works of each being played by club members or guests.

Mrs. Hazel Dodge of Arlington sang Tchaikovsky's "Yearning" and Mrs. Louise Clark Harris of Danvers played as a piano solo his "Humoresque." Strauss' "Traumerei" in piano arrangement was played by Mrs. Lybeck. Mrs. Harris played the "Dance Negre" by Cyril Scott.

Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me" was sung by Mrs. Dodge and his favorite "Largo" from the "New World Symphony" was played by Mrs. Edith Bessie Greene of Watertown, violinist. Mrs. Harris played Palmgren's "Bird Song" as a piano solo.

Mrs. Lybeck played the popular "Clair de Lune" by Debussy and his "Reflets dans L'Eau" was played by Mrs. Harris. The program was concluded with MacDowell's "Clover," (words by Margaret Deland) sung by Mrs. Dodge, and his "To a Water Lily" and "The Eagle," both played as piano solos by Mrs. Lybeck.

Following the music, dainty refreshments were served. The house decorations were yellow chrysanthemums and bachelor buttons. The assisting hostess with Mrs. Lybeck was Mrs. Dorothea Lamb of Somerville.

Fire Headquarters was notified on the afternoon of the holiday by Mr. J. W. Gorman with Firemen Alexander MacKenzie and Frank Duffy responded and found upon arrival that the animal had fallen into an abandoned well hole, approximately ten feet across and ten feet deep. The horse was prevented from moving by a heavy stone which had fallen upon him. The firemen set to work at once and succeeded in raising the stone with a chain-fall. Fireman MacKenzie entered the hole and lashed the animal's feet together to prevent kicking. After cutting a slope into the hole, a rope was passed about the horse's body and the animal was pulled out with the assistance of about 25 male members of the big crowd of motorists, attracted by the accident. The horse was apparently unhurt and was contentedly cropping grass when the ambulance of the Animal Rescue League, summoned by telephone, arrived at the seat of activities.

RIORDAN—LEAHEY

A wedding having Winchester interest took place in St. Joseph's Church, Medford, Tuesday, Nov. 12, when Miss Margaret Theresa Leahey of 100 Damon road, Medford, daughter of Mr. Timothy Leahey of 34 Grove street, became the bride of Charles F. Riordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Riordan of 34 Mt. Vernon street, Charlestown.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Denis A. O'Brien who also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. Miss Molly Ward, soprano, of St. Joseph's choir, and Charles Doherty, tenor, of West Medford, a relative of the bride, were soloists. Violin obligatos were played by Thomas Gigliotti of Winchester. Rev. Fr. Thomas McDonough of Beaumont and Rev. Fr. James L. Davey of Lawrence were seated in the sanctuary. The church decorations were chrysanthemums and palms.

Miss Leahey was given in marriage by her brother, Edward T. Leahey of Woburn, and was attended by Miss Alice V. McCauley of Winchester. Charles Riordan of Charlestown, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Daniel T. Leahey of Winchester, brother of the bride; George P. Doherty of Medford, brother-in-law of the bride; Timothy Riordan of Belmont, brother of the bridegroom; and Leo Graham of Chestnut Hill.

The bride wore a dress of antique ivory satin with an ivory tulle veil, madonna style. She carried an antique ivory covered prayerbook and lilies of the valley. Miss McCauley wore a dress of sky blue crepe with a French turban hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses and larkspur.

A reception was held following the mass at the home of the bride and a wedding breakfast was served by a caterer. The house decorations were white chrysanthemums and evergreens. Music was furnished by an orchestra.

On their return from their motor wedding trip to Northern New England and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Riordan will reside after Jan. 1 at 34 Grove street, in the Wedgemere district of Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of the Winchester High School and has been associated with her sister in the insurance and real estate business in Boston for several years. She is a member of the Kuni-a-Misii Club of Winchester. The groom is connected with an insurance and bonding company as an adjuster with headquarters in Worcester. He is a member of the sophomore class at Suffolk Law School and is also a member of Bunker Hill Council, K. of C.

SOME WINCHESTER VISITORS IN HAWAII

A most interesting letter has been received by Rev. S. W. Adriance from his son, Mr. Robert I. Adriance, who is spending a year's leave of absence from East Orange, N. J. as teacher in the Punahan School of Honolulu, Hawaii. In a letter of Oct. 18, he tells of the arrival in Honolulu, of steamships bound for the world conference of engineers in Japan. They stayed two days at Honolulu to give visitors an opportunity to see the sights.

Among the visiting party were some Winchester people. A most prominent engineer, holding high office was Mr. Charles T. Main, president of the Institute of Consulting Engineers. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Alice A. Main and with them was Dr. George N. P. Mead of Winchester, who was taking a well-earned vacation after many years of medical practice. It was a rare pleasure of the Adriance family and the Winthingtons to see Winchester friends.

We met them on Wednesday in the afternoon at the amazingly rich and beautiful Royal Hawaiian Hotel of pink cement, surrounded on three sides by tropical groves and gardens, and facing Waikiki Beach on the fourth. On one of the lanais (porches) we sat about tables and had, in place of tea, a delicious pineapple punch, with fancy cakes and of course had a good chat. Dr. Mead seemed to be having the time of his life.

The hotel gave the visiting engineers a native feast in the evening, followed by a native entertainment of music and hulas in a moonlit grove facing the sea. They were taken on other trips Thursday morning. We found them on the deck and contributed our leis to the many they already had. Mr. Main being swathed almost to the ears. Besides other friends contributing the engineering host gave them leis and as Mr. Main is president of the Institute of Consulting Engineers of course he got some extra ones.

Dr. Mead said that he had never experienced such hospitality in his life as the islands gave. That last 15 minutes were wonderful. The Royal Hawaiian band played the best-loved Hawaiian songs, the band glee club of men and women sang, those on the boat threw paper streamers to us on shore until they and we were connected with hundreds of vari-colored paper strands. Then the whistle blew, and slowly out into the tropical sunset the boat started, the final number of the band and glee club being, of course, "Aloha Oe," the last phrase slowly ending with "until we meet again."

I wonder if there is any other place in the world where vessels arrive and leave under such appealing conditions. The party will have a wonderful time in Japan, as the Japanese Government is making the engineers its guests and will show them everything.

WINCHESTER OBSERVED ARMISTICE DAY

She first sang two Italian songs, "Zompa" by Giannini and Tosti's "L'Ultimo Canzone." These were followed by the popular number, "Share Your Lips With Me, Cherie" by Jesse Crawford. Sustained applause brought the artist back to the stage where she was presented with a handsome bouquet of roses by Commander Parkhurst on behalf of Winchester Post.

As an encore Miss Shear sang the song hit, "My Hero" from the Chocolate Soldier by Victor Herbert. Her voice is one of much tonal beauty and power while the ease with which she overcame the mechanical defects of the flag draped hall established her adaptability beyond doubt. She sang without effort, her high notes being taken with power and the same fidelity to pitch apparent in her middle and lower registers, the tones of which were full of vibrant color. Her pianist, Miss Priscilla Maude Gove, enhanced Miss Shear's effectiveness with artistic accompaniments. There was no doubting the audience's pleasure.

Jerome's Red Ramblers, a jazz band much in demand, furnished the music for dancing and commencing shortly before 11, several excellent dancing and musical specialty acts were presented under the direction of "Jimmy" Burke, favorite radio singer of WEEI. Refreshments were served in the rear of the hall by members of the Legion Auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. Frederick S. Mitchell, president.

The local Legionnaires began their day's activities in the morning when a detachment of 30 men in uniform, under Comdr. Richard Parkhurst, with their colors and color guard appeared in the big Armistice Day parade in Woburn. Returning to Winchester, the veterans marched behind the Boy Scout Band, "Sammy" Main, drum-major, to the war memorial where effective exercises were held at 11 o'clock. At ease, with colors trooped in front of the statue the Legionnaires stood in silence while nearby church bells tolled for the two-minute nationally observed period. As the final stroke chimed the veterans came rigidly to salute while a Y-D. firing squad under the command of Sgt. Stanley M. Mobbs fired three volleys. Then as civilian heads were reverently bared "taps" was blown by Scout Trumpeter Wellington Stevens and echoed from the trees near the high school by Scout Trumpeter Paul Wentworth. That was all. There was no speaking, nothing to break the solemn silence except the tolling chimes, crashing musketry and silvery notes of the trumpets. Yet with all there was a simple note of sincerity which was much more impressive than a more elaborate observance might have been.

The color bearers for the day were George Donaghey and Anthony M. Cullen and the guards, Russell Carroll and Theodore Lawson.

As the ranks formed for the return march to the Legion headquarters Miss Marjorie Hayden played patriotic selections on the Downes' memorial chimes of bells at the Unitarian Church. Sgt. William H. Rogers was in charge of the police detail which included Patrolmen James E. Farrell and Motorcycle Officer John Hogan.

In the afternoon the Legionnaires attended the Watertown-Winchester football game on Manchester Field, marching to reserved seats in the cheering section behind the Boy Scout Band which made an excellent impression in both its appearances. Before entering the stands the flags were trooped while Trumpeter Stevens sounded "colors." All stood with bared heads while the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

The Legion Committee for the day, functioning under the general supervision of Comdr. Richard Parkhurst, was headed by former Comdr. Allan W. Wilde and included G. Warren Johnston, Conrad Larson, Sewell Dunton, Thomas J. McKee, Arthur Cameron, Ralph Hatch, Harry Bigelow, John Cullen and Nathan Thumim.

UNIVERSITY THEATER

With the greatest cast of stars that ever contributed to the making of one motion picture, "The Hollywood Revue" a huge musical extravaganza, comes Sunday to the University for four days. Stars of stage and screen, stars of vaudeville, opera and radio, stars of all the wonderful amusement fields of the twentieth century, in one huge parade, with 20 song hits, abundant comedy, tuneful melodies and dialogue that sparkles, to say nothing of the largest dancing chorus of beautiful girls that ever dazzled an audience are features of this entertainment.

With a complete background of the legitimate stage, "His Glorious Night" starring John Gilbert, which opens Thursday for three days presents an interesting study in personalities. The story comes from the pen of Europe's most prolific playwright, Ferenc Molnar, whose sophisticated writings have made him an international figure in the theatre world. "His Glorious Night" is a screen adaptation of his famous play, "Olympia." Katherine Dale Owen, who plays opposite Gilbert, is one of Broadway's newest stars.

While "Big Time," the companion feature, is back stage in vaudeville story, it is one of human interest and this angle has been concentrated upon. Lee Tracy and Mae Clarke, both Broadway stars, head the cast.

WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM WON AT BEDFORD

The fast stepping Winchester Town Team gave the hitherto undefeated Bedford Athletic Club a 6-0 trimming last Sunday afternoon on Page Field, Bedford. A crowd of about 400 royal rooters accompanied the locals to the game.

It was a real battle all the way. Bedford presenting a big husky team, the members of which were very confident of the outcome. Winchester had the better offense and kept the ball for the most part in Bedford territory. It was the third quarter before the home eleven succeeded in making a first down.

The field was swampy and very rough, making trick running plays out of the question. Following intermission, Winchester kicked off and soon forced Bedford to kick, short to its own 35-yard line. Two rushes netted the Town Team 5 yards and on third down "Jocko" Prue, behind splendid interference, skirted the Bedford right end for 30 yards and a touchdown. "Archa" Amico failed to kick the goal.

Winchester narrowly missed a touchdown in the second quarter when Fleming intercepted a Bedford pass deep in his own territory and ran past all opposition. The referee ruled that he had gone outside at the Bedford 30-yard line and the dash went for nothing, though it gave the crowd a real thrill.

Defensively Winchester's "Nutsy" Amico was the bright light of the matinee. He was in every play and blocked three kicks before being forced out of the game with a recurrence of an old leg injury.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

"All at Sea," now playing at the Orpheum Theater, Malden, is a comedy of rollicking entertainment that you can't afford to miss. As the title suggests this picture is a sea-going affair, though it all takes place, not on the ocean, but in a naval training station. The second feature on this program is another rapid-action episode of "Pirate of Panama" starring Natalie Kingston.

"Black Magic," the thrill infested drama which comes to the Orpheum for the first three days of next week, strips South Sea life of the background of idealism with which it has been surrounded and, against a panorama of savagery, superstition and death, unfolds a story of heroic love and courage, under the shadow of a diabolical witchcraft plot. John Holland, Earle Fox and Henry B. Walt-hall have leading parts. In "Alias Jimmy Valentine" the second feature on this program, William Haines plays the role of the slick, good-looking young safe cracker. As companions he has Karl Dane and Tully Marshall. The story offers an unique opportunity to combine laughter with pathos and drama, an art at which Haines is a past master. Leila Hyams plays the leading role opposite this comedy trio.

WHAT IS CEDAR HILL?
By Marie Dresser

(Adapted from "Ten Thousand Girls Cornelia Warren's Heirs" by James Ernest King)

Long before the Girl Scouts had blazed their first trails of discovery and adventure nearly every child in the city of Wincham knew "Cedar Hill" as an abode of all out-door delights.

Now thanks to certain provisions of Miss Warren's will, Cedar Hill, some years after her death, has entered into a still broader, more continuous, and more varied usefulness. A great part of the estate has become outright property of the Massachusetts Girl Scouts. Under the direction of a committee of which Mrs. James I. Storrow is chairman, the land and buildings have been developed and adapted in a dozen new ways that enlarge their attractiveness and serviceability. Now Cedar Hill has become unique in charm and value among properties held by the Girl Scouts anywhere in the nation.

Even Girl Scouts could not be expected to maintain this home, without endowment, as a charity. Nor have they undertaken to do so. The women who come to the mansion house are paying guests in the most independent sense attracted by Cedar Hill's natural beauty or by reason of their interest or participation in the work of Girl Scouts. In the case of young Girl Scouts themselves it is definitely prescribed that they are not to use the house. When the girls come to Cedar Hill they have free range of the estate save only the mansion house. Here in this mansion house met the first Chapter of the Golden Eaglets that is known to exist in the United States.

The mansion is characteristic in every sense of a certain familiar Victorian manner of building which claim little beauty but which is ever associated with care of construction.

When the Girl Scouts came into possession of Miss Warren's property the question was broadcast through the State "Who will help furnish the Cedar Hill home?" Many towns and individuals responded to this appeal. These contributions of towns, authorities and individuals were utilized by Mrs. Irving F. Marshall, who furnished Cedar Hill tastefully and charmingly.

But the greatest charm of Cedar Hill home is the varied view its tall windows give of trees, flowers, hillside and woodland. The only aspect of "formal gardening" is the trim brick pathway, and the classic cut shrubs of the maze, a copy of the maze of Hampton Court Gardens. Beyond the formal garden is a farm garden under the direction of the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

Behind the gardens is Cedar Hill's greatest surprise. The interior of a hillock has been hollowed out into a deep crater, which in turn has been given the semblance of a primitive amphitheater. From a narrow arena, there arises row upon row of grass-bedded stone-lined seats. Here and there benches cluster close about any of a dozen stone fireplaces, so charred by flame and smoke as to be quite evidently the relics of a dim and epic past. This amphitheater is called the Council Bowl where the girls may gather for the accustomed rights of the campfire.

From the Council Bowl one precedes to Cedar Hill's more remote regions. Before going far one comes upon the fine swimming pool, lined with concrete. Leaving the swimming pool one soon reaches the woodland. In this forest is the true adventure land of the Girl Scouts. And here the summer camps are maintained. The Winchester Council has built in this woodland a beautiful log cabin for the use and convenience of Winchester Girl Scouts.

No endowment exists for any phrase of the Cedar Hill enterprise. In every possible manner—by rentals, by festivals sales and public and private subscriptions—the work must find its financial support. One cannot doubt it will find it. Such a combination of out-door advantages as Cedar Hill possesses, trim gardens, forests, and good swimming pool—constitute so complete a rural paradise within reach of the city that one feels sure that the Girl Scouts of Massachusetts have entered into a permanent, not a temporary heritage from Cornelia Warren.

MYSTIC CHAPTER OF THE MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION HOLD MEETING

The Mystic Chapter of the Mothers' Association held their first meeting of the season on Wednesday, Nov. 6. Mrs. Donald Heath, the president, presided. Miss Ethel Johnson of the Department of Labor and Industries was the speaker, her subject being "Current Child Labor Problems."

FEATED BY MELROSE

Dropped First Game of Season by 2-1 Count

The Winchester High School girls' field hockey team was defeated for the first time this season by the Melrose team on the latter's field last Friday 2-1. Winchester got away to an auspicious start by scoring a goal during the first minute of play. Muriel Carr, center forward and Ruth Wadleigh, left inside, dribbled the ball down the field, after which Janet Nichols shot the opening goal. The game was all Winchester during the first few minutes which followed the opening whistle.

Shortly afterward, Melrose rallied, however, and Elizabeth Fillmore, center forward, tied the score by shooting a hard, swift shot past "Puggy" Mercer, Winchester's captain and goalie. Winchester had several chances to make goals during the remainder of the first half, but just didn't seem able to "make the grade."

The girls had many shots at the Melrose goal, but their aim was poor and the ball invariably went on either side of the uprights.

At the beginning of play in the second half the ball zig-zagged up and down the field, neither team being able to score because of the fine defensive work of the opposing secondaries. Ruth Monroe, Melrose left inside, finally beat Captain Mercer, after a hard fight, scoring the winning point for Melrose.

Winchester apparently experienced a complete reversal of form after the tying Melrose tally and faded rapidly toward the end of the game. The pass-work of the winners was superior to that of the locals, especially after half time, and the failure of the Winchester girls to fight for the ball proved costly. Coach Centerville's charges are much better than than they showed at Melrose.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds defeated the Melrose seconds 2-0.

Caroline Abbott and Winifred Williams scored for the locals.

The summary of the first team game follows:

WINCHESTER GIRLS DEFEAT WATERTOWN

The Winchester girls' field hockey team defeated Watertown team 1-0 Tuesday on Manchester Field. The girls immediately took the ball down into Watertown's territory and kept it there consistently during the first half of the game. Janet Nichols gave a hard straight shot from the just inside the striking circle for the only goal of the game after receiving a long pass from her sister, Caroline Nichols, half back.

Watertown played a better game in the second half and if it had not been for the clever work of "Puggy" at goal, it is probable that Winchester might not have come out on top. One of the prettiest examples of "Puggy's" quick foot and stick work came in this game. A Watertown girl dribbled the ball past everyone, until only "Puggy" opposed her. Within five feet of the goal, Mary O'Neill, Watertown's center forward, shot for the goal, but "Puggy" brought her foot back and swung it forward, timing it just right so as to send the ball far out side the striking circle.

The summary of the game follows:

NEW YORK AUDIENCE HEARS WINCHESTER POET

Marion Perham Gale, well known local poet and editor of "Poetry World," a journal of contemporary verse, criticism and review, published monthly by Henry Harrison in New York, read selections from her recent volume "Vignettes in Violet" before a capacity audience at the Green Witch Inn, New York City, on Friday evening, Nov. 8.

The affair was sponsored by the Vagabonds, a group of modern poets who make their homes in Greenwich Village. Mr. Saxby Penfold of Oxford, England, professor, theologian, lecturer and author of an elaborate treatise entitled "The Marriage of Two Nations, acted as honorary chairman of the occasion.

The gathering numbered many outstanding contemporary writers including Howard MacKintley Corning, Marie Lehrs, Eli Seagle, Henry Harrison, Elizabeth Ashley and others. Mrs. Gale's work was enthusiastically received by an audience that overflowed the large interior of the Inn through the open door to the sidewalk. She closed her program with her stirring war poem, "God's Challengers," which has met with such universal recognition throughout this country and in Europe.

Mrs. Gale was booked to read on the previous Monday with Maxwell Bodenheim, Benjamin Musser and Don Blanding before the Grub Street Club. New York's oldest literary organization, but was called to Montpelier, Vt., where an aunt had met with a serious automobile accident.

MANY MOTOR CORPS DRIVERS RESPOND

Because they have a year-round program of non-disaster service to crippled children, disabled veterans and the aged, the Volunteer Motor Corps of the Boston Red Cross Chapter was one of the easiest to call out for today's drill. Mrs. Bowen Tufts, Captain, was reached at her home in Winchester and immediately began to call her Lieutenants. They in turn called the drivers on their lists. Only a few of the drivers could be used in the drill, but Mrs. Tufts says that she has more than 100 women enrolled who could be brought into service if necessary. For the ambulance, which is also manned by Volunteer drivers and attendants, she called six volunteers to take turns, in order that they all might have experience. Mrs. Tufts calls attention to the fact that all Red Cross Volunteer Motor Corps drivers are trained in first aid.

Miss Katherine Carlisle of this town was one of Wheaton's stars in the field hockey game which the Norton collegians won from Radcliffe, 8 to 1, last Saturday afternoon at Cambridge. Opposing "Kay" at right halfback for the Radcliffe team was Miss Mary Carr, a classmate and manager of the hockey eleven on which Carlisle played at high school.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Department Conference of the 7th and 8th Districts will be the feature of the regular meeting of the club on Nov. 18, and will be held in the Unitarian Church. Luncheon will be served at noon. The Fortnightly is to be hosted and the officers of the State Federation and District Directors will be guests of honor. The morning session will open at 10 o'clock, and the afternoon session at 1:45. Mrs. Nathaniel E. Smith, director of the 7th District, will preside at the morning session, and Mrs. Philip H. Tirrell, director of the 8th District, will preside at the afternoon session, when a program of music will be in charge of Mrs. Idabella H. Winship. A good attendance is expected, as a most interesting meeting is promised.

American Home Committee
The initial meeting of this committee will feature a fashion show, sponsored by Filene's. Only a limited number of clubs will be privileged to present this timely feature this year, so the Fortnightly is favored indeed. The changing styles make this opportunity much to be desired, and there is no doubt that the members will take full advantage of it. This meeting will be held in the Parish House of the First Congregational Church, on Friday afternoon, Nov. 22, at 3 o'clock. The members will be required to show membership tickets at the door, and may invite one guest free of charge.

Conservation Committee
The next health walk will be on Thursday morning, Nov. 21. It is hoped that an increased number will take advantage of these walks.

Education and Legislation Committees

Arthur B. Lord, Supervisor of Special Schools and Classes, Massachusetts State Department of Education, a well known speaker on matters dealing with child development and professional education, will be the guest speaker at an afternoon meeting, to be held on Thursday, Nov. 21, at 3 o'clock. This meeting is to be sponsored by the Legislative and Education Committees, both of which are interested in the subject of Mr. Lord's address, "The Federal Education Bill." As this topic is of peculiar interest to all parents, as well as to teachers, a good attendance is expected. The vital principles of child training, the problem of the older children, the whole system of public school education, will be interesting factors in the discussion of the topic. The meeting will be in Fortnightly Hall. Chairman of the Education Committee, Mrs. Aurilla L. Shapleigh, and Chairman of Legislation, Mrs. Gladys R. Wilson, will serve tea at the close of the meeting, assisted by their respective committees. All who are interested in this matter, whether members of the club or not, are most cordially invited to attend.

WINCHESTER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A meeting of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce was held at its office, 5 Common street, Thursday evening, Nov. 7, with a large number of the officers and directors present.

Several matters of importance were discussed and among them was the unfortunate condition of the town clocks as time keepers. We have heard many complaints of the variation in time and that the public could not depend upon them because of so much uncertainty and difference in time.

We hope that our honorable Board of Selectmen will get the needed money to give our town the fairly correct time and let us hear the clock in the church steeple toll the hours as they pass by.

It was the opinion of those present that the widening and straightening of Main street from Symmes corner to the Medford line is a matter of much importance. The land can be secured now at a much lower price than if we wait until later.

We went on record as favoring the American Legion in their drive for closing all stores on Armistice Day.

Mr. Nathaniel Nichols reported as to the welfare work of the Elks and the town.

Subjects of discussion, such as the placing of an officer at the corner of Mt. Vernon and Washington streets on Sunday morning from 10:30 to 12:30 and improved parking spaces for automobiles, a matter of much importance to our merchants, were taken up.

The rebuilding of South Border road by an appropriation from the State is a much discussed situation and we hope it may be attained next spring.

The width of the sidewalk at the Baptist Church corner was discussed. The underpass is causing considerable discussion among the citizens of the town and they are asking for some means of getting from the East Side to the West Side without climbing the stairs at the station.

WINCHESTER GIRL WON WELLESLEY TENNIS CROWN

Miss Janet W. Smith of Winchester, repeated her victory of last Spring when she won the tennis singles championship of Wellesley at the annual fall field day of the college last Saturday.

Janet, a sophomore, faced a classmate in the championship round, defeating Miss Alice Rigby in a three-set match, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4. The Winchester girl was awarded two cups, one for her spring victory and one for her win last Saturday. She also received a cup, emblematic of her victory with Miss E. F. Smith in the college doubles.

Mrs. Archie O'Connell entertained the members of the Winchester Social Club at a whist given in her home on Elm street last evening.

WATERTOWN TOO GOOD FOR WINCHESTER

Wins Holiday Tilt from Local Eleven 21-6

Watertown High School's speedy, hard-hitting football team won its Mystic Valley League game from Winchester, 21-6 Armistice Day afternoon on Manchester Field before a crowd of nearly 5000 people.

The game was all Watertown, the visitor's speed and alertness more than offsetting a weight advantage enjoyed by the locals. The light Watertown forwards, outcharged and outfought the bulkier Winchester linemen, opening huge holes in the Red and Black frontier through which Farmer and McNamara went for substantial gains. The Scarlet passing game was a constant thorn in the side of local players, Watertown's passer, Johnson, being the finest tosser of aerials seen on Manchester Field in years.

Aiding and abetting the visiting quarterback, who threw from either a set position or while on the run, were two great receivers in Captain Sherman and McDermott, the Watertown ends, both capable of holding anything upon which they got their hands. The Watertown lateral passes were no less effective and many a college club might well take a page from Coach Ward's boys in the matter of making the "sideways" tosses go.

It must be admitted that the visitors' passing game was made doubly effective by the sloppy covering of the Winchester backfield. The flat passes which Watertown employed at times might have been intercepted by alert wing backs and in some cases could have been converted into long gains, if not touchdowns. The Watertown boys seldom bothered to protect their passes in case of interception.

Winchester's running game was rendered almost useless by the fierce charge of the Scarlet linemen. Ghirardini, speedy halfback who called signals on Monday, never could get going while the criss-cross and double pass plays, so effective at Melrose, were stopped by Watertown before they got fairly underway. The locals, as usual, didn't open up until late in the game when their solitary touchdown came as the result of a 49-yard pass from Lee to Hitchborn. The fact that the Watertown second team was on the field at the time doesn't detract from the class of the play, it was a beautiful pass and a fine bit of catching.

Just previous to the game, Winchester Post, American Legion, escorted its colors, behind the Boy Scout Band, to reserved seats in the cheering section. The flags were trooped while trumpet Wellington Stevens sounded "colors" and the big crowd stood with bared heads as the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." It was an impressive moment.

Watertown's first goal came quickly. Winchester received and Lee was forced to punt the kick being returned to the Watertown 40 yard line. Straight football took the ball to Winchester's 35-yard line where Johnson shot off a pretty pass to Captain Sherman who was forced outside at the Winchester 15-yard line. Four rushes were necessary to make a first down inside the 5-yard line and two more smashes at the center of the Winchester frontier sent Farmer over for the touchdown. Johnson kicked the goal.

Midway through the second quarter two pretty flat passes from Johnson to Sherman worked the ball up to Winchester's 20-yard line where Johnson got away for a first down on the 10-yard marker. A splendidly executed lateral pass taken by McNamara resulted in the second touchdown and once more Johnson kicked the goal.

A triple pass play took the ball to Winchester's 20-yard line as the quarter was ending and Farmer crashed to a first down inside the 10-yard marker on the first play thereafter. A lateral pass crossed the 5-yard line, but a line plunge was halted abruptly as the half ended.

Shortly after the beginning of the third quarter, Winchester made a great stand and took the ball on downs in the very shadow of its goal line. Here Ghirardini dashed off tackle for 20 yards, being almost clear when cut down from the side.

Winchester was forced to kick and just before the end of the period drew a costly 15-yard penalty for slugging which placed the ball deep in its own territory. After the teams changed goals, another lateral took the ball to the 15-yard line where Godfrey sifted through a screen of interferences to down McNamara. Johnson got 5 yards at Winchester's right end and Farmer plunged through a gaping hole in the left side of the Winchester line to be stopped by Emery a couple of feet from the goal.

Two rushes were necessary to take Johnson over for the score and once again the great little quarterback booted over the extra point at placement.

Lee replaced Newman as the game sped along to a close and long "Edie" Hitchborn went in for "Buz" McNeil at end. At once Lee shot off a flat pass which Hitchborn completed for a gain of 20 yards, but Winchester was forced to kick, Lee's boot traveling to midfield.

Here the Watertown second team entered the fray and Welburn intercepted a looping pass, running inside midfield before being thrown. Lee dropped back and shot off a beautiful whizzing pass, far down the field to the Watertown 10-yard line where it was partially deflected by a Scarlet secondary, but only to be taken by Hitchborn at the 5-yard line and converted into a touchdown. The try at goal failed and the game ended soon after.

FROST—SNOW

The marriage of Miss Alice Snow, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Sydney Bruce Snow of Chicago, to Mr. John Burr Frost of Montreal, Can. was solemnized in Windsor, Vt. on Monday where Dr. and Mrs. Snow have their summer home. Only a small family group was present. Miss Snow attended Miss May's School in Boston and the Brimmer School in Cambridge also the Packer Institute in Brooklyn, N. Y. She went on a trip around the world with her mother last year. Dr. and Mrs. Snow and their family are former residents of Winchester. They are well remembered in Boston, as Dr. Snow was once minister of King's Chapel, following pastorates in different places, among them Montreal. He was recently inducted into office as president of Meadville Theological School, now a part of Chicago University. Mrs. Snow was Miss Margaret Kennedy of Cambridge before her marriage.

STRUCK BY AUTO UPON ALIGHTING FROM ELECTRIC

Miss Catherine Dolan of Warwick place was painfully injured about 7:45 last Friday evening when she was struck by an automobile after alighting from an electric car, in charge of conductor Chester Hibbs, which was stopped on the Black Horse hill turnout.

The car which struck Miss Dolan was a Chevrolet sedan which was going south on Main street and which was driven by Alvah S. Anderson of 1 Utica road, Woburn. Anderson picked Miss Dolan up and, assisted by Ernest Clark of 83 Washington street, Medford, took her to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy. She sustained scalp wounds, multiple contusions and a possible fractured rib.

Anderson told the police he did not see Miss Dolan because of the glare of the trolley's headlight.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

The Red Cross Roll Call is now well under way. The volunteer workers have been busily engaged in making complete canvasses of their streets. Often many calls are needed to find the resident at home. No street is completed till a call is made, the Red Cross membership ogered, and we earnestly hope accepted. We want a window cross in every home in Winchester.

Next week we shall print a list of workers in the Star. Mrs. Hadley of the Treasure Box Gift Shop, will be glad to take your membership if you wish to join in the town.

Winchester's quota is $2000. Last year we received the Honor flag for attaining it. So help us to receive the 1929 flag.

THE HAGUE: THE WORLD'S CONFERENCE CAPITAL

The Owen D. Young Plan Conference which will be held soon at The Hague brings Holland's capital and one of the world's peace capitals into the news limelight again. The Hague is in southwestern Holland about two miles inland from Scheveningen on the coast.

The tourist on his first trip to Holland might mistake The Hague for a transplanted French city, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. There are no signs of windmills or quaint Dutch caps or wooden sabots or any of the colorful things that first visitors to Holland expect to see even in the cities.

EPHANY WOMEN STAGE BAZAAR

The big two-day holiday bazaar, staged by the Church Service League of the Parish of the Epiphany, opened yesterday in the church parish house, gay with decorations, all suggestive of the harvest and Christmas seasons. Evergreen, smilax, fragrant pine boughs and dried cornstalks made a charming background for colorful dried oranges, bitter sweet and flaming Chinese lanterns. The attractive tables and booths early took on a busy aspect, auguring well for the ultimate success of the bazaar.

Both floors of the parish house are utilized, most of the booths being arranged in the large hall with the antique shop downstairs. Several special features are being offered in connection with the bazaar, including movies, a band concert, tea, dinner, a doll show and "Hoodsies" for the children, the last named in charge of Miss Harriet Jackson.

Yesterday's doll show, under the direction of Mrs. Henry K. Fitts and Mrs. Truman Hemmings, aroused much interest and will be repeated this afternoon. Dolls of every description, collected by Mrs. Fitts, are on display. Movies under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wightman were presented at 3:15, 4 and 8 o'clock yesterday, and are being repeated today. "The Misses Rebecca Jackson, Annette Randlett, Gretchen Cleaves and Muriel Little assisted with the shows. Tea and supper are being served this afternoon, as yesterday at 4 and 5:30 with supper at 6 and 7 o'clock, the whole under the direction of Mrs. John W. Johnson.

Among the many attractions of the bazaar is the group of girls in old fashioned costumes assisting with the always popular grabs. Included are Nancy Jackson, Margaret Best, Harriet Garner, Honor Hemmings, Ann Kimball, Eleanor Boyd and Laura Puffer. Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Taber the DeMolay Band of Medford gave a concert program last evening under the direction of C. W. Taber. Much interest was evoked by the appearance yesterday for the first time of an attractive church calendar, done in sepia on pebbled paper and showing many attractive exterior and interior views of the church. These calendars were for sale at all booths and are available again today.

The bazaar is to be concluded this evening with the presentation of a farce given by men of the church under the direction of Dr. Robert Blackler. Included in the cast are Bowen Tufts, Dr. Robert Blackler, Ellsworth Snow, Holbrook Ayer, Allan Wilde and P. Stewart Newton.

Mrs. Bowen Tufts headed the general bazaar committee as chairman with Mrs. Louis de Rochemont and Mrs. Sylvester Taylor, treasurer; and Mrs. Lyman Snow, publicity. The artistic posters were done by Mrs. A. G. Marchant, Mrs. Truman Hemmings and Mrs. Frederick Fitts.

MINISTERS' WIVES ASSOCIATION

The Ministers' Wives' Association of the Lynn District of the Methodist Episcopal Church held their fall meeting in Winchester on Nov. 19. They were delightfully entertained by Mrs. H. W. Hook at the parsonage of the Crawford Memorial Church on Dix street. Mrs. Allen of Arlington had charge of the program and she presented Dr. W. R. Leslie of St. Mark's Church, Brookline, as the speaker. He gave an interesting account of his recent visit to the Orient, presenting graphic pictures of Japan, Korea, India and China. The society was highly favored by the presence of Prof. James R. Houghton of Boston University, who thrilled his hearers with his wonderful voice. Professor Houghton was generous with his selections and his music was a rare treat to all who heard him.

Refreshments and afternoon tea were served and a delightful social hour was enjoyed. The weather was perfect and there was a large attendance. Among the visitors were the president of the society, Mrs. C. C. P. Hiller, Mrs. J. M. Leonard, a native daughter of Winchester and Mrs. A. B. Gifford, wife of the former pastor of the Winchester Church.

The soprano soloist at the Sunday morning service in the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church is to be Miss Estelle Simonds of Orient street.

WINCHESTER CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce at its last meeting voted to send the following letter to the cities and towns that border on, or are located near the Middlesex Fells Reservation, in relation to the reconstruction of what is known as the South Border road.

The suggestion originated among the officers of the District Commission who are in control of the Middlesex Fells property.

In support of this proposition letters were sent to the following cities: Malden, Melrose, Medford, Everett, Arlington, Stoneham, Woburn and Winchester.

Gentlemen:

It has come to the attention of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce that the united action of the several cities and towns nearby or bordering on the Middlesex Fells Reservation, through their Representatives and Senators at the State House, if supported by the Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Selectmen, may succeed in getting an appropriation made by the State for the reconstruction of what is known as South Border road. This is one of the longest roads in the Fells Reservation and winds its way from Forest street in Medford to the Mystic Valley Parkway in Winchester. It is one of the most attractive sections as here Nature has been most lavish with beautiful scenery.

The original construction of the road was not of a durable nature and it is especially uncomfortable to travel on during the winter months and more so when the frost is coming out of the ground in the springtime.

We are sending this letter to you asking you to join us in making an appeal to your Senator or Representative to assist us in getting an appropriation from the State at this time to take care of this road as it is much needed improvement.

We feel that it will be a great benefit to all cities and towns in this vicinity.

Respectfully yours,
George F. Arnold,
President

MEETING OF THE DISABLED WAR VETERANS' GROUP

A meeting of the Disabled War Veterans' Welfare Group was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase, 3 Lakeview terrace. Reports of the many varied activities of the group were given. Plans were made for a Christmas party at the Bedford Hospital and for gifts to be sent to other veterans. Three new members, completed by Mrs. Charles E. Corey were sent to the hospital at Rutland. A gift of $25 towards the price of a new organ in the hospital at Northampton was voted from the treasury. Plans were made for a luncheon to be given by the group on Dec. 16 at the Luncheonette, Boylston street, Boston.

Tea was served by Mrs. R. E. Carlisle and her committee with Mrs. C. H. Young pouring. Perhaps the most gratifying thing which happened during the meeting was the reading, by the secretary Mrs. A. K. Comins of the following letter:

U. S. Veterans' Hospital,
Bedford, Mass.,
Oct. 28, 1929

Disabled Veterans Welfare Group,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Friends:
We are indeed grateful for your ever increasing interest in the patients at Bedford. The many plans which you have made and executed for their entertainment and comfort the past year are most appreciated, not only by the men themselves, but by the staff at the hospital. It has meant a great deal to the men to have your continued interest. We always feel that if there is any special need which the hospital cannot meet, the Winchester Group will find a way to take care of it.

Most sincerely,
Wm. M. Dobson,
Medical Officer in Charge
Evelyn Davis, Director
Red Cross Service

MRS. MORTON SOLOIST

Mrs. Pearl Bates Morton was the soprano soloist at the spring luncheon of the Professional Women's Club held in the State Ballroom of the Hotel Statler on Nov. 19. She was accompanied by Dolores Rodriguez on the piano. The guests were Mayor and Mrs. Malcolm E. Nichols, Mr. Henry Herrick Bond, former assistant secretary of the U. S. Treasury and Mrs. Bond; Miss Ada Comstock, president of Radcliffe; Mr. Wilbur S. Burleigh, manager of the broadcasting of Station WEEI; Edwin Gisburne, announcer of WEEI and also a number of players from downtown theaters. Approximately there were 800 guests.

METHODIST CHURCH DAY

The ladies of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church observed the monthly Church Day by an all-day meeting on Nov. 14 at the home of Mrs. A. P. Welburn, 9 Ridgely road. At 11 o'clock the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society held its regular meeting, the vice-president Mrs. H. W. Hook in the chair. Miss Pray gave a most interesting report of the recent convention at Wesley Church, Worcester. While the meeting was going on, the ladies were busy working for the Winchester Hospital.

At 1 o'clock a Thanksgiving luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Bent, Mrs. Bancroft, Mrs. Fimmimore, Mrs. Miner and Mrs. Hodge. The tables were beautifully decorated with Thanksgiving colors, and the delicious food was daintily served.

After the luncheon came the business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society. It was voted to send the usual contribution to the Morgan Memorial. Mrs. C. H. Brown reported that she represented this church at the Deaconess bazaar at the Copley Plaza and she carried a generous contribution of money from this society. The reports of the heads of the various tables at the recent fair showed that a substantial sum had been added to the treasury. Mrs. Dunning asked for Thanksgiving contributions of supplies, jellies, or clothing for the Medical Mission, 36 Hull street, Boston and the Cooper Community Centre, 36 Williams street, Roxbury. Mrs. Welburn gave a fine report of the Ladies' Aid Union which was held in Wesley Church, Salem, in October.

Much regret was expressed at the absence of the President, Mrs. O. W. Billings, who has been confined to her home for several weeks by illness. There was a large attendance at the meeting and altogether it was a pleasant and profitable day. A vote of thanks was given to the hostess for her gracious hospitality.

Yes, our attendance record has improved, and we may be pardoned if we are a bit elated at the result of our efforts this fall. November has produced two 100 per cent meetings and there are indications that we shall register another for Nov. 21.

Our club has appointed delegates to attend the 5th Annual Conference of the New England Council, which is being held at the Hotel Statler in Boston this week. This conference will be of vast importance to the commercial interests of this section of the country and ties in with the National Survey which President Hoover is conducting at this time.

Rotarians are at pains to keep themselves informed on current events and have a lively interest in commercial and cultural activities which are planned for the future welfare of themselves and the world at large. Nor are they averse to a lesson from the past. The struggle of our forebears and the methods which they employed in making possible the wonderful civilization which we enjoy are of vital importance to all.

Being this in mind Vice President Loring took it upon himself to focus our attention on certain features which prevailed in the process of educating the youth of the mid-nineteenth century, or later. We were of course delightedly entertained and properly edified, and so too, if appearances count, were the actors in the drama. The exercises to be sure were strongly tinged with humor, but we all know that without this element any schoolroom, past, present or future would be dull indeed. The names of our entertainers were not announced, but whoever they are, they merited and received the cordial approval of Winchester Rotarians and their visitors.

We wish to remind our members that there will be no meeting of the club during the coming week on account of the holiday. Our next regular meeting will come on Thursday, Dec. 5 at the usual place, and don't forget that Winchester looks marvelously well in the 100 per cent column. Attendance percentage for Nov. 14—100 per cent.

Paeon Matthews

The public is cordially invited both to the organ recital and the Thanksgiving service.

WINCHESTER GIRLS PLAY MELROSE

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team plays Melrose this afternoon at 3:15 at Newton in the first game of the series to decide the championship of the Northern Division of the Greater Boston Interscholastic League. The winner of today's match will meet Wintthrop High on Monday for the title.

The above bookings were adopted at a meeting of the principals and coaches of the three above schools, held on Wednesday. It was decided to play the games at once because of the danger of inclement weather. Wintthrop drew a bye and as a result will mark time while Winchester and Melrose fight it out today.

BOARD OF APPEAL DECIDES AGAINST PROTESTANTS TO WATER TOWER IN SYMMES PARK

In a finding made public yesterday morning Messrs. Ralph W. E. Hopper, Ralph S. Vinal and George Chandler Coit, acting as the Town Board of Appeal, denied the appeal of Harry A. Friberg and four others from the permit granted in August of this year to the Water and Sewer Board for the erection of a steel tank in Symmes Park.

A hearing on the matter was granted Sept. 20, at which time representatives of the Water and Sewer Board, the Planning Board and the appellants were present.

In its finding the Board of Appeal stressed the fact that the tank having been built and located did not remove the possibility of revoking the building permit if it could be shown that the structure is a nuisance or a menace to the health, safety or welfare of individuals or harmful to property in its immediate vicinity.

Since an appropriation of $15,000 for the erection of the tank was voted at the town meeting in March, 1928 without discussion and without a dissenting vote, the Board of Appeal found the town fully responsible for the tank's present location. As the Board could find nothing in the law which would justify them in directing that the permit for the erection of the tank be revoked, it had no recourse save to deny the appeals to this effect.

The Board, however, in its finding, made the following statement:

"It is most unfortunate that the Water and Sewer Board chose this small site in the heart of a rapidly growing single residence district, and it is regrettable that the Planning Board did not use the influence of its strong personnel to resist to the utmost this assault upon a zoning plan which had already proved to be of great value to the town.

We think that the subject was of such great importance that it was the duty of the Planning Board to make an independent investigation as to the necessity of placing the tank in this spot, and to present the issue to the Town Meeting regardless of the action of others concerned in the matter.

Little or no consideration appears to have been given by anyone to the interests of land owners in the vicinity or to the duty of the town to deal fairly with them, and even from the standpoint of economy it seems probable that the saving of expense will be more than offset by the decrease in the value of taxable property and retarding of development which will result from the placing of this objectionable thing in the centre of a district restricted to private homes."

The Water and Sewer Board, in selecting the present site, had met with the Planning Board which in addition to the two lots of land on which the tank is set recommended the taking of three additional lots, in order that the structure might not be too close to any individual dwelling. This, however, was opposed by the Finance Committee, unwisely in the opinion of the Board of Appeal, and both the Water and Sewer Board and the Planning Board abandoned their original recommendations and permitted them to be over-ruled.

From the outset, the Board of Appeal found, it seemed to have been understood by all concerned that the appearance of the tank on its present site would be objectionable and all the preliminary reports recognized this fact. There is justification for the belief that the present location was selected not from absolute necessity, but for reasons of economy and convenience.

In closing its lengthy finding the Board of Appeal recommends that if practical the tank be relocated in a less conspicuous and objectionable site, or that the Town acquire sufficient additional land about it so that the suggestions for improvement made by the Water and Sewer Board can be carried out.

WOBURN HERE THANKSGIVING

The big home game of Winchester High School's 1929 football schedule will take place Thanksgiving morning at 10:15 when the local eleven will meet Woburn High on Manchester Field. While no championship is involved, the game between these two bitter rivals is bound to be hard fought and full of thrills from whistle to whistle.

Neither Winchester nor Woburn has had a successful season and the best the Tanning city eleven can hope for in victory is a tie with Winchester for the cellar position in the circuit standing.

Comparative scores mean little or nothing when the Red and Black mingle with the Black and Orange, but on the basis of the showing both clubs have made against the same teams, Winchester has a slight edge.

Winchester has won from Arlington, a team which defeated Woburn, but on the other hand Woburn has a tie game with Wakefield, which won from Winchester. The local advantage appears in their superior showing against Melrose and Watertown, teams which were able to bury Woburn.

Coach Mansfield hopes to be able to start his strongest lineup against Woburn and believes his charges can win if they will take full advantage of the offensive play with which they are equipped. Even against such teams as Watertown and Melrose Winchester has flashed at times an all but irresistible offense. Let the Red and Black start clicking on the holiday and Woburn will have plenty to worry about. Last year's game was won by Woburn 26 to 6, and each club has won two of the four games played since Coach Mansfield assumed the football reins at Winchester.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

Session Dec. 10 Will Consider School Question

Warrants for a special town meeting were issued this week. It has been deemed necessary to take immediate action upon the pressing lack of school accommodations, and on Tuesday evening, Dec. 10, the town meeting representatives from the various voting precincts will assemble to decide what is to be done. The meeting, according to the warrant, will transact no other business other than that applying to the school accommodations.

According to current report the meeting is called to put through action relative to the erection of a Junior High School. Three articles appear upon the warrant; first, to see what action the Town will take to provide additional accommodations for pupils above the sixth grade; second, to see if the Town will establish a committee for the same purpose, and if it does not consider present accommodations adequate to consider what further accommodations should be provided, with their location and cost, and third to see if the Town will provide temporary accommodations.

This matter of a Junior High School has already been before the Town on previous occasions, and at every meeting thus far the proposition has been turned down. In fact at the last special meeting called for that purpose it was turned down several times during the bitter fight put up by its advocates. Plans for such a building were drawn as early as 1921.

Opponents to the proposed school are very numerous, notwithstanding the apparent confidence of the advocates in their ability to put it over. Much opposition has been aroused over the evident desire heretofore shown to have the school willy-nilly, wanted or not, and previous statements to this effect never served to cool off the heat of opposition.

Advocates of the Junior High point to present conditions, citing the two-plateau system instituted in the High School this year and the over-crowding of the Wadleigh Grammar School. The other side lay these conditions to effect and blame school authorities with deliberately fostering the over-crowded buildings to force the erection of the proposed school. They say that the elementary school program was not properly handled and that good, usable buildings were scrapped unnecessarily; if the High School or the Wadleigh School is over-crowded, let the Town enlarge them. Proponents to the scheme declare that the Junior High is the only answer to the educational problem now looming over the town; that a larger Grammar or bigger High School cannot meet it. They feel very confident, it is reported, that they can enrich the educational properties of the Town by the erection of such a school.

Much criticism has been heard on both sides, and while it seems evident that Winchester is willing to enlarge either its Grammar or High School, the argument seems to center over the Junior High. Some parents are incensed over a reported talk advocating the Junior High School given pupils at the Wadleigh building this week, and feel the children should not be told that the Town needs and must have such a school. They point to the former master of the school, who they say publicly stated that he did not think a Junior High School a necessity.

On the other hand, proponents of the Junior High say that is the only thing Winchester can have; that it is the up-to-date scheme of education and the Town is behind the times without one. Its erection, so it is reported, will eliminate any addition to either the High or Wadleigh Schools and will make the latter available for either executive offices or a modern cafeteria. Still another proposition for the Wadleigh is to use it for a trade school.

Undoubtedly there will be considerable activity over the proposed expenditure, and in this connection it is said that the Town will be able to appropriate the money outside its debt limit, notwithstanding the questions which have been brought up concerning this phase of the situation.

WILLIAM ADRIANCE

William Adriance, a widely known resident of Winchester, died early Thursday morning, Nov. 21, at his home on Norwood street after an illness of more than two years. He was 49 years of age.

Mr. Adriance was the son of Rev. S. Winchester, and Lizzie (Whitcomb) Adriance and was born at Woodford, Me. For a time before coming to Winchester in 1890 he made his home with his parents in Lowell. He attended the public schools and was graduated from the Winchester High School in 1898.

Entering Dartmouth for an academic course, he became a member of the Chi Phi fraternity and was graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1902. He was associated in business with the Boston brokerage house of Harris, Forbes & Co., Inc.

Always actively interested in the civic and religious life of the community, Mr. Adriance served the town as a member of the Finance Committee and for many years as an election official. He served for a time as chairman of the Republican Town Committee, in the interests of which he was an ardent worker, and was also a member of the State Committee of the Republican Party. He was president of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church and served the society as collector and in other official capacities. For some years he was treasurer of the Home for Aged People. He was a member of the Calumet Club and of other social and business organizations.

In 1909 Mr. Adriance married Miss Florence Park of Winchester who survives him with his parents and two daughters, Miss Joy Adriance of Winchester, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Adriance, a student at Mt. Holyoke College. A sister, Mrs. Frederick B. Withington of Honolulu, and a brother, Robert I. Adriance of East Orange, N. J., also survive.

WINCHESTER BOYS IN PRIVATE SCHOOL CHAMPIONSHIP FOOTBALL TILT

Winchester boys played a prominent part in last Friday's private school championship football match between Newton Country Day School and Brown & Nichols School of Cambridge at the latter's field. The game, which was for the private day school league crown, was won by Country Day in the lineup of which were Thomas and J. Edward Downes, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Downes, of 15 High street. Both boys have been important cogs in the Newton prep school machine this fall, Thomas playing left guard and Edward, right halfback. In last Friday's match the last named was one of Country Day's stars, frequently running with the ball for good gains.

Among the outstanding players on the defeated Brown & Nichols' team was a third Winchester boy, Roland Sherman, son of Mrs. Alma H. and the late Roland Sherman of 14 Everett avenue. Sherman was mentioned in press accounts of the game as one of the principal ground gainers of the Cambridge eleven.

Among the students at Norwich University recently to qualify as an "excellent swordsman" is Joseph Tansey of this town. This is merely another instance of the all around ability which Tansey has displayed during his four years at the Vermont Military College.

WILL ADVOCATE MUNICIPAL GOLF COURSE

The Medford Chamber of Commerce has appointed a special committee to secure the co-operation of all the cities and towns north and west of Boston, to whose residence a public golf course, possibly in the Middlesex Fells would be available.

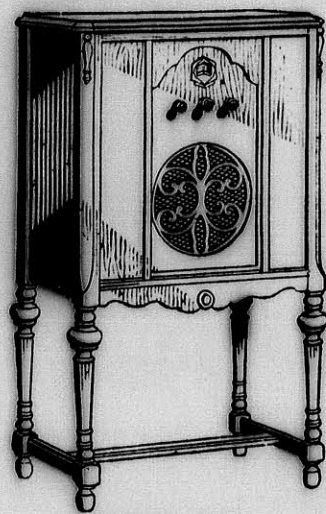

The chamber states that there are some 3800 acres in the Middlesex Fells Reservation, and an 18-hole golf course will, it is roughly estimated, require only about 125 acres. Furthermore the Chamber states that it feels that a public golf links would in no way destroy any of the beauty of this reservation, but would enhance its beauty and make it a more popular gathering place for the public.

Our Representative, Mr. Thomas R. Bateman, was actively interested in a similar project a year or so ago, and while he met with considerable support, he was unable to put the course across.

Former Selectman Thomas F. Fallon, violinist, and James Horn, dancer, were local men among the entertainers at the recent "sports night" sponsored by the Stoneham K. of C. for the high school athletic teams of that town.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Members and friends of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union who braved the inclement weather and attended the monthly meeting, held in the parlor of the Methodist Church, were well repaid for their efforts, as a pleasant and interesting program was presented. Mrs. Sarah Bell who represented the Union as a delegate to the State convention recently held in Springfield, gave a vivid and comprehensive report of that splendid gathering. Mrs. Florence A. Packard, assistant State recording secretary, with the assistance of a map and the flags of many nations gave us a bird's eye view of the progress of temperance and prohibition in many countries all around the world.

The president spoke of a bill which will probably come before the coming legislative session, asking for repeal of the State prohibition enforcement law and the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas it is proposed, probably through a referendum at the polls in November 1930, to repeal the State prohibition law enacted in 1924 and whereas this law alone allows our 6000 State and local police to more adequately against the very source of our liquor supply, manufacture and transportation, and Whereas, such removal, leaving the burden of enforcement to about 50 federal agents, cannot fail to break down our enforcement agencies and create both liquor and general lawlessness.

"Be it Resolved that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Winchester go on record as unalterably opposed to repeal of our State prohibition law of 1924, and to the method employed of the wets, that of repealing a law by inciting lawlessness.

"Be it Further Resolved that we send a copy of this resolution to our State Senator and Representative and ask them to vote no on this dangerous proposal."

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The November meeting of the Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mothers' Association was held Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 13, at the George Washington School.

Mrs. Ernest Butterworth was re-elected Treasurer. Plans for "Dad's Night" Nov. 22 at 7:30 p. m. were announced. The school children will give a Thanksgiving program. The school will be open for inspection by the parents. Refreshments will be served.

"Welfare Work in Winchester" was the program for this meeting. Mrs. Gormley, the District Nurse, gave a short talk of her work. She told that over 4000 cases were cared for last year. Miss Moffett, spoke of the Clinic and the great good they do there. She said 1500 babies came in last year. Mrs. Savage, school nurse, told of her work with the school children. How the effort is made to have each child of pre-school age in splendid condition to start school. Miss Butters told of the general health work in Winchester of the Board. She appealed for toys for their Christmas work. Any contributions can be left at the Town Hall and will be greatly appreciated.

Coffee and sandwiches were served following the program by Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. Clement and Mrs. Lowrie.

HIGH SCHOOL AT SAUGUS TOMORROW

Winchester High School's football team journeys to Saugus tomorrow afternoon for a game with Saugus High at 2:30. The local's showing last Saturday against Maynard makes them favorites to win and Coach Mansfield is especially desirous of further developing against Saugus the offensive drive which his charges showed a week ago.

Winchester's Board of Assessors, Messrs. Harry T. Winn, John F. Cassidy and Frank L. Enman, attended the meeting of the State Association of Assessors, held Tuesday in the State House. Besides the assessors, their clerk, Miss Lillian Hardy, and her assistant, Mrs. Esther Almquist, attended the banquet in the evening.

RED CROSS FIRST AID DOUBLES CLASSES IN TWO YEARS

Owing to the growing appreciation among industries of the value of first aid in the safety first movement, the American Red Cross has doubled its number of students in two years. In the fiscal year which ended June 30, the Red Cross issued 52,596 first aid certificates to students completing the course and passing the tests, as against 24,812 certificates two years ago. A corresponding increase is shown in the number of classes.

In the last year, Red Cross first aid instruction in Massachusetts trained 2831 persons in the emergency treatment of the sick or injured, who passed the tests and received Red Cross certificates.

The national figures do not take into account the thousands who took the course without submitting to the tests for certificates, or the many more thousands who received only a part of the instruction, such as the prone pressure method of reviving the unconscious, as taught to police and fire departments and industries. This alone prepares men in hazardous occupations to deal with gas asphyxiation, electric shock and apparent drowning.

The first aid teaching of the Red Cross tells what to do until the doctor arrives. It calls for no special apparatus, but makes use of the materials at hand. The main emergencies met are resuscitating the unconscious, preventing people from bleeding to death, and handling the injured so as to reduce the danger of shock.

By arrangement with national headquarters, Red Cross first aid is taught to employees of the subsidiary companies of the Bell telephone system.

The Boy Scouts use the same first aid system, and receive Red Cross certificates.

LEE TO LEAD HIGH SCHOOL NINEWest Elected Captain of Track and Field Team

Robert "Olio" Lee was elected to lead this year's varsity baseball team at a recent meeting of the Winchester High School letter players. Lee is a junior and has been the mainstay of the local nine for the past two seasons. He is admittedly one of the best pitchers in the Mystic Valley League and is also a fine outfielder.
He throws and bats right-handed, being a hard, timely hitter. In the game between the All-Mystic and All-Suburban League teams last June "Olio" figured prominently in the 2-1 victory won by the local group, scoring one run and batting in the other, while playing left field. During the past two summers Lee has pitched some fine ball for the Winchester Town Team, his duels with "Art" Cail and "Kiko" Weaver of Woburn being the high lights of the local seasons.

While the baseball men were electing Lee, the letter members of the track team were choosing Kenneth West, '31, to lead the runners and jumpers this spring. West was one of the high point scorers on last year's varsity, being a broad-jumper capable of consistently breaking 20 feet. West is also a good middle distance runner and this fall has been doing well as a member of the high school cross country team.

WINCHESTER COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL NOTES

Orange 6—Blue 6

Tuesday afternoon the first teams of the Orange and Blue groups met in the second of a series of intramural football games. The game was fast from start to finish and it looked as though the Orange lead of 6 points was enough to win the game until Phil LeRoy, with only 30 seconds to play, heaved a 40-yard pass to Hal Estey who streaked 20 yards for a touchdown just as the final whistle blew.

The second team played a good game on the practice field. "Bob" Cotten took the ball over for a touchdown, giving the Orange team a lead of 6 points. The Blue team was able to score only 2 points when the Orange team had the ball at their own goal line.

The teams were as follows:

First Teams	Orange	Blue
Arkie Rogers	Russ Vittinghoff	Charles White
Dave Kenerson	Junior Goodale	Ned Bernard
Bob Cushman	Dud Bradley	Jack Cape
Phil LeRoy
Harold Estey
Balcom Goodspeed
Second Teams	Orange	Blue
Bingham Ballou	Merton Grush	Eugene Haynes
G. Bradley	John Haritz	Geo. Rivinius
Bob Cotten	Henry Wightman	Geo. Billman
Dave Wadsworth
Walter Snow
Chris Young

The mid-term marks of two boys, previously at Winchester Country
Day School, have just been received.
Willard Grush, now at Middlesex School, ranks second in a class of 29.
His marks are as follows: English 77, Mathematics 84, French 85, Geography 85, Nat. Science 83, Latin 96.
"Bill" Wyman, now at Belmont Hill, received three honor marks and two high C's.

A. A. DANCE AT HIGH SCHOOL

During intermission cider and

The chaperons included Mr. Wade

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL.

This is the season to be thankful and the Directors of the Winchester Hospital know that the friends of the hospital will join them in their thanksgiving.

The official notice of the New York registration granted to the Training School of the hospital was received a few days ago.

The letter reads as follows:

The University of State of New York
The State Department of Education
Albany

James Sullivan, Ass't. Commissioner
For Higher and Professional Education
Nov. 15, 1929

Miss H. M. Torrop
Winchester Hospital,
School of Nursing
My dear Miss Torrop:

This is to inform you that the Department is this day registering the Winchester Hospital School of Nursing in its three years' course of study.
Very truly yours,
James Sullivan

J.S.K.

This means that the future student nurses will graduate under the standards required by the State of New York for nursing education. These requirements are among the highest in the United States. When a student has met the demands of this course and passed her Massachusetts State Board examination for nursing, she becomes a registered nurse and can carry on her profession in practically every other state without the demands by that state of further examination.

Very few small hospitals around Boston have met this standard and been granted the honor of registration.

This forward step has been aided and accomplished in many ways. A year ago the hospital was inspected by the New York authorities and plans for the improvement of the training school curriculum were discussed.

The careful oversight of the Superintendent has strengthened the curriculum; the gift from the Rotary Club has made possible the lecture room and library corner; the lantern slides and screen were a gift to the nurses; the Alumnae of the Hospital have given the complete unit of bed, bedside table, etc.; the student nurses through bridge parties, have obtained money for charts and models; two cabinets for linen and supplies for the classroom came from a contribution to the Training School made by the husband of a patient; and the well equipped practical classroom and utility room were accomplished by the efforts of a group of women who met last spring to help Miss Torrop with Training School needs.

The affiliation that Miss Torrop has procured for the students at the Bellevue Hospital in New York City for three months' training in medical work and three months' training in children's diseases, has covered that demand of New York State.

The directors feel that this registration for the Training School of the Winchester Hospital will bring many desirable students who wish to train for the nursing profession and set a high standard for the care that the patients receive.

The directors want also to share with Winchester their pleasure and satisfaction in feeling that the hospital has been of help in time of trouble. This is shown in the letter which follows:

Mr. Harold S. Fuller,

56 Fletcher Street,

Winchester, Mass.

My dear Mr. Fuller:

I feel that I must express to you,
as head of the Winchester Hospital organization, the gratitude Mrs.
Rogers and I feel for the splendid care of our son, James, received while in your institution. We feel that he received the most skillful medical attention possible from your doctors who worked with him.

We cannot praise the hospital's nursing staff too highly for its wonderfully thoughtful and sympathetic care of James. It is our belief that he could not have been in better hands.

We know that everything possible was done for our son, and appreciate also the sincere sympathy which your hospital as a whole extended us in our loss.

Very truly yours,

William H. Rogers

The hospital on the hill stands for service for everyone in time of need.
Its Superintendent and nurses are waiting and ready to answer the call.
Surely these are reasons for Thanksgiving.

soul of man;

Each singing, sighing stately tree fills us with its mystery;

Each living, breathing tree is kin of yours and

They are wood and men are clay; though

Each has its given part on earth to pay.

Trees live and die, trees sing and sigh;

They worship the same God as you and I.

What beautiful, holy symphonies rise from

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Many a man keeps his peace of mind by not giving advice.

Intentions have no value without action.

He who is the last to laugh is often the first to be laughed at.

Any man who stands up for his rights, is likely to hurt the feelings of someone.

Some who are trying to lay up money for a rainy day are too easily fooled by a shower.

Winter is just around the corner and if one can believe the majority of the weather prophets, amateur and professional, the cold weather on the way is bringing with it plenty of snow, sleet, slush and other deterrents to locomotion, both foot and vehicular. Which brings us to the walks on the common. They have long since outlived their usefulness and in the interests of dry feet and sightliness should be replaced with some of those fine granolithic walks being laid here and there about town. To be sure we have one granolithic walk at the easterly extremity of the common, but even its superiority over the other paths doesn't tempt pedestrians to take a special trip to the station for the fun of using it.

In the midst of our personal preparations for Thanksgiving let us not forget our less fortunate neighbors whose enjoyment of the holiday is dependent upon our providing for them from our own abundance. Considerable pains have been taken this year by the local authorities to provide so far as possible something for everyone rather than much for a few. Those of us in a position to help may rest assured that our money or gifts will be properly distributed if given in charge of the recently constituted "Conference of Thanksgiving and Christmas Plans" which is acting as a clearing house for the Department of Public Welfare, the Elks and other organizations which in the past have functioned as individuals, resulting often in the repetition of dinners or gifts.

Two new town meeting members were elected at precinct meetings this week. Monday night Precinct 1 chose Donald R. Waugh of 15 Governor's avenue to fill the vacancy occasioned in its membership by the resignation of George J. Barbour. Mrs. Katherine Rowen of 29 Richardson street was elected in Precinct 6 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Katherine F. O'Connor.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

No meeting of the Winchester branch of the Needlework Guild since its origin here, 20 years ago, has had a finer spirit and more encouraging outlook than that held on Wednesday, Nov. 20 at the new Baptist parish house.

More than 30 members assembled to see the exhibit of warm garments and valuable household articles which had been collected from the 20 directors and their groups, numbering 240 members in all. This was a banner year for generosity and at the close of the meeting 634 articles were sorted and ready for distribution.

The needy families of our community may well rejoice that through this avenue the "island of want is not forgotten by the land of plenty."

Mrs. Harry Sanborn, the president, presided over the meeting and graciously introduced Mrs. Frank B. Tracy the founder of the Winchester branch, who brought a message from distant places where similar work is going on.

Mrs. Eugene Wilde, for many years president and devoted worker, also gave a birthday greeting and a word of encouragement and God-speed. Mrs. Hughes, accompanied by Mrs. Lefavour sang a group of charming songs, which were received with sincere appreciation.

Mrs. Carolyn A. Butters, Executive Secretary of Winchester Welfare Department then gave a most illuminating talk upon the work of helping the needy families in our midst. The town does its share toward the support of those who are unfortunate and destitute, through sickness, accident and difficulty in finding employment. The work is carried on in a spirit of justice and of friendliness, and there is the closest co-operation with the Visiting, Public Health and School nurses as well as with welfare workers in the various churches. The town provides necessities, but it is for the citizens to assist by contributing to the comfort of these families. Especially is the appeal made for toys at Christmas time in order that there may be a joyful gift as well as a useful one as a happy surprise for those whose lives have many shadows.

Tea was served in the Junior room by a group of young women in the church, and all who were there felt that it was a meeting to warm the heart, and stimulate the spirit of good deeds.

ELKS HELD ANNUAL CHARITY BALL

Usual Brilliant Affair in Town Hall—Toast by Fred T. Strachan

With the annual Charity Ball of Winchester Lodge, B. P. O. E. staged last evening in the Town Hall, the early winter social season was successfully introduced. The ball was the same brilliant event as in former years and followed closely the program which has made its predecessors so thoroughly enjoyed.

Under the direction of R. A. "Al" Somerby and "Sammy" Paine of the B. F. Keith Company an entertainment, including several high class acts of professional vaudeville, was presented from 8 until 9:30. Dancing commenced at 10 and lasted until 1 o'clock this morning, music being furnished by Strachan's Elks' Orchestra.

As usual the dancing opened with the colorful grand march, led this year by Exalted Ruler Bernard F. Cullen of Winchester Lodge and Mrs. Cullen. The officers and past Exalted Rulers of the Lodge with their ladies followed in order. Chairman John F. Donaghey, E. L. K., of the ball committee acted as floor director and Dr. James H. O'Connor, secretary of the Lodge, was chief usher. Members of the Lodge served as aids.

At 11 o'clock the dancing ceased while the Elks congregated in the center of the hall for the impressive "toast to the absent brothers," delivered by Past Exalted Ruler Frederick T. Strachan of Winthrop Lodge, past district Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of Massachusetts Southeast. Refreshments were served during the evening by a caterer.

The proceeds from the ball are to go to the fund which provides dinners for the needy of the town at Thanksgiving and Christmas. John F. Donaghey, E. L. K., as chairman of the ball committee was assisted by the following: George H. Lochman, P. E. R., treasurer; Charles A. Farrar, E. L. K., Everett P. Hambly, E. L. K., Thomas F. Fallon, P. E. R., Leo J. Finnegan, Esq., John J. McCarthy, Joseph B. Peel, J. Albert Horn, S. J. Trudeau, James P. Donaghey, John McCarron, Robert H. Sullivan, John J. Murphy, Norman H. Harrold, Frank A. Goodhue, Rufus A. Somerby, William H. Vayo and W. James Horn.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Among the coming interests of the local branch are Guild Sunday at the Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge. Semi-annually all the branches contribute various concert and entertainment numbers to a program which is intended primarily to brighten up and please the patients there. Winchester has again been fortunate in being able to report that Miss Evelyn Goggin, child dancer and rhetoric artist, and Mrs. Mary McGrath, soloist of note, will feature Winchester's part in the day's program. Following the performances which are given in the many wards and open halls, is a refreshments hour which gives the day a real festive touch and causes the patients to begin already to look forward to the next succeeding Guild Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Halligan, an active member of the local branch is working zealously for the success of the Holy whist which she is conducting at her home on Thursday, Dec. 12, for the Charitable Committee of the local branch.

KENNEDY—COOKE

The marriage of Alice Skillings Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Skillings of 2 Rangeley, to Joseph Cargill Kennedy of Wiscasset, Me., formerly of Winchester, took place Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 19, at 5 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, performed the simple ceremony which was attended only by relatives and a few intimate friends. The "Wedding March" from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. Roger V. Pottingell of Winchester.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a wedding gown of eggshell georgette and lace, new style, and carried a bouquet of pale pink roses. Chrysanthemums in many shades made attractive house decorations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and a wedding supper served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Joshua Kelley, 5 Sheffield West. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left at once for Washington, D. C., where they are to make their home for the winter at the Chastelton.

Mrs. Stackpole, Miss Symonds, Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Gillett are past presidents of the Porthian Club of Somerville. Mrs. Tuckett is the present vice-president.

Mr. William R. Baker of 227 Forest street has been drawn by the Board of Selectmen to serve as a traverse juror in the Superior Court at East Cambridge.

CALUMET CLUB NOTES

Owing to the reception given in honor of Governor Allen last Tuesday night at its club house, the Malden Club was unable to visit Calumet in the Mystic Valley League games. The meeting will take place on Monday evening next, Nov. 25.

Owing to the scheduled Mystic Valley match, two of Tuesday nights matches were rolled Monday evening in the Calumet house tournament. It was a good evening for at least two of the bowlers and some excellent scores were made. Frank Higgins placed himself strongly in line for the prize for high total with 390. His string of 144, while particularly good, may be beaten, but it is very doubtful if his total will again be reached this year. Josef Sandberg, with a total of 351 stands a good show of taking the best three with handicap. Other good strings were Dotten's 113, McCarthy's 112 and Hevey's 102. Teams 2 and 18 split even on points, although 18 got the totals by but one pin. Twenty-two took all four from 23.

The scores:

MELROSE ARTIST WORKS WON- DERS WITH "BLACK LIGHT"

About 3000 years ago a very wise but discouraged old man of the Orient wrote these words:

"There is nothing new under the sun."

Today a keen enthusiastic young man of the Occident can show you something new to human vision under the sun—the application of ultra-violet or invisible light to art, a new art, the art of making the invisible visible by invisible means. This recently discovered invisible radiation is called "Black Light," or "near ultra-violet" ray.

In a dark room of his studio in the Back Bay this young man, George L. Hall of Melrose, demonstrates its wonders. He turns a switch. The room is in pitch darkness, and yet objects and pictures glow in all colors of the rainbow. No spot light or phosphorescent paint is used; but there you see, standing in the darkness, a figure with almost flaming hair and dress spangled in glowing radiance. A flash of daylight and you discover that this dress is of thin white cotton material, merely dyed with pale paint. Again the room is in darkness and the invisible ray makes the costume so radiant that you can well understand why it called forth long and loud applause when worn in tableaux given last spring by the School of Fine Arts and Crafts at the Repertory Theater.

First developed in Mr. Hall's studio the use of this black light or ultra-violet radiation is quite new. In the past year it has been used occasionally in the theater to obtain luminous effects, but not until George L. Hall and his assisting artist, F. Gilbert Hills began to develop these effects in both a scientific and artistic way has any one produced the results secured in Mr. Hall's studio.

The visitor, perhaps a prospective customer looking for some "new and different" effect for the stage, night club or show window, is brought into a room lined with posters, pictures and stage properties, containing also a miniature stage completely equipped with a switch and dimmer board controlling the different colors in the light. The foot, border, flood and spot lights. These lights are all scientifically proportioned to reproduce accurately, in miniature, actual stage lighting conditions. Mr. Hall designed and built this himself for use in his lectures and to demonstrate the use of lights and his capacity as consulting lighting engineer. He has also supplied theaters and schools with duplicates for use in working out stage problems.

Such prominent designers of the theater as Norman Bel Geddes, who designed the setting for "The Miracle," and Charles E. Lessing, president of the New York, use Mr. Hall's equipment. Eva Le Gallienne has a miniature replica of the lighting system of her Civic Repertory Theater so that her designers previous to the light rehearsal. Prof. Oliver W. Larkin at Smith College also uses a model in his classes in stage design. The Vesper George School of Art in this city was the first school to appreciate and use one of Mr. Hall's stages. Its equipment is in use all over the country, it being the only existing means of actually duplicating in miniature scale the effects produced by full-sized stage lighting equipment, and he is constantly receiving inquiries about it from all over the world.

In order to lead up to his demonstration of black light, or "near ultra-violet" ray, Mr. Hall will show and explain the beauties and the scientific use and combinations of colored lights on scenes and objects on this miniature stage with blue and green lights, yellow and red lose their brilliancy or are killed completely. By such changes of light, a band of many colored silk is made to pass through many changes of color, fooling the eye completely, as Mr. Hall, sitting beside the visitor, manipulates the switch-board.

To explain these changes, Mr. Hall calls to mind many facts that one has learned in the physics class, as that the perception of color is produced by light rays or waves reflected from objects to the retina of the eye, and that white is the mixture of all colors, and that black is the absence of all reflected rays. As an artist understands and mixes paints on his palette to produce beautiful pictures, so Mr. Hall, being a light engineer, understands his lights and how to mix them to produce beautiful and startling effects on his stage. With a turn of a switch he can change both color and design, make one design take the place of another, or even obliterate pictures.

All lights are turned out. This, in theatrical parlance, is termed a "black-out." While no ray of visible light enters the room, the visitor suddenly finds himself surrounded by weirdly glowing objects and pictures, as if it were the witching hour of midnight on Hallowe'en. A ferocious cat of gleaming orange glares from the wall above his left shoulder; a death's head and cross-bones glow in pallid greenish light from a box on the floor; high above, a leering mask gleams with livid red-orange face and greenish hair; a large fan radiates colors brilliant enough for a dancer of the gayest revue, and a huge bird of lurid blues seems about to land in the visitor's lap.

Mr. Hall then explains that these uncanny effects are produced by the use of the U. V., or "near ultra-violet rays" thrown on objects painted with pigments containing materials which respond to it, by giving off colored light rays of their own. That is, these compounds are fluorescent paints, having the power of transforming the invisible ultra-violet rays thrown upon them into colored light visible to the human eye. These strange materials come in all colors of the rainbow. Some have little or no color under ordinary light, but glow brilliantly when exposed to U. V. rays in the darkness. They are harmless to use, even being made in the form of make-up for stage work. After several years of research, Alexander Strobl, a young Hungarian chemist of New York, has improved greatly on the few and crude paints that had been occasionally used.

F. Gilbert Hills, Mr. Hall's artist assistant is constantly experimenting with these fluorescent paints and U. V. lights and has produced many posters and scenic effects suitable for stage or show window. Besides changing scenes he has made horses appear to run, a pendulum to swing and figures to dance.

Not long ago in New York Roxy gave his audience eight minutes of breath-taking beauty with a "Butterfly Ballet"—human butterflies in all colors of the rainbow floating in the blackness of that vast stage.

At another presentation near Boston, last spring, a group of girls gave a dance in yellow costumes spotted with large black polka dots. On a change to U. V. rays, they turned from white dancers into a group of pickaninnies, while their costumes changed instantly to black with large white dots.

Mr. Hall and Mr. Hills feel sure there is a bright future for the use of these paints and invisible rays in theatrical effects and for show window work.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

The roll call committee wishes to take this method of thanking those who have helped in the canvass for members. First, Mr. Wilson of the Star. The space he so generously gives us is invaluable and we could not get along without it. The Boy Scouts distributed 2000 folders, descriptive of the work and the Girl Scouts placed the posters and placards in the store windows. Perhaps this is the right place to thank the merchants who have given a place in their windows to the Red Cross publicity. Mrs. Hall and Mr. Butters, with their captains and Scouts have been enthusiastic supporters. Katharine Chamberlin had charge of the work of placing posters in the high school and in the Town Hall. UNIVERSITY THEATER

"Flight," the all-talking aviation sensation coming to the University Theater on Sunday for four days, was made with the co-operation of government officials in Washington. Jack Holt, Lila Lee and Ralph Graves play the leading roles. It is the classic of the screen's air drama and a powerful story of love and honor in the lives of two buddies in the flying division of the United States Marine Corps.

"Woman Trap," the companion feature, is from the stage play "Brothers" which is still showing to capacity houses wherever it is presented. It is a sensational, daring picture with a theme that moves audiences in perfect rhythm to its action. The cast includes Hal Skelly, Evelyn Brent and Chester Morris, the laughing gunman of "Alibi."

America has waited patiently for its merriest comedienne to come to the talking films and it is especially exciting news that Miss Davies makes her first audible appearance in "Marianne," a picture destined to take rank with the greatest that the speaking screen has yet revealed. This picture comes Thursday for three days. The companion feature, "The Sophomore" with Eddie Quillan in the leading role, is from the serial, "Joe College," recently published in Colgate humor. Sally O'Neil, petite star of many successful screen productions, will be seen in the feminine lead opposite Eddie Quillan and Jeanette Log, blonde beauty, also has a prominent part.

The end play of Winchester's "Mauzy" Tompkins, one of Tilton Academy's wingmen in the prep school's football game last Saturday with the New Hampshire State freshmen, won the commendation of Referee "Joe" Pendleton, also of this town. Praise from Mr. Pendleton is praise indeed for the "dean of college officials" has seen many a football player come and go.

H. ADDINGTON BRUCE TO SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

Noted Author and Lecturer to Address
Members and Guests of High School Parent-Teacher Association

Winchester is one of the few towns that are to be privileged this year in hearing the nationally celebrated psychologist and author, H. Addington Bruce, in a public address, when Mr. Bruce appears at the High School under the auspices of the Winchester High School Parent-Teacher Association on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

So great is the demand upon his time, both from clubs who seek his lectures and from publishers who seek his writings, that Mr. Bruce has had to select his engagements with a discrimination few lecturers are forced to observe. In each instance, he seeks to decide upon an engagement in which he feels an especial, personal interest in the group he is to face and in the message he is to bring that group. H. Addington Bruce has long been an enthusiastic expounder of the cause of parental education and the Parent-Teacher movement; consequently, his address on Monday night will be one that is vital and fortunate for Winchester. In keeping with the year's program of the local association and with his own researches, his subject is of promise in stimulus: "The Parent Co-operating with the Home."

Just this week Mr. Bruce has completed another book, after working upon it for a year and a half; in it, "The Fine Art of Living," H. Addington Bruce analyzes and sets forth with his customary psychological penetration and human approach the essential meaning of life in a modern world and the fine art of living it.

To this meeting the School Committee and the officers of administration have been especially invited, and both in the meeting itself and the social hour to follow, the members of the association and their guests will find keen pleasure and definite stimulus.

Mr. Bruce was born in Toronto, Can., in 1874. His college degrees were received from Trinity University, Canada; he has, as well, studied at Toronto University and Harvard. For years a newspaper editor, on the New York Tribune Review, and the Outlook, and other periodicals, he has also edited the Mind and Health Series of medical handbooks since 1915. He is the translator of Pierre Leroy-Benulieu's "The United States in the Twentieth Century."

A treat is in store for Winchester on Monday night, at the High School at 8 p. m. The public is invited.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Moran and Mack, the two Black Crows, will make their talking picture debut at the big Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday in "Why Bring That Up?" "Why Bring That Up?" will be shown at the Granada for seven days, with special shows on Sunday. "Why Bring That Up?" has an engrossing plot, and is loosely woven about the actual lives of Moran and Mack. The plot has comedy first, then a touch of drama, and there is a story that follows through, one full of humaneness, brotherly love and the insanity of false love. "Why Bring That Up?" should have a very successful run at the Granada. Fans will not only have their curiosity satisfied as to just what these record and radio artists look and act like, but will see and hear a striking piece of entertainment.

"The Gold Diggers of Broadway," which closes its run at the Granada today, has broken all attendance records during its run. At each performance the 3000 seats of the Granada have been filled and people have waited for a chance to see this attraction which is without question the finest talking picture to reach the screen. Produced in Technicolor this all-talking, singing and dancing picture introduces Miss Winnie Lightner, a comedienne who keeps the audience in an uproar. "The Gold Diggers of Broadway" is one picture that must be seen.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

Karl Dane and George K. Arthur are at their comedy best in "China Bound" the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. The film is a laugh riot from its opening to its sensational finish and is undoubtedly the best of the five comedies in which Dane and Arthur have been co-starred. The second feature on this program is another gripping episode of "Pirate of Panama" starring Natalie Kingston and Buffalo Bill Jr.

An appealing love story develops during the action of "Chasing Through Europe" in which Sue Carol and Nick Stuart portray the most interesting roles of their careers. The story, which will be the feature picture at the Orpheum for the first three days of next week, was filmed in Europe and during the unfolding of the plot, one catches more than a brief glimpse of the Prince of Wales, Premier Mussolini, the Eiffel tower, Mt. Vesuvius and other objects of interest. The second feature on this program will be "Points West" starring Hoot Gibson. This is a smashing story of the West in which Hoot hits the trail for life, love and the law. It is a typical western in which rapid-fire action, hilarious comedy and punchy dramatic scenes combine to make it Gibson's best.

Miss Natalie Hill of this town is attending a Winneconnet Camp reunion to be held at the new activities building of the Young Women's Christian Association, 140 Clarendon street Boston, on Saturday, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Girls are going from this section of the state for the first reunion of the younger girls, who enjoyed their annual vacation at the Y. W. C. A. camp at Vineyard Haven last summer. The program will include swimming, baseball, games, tennis, with a picnic lunch at noon and stories and songs round the fireplace in the afternoon.

WINCHESTER GIRL SCOUTS

The drum and bugle corp will open a food shop on Dec. 7 in Mr. Richardson's store. Cookies will be baked right on the premises, and if you are wise you will put your orders right in early for baked beans and brown bread. Afternoon tea and cookies will be served for a nominal fee; cakes, pies, bread and doughnuts for sale to save your Saturday baking. Remember the date, Saturday, Dec. 7. We are very grateful to Mr. Richardson for his generosity in giving us the use of the store, and to the Arlington Gas Light Company for a gas stove.

Three days' conference at Cedar Hill for commissioners and council members and friends proved most beneficial this past week, and with Mayor Maww, who comes to America on direct commission of Lord Baden-Powell, to talk to us on scouting as he knows it, and he has given his life to it, not as a salaried officer, but as one devoted to the principles of the movement, we felt our work was second to none.

The Kettle-Drum at Cedar Hill last Friday and Saturday was attended by hundreds, and many Winchester folk journeyed out to tea or bridge, or to visit the bazaar, and became more acquainted with its activities, the playground of the Massachusetts Girl Scouts. The affair was a financial success and made many new friends for scouting. Did you see last Sunday's Globe with Dorothy Bidwell's and Charlotte Haartz' picture holding the pig?

The next captains' meeting will be held at Mrs. G. R. Mann's home, Second Deputy Commissioner, 11 Myrtle street, Tuesday evening, Dec. 3, and the council meeting Wednesday morning, Dec. 4, place to be announced.

Troop 1 has planted bulbs of different kinds around the cabin at Cedar Hill under the supervision of their captain, Mrs. Marian Ladd Symmes. This is the beginning of a project planned for our troops by our first deputy commissioner, Mrs. Paul Howard.

Miss Virginia Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Warren of Everett avenue, was a passenger on the R. M. S. Berengaria of the Cunard Line, which docked in New York last Saturday morning, and she is now at home with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Warren met their daughter in New York with Mr. N. Robert Voorhis, her fiancé, who is a student at the Harvard Law School, graduating next June. Mr. and Mrs. Warren were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Voorhis, parents of Miss Warren's fiancé, for several days last week at their home in River Edge, New Jersey.

WOBURN CARDINALS WON FROM WINCHESTER TOWN TEAM

The long talked of football game between the Woburn Cardinals and the Winchester Town Team was played last Sunday on the new high school gridiron in Woburn, resulting in a 13-7 victory for the tanning city eleven.

Winchester, though badly outweighed, gave the rugged Cardinal team a hard battle and its players finished in much better condition than the heavy Woburn men. The game, which was viewed by a crowd in excess of 3000, was on the whole cleanly played, though there were undeniably times when some 15-yard penalties for unnecessary roughness would have been very much in order.

Woburn got its first chance soon after the opening whistle when a short Winchester kick was downed on the local's 30-yard line. With the hard charging Winchester forwards slowing down its running game, Woburn took to the air, and a pass from Linscott to Donahue was converted into a touchdown. Linscott failed to kick the goal.

Starting the third quarter a 40-yard run by Desmond put Woburn in scoring position and after a couple of well executed end runs had brought the ball to the shadow of the Winchester goal. Linscott plunged over for the touchdown. Linscott also added the point after touchdown on a pretty placement.

Winchester kept fighting and the fast pace was beginning to tell on the Woburn heavyweights. With play well along in the final quarter the local forwards broke through to smear Linscott on an attempted pass play and Woburn was forced to punt.

Then it was that "Archa" Amico blocked Linscott's punt and recovering the ball, galloped 40 yards into Woburn's territory before he slipped and fell with the goal line only a few yards distant.

The locals at once pepped up and "Jocko" Prue soon sliced over at tackle for the score. An offside penalty gave Winchester its extra point after touchdown.

The summary:
WOBURN: Donahue, lb.; Desmond, qb.; Fleming, qb.; Kelley, qb.; Linscott, qb.; Prue, qb.; Russo, qb.; Sibley, qb.; Tufes, qb.; Walsh, qb.; Wilson, lb.; Zerkow, lb.

WINCHESTER HIGH WON CROSS COUNTRY MEET FROM BRAINTREE

Winchester High School's cross country team continued in winning stride last Friday afternoon by defeating Baintree High over the local Fells course, 25-31, in a closely contested meet.

Capt. "Mike" Ganzell of Baintree, holder of the New England High School cross country title, was the individual winner of the meet, but the crack visiting harrier had to lower the course record by five seconds to defeat Winchester's leader, Henry McCormack.

Ganzell ran the 23.5 miles in 13m. 37s., while McCormack equalled the old mark of 13m. 42s., while finishing in second place. Purcell of Winchester was third.

The complete order of finish was: First, Ganzell (B); second, H. McCormack (W); third, Purcell (W); fourth, Bean (B); fifth, Winchester (W); sixth, Walsh (B); seventh, Salter (W); eighth, G. McCormack (W); ninth, Moore (B); tenth, West (W); 11th, Schofield (B); 12th, Landes (B); 13th, Crosby (W); 14th, Thompson (B); 15th, MacAulay (W).

WINCHESTER GIRL IS CURED OF ARM INJURY

After visiting the grave of Rev. Patrick J. Power in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, Henrietta Colucci, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raffaele Colucci of 107 Swanton street, who had been paralyzed in her left arm for five years, reported that she was able to move her arm and swing it freely.

The girl, who is only 10 years of age, had not been able to move her arm as the result of an automobile accident. She was able to pick up articles after a visit to the grave. She was accompanied to the cemetery by her parents and will make other visits.

MRS. ANNIE E. KING

Mrs. Annie E. King, nee Breaux, wife of John King of 54 Richardson street, died Saturday morning, Nov. 16, in the Choate Hospital, Woburn, following a long illness.

Mrs. King was 70 years of age and a native of Canada. She made her home for a time in Boston but for the past 35 years had been a resident of Winchester, enjoying a wide circle of acquaintances and friends. She was a member of the married ladies' sodality of St. Mary's Parish.

Surviving, besides her husband, are five daughters, Mrs. Thomas Donnelly of Arlington, Mrs. William Foley of Woburn, Mrs. Veina Evans of Middleboro, Mrs. Louise Gagnon of Allston and Mrs. Robert H. Sullivan of Winchester. Two sons, David and Joseph King, both of Winchester, also survive.

The funeral was held on Monday morning from the late residence with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9:30. Rev. Fr. William J. Clarke was celebrant with Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, deacon; and Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach, sub-deacon. Rev. Fr. O'Connell of Arlington Heights was master of ceremonies.

The bearers were Thomas Donnelly of Arlington, William Foley of Woburn, Edward Gray of Stoneham, John Bulleau of Stoneham, Jeremiah Fraser of Baintree and Robert H. Sullivan of Winchester. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Quirbach.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE ON WASHINGTON STREET

Last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock Miss Victoria Capone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Capone of 15 Middlesex street, was struck while on Washington street near the telephone exchange by a Ford roadster, driven by Ernest C. Smith of 25 Lebanon street.

Smith picked Miss Capone up and took her to the office of Dr. Milton J. Quinn. After an examination Miss Capone was taken home and on Sunday was removed to the Winchester Hospital where X-rays were taken to determine if there had been any bones broken.

John "Livin" McNeil, Winchester's all Mystic League end of last season and one of the finest all around athletes to wear the Red and Black in recent years, played a prominent part in the football victory scored by St. Anselm's Prep over the Boston University freshmen last Friday afternoon. With the score tied in the fourth quarter McNeil was "Johnny-on-the-spot" to fall on a loose ball after a block kick for the touchdown which decided the game. Strangely enough, it was a Woburn boy, "Ned" Murray who blocked the kick to give "Livin" his chance.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Department Conference of the 7th and 8th districts was held in the Unitarian Church on Monday, Nov. 18, with the Winchester Fortnightly as the hostess club. The morning session, devoted to reports of committees, opened at 10 o'clock. The 8th district director, Mrs. Philip H. Tirrell, called the meeting to order, stating that though the weather was unfavorable, "We will try to make it sunny indoors," and those who attended were well repaid for braving the storm. Mrs. Tirrell introduced the hostess chairman, Mrs. Christine E. Hayden, who in her usual charming way welcomed the members of the conference, saying that she esteemed it a privilege and a pleasant duty so to do. Mrs. Hayden made reference to the fact that the Fortnightly is quite an old club, next year being its 50th anniversary, and said that she hoped we had some of the dignity and wisdom which age should give. Announcing that round table conferences would be held with the various chairmen at the close of the morning session, Mrs. Hayden said that this getting together would tend to a clearer understanding of the scope of the Federation work, and a greater accomplishment. Mrs. Tirrell next introduced Mrs. Nathaniel E. Smith, 7th district director, who was to take charge of the session. Mrs. Smith spoke briefly, welcoming the members and expressing her pleasure in being present, and thanked the 8th district for the invitation. Mrs. Siedhof on behalf of the hospitality committee presented the honor guests and the president of the club, with corsage bouquets of violets, typifying fragrant memories of the day. Mr. Harris Richardson of the Board of Selectmen welcomed the conference on behalf of the Town, stating that the influence of the Fortnightly had been felt in both the intellectual and philanthropic ideals of the community, and he felt that the policies of the Town had been shaped by its activities. Mrs. Annette Hughes led the conference in the singing of "America, the Beautiful," and the Salute to the Flag. Mrs. Azel A. Packard, president of the State Federation, spoke a few words of greeting and said she was pleased to meet with the conference. Mrs. Smith then introduced the heads of committees of the State Federation, who reported for their respective groups, giving information and inspiration throughout the session. The committee heads were: Mrs. May Bliss Kimball, Mothercraft; Mrs. A. MacMaster, American Homes; Mrs. Hubbard B. Mansfield, Art; Mrs. Amy Young Bird, Music; Mrs. E. Hosmer, Literature; Mrs. D. M. Goodridge, Conservation; Mrs. I. Stockbridge, Education; Mrs. R. Webster, Citizen Training; Mrs. John Kimball, Law Observance; Dr. Palmer, Public Health; Mrs. E. Danforth, Inter-racial Unity; Mrs. Cross, Civics; Mrs. J. Peters, Co-operation with War Veterans; Mrs. A. Pidgeon, Legislative; Miss Carolyn Peck, Press; Mrs. Nichols, Civil Service; Mrs. Codder, Social Welfare; and Mrs. A. French, International Relations. The morning session was followed by the round table conferences which gave those interested in the various topics presented an opportunity to gather more information. At 12:45 a most attractive luncheon was served in charge of Mrs. Estelle R. Little, Social Chairwoman.

The afternoon session opened with the rendering of selections on the chimes by Miss Margery Hayden, the first selection being the Winchester Club Song, and by organ selections by Mrs. Anna Winn Lochman. A short address was given by Mrs. Azel Packard, State President, after which Mrs. Tirrell introduced Miss Hayden to the conference and thanked her for her splendid rendition and for the pleasure it gave. Miss Hayden was greeted with applause. Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, Past State President, spoke of the Federation Fund, convincingly stating its needs and its opportunities. Mrs. Carl L. Shrader gave a brief talk on Federation Topics on behalf of Miss Titus, who was not able to be present; Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Second Vice President, spoke on Junior Membership; Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Third Vice President, on Club Institutes; and Mrs. John H. Kimball, Fourth Vice President, on Federation Extension.

The meeting was then turned into the hands of the hostess president, Mrs. Hayden, who conducted a brief business meeting, after which the first vice president, Mrs. Isabelle H. Winship, took charge of the musical program. The first number was an organ solo, "Evensong," beautifully rendered by Mrs. Lochman. Then the Winchester Fortnightly Trio, Mrs. Gertrude Barnes, Mrs. Alice Abbott and Mrs. Winship, accompanied by Mrs. F. C. Alexander at the piano, sang two selections, "Summer Night" and "A Heap of Living," composed by Mrs. Gulesian, a member of the conference. As an encore the trio sang "The Songs of the Dinah Doll." The meeting was then turned back to Mrs. Tirrell, who introduced Mrs. Ardenelle MacWhinnie, president of the Cosmos Club of Wakefield. Mrs. MacWhinnie offered a courtesy resolution thanking the Winchester Club for its cordial and gracious hospitality and moved its adoption. This was seconded by Mrs. Packard, and carried with a rising vote. The afternoon session closed at 3:15, and many of the visitors made a tour of the handsome building in which the conference had met, and for which the club is so grateful and of which it is so proud. During the conference one of the speakers quoted a remark of Mrs. Hayden, "that we felt a special dedication to our work in such an atmosphere as created by the church." The beautiful windows were much admired, as were the various activity centers, and the chimes came in for a generous share of praise. Winchester is to be congratulated on being "church minded" said one member of the conference.

The guests of honor were the officers of the State Federation and Mrs. A. Remick, past State president of New Hampshire Federation. State officers were present as follows: Mrs. Azel Packard, president; Mrs. Carl Shrader, 1st vice president; Mrs. F. M. Bennett, 2nd vice president; Mrs. T. J. Walker, 3rd vice president; Mrs. J. H. Kimball, 4th vice president; Mrs. H. W. Hildreth, clerk; Mrs. Frederick G. Smith, past State president; Mrs. N. M. Smith, Mrs. P. Tirrell and Mrs. Currier of Arlington. Much credit should be given to the officers of the day for the splendidly efficient manner in which the arrangements were carried out.

Mrs. Esther A. Stidstone, chairman of hospitality, had tastefully arranged the flowers for the tables, and the plant decorations in the church were most effective. The luncheon, under Mrs. Little's supervision, was perfect, and the ushers, Mrs. Amos Shepard, Mrs. Gertrude Jones, Mrs. Vera S. McKenzie, Miss Eleanor J. Bancroft, Mrs. Ruth S. Priest, Mrs. Juriel M. Trout, Mrs. Sarah M. Wood, Mrs. Walter Rice and Mrs. Ednah Miller did good work, as did the doorkeepers, Mrs. Mary F. Cass, chairman; Mrs. Lillian P. Howe, Mrs. Mildred L. Pride, Mrs. Irene Lane and Mrs. Dorothy G. Slocum.

Branson De Cou

At Monday's meeting Branson De Cou will entertain with another of his "Dream Pictures." Wanderlands of North Africa, with Ampico accompaniment. Mr. De Cou is a widely known lecturer who has developed the travelogue into what amounts to a new art in his synchronization of appropriate music with the display of his wonderfully colored pictures.

There is no doubt that members will welcome the opportunity to learn more of what is generally spoken of as the "Dark Continent," particularly when this information is given in such a pleasing manner.

Dramatic Club

Mrs. Hall, chairman of the Dramatic Committee, presented her first afternoon of drama study last Friday afternoon in Fortnightly Hall. Mrs. Martha Kelley, one of the ladies of the committee had the afternoon in charge and a most entertaining one it turned out to be.

Mrs. Kelley chose two plays that for club study were of the best, calling for 15 characters, all of different types. The casts were well chosen and each and everyone portrayed their parts in a professional manner. The settings were thought of in detail and one was not conscious of a lack of scenery.

A platform was used enabling those in the rear of the hall to see. The first play, "Rich Man, Poor Man," by Bertha Burdell was one of the "Playshop Plays" of Northwestern University. The complications arising out of amusing situations were delightful. The characters were portrayed as follows:

Emma	Clara Reynolds
Kitty	Hazel Purrington
Peter	Anna Grosvener
Yetta Goldenstein	Mary Hodes
Mrs. Bonelli	Bessie Likins
Mrs. Ole Olson	Martha Drisko
Mrs. Patrick Haggerty	Cora Quimby
Tammas MacPherson	Bertrice Thompson
Tommy	Mary Cass
A Visiting Nurse	Marguerite Loftus
Largo Johnson	Annette Hughes
Mrs. X. Y. Smythe	Mollie Keppers

The second play by Tom Cushing, "St. Martin's Summer" had a charming plot and the following cast:

Nutter, the Innkeeper's Son	Aurilla Shapleigh
David Martin	Ester Stidstone
Cynthia, the fascinating lady in Christendom, his wife	Pearle Miller

A social hour followed the plays with our president, Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Hall as hostesses. Coffee was served by members of the casts, lending a feeling of cordiality and good cheer. Mrs. Anna Pitman took charge of the tea in her usual artistic and capable manner. The hall was comfortably full and Mrs. Hall must have been gratified that so many ventured out on so rainy an afternoon. Possibly we need a club house.

VICTOR C. CARLSON

Victor C. Carlson, 52, a leather worker, died suddenly last Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock in the Swanton street plant of the Beggs & Cobb Company. Medical Examiner Vernon C. Stewart of Woburn, who viewed the body, pronounced the death due to heart disease. The remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of Kelley & Hawes Company and later taken to the late residence at 16 East street where funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. C. E. Cederberg, pastor of the Scandinavian Congregational Church of Woburn, officiated and the room in which the casket lay was completely filled with floral tributes. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Victor C. Carlson was born in Sweden, the son of Carl and Mathilda (Nelson) Carlson. He came to this country eight years ago and soon after settled in Winchester, having since made his home here. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maria Carlson, by two sons, Borge and Ture R. Carlson, and by a daughter, Ingrid D. Carlson, all of Winchester. There are also several brothers and sisters.

TWO GARRETT PAINTINGS

Public Library Has Artists' Pictures

The Winchester Public Library has acquired two of the best paintings of our former fellow townsman, Edmund H. Garrett. One of the paintings, "St. Mark's in Venice," was purchased by several appreciative citizens as being one of the happiest of Mr. Garrett's water colors, and was presented by them to the library. The second water color, "A Scene on Cape Cod," is considered one of Mr. Garrett's best works and was purchased by the Library Trustees from the income of the Skillings Fund. These paintings are now on view at the Library.

WINCHESTER DEFEATED MAYNARD

Locals Showed Big Improvement in 20-6 Victory

Winchester High School's football team came back from three straight defeats to win from Maynard High School, 20-6, last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field. With Watertown and Melrose holding the Mystic Valley League spotlight at Melrose, the crowd at the local attraction was not particularly large.

Coach Mansfield's boys played both good and bad football during the afternoon, but on the whole their showing was much better than anything displayed since the Arlington game. The visitors were by no means a shabby outfit, their passing game at times rivaling that of the crack Watertown eleven. The locals had been led to expect that Maynard's running plays were weak, but the Orange and Black at times cracked the Winchester forward wall wide open and showed a couple of fast, hard running backs in Warila and Wilcox.

Winchester's tackling was on the whole very sloppy while its wing backs and tackles looked bad on running plays, particularly at the start of the second half when Maynard rushed and passed its way to a quick touchdown.

To offset this weakness the local defense against passes late in the game was the best shown this season, and this despite the fact that Maynard, with the exception of Watertown, had the slickest aerial game Winchester has faced. Frank Dolan was very effective in spoiling several dangerous visiting forwards and big "Olio" Lee also starred, both on defense and offense. The work of Colpas, Emery and O'Connell stood out on the rushline, while Capt. "Bart" Godfrey did some hard tackling behind the forwards.

It was blonde "Brutus" Colpas who gave Winchester its first touchdown after Maynard had been forced to punt inside its 20-yard line soon after the opening whistle. Colpas, Emery and O'Connell were through to block the kick and the first named scooped up the ball without slackening speed to dash about 5 yards for the score. Ghirardini failed to place kick the extra point.

Newman's good right foot kept the ball in Maynard's territory during the remainder of the half, but following intermission the visitors came back in earnest.

Maynard kicked off and Winchester was forced to punt, Newman's boot traveling only to his own 41-yard line. Two line bucks netted a first down, while a two yard plunge and a successful forward pass made a second first down inside the 10-yard line. Winchester protested and rightfully that the Maynard passer was not throwing from 5 yards behind the line of scrimmage, but the protest went for nothing and two more thrusts at the left side of the local line advanced the ball for a first down, a scant three yards from the goal. Warila hit inside Winchester's left tackle for the touchdown. The Red and Black forwards literally smothered the try at goal.

Just before the end of the quarter Godfrey intercepted a Maynard pass and Newman kicked to midfield. Maynard was forced to kick and the ball was run back 18 yards by Newman to his own 38-yard line. Lee went in for Newman and a pass from "Olio" to Dolan took the ball to midfield. Ghirardini got 8 yards at tackle and Lee punted to the Maynard 20-yard line.

The visitors reeled off a first down at the line, but Winchester braced nicely and on an attempted kick, Emery was through to block the ball which was recovered by Winchester inside the 15-yard line. Ghirardini got 8 yards at end and Lee hit tackle for 4 more. With the ball on the 3-yard line, Lee crashed over at tackle. The locals caught Maynard flat-footed when Ghirardini passed to Dolan for the extra point.

With the quarter about over Dolan intercepted a Maynard pass and ran to the Maynard 30-yard line before being thrown. Ghirardini got away at end for a first down inside the 15-yard line. Lee got 3 yards at tackle, but Winchester was penalized 5 yards for stalling. Lee got 4 and Godfrey 3 yards and Maynard lost 5 yards for offside. On 4th down with 5 to go, Godfrey tossed off a short pass to Robinson who scored easily. Robinson also added the extra point at placement.

With time nearly up, Coach Mansfield sent in a flock of substitutes and Maynard passed and ran from its own 30-yard line to the Winchester 31-yard mark where Wilcox got away for what looked like a sure touchdown. The Maynard boy was thrown offside at Winchester's 10-yard line by Godfrey, but both teams had been offside and the ball came back. Two passes rained 8 yards before Brown intercepted a forward at the Winchester 20-yard line to end the game.

"A Child's Geography of the World." By V. M. Hillyer. What this book does is to give the child a traveler's view of the world—but not a commercial traveler's view. "The Best Animal Stories I Know." By John Clair Minot. The best animal stories that have been written for a number of years are in this collection.

The Fire Department was notified at 8:18 Monday evening by Patrolman John Hanlon of a fire which broke out in the basement of the Beggs & Cobb leather shop on Swanton street. Employees of the company had extinguished the flames before the arrival of the apparatus. The fire was apparently caused by a short circuit in the electric wiring.

MISS AVERY GIVES HER SECOND LECTURE

At the second lecture of the Current Events series given Nov. 26 Miss Avery spoke of her visit to India last summer and her impressions gained from that visit.

England's difficulty today is the problem of deciding that new steps to take toward the improvement of India's condition. She is striving to learn how best to bring reform to an Indian that has had its own customs and habits for thousands of years. The Mohammedans and Hindus are absolutely opposed to each other and each other's beliefs and it is almost impossible to get them to work together.

Today there are over 600 states or one-third of India governed by the native princes. Ethnologically the Indian as they are of the Aryan race are white but they are not so regarded for the English and Americans are the most color-prejudiced nations in the world. It is this racial discrimination which is the greatest source of trouble and prevents any real co-operation between England and India today.

Miss Avery spoke of the book "Mother India" and said she considered it true but unfair for it gave all the bad conditions in India but did not mention all that is being done toward the amelioration of these conditions.

Several prominent Indians interviewed by Miss Avery insisted that England had done nothing to help India at all. George Cunningham, spokesman for the viceroy and representative of King George said it was a better country today than when he came there, 25 years ago, and he was very hopeful for the future.

At her next lecture, Dec. 10, Miss Avery will speak of the cause of the recent slump in the stock market, of her interview with Mahatma Gandhi and how athletics came to Kashmir.

Hon. Mr. Wadsworth who was scheduled to speak will be unable to do so having been called out of the State on business. The Hon. Mr. Henry Parkman, Jr., has been obtained for the afternoon. Mr. Parkman is a Senator from Boston to our General Court and is an exceedingly interesting speaker. His subject will be "Public Welfare." The State is making an intensive campaign to increase its efficiency in this welfare work and the Hon. Mr. Parkman is well qualified to talk about this work.

The second speaker will be Mrs. Frank Ree Batchelder, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee. Mrs. Batchelder has addressed the club before and she always has something very much worth while to say.

Mrs. Walter Winship will furnish the music which is always enjoyable. After the meeting tea will be served by the social committee.

The attention of the members is again called to the lectures during January and February under the auspices of the education committee. Do not fail to call Mrs. Jesse Wilson 1703-R.

PARENTS' NIGHT AT THE LINCOLN SCHOOL

Last Friday evening a large audience enjoyed an interesting musical program, given by groups of children from each grade. Mr. James Quinn our Superintendent, kindly spoke to the parents who always enjoy hearing him and Mrs. Clifford Townner, President of the Central Mothers' Association, spoke interestingly on the special Town Meeting of Dec. 10. A piano solo was rendered by Virginia Foreman and was enjoyed by all.

After the program, the parents and friends were invited to visit the class rooms where the teachers welcomed everybody very graciously. It was gratifying to all concerned to see so many interested parents for the school deserves a great deal of credit for its fine work.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

Mrs. Mae O'Neill, G. R., and a large delegation of the members of the local Court, attended the State initiation at Cambridge last Sunday. There were 1500 present in the Elks' ballroom and over 200 candidates from all parts of the State were initiated. The local ladies enjoyed the ceremonies and the very fine supper which followed.

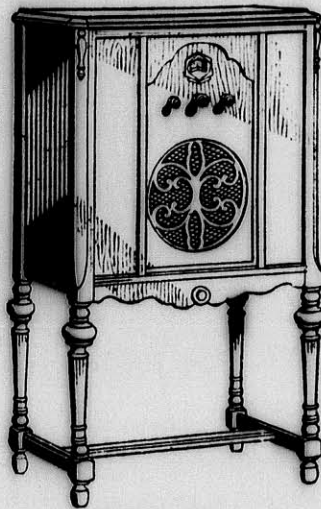

Grand Regent O'Neill conducted a most successful whist at her home last Friday afternoon. The proceeds were placed in the charity fund.

The large party for the charity fund, a turkey whist on Dec. 19 will be in charge of Sister Elta Kennedy and a splendidly capable committee. Already many tickets have been sold and many donations of money and prizes have been promised. Altogether it promises to be the most successful party yet conducted by the Court in aid of charity.

A meeting of Precinct One Civic League will be held Friday evening, Dec. 6 at 8 at the George Washington School. Annual election and a talk on "Our Secondary School Problem" by Superintendent of Schools J. J. Quinn.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION, NOONAN CHAPTER

The chapter held a most successful Fathers' and Mothers' Night on Friday evening with an attendance that taxed the seating capacity of the assembly hall.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald, president of the chapter, presided and in opening the meeting, described the work of the chapter and its relationship to the Noonan School.

Mrs. Towner was present and spoke to the residents of the district, urging them to become aroused over the lack of secondary school accommodations.

After Mrs. Towner left, Mrs. McDonald introduced the following ladies of the chapter who gave a delightful concert: Mrs. Mollie L. Maguire and Mrs. Ann McMinamin, songs; Mrs. Frances T. Conlon, readings; Miss Bernice Connell, accompanist.

Then followed the physical exercises by the various grades in the building led by their teachers.

The exercises and little dances were delightful and showed the result of much practice.

Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. Jane King, Mrs. Margaret Donovan, Mrs. Mabel Foley, Mrs. Esther Capone, Mrs. Katharine Rowen, Mrs. Valerie T. O'Connor and Mrs. Ann McMinamin.

The committee wishes to thank Mr. Arthur E. A. King, who helped in many ways to make the evening such a splendid success.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE HELD

The annual Union Thanksgiving service of the Inter-Church Federation was held on last Sunday afternoon in the First Congregational Church. Preceding the service J. Albert Wilson played the following program of organ music: "Now Thank We All Our God" by Karg-Elert; "Adagio" by Widor, Russell's "The Bells of St. Anne," Guilmant's "Pastorale" and "Paeon" by Mathews. The robed chancel choir of the church sang the anthem, "Break Forth Into Joy" by King and the Netherland Folk Song, "Prayer of Thanksgiving." The chancel was decorated with fruit and vegetables, the gift of the church school, to be distributed as Thanksgiving cheer.

Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, conducted the service, assisted by pastors of other churches in the town. The invocation was made by Rev. H. W. Hook of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church and Rev. George Hale Reed of the Unitarian Church read the Scripture lesson. Responsive reading was led by Rev. John E. Whitley of the Second Congregational Church and Rev. Truman Hemmway of the Church of the Epiphany also participated in the service.

The address was made by Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who took as his subject, "Altars of Thanksgiving." The service was concluded with the benediction and choral amen.

A resident of Bacon street notified the police last Saturday that her suspicion had been aroused by a young man who resented himself as a Winchester High School pupil and who was soliciting for magazines. The young man gave an address on Washington street and a check-up disclosed the fact that he had previously given the police a Boston address. The authorities were unable to locate him, following the complaint.

Mr. Nils Mortenson observed his 75th birthday anniversary last Sunday, Nov. 24, with an informal dinner party for members of the family at his home on Prince avenue. During the festivities he was presented with a handsome, suitably engraved gold watch, his family's gift. Mr.

Mortenson is well known in Winchester, having made his home in this town for 28 years. He is employed as a carpenter with George H. Hamilton, having been with this same firm during his entire residence here.

FIVE ACCIDENTS MONDAY

Five accidents were reported Monday, four of them involving motor cars. Monday morning a Hudson sedan, driven by James S. Morris of Ellingwood avenue, Billerica, and a Dodge coupe, operated by W. Roush of Covington avenue, Billerica, were in collision on Cambridge street near the Woburn line. Morris told the police he was driving north when his machine was struck by the Dodge.
No one was injured.

A second accident occurred on Cambridge street about 300 feet north of Pond street where a Mack truck, owned by the U. S. Trucking Corporation of Lowell and driven by John J. Baker Jr., of 63 Flint street, Somerville, was in collision with an Essex coach, owned and operated by Ralph W. Egar of 36 C street, South Boston. The machines were going in opposite directions and the Essex was badly damaged. It was towed to the Central Garage.

James McCauley of 10 Buck street,
Woburn, light inspector for the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, notified the police that while he was engaged in fixing a defective light on Cambridge street, his Chevrolet coupe was struck by an automobile which failed to stop. Mr. McCauley was unable to get the registration of the machine which damaged his car.

At 7 o'clock Monday evening a Chevrolet coach, owned by George H.
Wahn Company of 69 High street,
Boston, and driven by Guy P. Baker of 727 Main street, Woburn, was in collision on Main street near the Mystic School with a Ford sedan, driven by Henry C. Cahill of 20 Lake avenue, Woburn. Baker told the police the cars were going in the same direction when the Ford stopped so suddenly that his machine bumped it hard. Both cars were damaged, but no one was injured.

Miss Clara Millyan, 16, of 101
Swanton street narrowly escaped serious injury shortly after 6 o'clock Monday evening when she stepped from an outboard train at Winchester Station before the car had come to a stop. She received a bad fall and sustained a severe shaking up and several cuts and bruises. She was taken in the taxicab of Michael J. Queenin by Sergt. William H. Rogers and Officer James E. Farrell of the police to the Winchester Hospital where she was examined by Dr. Wilfred McKenzie. Later she was removed to her home.

SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Troop 3, with a total of 319 points

had 44 points and Troop 4 had 35 points.

After the Scout band played "Our Director" and "Our Leader" marches, the Scout oath was given under the absent from the meeting. It was accordingly, given him Saturday evening.

The court closed with a recitation of the Scout laws.

The regular monthly meeting of the Scout Council was held in the Winchester Country Club, Tuesday evening. Following the business meeting, Executive Butters gave a detailed report on the activities at the last summer camp, illustrating it with motion pictures taken at the camp.

MOVING PICTURES

There will be five reels of moving pictures given under the auspices of the Winchester Unitarian Men's Club in Metcalf Hall, Dec. 7. There are three subjects: Medieval Moderns—(Peasants of the Hungarian Plain) depicts the rural life of the peasant population showing the villagers tilling their fields, trading in the market, the women spinning and weaving and the men making baskets and brooms, the shepherds and cattlemen on the plains, wedding customs, dances, etc. The International Ice Patrol showing the work done in the shipping lanes of the North Atlantic, keeping watch over icebergs and showing the hazardous and exciting service which is rendered for safety of passing ships. The Nesting of the Sea Turtle showing the life of the big deep water creatures and the manner in which they live in their home in the water.

These films are prepared by the University Film Foundation and are carefully worked out under the direction of the faculty of Harvard University. They seek to obtain the highest degree of educational and scientific value.

day evening from Dartmouth to spend

CALUMETCALUMET CLUB NOTES

An interesting event occurred in the ladies' turkey roll held at the Calumet Club on Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Warren Cox rolled the highest string ever produced by a lady on the club alleys. In the turkey competition she rolled 153 for a single. Starting off with a spare, she rolled the string with but one open box—an 8. She made four spares and three strikes, doubling two of them.

Needless to say, Mrs. Cox took the first prize, her two-string total of 247 being unapproached. Mrs. Budgett won second turkey, rolling 171 and 42, making 213.

The men's turkey roll, held Saturday night, was won by F. F. Hawley.
His high single with handicap was 141 and 17, making 158. The second turkey went to H. Roesler, his score for the best ten-string total being 1015. Dr. Emerson Priest took the third bird, he having the highest single string divisible by three—138.

On Monday, Dec. 2, Calumet meets on its own alleys and tables, the Medford Club.

Calumet defeated the Malden Club
9-6 in the league games on Monday night. The local teams took five in bowling, and one each in Cowboy pool, straight pool, three-cushion billiards and cards. The bowling was exceptionally spirited. Gamage rolled a total of 384 for high, with 342 for the best total among the visitors.

UNUSUAL THANKSGIVING SERV-ICE BY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SCHOOL

A most unusual Thanksgiving service was held last Sunday morning in the Ripley Memorial Chapel by the primary and kindergarten departments of the First Congregational Church School, under the direction of Mrs. J. L. Lobingier, superintendent of the primary department.

The service, though conducted by Dr. W. W. Malcolm, church director of religious education, was strictly a children's service, in which the boys and girls participated either as groups or individuals. The vested junior choir of the church sang impressive processional and recessional hymns, and a violin solo was played by Mrs. Ervin Drake with William Higgins at the organ.

Doctor Malcolm told the story of the two tribes, joining together for a feast, the larger and richer sharing its bounty with the lesser. And so, he said, it didn't matter that some families had less than others at Thanksgiving since those who are the more fortunate shared their store with those less fortunate, and all were happy together.

Following the offertory there was a special offering, the children coming forward to bring their gifts of fruit, vegetables and canned goods which were to be distributed as Thanksgiving cheer. The gifts were taken by Doctor Malcolm and heaped about the altar, nearly filling the chancel of the chapel. It was an inspiring sight and made a deep impression upon the children, bringing home to them in striking fashion the true spirit of Thanksgiving season.

WINCHESTER GIRLS DEFEAT MELROSE

The Winchester field hockey team defeated Melrose on Monday at Newton by the score of 2-1. The game started very slowly, but soon changed to a fast, fighting game.

Melrose scored the first point soon after the game began. Eleanor Fillmore, Melrose's center forward managed to poke the ball in the goal from a scrimmage. Shortly after this Muriel Carr, made several long individual dashes up the field to within the shadow of the goal. However, Mel-rose's goalie, Edna Davidson was very good and kept the ball from out the goal very successfully. About one minute before the end of the half, Muriel Carr, center forward, caged the ball to tie the score. It was a very pretty goal, shot just inside the goal posts.

The girls of both teams played a better game during the second half.
It was much faster and they all seemed to fight more determinedly after the ball. Winchester's winning goal was made with just three minutes to play by Muriel Carr, who received the penalty corner shot from "Midge" Brown and then caged the ball.

Melrose gave Winchester several fights after this by shooting the ball near the goal. Capt. "Puggs" clever work saved the day for Winchester many times.

Winchester's defensive players showed up very well in this game.
Mary Cutter played her same reliable game. Loretta Carleton, center half back, played very good. She seemed to be everywhere making hard, accurate shots up the field. Next year's captain, Caroline Nichols, and Mabel Tompkins played great games at left and right half back respectively.
Barbara Shaw, a girl without much hockey experience before this year showed up very well.

Last Sunday's Guild program at the Holy Ghost Hospital was received most enthusiastically by the many patients. All the numbers were very entertaining and so particularly well chosen as to bring the maximum of cheerfulness to the audience. The entertainers in turn performed in each ward and in instances where a patient could not be comfortably removed to the open halls the singers and readers entered the private rooms.

Mrs. Mary McGrath with her sentimental, romantic and pleasingly funny vocal selections was heartily applauded.

Miss Evelyn Goggin took a spec-mented by readings.

INTERESTING SCHOOL FIGURES

Somewhere we have heard the expression, "Figures don't lie," and so we're passing along some figures taken from the Town report of 1909, 1918 and 1928 with reference to enrollment at the Wadleigh School. We're not trying to prove that the school isn't overcrowded. As a matter of fact we're neither confirming nor refuting any of the current arguments about the school and the pupils it houses or fails to house. We simply found that the Town report of last year gave the Wadleigh enrollment as 306. In 1918 there were, according to the same authority, 308 pupils in the school and way back in the dark ages of 1909 when the Wadleigh building was considered ample and even spacious there were 333 boys and girls in the three grades there. Of course there may be a catch in these figures. As a matter of fact we believe there is.

NO STREET GOSSIP

The STAR prints in this issue an interesting letter from our former Town Counsel, Mr. Charles F. Dutch. He urges the building of a new Junior High School. Thoughtful and interested citizens are urged to read his well worded argument.

The STAR, unfortunately, is on the opposite side of the fence, and even at the expense of incurring his displeasure feels it incumbent to withhold its unqualified and wildly enthusiastic support of this project. The STAR, of course, hates to become the instrument in thrusting this subject into petty bickering and street gossip, but why a Junior High School? Surely Mr. Dutch must realize that in considering and voting against this school for the past seven or eight years, there are some in town who are in doubt regarding its desirability. The question will be discussed, no matter how distasteful, and as it has appeared impossible to consider any additional school accommodations outside a Junior High School, that feature of our schools has of necessity become the central pivot.

Educators differ on the desirability of a Junior High School as a means of education. When our primary school building program was launched it was announced and the Town was prepared, to make further provision within a short time for its higher grades. The STAR at that time, in common with many others, took this to mean an addition to our High School and our Grammar School. The Town, so far as we know, has always been willing to care for this needed addition.

The Junior High School idea was then launched. The applause over the project, while wildly enthusiastic, was unconvincing to many outside the originating group. To simply be told that a Junior High was the thing and that a Junior High we would have, has retarded rather than advanced the idea. We undertook a fairly generous experiment when we rushed into the erection of an entirely new group of primary schools; one which might have been much improved upon had more thought and slower construction ensued.

A Junior High may be our burning need, although opinions differ and it is very possible that the educational tide has already turned away from the scheme, but let us hear more of its actual desirability and less of the fact that we shall have it anyway. If the Town has the money and the desire to take up every new educational thought and enter the experimental field, all well and good, but if it desires to enter the realm of a trade school, let us erect such an institution.

One is strongly reminded of youthful days, when it was deemed just such a similar necessity that boys in the primary grades be taught sewing. We still have the splash cloth, sewing bag and neatly (?) embroidered dolly so enthusiastically (?) built in the Highland School. Fortunately our parents deemed "rhythmic a trifle more important, and though they braved the wrath of those stalwart educators of their day, "rhythmic was what we got eventually.

The STAR is of the opinion that the Town can more wisely expend its money in an enlarged High or Wadleigh—or both, than in burdening itself with this brand new school. While street gossip in many ways shows which way the wind blows, it cares little whether Bill did or did not say this or that. Like every other public factor it hates to be ordered. If the Town is convinced that a Junior High is needed, the STAR is ready to pay its bill and grin. Up to the present time the supporters have failed to drill this into us.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. Dutch Favors Such a Building

To the Editor of the Star:

In anticipation of the coming town meeting to consider secondary school facilities, a little history may be helpful.

1. In 1920 an Educational Survey, made at the request of the town by disinterested and recognized authorities, recommended (among other things) either one or two junior high schools, i.e. grouping the Wadleigh grades, 7th and 8th, with the 9th of the High School.

2. In 1922, the School Building Program Committee unanimously recommended (among other things, all since done) a new school building for those three grades. The members of that committee still living and in town were: Marcus B. May, Ralph T. Hale, James Nowell and Arthur A. Kidder. If my memory serves me, the "Star" in reporting a preliminary hearing said that the need of a Junior High seemed generally admitted, but not the need of so many new primary schools. The primary schools were built, but with insufficient provision for prompt growth.

3. In March 1928 the Committee on Secondary School Facilities, appointed March 1927, reported itself "of unanimous opinion that the present Wadleigh School is so lacking in proper facilities and the High School so crowded that a new building should be created to relieve the situation at once to contain the two grades in the Wadleigh School and the Freshman class of the High School. . . . The Committee have had the advantages derived from a survey of our situation as made by experts of the State Board of Education." The members of this Committee were: Willard T. Carleton, Robert F. Guild, Dr. Richard W. Sheehy and from the School Committee: Edward A. Tucker and Robert M. Stone. The Finance Committee of Fifteen, apparently unanimously, recommended "favorable action." A vote to petition for authority to borrow beyond the debt limit was passed. The next vote was to select the Prince School site and the town wisely turned this inadequate site down by a large majority. It then voted for another Committee to canvass the matter of locations. This action assumed the necessity for a new school somewhere.

4. In June 1928 the Committee on Secondary School Locations rendered a judicial report for the "final determination of a satisfactory site for a Junior High School." The members of this Committee were: John H. Powers, Arthur S. Harris, James W. Blackham, Maurice F. Brown, Loring P. Glason, Edward S. Larned and Arthur D. Speedie. I believe the oral report of the Finance Committee was for favorable action. The meeting voted against a Junior High School by 481 to 468. Any analysis of the politics of that meeting is out of place. All must agree that there was more heat than light, much controversy and little deliberation. The attention of a majority was focused rather on the following articles concerning the new Noonan School. Obviously those who wanted the Junior High willingly voted for the Noonan School because that vote was practically unanimous.

5. Our School Committee with varying membership for many years have favored a new three grade school.

6. Our Superintendent of Schools and his predecessor, both experts of practical experience, have urged it.

7. The present Principal of the Wadleigh School (who is doing an excellent job considering the handicaps of the school) and his predecessor have urged it. Former Principal Crowell in his last report Dec. 31, 1928 said "The building itself is absolutely out of date for its present purpose and its actual use. . . . More space is required out of doors. . . . The Manual Arts Departments occupy space below the street level which is unsanitary for pupils and teachers and inadequate for the work carried on. . . . No gymnasium and no assembly hall. It is beyond argument that Wadleigh School today is not having its fair chance."

8. Mr. Grindle, the efficient, thoughtful, sensible Principal, who has tactfully, firmly and without self assertion taken our High School out of the arena of controversy around which it was so long kicked and made it a splendid educational institution, judicially approves the program.

Our previous failure to heed this long chain of expert and special committee advice may or may not have been wise. Zealous proponents must remember we have been doing a splendid job with our primary schools. Meantime the need has been intensified and aggravated—two platoons in the High School, with inadequate facilities at that; the Wadleigh crowded, our children shut into basement rooms, shunted to the Town Hall for this and to the High School for that. The inadequacy of the Wadleigh is intolerable for what it now attempts to do; it shuts out a tremendous lot it should be doing, especially for those pupils who do not go to college. Unfortunately, had feelings have been engendered in the past. Let all put them aside. I hope you, Sir, will throw your influence against letting this big problem become a subject of petty bickering and street gossip. Let us have no controversy but deliberation and let us have vision and courage to solve the problem with a site good for all time and a building adequate or expandable to meet the demands for many years.

THE UNDER-PASS

Nov. 25, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:

In your issue of Nov. 15 you make an earnest plea for an under-pass at the railroad station to take the place of a practically useless bridge over the railroad at that point. I most heartily endorse your plea.

Something over a year ago in a report upon the improvement of the waterways in Winchester, Mr. Kellaway—who was retained in 1911 and again in 1928 by the Committee on Waterways—attached to his report a suggestion for abolishing our grade crossing, a part of which called for the under-pass at the station, so that citizens from all parts of the town could readily meet all incoming and outgoing trains without being obliged to cross the track or climb over the high bridge. In addition to that people from the West Side could go to the post office, Manchester Field, the Unitarian and Baptist Churches, the high and grammar schools, and the Savings Bank. Shops and stores on either side could be visited without delay on account of waiting for passenger or long freight trains, and the danger of being run over by automobiles, which now crowd the center of the town, could be escaped. Mr. Kellaway thought this might be done at once—in 1929—if all worked together to that end.

In presenting his view unsolicited, he thought he was doing the town a favor, and the Committee on Waterways thought they were acting for the good of the town in printing this plan, related as it was to the main part of their work. What was the result of our combined efforts? First—the Chamber of Commerce, after listening to the argument of a Winchester attorney, reported that it was the unanimous opinion of all present at that meeting that to carry out the proposed plan of Mr. Kellaway would be a serious loss to the center of the town—this without even asking the man to explain his plan.

Second—the Board of Selectmen invited Mr. Kellaway to meet with them one evening, which he did—coming from his home in Newton to do so. He found present not only the Selectmen but a former town counsel and a representative of a well-known engineering firm. These two gentlemen questioned and cross-questioned him for a long time about his plan. He had no data with him, but from memory told them freely—as well as he could—everything they asked about. Among other things he said his plan was much cheaper than any other previously suggested.

A little later a public hearing was held in the Town Hall and the Selectmen reported that as a result of investigations made by a firm of well-known engineers—referred to above—Mr. Kellaway's plan, which he thought was cheaper, was the most costly of the four plans studied. One gentleman desired a letter of censure sent to Mr. Kellaway for deceiving the town, and he was quite generally credited as that meeting. Apparently it has cost the town considerable money already with the heavy and expensive buildings on both sides, and probable damages incident to such a major operation, could all be done more cheaply than to build most of the way across vacant land, much of which is inexpensive—for the Auditor reports that the entire grade crossing appropriation of $1500 had been exhausted.

What could Mr. Kellaway do to preserve his reputation? The only thing he could do was to proceed to work out in detail what his plan would cost. So engaging the services of a high-grade engineering firm to assist him and check his work, and with the aid of the very generous space which you gave him in your paper, I think he showed to any fair-minded man that his plan was the cheapest—whether it was the best one or not was another question. Did the town pay him for engaging competent engineering help to do this and for the time and expense necessary to carry out this most thorough piece of work? Not a cent! Not even his carfare from his Newton home. This work cost him over $900, and so far as I know neither the town nor any official of the town ever even thanked him for his effort to do a kindly act. What must he think of our community?

After having worked for two years on a committee trying to solve this grade-crossing problem, and listening to useless discussions for more than 20 years, I came to the conclusion that unless we had additional legislation which would permit a more equitable distribution of the expense incident to it, nothing would ever be accomplished. The elimination of the grade-crossing is no longer a local question. Twenty years ago no one 25 miles from Winchester cared anything about our crossing. We did not care whether a crossing in the Berkshires or on Cape Cod was eliminated or not. The automobile has changed all that. People in Newton, Brockton, Lowell and Worcester all want our crossing abolished, because they may use it tomorrow. We want to ride over the State without crossing at grade wherever possible.

The question has become a State problem. Realizing this I asked Governor Allen, as soon as he was elected, if he would not make the abolition of the grade-crossing a prominent feature of his administration, for without such action I feared Winchester's grade-crossing would not be eliminated for many years to come. I have no doubt others made a similar request of him. At any rate in his inaugural address he said:

"For a period of 15 years little or no abolition of grade crossings of railroads has been undertaken, although the traffic over many grade crossings has greatly increased. The separation of the grades at railroad crossings, particularly those where the traffic is heavy, I believe ought not to be abandoned merely because the railroads are in poor financial condition. The abolition of grade crossings relieves traffic congestion and delay on the highways, improves service on the railroads, eliminates expense of crossing protection, and removes a source of serious accidents. I believe that the abolition of grades on the main routes of the railroads and on the main through State highways ought to be encouraged, and that these should be given priority over less important grade crossings."

The Legislature followed his recommendation, and a special commission was appointed to draft new legislation. A bill has been prepared and is ready for consideration by the Legislature coming in in January. No one knows how long it will take them to adopt or reject it. The City of Worcester—which has a grade-crossing even more dangerous than that at Winchester—evidently thinks that nothing positive will be done before April 30, 1930. I should think that was a fair estimate, judging from my experience in the Legislature.

Under this bill I understand the State Commission on Highways will have considerable to do with the question. They will decide what grade-crossings should first be abolished. Winchester would, I think, be one of the early ones, but perhaps not the very first one. The expense is, I understand, to be shared between the railroads, the Commonwealth, the counties, the cities, and the towns—the railroad to pay one half.

We are now absolutely sure that we can do nothing in 1929—it is even possible that nothing can be done in 1930—and I should hope, however, that in the year 1931 work might actually begin. In the meantime why not all hands stop this everlasting discussion as to how we are to eliminate the grade-crossing until we know under whose direction this work is to be done, and, under the leadership of our Selectmen, bend all our energies toward securing this under-pass which could be done entirely independently of the greater problem, and would be of great benefit to all our citizens. Then, instead of holding useless hearings and listening to long speeches, if we have any more surplus energy to work off use it up in fighting the mosquito.

FAILED TO SEE NEED OF THREE TANKS

To the Editor of the Star:

The report of the Board of Appeal as related to the placing of the new water tank at what is known as Symmes Park, was a plain statement of facts as they appear to the public.

The writer after having been highly honored by the voters of Winchester during the last 15 years, as a member of the Board of Selectmen for three years and a member of the Water and Sewer Board for the last 12 years, feels greatly accountable to people of Winchester, hence the following statement:

When in 1926 the subject matter of an increased storage supply of water for domestic use, for the east side of our town was under discussion by the Water and Sewer Board, the writer suggested the following proposition to the other members for their consideration.

That by replacing the present high service tank located on North Border road near the north reservoir, by a much larger cement tank we would not be obliged to have the third tank to disfigure the landscape.

The location could not be improved upon as the present tank lot is bounded on the north, east and south sides by land of the Fells Reservation and located among a growth of good sized hardwood trees, which act as a blind.

When the north reservoir is full and the present tank is full the elevation is 98 feet above the level of the reservoir and with the construction of a new tank an added height of 40 or 50 feet could have been obtained, adding much more to the water pressure as is at present. This tank could have been made of cement construction, thereby saving the cost of maintenance of a steel tank which is quite an item of expense every other year of removing the scale on the inside and painting interior and exterior.

The town voted $10,000 a short time ago to lay a new 10 inch water main from Reservoir street to Winthrop street on Highland avenue, which was completed in due time. There is a short piece of 6 inch water main from Winthrop street south, that should be replaced by 10 inch pipe to correspond in size with the other pipe on the avenue.

The writer failed to see why we needed three high service tanks when such towns as Wakefield, Reading, Billerica, Lexington, Wilmington, Arlington and Belmont have but one tank each for their supply.

This proposition was turned down by the majority of the Board and the town finds itself in the present tangle.

INDUSTRY AND AVIATION SPUR MAPPING PROJECTS

The surveyor's transit and rod and the airplane are supplanting the covered wagon and the pick and shovel of the early pioneer in present day opening up of the unsettled areas of North and South America, according to Dr. William Bowie, of Washington, D. C., speaking in Mexico City at the opening of the Pan-American Institute of Geography and History.

Dr. Bowie, one of three delegates from the United States to the first meeting of the newly organized institute, was designated by the National Geographic Society. He is chief of the Division of Geodesy of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey and a world famous authority on isostasy.

Charting Potential Resources

Maps which give precise locations, elevations, and other topographic information constitute the framework of further surveys of forest, mineral, plant, animal, water power and other forms of potential wealth, the speaker explained.

"Therefore the engineers and other leaders in industry are making their wants known in regard to topographic mapping," he continued. "It has truly been said that only a rich nation can afford to develop its natural resources and its industries without previously having executed the topographic surveying and mapping. Thus are avoided wasteful mistakes of the past in road building and railway construction by routes which are circuitous and in areas which have not the latent resources or are too far from markets to be profitable."

Institute's Map Program
A major program of the Institute is the co-ordination of topographic surveys already made independently; and stimulation of map-making programs themselves.

Another imperative demand for mapping of hitherto unexplored areas arises from the commercial airplane lines. Dr. Bowie said, for airplanes now are using routes over tracts which know neither the highway nor the steel rail.

"We have heard much in recent decades of the application of scientific principles to agriculture and other great industries in exchange of goods and in communication," Dr. Bowie said. "But science can only go a certain distance towards bettering the condition of humanity and making civilization nobler without having geographic facts. It is here that the geographer must supplement the work of the physicist, the chemist, and the engineer. For without geographical information and background the other sciences cannot be efficiently employed in the utilization of the resources which Nature has given abundantly to the nations of the world."

Even U. S. Not Thoroughly Mapped
The officials of the National Geographic Society have expressed frequently, and do on this occasion through me, their opinion that civilization will be greatly advanced by an early completion of the mapping of the world.

Goldsmith's Birthplace

The birthplace of Oliver Goldsmith, the British poet, playwright, and novelist, is not known for certain. He is usually said to have been born at Pallas or Pallasmore, County Longford, Ireland. Recent investigations indicate that he may have been born at Elphin, Roscommon, Ireland, in the home of his mother's father, Rev. Oliver Jones. At any rate, Goldsmith was born in Ireland in 1728.

Also one has to have the mental capacity as well as the physical capacity for flying. In the government flying school one is not allowed to enter without two years of college work to his credit.

Timely Thought

We ought daily or weekly to dedicate a little time to the reckoning up of the virtues of our belongings—wife, children, friends—and contemplating them then in a beautiful collection. And we should do so now, that we may not pardon and love in vain and too late, after the beloved one has been taken away from us to a better world.—Exchange.

Physical Science

Generally the science of physics is held to treat of the constitution and properties of matter, mechanics, acoustics, heat, optics, electricity and magnetism. Sometimes the term is applied in a limited sense, and embraces only the last four divisions; more generally and loosely it includes all physical sciences.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

It was indeed pleasant to see the Town Hall well filled by members of the club on Monday afternoon, Nov. 25, at the regular meeting. The singing of "America, the Beautiful" was followed by the salute to the flag. The minutes of the two preceding meetings were read and approved. The presiding officer, Mrs. Christine E. Hayden, announced the passing of one of our older members, Mrs. Fannie A. Weld, and paid glowing tribute to her many worth while qualities. Mrs. Hayden asked that a few moments of silence, with bowed heads, should be observed, and to a soft musical accompaniment the members paid this tribute.

The president then asked for reports of committees. Mrs. Gladys R. Wilson, legislative chairman, announced a meeting to be held in the Unitarian Church on Friday, Dec. 6, at 2:30, in the interest of the Children's Commission, established by the Legislature of 1929. Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott and Mrs. Winona Osborne Pinkham will be the speakers. This will be of great interest to all who have the care of children. Mrs. Anna M. Swanson, chairman of literature, called attention to the program of her committee for Monday, Dec. 2, in Fortnightly Hall, when "Henry VIII" by Frances Hackett, will be discussed by Miss Amy Bridgman. She also announced that her committee would sponsor the opening of a club circulating library on that date, the library to be open before and after the regular meetings of the club and also of the committee. Donations of up-to-date books will be welcome. Mrs. Maude Bridge has been appointed librarian.

Mrs. Valerie T. O'Connor, chairman for Co-operation with War Veterans Committee, invited the members to attend the silver tea to be given by that committee on Thursday, Dec. 5, in Fortnightly Hall. Mrs. Helen H. Raymond, chairman of Community Service, asked the club to co-operate with the Home for Aged People in the coming fair. Mrs. Raymond then introduced Miss Butters, secretary of the Town's Welfare Board, who told of the problems of the board and the many demands it has to meet. Miss Butters said that volunteer workers were much needed in this department.

Reports of the State Federation meeting recently held in Brockton were read by Mrs. Aurilla Shapleigh and Mrs. Irene Clark. One hundred clubs were there represented, with 1420 members.

A short recess was taken for the preparation of the stage, and then the president presented the lecturer of the afternoon Branson De Cou, who received a warm welcome, having become well known to the members on account of former engagements. Mr. De Cou explained that the "Wonderlands of North Africa" represented a six weeks' tour, and immediately transported his audience into the land of the Arabian Nights. Scenes from Algiers, the Sahara, Fez, Morocco, showing market places, temples, gardens, desert places and narrow city streets, followed each other in quick succession, pictures of marvellous beauty melting into others so imperceptibly that the charm was unbroken, and keeping one imbued with the spirit of the "Garden of Allah." At the close of each group the final picture was of such rare beauty that one said it faded with regret, though the mind will always retain the memory of such wonderful scenes, in their setting of exquisite music. The wondrous coloring of the "Dream Pictures" always strikingly beautiful, has its widest range in "North African Wonderlands," where native architecture and costume lends itself to the extreme in color. This unique form of entertainment, brief descriptions by the lecturer, artistic picturization, and appropriate Ampico accompaniment, has the merit of being restful as well as enjoyable. It is safe to say that future engagements of Branson De Cou will be anticipated with pleasure. At the close of the entertainment the committee on Fortnightly Hall held a food sale, which was well patronized. Donations of cake and candy were most generous. Fortnightly Hall being the center of the club's committee activities calls for our generous support.

American Home Committee

On Friday, Nov. 22, this committee presented a fashion show as its contribution to the club's activities. When winter styles are shown one is sure to find an interested and appreciative audience. The parish house of the Congregational Church was the setting for a brilliant yet practical exhibition of gowns presented by William Filene's Sons, and ably conducted by Miss Beatrice Bowry, who brought with her three of the Filene models, though the majority of gowns displayed were worn by club members. Those were Mesdames Carolyn Gilpatrick, Sarah de Rochemont, Amy Giant, Martha Kelly and Marion Gale. Mrs. Nancy Alexander was at the piano, adding immeasurably to the ease and grace of the promenaders. Mrs. May W. Friend, chairman of the American Home Committee, introduced Miss Bowry, who opened the fashion show with a talk on current styles, giving very definite instructions on how to choose a gown this season, emphatically stating that knees have been relegated to obscurity. A wise and modish person will no longer show her knees when standing or sitting, as the shortest skirt must be at least four inches below the knee. Gowns then attain any length, depending on the occasion for which they are fashioned. Miss Bowry placed a great deal of emphasis on the new fitted effect about the hips this being the keynote of style, and very smart. Pincushion frocks were shown, these lending themselves more particularly to slim, svelt figures.

The normal waist line has made its appearance once more, said Miss Bowry, especially in sport suits, but may be seen also in afternoon gowns. The creations worn by the models were charming and attractive enough to suit the most fastidious taste. The evening gowns were fascinating in the extreme, and the most exacting bride must surely have been delighted with the dainty gowns of the bridal party. Miss Bowry stressed many points to be noted in choosing gowns of the new order, and the afternoon was interesting and profitable.

Co-operation with War Veterans Committee

This committee will hold open house for the receiving of gifts of all descriptions for the purpose of bringing Christmas cheer to war veterans and their families. Donations of outgrown clothing for children, fruit, candy, smokers' supplies, socks, toilet articles and reading matter will be gratefully received. While many of the veterans are comfortably housed in hospitals, their dependents are in need of the comforts and even necessities of life. At this Christmas season hearts and hands should be open to the needs of the children of those who served in the time of stress. Let open house mean open hearts, not only in the case of Fortnightly members, but friends as well. Tea will be served by Chairman Valerie T. O'Connor and her committee, and one of the "boys," Arthur Jones, veteran of the great war, will entertain by violin solos. Mrs. Helen Studdy will be vocal soloist, and Mrs. Frances T. Conlon will read.

Literature Committee

Those who enjoyed the first meeting of the Current Literature Course will be anticipating another treat on Monday, Dec. 2, in Fortnightly Hall, when the second meeting will be held at 2:30. The book to be considered will be described by Miss Amy S. Bridgman. This is Frances Hackett's "Henry VIII," and an interesting discussion is assured. It had been intended to have two books under discussion at each session of the course, but the committee realized that this book by Frances Hackett could not be skimmed over with justice to the work, so "Henry VIII" will be the piece de resistance. A word to the wise is sufficient.

With Thrills of Anticipation This Will Be Awaited

On Thursday, Dec. 19, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the club will hold a silver tea at the Fortnightly room with Henry Harrison, well known publisher, poet, critic and lecturer of New York City as the guest of honor who will entertain with anecdotes of people in the writing field and with readings from his most recently published collection of poems entitled "Myself Limited."

On Dec. 18 Mr. Harrison is appearing before the Professional Women's Club of Boston and it is with much pride and pleasure that our club receives his promise to come to Winchester on the following day.

Mr. Harrison is a young man, yet his reputation in the field of literature is well established and from his publishing house have come many fine examples of the art of book making. For several years he was editor of the Greenwich Village Quill and his compilation of the Grub Street Book of Verse, an annual anthology of noteworthy verse, speaks for the high standard of his accomplishment. He is the publisher of Poetry World, a monthly journal of verse and critical survey of the staff of which publication our member, Mrs. Gale, serves in an editorial capacity.

Mrs. Irene D. Clarke and Mrs. Marion Perham Gale are in charge of arrangements for the affair.

UNIVERSITY THEATER

An up-to-the-minute down-to-the-second romance of Annapolis and West Point. That's "Salute," featuring George O'Brien, Helen Chandler, William Janney, Stepin Fetchit and many other well known players, which comes to the University for four days starting Sunday. O'Brien plays the role of a West Point football hero, an All-American halfback, and Janney that of his younger brother, a midshipman at Annapolis. Janney realizes his love for Helen Chandler only after he appears to be about to lose her to his famous kinsman. The climax is reached in an Army-Navy football game at the Polo Grounds, New York.

On the same bill Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, add to their phonograph and radio fame by making their first screen appearance in an all-talking comedy, "Why Bring That Up," a rapid fire story of the vaudeville stage introducing many of the numbers that they have recorded. In addition to these they present many new Morans and Mackies. "Why Bring That Up?" is from an original story by Octavus Roy Cohen, the famous author of negro stories.

"The Trespasser" which comes Thursday for three days, is a drama of the moment. Its setting is Chicago, its environment the "smart set." And through it intimate study of a girl who becomes a trespasser in this restricted social sphere and in the lives of its people, the story delves into vital affairs of life. Gloria Swanson, in her portrayal of "Marion Donnell," is supported by established players of both stage and screen. The leading man is Robert Ames, who has been extremely popular on Broadway. He portrays "Jack Merrick" whose romance with "Marion Donnell" indelibly stamps her as "The Trespasser." The companion feature is "The Saturday Night Kid" with Clara Bow. The play deals with the lives of the lads and lassies who earn their livings in the big department stores of the metropolis. Clara Bow is "The Saturday Night Kid." It is a role that calls for a full range of emotions. She rages, she pouts and she loves. James Hall and Edna May Oliver provide the leading support for the flaming-haired actress.

JOHN JOSEPH FLINN

John Joseph Flinn, well known in Winchester as a former resident, and first reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, here from 1911 to 1914, died suddenly Wednesday morning, Nov. 27, at his home in Glencoe, Ill. He had returned only a few days previous from the south where he had been lecturing on Christian Science as a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Mr. Flinn began his career as a newspaper writer and journalist when he was 21. He was born Dec. 5, 1851, at Clonmel, Ireland, the son of James and Margaret (Cunningham) Flinn. After receiving the usual common school education he entered the newspaper field, first as a reporter and continuing as correspondent and editor. In 1873 he became night editor of the St. Louis Globe, afterwards serving as staff correspondent in legislature and the Constitutional Convention for the Globe-Democrat. He was one of the founders of the Chicago Daily News and for seven years served as associate editor of the paper. Later he was managing editor of the Chicago Mail and the Chicago Times, then serving as editorial writer on the Chicago Inter Ocean from 1898 to 1908.

In 1908 he became associated as editorial writer with the Christian Science Monitor, in which capacity he continued until his death. He was also an active member of the Christian Science Lectureship Board.

Besides his newspaper work, Mr. Flinn was the author of various essays, lectures, poems and a novel. He was co-author with John E. Wilkie of a history of the Chicago police and wrote the Standard Guide to Chicago, also all the official guide books and many unofficial guide books to the Chicago Exposition.

He was appointed by President Arthur, United States Consul to Chemnitz, Saxony, in 1882 and during his two years abroad contributed a series of humorous letters to the Chicago Morning News.

Mr. Flinn came with his family to Winchester in 1908 and during his residence here was actively identified with the work of the Christian Science Church which he served as first reader for three years. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons and enjoyed a wide circle of acquaintances and friends in the town. He returned to his former home in Glencoe, Ill., nine years ago.

He served three terms as alderman in Evanston, Ill., was a charter member and past president of the Chicago Press Club, a member of the Boston Press Club and also of the Boston Veteran Journalists' Association.

Oct. 9, 1877, Mr. Flinn married Mary Talbot Cole of St. Joseph, Mo., who died in May, 1928. He is survived by three daughters, Miss Clara Flinn of Glencoe, Ill., Mrs. Daniel Roche of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Lucius Smith of Winchester; also by three sons, Melvin Stone of Highland Park, Ill., James M. of Evanston, Ill., and John C. Flinn of New York City.

The funeral services will be held on Friday, Nov. 29, at Glencoe, Ill.

PRIZES AND AWARDS AT THE DOLL CONTEST

The doll contest, held at the Epiphany bazaar in connection with the exhibition of Mrs. Frederic W. Fitts' doll collection, was a great success. Nearly 100 dolls were entered for various prizes by Winchester people. The dolls were of great variety and charm, with many treasured old dolls of special interest.

On Thursday evening, Mrs. Frederic W. Fitts of Roxbury and Miss Beatrice Pray of Brookline visited the exhibition to act as judges. They were delighted with all the dolls and awarded prizes as follows:

For the sweetest baby doll: 1st, Harriet Miller; 2nd, Claire Cullen; 3rd, Dorothy Hamilton. For the prettiest doll: 1st, Jeanne Phelps; 2nd, Ruth Bernnard; 3rd, Nancy Young. For the funniest doll, 1st, Natalie White; 2nd, Miss Dike; 3rd, Dorothy Hamilton. For the most unusual doll: 1st, Gretchen Cleaves and Mary Hall; 2nd, Deaconess Lane; 3rd, Claire Tapley. For the best historical doll: 1st, Mrs. Story, for a doll bought in London in about 1800 by a sea captain and brought to this country for his little girl and since then passed on through the succeeding generations of the same family; a beloved relic, nearly all worn away, but its indomitable blue eyes still shining. The 2nd prize in this class was won by Miss Alice Sanborn for a doll dressed at the old Sanborn estate by the late Miss Amanda Tannan and Madam Allan Boone, when they were girls. The 3rd prize was awarded Mrs. Story for a lovely old doll found in a Salem band box.

For the most lifelike doll: 1st prize was won by Janet Suller, 2nd by Shirley White; 3rd, Jeanne Phelps. For the best foreign doll: 1st, Marjory Haartz, for a Gurney doll with her milk can, knitting and market basket; 2nd, Miss Mills, for an exquisitely carved Chinese nurse; 3rd, Pamela Mitchell, for a beautifully made

French miss, diminutive and winsome.

The prize for the oldest doll in the show went to Mrs. Story for the same brave relic that was first in history; the next oldest was a doll of wonderful beauty and charm, entered by Mrs. Lampee. The exquisitely modeled features, enhanced by the picturesque hairdressing of the period of George IV and the lovely, simple lines of the empire gown, made this doll the sensation of the show. She was given the blue ribbon of honor, the first award of merit. The prize for third oldest doll went to Priscilla Morrill for two little wooden dolls that have been treasured through many generations in a little ancient mirrored box. Their costumes place them in the period just after the empire.

The red-ribbon doll, second award of merit, was entered by Nancy Young. The delightful old-fashioned doll, with her lovely old bed, original bedding and trousseau, had been exquisitely kept. The third award of merit, a white ribbon, was won by "Kitty Clyde" a large, well made rag doll with oil-painted face on cloth. Old rag dolls are exceptional; they were not so often kept, and a good one is rare.

A special award of merit, a ribbon of red, white and blue was pinned upon the most extraordinary exhibit in the show. It was a little doll's patchwork quilt made by Mrs. Charles Sanborn of Church street when she was 3 years old!

About 500 persons visited the doll show and Mrs. Truman Hemmway and Mrs. Henry K. Fitts, who, with the assistance of Mrs. James Pine, had it in charge, are very grateful to the many contributors of dolls who made it such a success.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Things to be Thankful for

"Guess you drys aren't finding much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving," said a half-hearted friend of the prohibition law, to one of his customers, as he filled an order for groceries to be used in the preparation of a Thanksgiving Day dinner. "Suppose you'd feel more like sitting down in sack cloth and ashes," he continued gloomily. "Evidently you have been reading the very damp newspapers," was the reply. "We drys, as you please to call us, have a very great deal to be thankful for in this year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine." The man opened his eyes in amazement. "You don't mean it?" he exclaimed, "and what may some of the causes for gratitude be?" he inquired with real curiosity.

"I can give you many," was the prompt reply.

1. "We are mightily thankful that we have in the Constitution of the United States, a law prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation and transportation of alcoholic beverages. It's in the Constitution and it's there to stay."

2. "Then it is a big cause for gratitude that no more the open saloon infests our cities, and that no man now openly defends that unspeakable institution."

3. "In spite of the repeated and continuous attacks of the wets, we have a Congress that is drier than any that preceded it, and that is pledged to support and uphold the law."

4. "We have a United States Supreme Court that has interpreted favorably every law concerning prohibition submitted to it."

5. "The records of the past legislative year in the states furnishes no satisfaction to the enemies of prohibition, for a large majority of the State legislatures strengthened their enforcement laws, and increased the appropriations for enforcement."

6. "One of the big causes for thankfulness is that we have an administration, with President Hoover at its head, which is determined to give prohibition its chance."

7. "Reason is that there is an increasing inclination on the part of society leaders to stand with the President in the observance of the law."

8. "Another trend of the times gives us solid gratification in the growing sense of responsibility on the part of the churches and its members for law observance and co-operation with the law enforcement officials."

8. "Then isn't it worthy of mention that 48,344 new women have come into the Woman's Christian Temperance Union this year, and that the head of one of the leading anti-prohibition women's groups can muster only 300? The skeptical brother had listened attentively and with increasing amazement to these reasons why one "dry" was giving thanks.

"That's sure some story you've been telling," he remarked "and if you've got your facts straight, and I'll venture you have, I just can't see why the wets should even attempt to celebrate Thanksgiving Day. They are the ones to be in sackcloth and ashes, I'm thinking."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

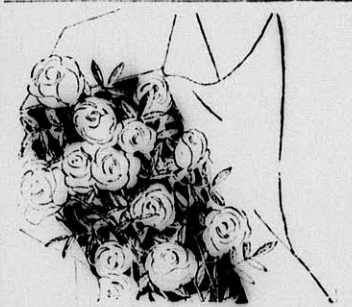

"The Trespasser," Gloria Swanson's new success, in which this star sings and talks, comes to the big Granada Theater in Malden on Saturday, for a run of seven days which includes special shows on Sunday. Much was expected of Miss Swanson in the talking field but no one expected that her first effort would be hailed as the best of the season. "The Trespasser," which opens on Saturday, is modern in every respect. In the picture Miss Swanson is called upon to make 10 complete changes of costume, including exotic evening gowns and wraps, street ensembles, afternoon frocks and negligees. The theme of "The Trespasser," concerns a successful girl of the business world and her marriage to the son of a Chicago millionaire.

Moran and Mack, the two Black Crows, in their all talking comedy hit, "Why Bring That Up?" heads the bill the Granada will offer for the last times today. This picture gives the spectator a chance to see just how these famous radio and recording stars look when doing their act.

Origin of Nickname

"Squarehead" is a slang phrase or term which originated in Australia and was given to German and Scandinavian immigrants. It is commonly supposed that this term was an outgrowth of that applied to winter wheat, which has close compact ears.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

"Thunder," the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theater, Malden, is a railroad story with plenty of thrills and an appealing human interest romance throughout. Lon Chaney is the star and he has an opportunity to show his exceptionally fine ability as an actor without the aid of the grotesque makeups in which he is so familiar to his audiences. Chaney portrays an old railroad engineer who eats, sleeps and thinks railroading and takes so much interest in the welfare of the road and the maintenance of schedules that he is looked upon as a typical grouch and has been nicknamed "Grumpy." The beginning of the picture shows Chaney bringing in the crack limited through one of the worst snowstorms of the year and ones interest never lags from then until the finish which shows the relief train plowing through four feet of water. Phyllis Haver is excellent as the night club entertainer who falls in love with one of Chaney's sons. The second feature on this program is another stirring episode of "Pirates of Panama" starring Natalie Kingston.

Next week Monday marks the opening of the new sound equipment at the Orpheum Theater. The feature picture selected for the new policy will be "The College Coquette" an all-talking picture which portrays a bit of campus life at a co-educational college. Ruth Taylor handles the characterization in a most finished manner and Jobyna Ralston as the unsophisticated chum who is deceived by a carefree youth plays her part with a sympathetic understanding. Colorful sequences showing football games, a girls' hockey match and a number of social events in a co-educational institution are well handled. William Collier, Jr. and John Holland have the leading male roles. "My Lady's Past" starring Belle Bennett and Joe E. Brown will be the second feature on this program. This is a drama of a woman who preferred scorn to pity and it tells a human story of a great love and its sacrifices.

Scottish Shrine

Within a short distance of "Ellisland" lie the "bonnie braes" of Maxwellton, scene of the wooing of Annie Laurie, says a National Geographic society bulletin. Tradition states that fickle Annie proved unfaithful to her Jacobite poet lover and married the lord of broad acres some miles away. Not far across country are the ruins of Lag tower, castle of Sir Walter Scott's "Redgauntlet."

Scientific theory

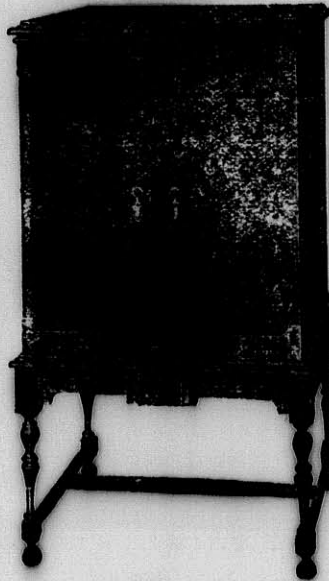

Because the maps of South America, Australia, India, and the Antarctic continent can be fitted neatly around a map of South Africa, some scientists think it possible that great land masses long ago broke up to form the continents.

WINCHESTER WON AT SAUGUS

Several First String Players Missing in 13-6 Victory

Winchester High School's football team, minus several players who had been considered first string, won a 13-6 victory from Saugus High School last Saturday afternoon at Saugus. The locals winning margin should have been larger, a costly fumble preventing one touchdown while offside penalties stood in the way of a second. Winchester protested the score which Saugus made in the opening quarter on the ground that Templin, Saugus fullback, stepped out of bounds during the course of his long touchdown jaunt. Saugus outweighed the locals, but failed to show either the football or fight displayed by Coach Mansfield's charges.

The Winchester mentor was without the services of Symmes, Flaherty and Colpas, linemen who were prevented from playing because of scholastic deficiency. "Don" Emery, crack center, was kept on the sidelines, nursing some badly bruised ribs.

The loss of these players made the entire local team fight just a bit harder and the showing of the boys on a bad football day was on the whole rather good. Ambrose, starting his first game at center, played fine defensive football while "Dan" Smith and Morton also stood out on the Winchester frontier. In the backfield Capt. "Bart" Godfrey was outstanding with "Robbie" Robinson flashing some of the running form he showed before his unfortunate injury early in the season.

Saugus scored in the first few minutes following the opening whistle. Winchester received and Newman was forced to punt, his boot traveling 40 yards to midfield. On second down Templin rounded Winchester's right end and ran 50 yards for a touchdown. The local rushline smothered the try at goal.

The Winchester boys protested that the fleet Saugus back had gone out of bounds in avoiding Godfrey who did not try to make his tackle, believing the runner was not on the field of play. The officials, however, ruled that everything was as it should have been and the six points stood.

Winchester received and with Robinson flashing a couple of brilliant runs worked the ball to the Saugus 20-yard line where the home team held for downs.

Soon after the beginning of the second quarter, Winchester had the ball on its own 30-yard line. A short kick from Newman's toe rolled outside at the Saugus 7-yard stripe. Saugus had to kick and Winchester, after rushing from the 40-yard line to the 22-yard marker in the enemy's country sent Lee, Brown, Clarke and Wilmer Smith into the backfield. Clarke called signals and on fourth down with 7 yards to go on the 19-yard line took a pass from Lee to run 10 yards for a touchdown. Lee plunged over for the extra point at tackle.

The locals missed another touchdown shortly after when Murphy knocked down and recovered a Saugus lateral on the home team's 10-yard line. Winchester rushed to the 4-yard marker where a fumble was recovered by Saugus and the ball kicked out of danger.

Winchester came back after the half with Newman, Robinson, Dolan and Godfrey in the backfield. Ambrose ran the kickoff to his own 33-yard line and on the first play Newman passed to Morton for a gain of 20 yards. Newman got 5 yards at end and then passed to Robinson for another 15. With the ball on the Saugus 27-yard line, Godfrey got 5 yards and followed up with a pretty pass to Morton who took the ball 2 yards from the goal line and loped over for the score. McNeil missed his try for goal at placement by inches.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

(Written for The Winchester Star)

A noble institution that takes our fancy And an institution that takes our eye Is Winchester Hospital with ministrations thoughtful. When clouds of physical ills obscure the sky, Winchester Hospital does its part without urging. Is kind to the weak and poor. While its smile of kindly succor is ever surging And ever will endure. The infinite pains of doing the thing that Winchester Hospital will always do well. The glory of great achieving—it is all in the effort, friends. And out of the toil and trouble folk come to learn the noblest achieving that sweetens the human soul again. Winchester Hospital is doing its work with heart and spirit and vim. Has entered humanity's race apparelled with hope and zeal. To stand fast under the banner of Service. To smile when suffering stalks grim. And will hope and go onward with a heart true as steel.

In the Days of Chivalry

A quaint law was passed in England in the Middle Ages relative to the muddy and rutted highways of the day. According to the law bushes and trees were felled for 200 feet on either side of a road to prevent the gentle inhabitants of the countryside from rushing out and attacking travelers! The first toll for the maintenance of English roads was passed by Edward III in the Fourteenth century.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

HIGHLAND-WASHINGTON CHAPTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Parents, friends and neighbors filled the hall of the George Washington School Friday evening, Nov. 22 and listened to an interesting program by the children of the Highland and George Washington Schools. The program was the first "Dads' Night" the Mothers' Club has given and was indeed a success.

Mr. Quinn spoke a few words of welcome. Miss Jeanne Winchester of the sixth grade announced the program.

The first part was by the lower grades. Song, original paragraphs and exercises by the children were a delight to hear. The group from the Highland School showing models of modern inventions and reciting verses as to what a pilgrim child would think if she saw them was very clever. "Thanksgiving Peppers" received great applause.

The play from "Pilgrim Life" was splendid. The characters, in costume, were very well taken and the original lines by the 5th and 6th grades told the story of the pilgrims' experiences in Holland and their first years in America. The Dutch dance by the boys and girls was very pretty. A tableau, "The First Thanksgiving" was very realistic.

The confidence which the children showed and their willingness to perform was commented upon by the parents.

Mrs. Lucius Smith, president of the Mothers' Club, introduced Miss Pauline Clark, president of the Junior Red Cross, who presented Mrs. Hefflin and Miss Hatch with flowers.

The children received their parents in their rooms and refreshments were served in the kindergarten room.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

According to a Winchester fellow it is a heavenly dream of having all the human race dwell in righteous peace, but it never takes into account the wretched disposition that leaves chewing gum where our pants pick it up.

"Faith" was the recent sermon topic of one of our Winchester dominies. Which reminds the Paraphraser that faith has been explained as the thing which enables a Winchesterite to buy a spring chicken without asking which spring.

While even "Tom" Edison says that he doesn't know just what electricity is, a lot of Winchester folk still know enough not to sit on the electric toaster.

In a confidential manner The Paraphraser wishes to speak of Josie, in the column "Your Affairs and Mine". Where so oft we speak of yore: And we know if you could glimpse her, You'd agree she is some vampier. And leave us free to rhapsodize some more.

That lawyer not afar from Winchester who complains that his client "insisted on getting on the stand and telling the truth" has a just grievance. What chance has an earnest and conscientious lawyer against such an inconsiderate client?

An egg that she suspects of age: A housewife has to crack: Then if it's at the danger stage: She cries, "Ains! Ains!"

A joke is like an egg in this: To see if it be old: We crack it in "Your Affairs and Mine": And wait for Winchesterites to soid.

Any style is favored by the girls of Winchester which gives them a chance to show they have a least something.

How many Winchesterites remember the days when they could have a hair cut with bay rum for 15 cents. The Paraphraser

Persimmons

The Japanese persimmon tree will bear when it becomes four or five years old. The time at which the native persimmon reaches the bearing period is variable. Under the most favorable conditions this tree will bear in from four to six years.

Named by Drake

The name "Golden Gate" was given to the entrance to San Francisco bay by Sir Francis Drake about 1578.

INJURED IN LOCAL AUTO CRASH

Clarence M. F. Stevenson of 32 Hemingway street, Francis Conlon of Border street, Anthony J. Keany of 49 Canal street, Patrick Powers of 614 Main street and James Breen of Middlesex street sustained injuries of varying degree shortly after 7 o'clock last Saturday morning when the Ford touring car in which they were riding west on Church street was in collision at the junction of Church and Fletcher streets with a Studebaker touring car, owned and operated by Elmer W. Tangren of Hillsdale avenue, Burlington. The later vehicle was crossing Church street from Fletcher street.

The Ford was owned and operated by Stevenson who sustained cuts about the face and a bruised right knee. Conlon was removed to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Milton J. Quinn for a fractured collar bone and cuts about the face. Keany received treatment for cuts on the head. Powers and Breen also complained of being hurt. Both machines were badly damaged. The police were notified of the accident and Patrolmen James E. Farrell, James P. Donaghey and John H. Noonan were dispatched to the scene.

Officer Farrell took Conlon to the hospital. The injured man is the brother of Harvard's "Locke" Conlon and in his own right was quite a ball player some years back. During the past summer he umpired most of the Saturday baseball games on Manchester Field.

MRS. FLORA E. BISHOP

Mrs. Flora E. Bishop, widow of Stuart Bishop and well known among older residents of the town, passed away late Saturday night, Nov. 23, at her home, 43 Washington street, following a long illness.

Mrs. Bishop was 80 years of age and a native of Washington, Vt., the daughter of Gilman and Louisa (Bacon) Scribner. Her early life was spent at Henniker, N. H., and she was educated in the public schools of that town. Following her marriage 58 years ago at Washington, D. C., she came to Winchester and had since made her home here. She was a member of the Unitarian Church, of the Women's Alliance of that society and of the Fortnightly Women's Club.

Surviving are two daughters, Miss Edith L. Bishop, a teacher in the Roxbury Memorial High School, with whom Mrs. Bishop made her home; and Mrs. E. N. Willis of Dallas, Tex. Mr. Bishop died in 1916.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon in the Meyer Chapel of the Unitarian Church with the Rev. George Hale Reed officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Invitation to Trouble

An apple a day keeps the doctor away, but Adam and Eve found that an apple was just an invitation to Old Man Trouble.

FUNERAL RITES FOR WILLIAM ADRIANCE

Funeral services for William Adriance, who died Thursday, Nov. 21, at his home on Norwood street, were held on last Saturday afternoon in the First Congregational Church with the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, officiating. There was a large attendance of friends and business associates of the deceased and many beautiful flowers. Dean Peabody, Albert Dahymple, Roland Simonds and Richard Parkhurst, all of Winchester, acted as ushers.

There was organ music, played by J. Albert Wilson, and robed members of the church choir sang the hymn, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand." During the services Doctor Chidley read three poems from the pen of Rev. S. Winchester Adriance, father of the deceased. Frank E. Rowe, Edward H. Kenerson, William A. Kneeland, Alfred H. Hildreth, William L. Parsons, all of Winchester, and Chester Spring of Wellesley served as bearers. Mr. Spring acting as representative of Harris Forbes & Co. of Boston, with which house Mr. Adriance had been associated in business. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Adriance was 49 years of age and had made his home in Winchester since 1890. He was a member of the State Republican Committee and had been chairman of the Republican Town Committee. He served the town for many years as an election official and had been a member of the Finance Committee. Flags on the common and Calumet Club, of which he was a member, were at half staff in his honor. He was treasurer of the Winchester Home for Aged People, was president of the First Congregational Men's Club and had served the church society in several official capacities. Besides his wife and two daughters, he is survived by his parents, a brother and a sister.

FIREMEN HAD THREE CALLS OVER WEEK-END

The first alarm received at Fire Headquarters over the past week-end came in at 4:15 Saturday morning when the smell of smoke aroused Etta C. Richardson at her home, 597 Washington street. The men found the trouble caused by an over-heated ice chest motor.

Sunday afternoon at 5:55 Wagon 4 made a trip to Park avenue to admit a keyless resident of that street to a tightly locked dwelling. At 11:02 the same night there was a chimney fire at the residence of James Ferris, 11 Harvard street.

Monday morning's alarm from Box 573 at 9:17 was for a Pontiac coupe, which caught fire on Cambridge street near the Robinson estate. The machine was owned by "Cy" Little of Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Jackson of 50 Lincoln street have been entertaining Mrs. Jackson's brother, Mr. Robert Moseley of London, Eng.

WINCHESTER GIRLS AT B. S. P. E.

Miss Louise Packer and Miss Nancy Bradlee, both graduates of Winchester High School, have been playing fine hockey at the Boston School of Physical Education this fall. During their high school days both were members of championship hockey teams; Louise playing a hard fighting game at half back on the 1927 titular eleven, while Nancy was a fast flashy wing on the 1927 and 1928 clubs. The latter made the winning goal against Arlington last year in the game which decided the Greater Boston championship. This year both Nancy and Louise made the freshman team and also the varsity at B. S. P. E.

The last named met its alumnae last week and both Winchester girls played in the game. It may be interesting to know that Miss Margaret Centerville, coach at the local high school eleven and graduate of B. S. P. E. played against the varsity team. She was captain of the championship Commonwealth hockey team this past season.

LAST CALL FOR RED CROSS MEMBERSHIPS

The roll call is nearly over. Has every member of your household given his membership? The workers have been conscientious, but even with care, some one may be overlooked. Please do not say, "No one has come to my house!" Just send your check to Mrs. W. H. Bentley, 24 Central street, give it to Mrs. Hadley at the Treasury Box, or send it to Mr. Priest at the Savings Bank.

The Red Cross needs you. Sometime you may need the Red Cross. Someone very dear to you may need the Red Cross. There is no organization in the world equipped to handle disaster on the scale it must be handled at times of earthquake, flood and hurricane like the Red Cross. The story of the instant, effective aid given by Red Cross at the Porto Rico hurricane is a thrilling, vivid tale. I wish you could know all about it. We pray that the Red Cross will never have to take charge in Winchester but we must be ready.

Every person of any responsibility in Vermont bows in thankfulness to the Red Cross for the aid rendered. Remember, the Red Cross needs your membership. Also it offers you a chance to join in wonderful humanitarian work, to prevent needless suffering and death, to assist disabled veterans and their families, to bring public health nursing to thousands of communities, to train the youth of the world in the idea of the universal brotherhood of man.

WINCHESTER ENDS THREE-YEAR FOOTBALL REIGN AT NORWICH TANSEY THIRD LOCAL BOY TO LEAD CADETS' ELEVEN

When Capt. Joseph Tansey hung up his togs after the recent football game between Norwich University and Brown on the latter's field at Providence, Winchester's three-year gridiron reign at the Northfield, Vt. military college came to an end. Roger Sherman, Clarence O'Donnell and Tansey have captained the cadets' eleven in successive seasons for the past three years, and each has been in every sense a leader. Winchester is justly proud of the record its boys have made at Norwich. Where is there another town able to boast of three football captains in a row at the same college?

Tansey's career, especially, should prove an inspiration to youngsters who are finding the road to college a bit thorny. The path big "Muggins" had to follow on the way to a higher education was not a particularly smooth one, and the fact that he was able to overcome the obstacles which presented themselves establishes his ambition and determination beyond doubt.

"Joe" was graduated from high school in 1922 with an enviable reputation as an all-around athlete. He it was whom Winchester's opponents feared most on gridiron, diamond and basketball court, and with real cause for Tansey was and is a great competitor.

After working a year he decided to get a college education and with the money he had earned, entered Goddard Seminary where another Winchester boy, "Joe" Mathews was doing big things in an athletic way. Tansey was accompanied on his trek to the Vermont prep school by "Lead" O'Donnell, mentioned above, and both local lads were athletic mainstays on the seminary teams during their entire stay in school.

Graduating from Goddard, Tansey was obliged to work a year before entering Norwich, but once enrolled at the Northfield military college, he more than made up for lost time.

Making the football team at once, "Muggins" played regularly throughout his college career at guard and tackle, leading the team as captain during the season just past. His work on the cadets' rushline was very effective and despite a losing season, his play this fall earned him an invitation to participate in the big benefit game to be staged this week-end in Boston by two all New England college elevens for the Crosscup-Pishon Post Christmas fund.

In addition to football, "Muggins" has been a member of the Norwich baseball team and has been prominent in non-athletic activities at Northfield. He is a Lieutenant in the cadet corps, rating as pistol marksman and expert swordsman and is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, the fraternity to which both Sherman and O'Donnell belonged. He was president of his class as a freshman and was chairman of the committee for both freshman week and freshman night. As a junior he was advertising manager of the Norwich year book, the "War Whoop" and was also a member of the junior week committee. He will be graduated in June as one of the big men on the Norwich campus.

Fine as Tansey's record has been, it is only fair to state that he was obliged to shoot high to sustain the reputation his Winchester predecessors, Sherman and O'Donnell, had made.

"Ty" Sherman, the first of the local triumvirate at Northfield, is probably one of the finest all-around athletes to play for the Maroon and Gold in recent years. About all Sherman did at Norwich was captain and play four years of football, captain the hockey team, play three years of varsity baseball and a season of basketball. He was president of his class during his senior and junior years and was president of his fraternity as well as being a Lieutenant in the cadet corps. "Ty" was graduated two years ago and is now in business in Boston.

When Sherman turned over the football reins at Norwich another Winchester boy was ready to receive them. "Lead" O'Donnell captained both the eleven and basketball team of the cadets, besides playing varsity baseball. Among his other activities, he was on the college athletic council, vice president of the "N" Club, house manager of his fraternity and Lieutenant in the cadet corps. "Lead" was graduated last June and is now in Philadelphia with the Marine Corps, in which he holds the commission of Second Lieutenant.

ALL VOTED FOR TANK Water Board Unanimous in Steps for Its Construction

Winchester, Mass., Dec. 1, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:
In view of the statements in recent issues of the "Star" with reference to the new high service water tank on Symmes Hill, this communication may interest your readers.

In last week's "Star" Mr. Kendall, a member of the Water and Sewer Board, suggested that the recently constructed tank might have been avoided by building in the north end of the town a new cement tank 40 feet or 50 feet higher than the present tank at that point. The plan he suggested to increase that water supply in the high service system in the south part of the town was not considered feasible by Metcalf and Eddy, whose reputation as water works engineers cannot be questioned.

In the first place, it is not considered good engineering to use cement tanks much over 40 feet high. In most cases where this has been done they have not proved satisfactory. Our own west side tank had to be water-proofed in 1925 at a large cost, and we do not know how long it will remain water tight.

In the second place, if the north tank should be raised 40 feet, it would be 80 feet high (the new tank is 67 feet high), and it would be more conspicuous on the sky-line in that part of the town than the new tank will be when the landscape work is completed.

In the third place, a larger tank is not needed at the north end of the high service system to supply water at the south end of the system. The difficulty was in getting the water from the north tank to the south district in large enough quantities for proper fire protection.

Ten years ago the old 6-inch cement pipe between Fells road and Park avenue, 1800 feet in length, was replaced with 10-inch iron pipe, and eight years ago the balance of the old pipe between Park avenue and Winthrop street was relaid with 10-inch iron pipe. At that time there was no building development in the south part of the town and it was deemed of sufficient size. The 10-inch pipe now extends nearly to Prospect street, not to Winthrop street.

The balance of the Highland avenue pipe is 580 feet of 8-inch and 1585 feet of 6-inch, which extends to Everett road. In the report of the engineers they said that with the increased use of water in the south part of the high service system, Highland avenue throughout its entire length would have to be replaced with 12-inch pipe, or a parallel line of 10-inch pipe, in order that the south end of the town should have sufficient water supply. This solution would have cost the tax payers a large amount of money. Moreover, it was not advised by the engineers, who reported that the new tank would provide the town with better protection than a new main.

The problem of water supply in Winchester is entirely different from that of the surrounding towns. We have the best natural water supply in this district, supplying water to about two-thirds of the town without pumping. We have two entirely separate high land districts which water from the reservoirs cannot reach: one on the east side and one on the west side of the town. This accounts for two of the tanks. Briefly stated, the reasons for installing the third tank were:

1. A tank was recommended by the New England Insurance Exchange and Metcalf and Eddy, Engineers, as the best method of supplying the high service system at the south end of the town.
2. A tank would cost the town $15,000 against approximately $50,000 for a new main in Highland avenue.
3. It would provide two separate supplies, and if a break occurred in the Highland avenue main only a short section need be shut off, while the break was being repaired, and a large part of the high service would not be left without fire protection.
4. The tank being near the south reservoir main, a separate pump receiving its supply from the south reservoir can be installed and in this way a complete duplicate system will be available.

START CHRISTMAS PLANS

Winchester Committee to Meet Monday Night

Secretary Nathaniel M. Nichols of the special committee which has been formed to carry out plans for Christmas gifts and a Christmas celebration has issued notices to 31 organizations in town calling upon them to meet next Monday night, Dec. 9.

Mr. George T. Davidson is president of the organization. The meeting is to be held at the rooms of the Welfare Board at the Town Hall. The notice states that the meeting is called "to see what will be done in Winchester at Christmas."

MRS. WOODSIDE TO ATTEND NEW YORK PREMIERE OF HER PLAY

Mrs. Lorence M. Woodside is now in New York to attend the premiere of her play, "Sonja's Search for the Christmas Star," which she translated from the Norwegian of Sverre Brandt. This play, to be produced the coming week at the Hampden Theater on Broadway and 62nd street marks the opening of a children's theater sponsored by the New York Junior League.

TO THE CITIZENS OF WINCHESTER

The School Committee wishes to take this opportunity to correct a misapprehension, which seems to be current in town, that the Special Town Meeting next Tuesday night has been called largely to advocate the adoption in Winchester of some new and heretofore untried method of teaching. We shall propose to the meeting only that a comprehensive study be made by an impartial committee of the necessity for providing increased accommodations for the pupils above the sixth grade. The problem both in the Wadleigh and High Schools is "overcrowding," and the Committee feels it would be remiss in its duty to the citizens if it did not call to their attention the serious conditions which prevail at the present time.

The Committee wishes also to make clear that whatever method is adopted for solving this problem, whether a new building or additions to the present buildings, the pupils will still be taught only the same subjects and by the same methods as at present. The method of instruction in both the High School and the Wadleigh School is the same: the English teacher teaches English, the Mathematics teacher teaches Mathematics, etc., each teacher being a specialist in her subject. This is in contrast to the old method where each teacher taught all of the pupils in her particular room all of the subjects that were offered, and naturally was more efficient in some subjects than in others.

In the High School this method of instruction is known as the High School Method. In the so-called Grammar grades, the seventh and eighth, or the seventh, eighth and ninth, according as they may be grouped, this method of instruction is known as the Junior High School Method. The Wadleigh School has been run on the Junior High plan for about 15 years, and this method is in almost universal use in Massachusetts and elsewhere.

Rumors that a new building to replace the Wadleigh or an enlargement of that building would mean the inclusion of a Trade School are absolutely incorrect. Winchester does not need a Trade School, and we are and always have been absolutely opposed to such a school, whether in a separate building or included in the Wadleigh. We are not an industrial town and apparently never will be.

We are particularly anxious for all citizens to appreciate that the words "Junior High School" are not a cause for alarm; that we have had a Junior High in Winchester for many years and that the Junior High System of instruction has been universally adopted under the guidance of the State Department of Education.

We give you below a list of the cities and towns in Massachusetts listed in "The 1930 Educational Directory of the Massachusetts Department of Education," just issued, and containing among other things a list of all communities operating Junior High Schools. The number after some of the names indicates the number of such schools.

GIRLS START BASKETBALL

Basketball practice for girls at the high school began on Wednesday. About 45 enthusiastic players reported for preliminary work. After a few weeks, Miss Centerville plans to cut her first squad to 15. On Tuesday and Thursday there is a short period of basketball for members of last year's squad and a few other promising players.

There are only eight girls left from last year's squad and only one first team letter girl. She is Mary Cutler, who is this year's captain. The other girls are Loretta Carleton, Janet Nichols, Caroline Nichols, Caroline Mercer, Mable Tompkins, Ruth Wadleigh and Margery Kendrick.

There is to be a sale at the Home for Aged People on Mt. Vernon street Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 11.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

With one exception every member of the club was present at our regular meeting on Thursday and visitors were much in evidence. This naturally tended to swell the volume of song. Tom's favorite selection was not overlooked, nor was Doc's.

We received notification from the Salem Rotary Club that special effort will be made during December to put the 31st district near the top of the list in the matter of attendance. Our club will surely do its part if we but duplicate our November record.

Harry Wood kindly extended an invitation to members of our club to visit the telephone exchange in Woburn to inspect various alterations and improvements which have recently been made.

We are indebted to E. C. Sander for his offices in procuring our speaker at this meeting. "E. C." introduced Charles Burleigh, member of the Rotary Club of Boston and affiliated with the General Electric Co.

Charles specializes in the fourth object of acquaintance as an opportunity for service. We were shortly to learn that he has exemplified this principle as few others have. Charles takes the stand that any two individuals irrespective of their homes or their previous lack of acquaintance may be found to have a mutual friend or friends. This seems to be a large order to fill, but Charles has been filling orders all his life and he spent almost his entire allotment of time in relating to us various instances where he had linked two men, utter strangers to each other, with another man who was known to both. Charles insists that anybody can do the same as he has, but his methods of procedure along this line and the achievements to his credit are truly amazing and we must believe that he possesses a genius for developing the spirit of brotherhood.

We do not wish to create a nuisance by too frequently exhorting club members to attend meetings, but we would repeat that the clubs of the 31st district are endeavoring to compliment Governor Tom with a particularly good standing for the month of December. Let us carry on.

Attendance percentage for Nov. 21, 96.55
Average attendance for November, 1929, 98.85 per cent.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Our local Regent was present at the recent meeting of the State Guild where final plans were made for Guild Xmas tree which is an annual event on the Sunday preceding Christmas at the Home for Destitute Children.

Much enthusiasm is being manifested for the Holly whist to be held at the home of Mrs. Halligan on Washington street next Thursday evening. Her many friends have donated generously of prizes and all are assured of a good time by being present.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk as follows:

Edward Paul Kennelly of 194 Green street, Melrose, and Helen Frances Flaherty of 5 Dunham street. William Joseph Hynes, Jr. of Omaha, Neb., and Elizabeth Elliott Waldo of 216 Highland avenue.

Walter William Jackowski of 101 Summer street, Bridgeport, Conn., and Jean McKay of 118 Highland avenue. Frederick Wilton Smith of 145 Highland avenue, Somerville, and Marjorie Elizabeth Damon of 16 Everett avenue.

Police headquarters received several notices early yesterday morning of a bad leak in a water main on Main street near the Symmes Grain Mill. The police attempted to get the Water Department on Lake street but were stymied by the fact that the department's line is private and no connection could be made. The police finally located Superintendent Harry Dotten's residence and in this way got word of the leak to the latter.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white georgette with white stockings and slippers. Her long tulle veil was caught with clusters of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Connors wore a frock of yellow georgette with yellow stockings and slippers and a large picture hat to match. Her flowers were talisman roses.

Following the ceremony a small reception for members of the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's parents. Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Snodgrass will make their home in Woburn.

MATHEWS-McKEEVER

Miss Margaret McKeever of Woburn and Edward Mathews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mathews, son of Upland road were married Thanksgiving eve in the rectory of St. Charles Church, Woburn, by the Rev. Fr. J. Francis Twomey. Miss McKeever and Mr. Mathews were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ward of Woburn.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a tulle veil, arranged in a simple cap, and caught with orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Ward wore yellow satin with a coronet of rhinestones. Her flowers were yellow chrysanthemums, tied with yellow ribbons.

Following a reception to 50 relatives and intimate friends, Mr. and Mrs. Mathews left for a wedding trip to New York City. They are to make their home in Woburn.

ENTERTAINED SOCIAL CLUB

The Winchester Social Club was entertained on Tuesday evening at the home of its president, Mrs. Maud Harkins on Eaton street. The house was artistically decorated with evergreen and holly suggestive of the approaching yuletide.

Mrs. Maida Hallberg was the recipient of many beautiful gifts from the club members as she sails from New York on Saturday for Europe where she is to make an extended visit, not returning to Winchester until the late summer. Mrs. Hallberg is to be accompanied by her two sons, Robert and Roland.

What was enjoyed until late in the evening after which vocal and piano solos were admirably rendered by various members of the club. A buffet lunch was served and Mrs. Harkins, as usual, proved a most charming hostess. Although sorry to lose one of its most interesting members all present were thoroughly enthused with the merriment of the evening.

Miss Dorothy Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice F. Brown of Rrangeley, was a member of the committee in charge of the dormitory dancing parties held at Wellesley College last Saturday evening for the girls unable to go home for the holidays.

CARS CRASHED AT SYMMES CORNER

During Monday afternoon's snowstorm at 4 o'clock a Packard sedan, owned and operated by Mabel G. Clark of 15 Everett avenue, was in collision on Main street at Symmes corner with a Hupmobile sedan and a White truck. The Packard and Hupmobile were damaged but no one was injured.

According to the police account of the affair the Packard was going north on Main street and was crossing the car tracks, headed for Bacon street, when it skidded and collided with the Hupmobile which was going south. The latter car was owned and driven by Vernon H. Vyse of 361 Washington street. After colliding with the Hupmobile, the Packard then collided with the truck, also headed south and owned by the Beacon Oil Company of Everett. The driver, Joseph F. Annino of 21 Pearl street, Everett, told the police he drove onto the sidewalk in an attempt to avoid the crash. Mrs. Clark differed with the police report of the accident, stating that her machine collided with the truck first.

President Elizabeth C. McDonald of the Chapter and Mrs. Jane King attended the Leaders' School at Reading which was conducted last Tuesday from 10:30 until 3:30. There, with the other leaders from this section, they cooked a well-balanced dinner under the supervision of Miss May Foley, State director of Home Economics and Miss Regina M. Feeney, County Extension Director.

The table decorations and favors were of a Christmas nature, as were many of the dishes. These ideas will all be discussed with the class at next Tuesday's meeting. The meeting will begin at 1:30 sharp.

Oriental Rug Weaving

Oriental rugs are woven on a single frame consisting of two poles supporting two rollers. To the rollers is fastened a warp of strong threads, the number of which determines the width and fineness of the rug. To each thread of the warp, short frills of colored wool, silk, or hair of camels and goats are knotted in such a way that the two ends project toward the worker.

WINCHESTER HOSPITALWinton Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Winton Club was held at the Nurses' home of the Winchester Hospital on Dec. 2.

There was a very good attendance.
Ten new members have been chosen recently from the younger group of girls in Winchester and all of these were present. The fact that this their first meeting, was held at the Nurses' home started their work in the Winton Club with a very close and pleasant contact with the nurses and the hospital.

Much sewing was accomplished between 2 and 4 o'clock. There was an immediate need for pads, binders and other articles used in the care of patients and a good supply was finished for hospital use.

Miss Torrop, the Superintendent, then spoke to the Winton Club. She made suggestions for future enlargement of their field of usefulness and told them how a well established organization like theirs, well known in Winchester, could be of great help to her and the nurses in many ways.

After Miss Torrop's talk, the members were served tea by the nurses.
Ten does not form a part of Winton Club meetings and was greatly appreciated. It was felt by all who attended that this meeting held at the Nurses' home was one of the most pleasant of their meetings.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

Characteristic gypsy melodies, songs of the open road, songs of passion and love are heard in the all-talking and singing picture "The Squall" the sensational screen version of the stage play which is the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. The title of this picture symbolizes the fiery and passionate gypsy maid who seeks sanctuary in a prosperous Hungarian farmhouse, stays there only a short time and creates such havoc among the men that she is likened to a squall which comes suddenly, stays but a short time, but causes terrific destruction in that brief stay. The second feature on this program is another episode of the mystery serial "Pirates of Panama" starring Natalie Kingston.

"Stark Mad," Warner Bros. 100 per cent all-talking picture will be the feature attraction at the Orpheum for the first three days of next week.
"Stark Mad" is without doubt the most uncanny of all the shiver-andshake laugh-makers of the screen.
Vitaphone adds to the reality of the unreality by recording every shriek, stutter, growl and intelligible word spoken and sensitively reproducing all spoken such as the whir of speeding arrows, roar of winds and the beat of rain and waves, together with the bunbling tread of the huge gorilla.
The story tells the adventures of the members of an expedition formed by a millionaire with the avowed purpose of locating his lost son in the Central American jungles. "Two Men and a Maid," the second feature on this program follows the adventurous romance of two members of the French Foreign Legion. The story is a flaming triangle drama that is told against the background of burning Sahara sands. William Collier Jr., Eddie Gribbons and Alma Bennett have the leading roles.

DECEMBER IN WINCHESTER

(Written for The Winchester Star)

December in Winchester, when the sky
A shroud of leaden color seems to lie
Above the barren fields where pretty flowers
Not so long ago flourished and found pleasure
In summer showers.
In December Winchester's leafless sylvan borders
Are no more enlivened by songsters happy:
The songsters have departed to a pleasant clime.
And leaf-shorn trees and you and I alone remain
To scrutinize the cycle of revolving Time.

ley is between the 15th of October

TELEPHONE RATE REVISIONS

Rate revisions estimated to save telephone users more than $200,000 a year are announced by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., effective Jan. 1. This is the second rate reduction announced by this Company this year, a revision of toll rates, resulting in savings of $250,000 annually, having been put into effect last February.

The present reduction applies to such items as service connection charges, moving charges, rates applying to subscribers remote from the central office, and certain charges connected with toll. Monthly base rates for local exchange service remain unchanged.

In Metropolitan Boston there will be substantial savings to subscribers.
In the matter of service connection charges, for example, where the telephone is not in place, the Massachusetts charge is now $3.50, state-wide regardless of kind of service installed. The new schedule substitutes a graduated scale.

For Boston residence main stations and private branch exchange trunks
the service connection charge is reduced from $3.50 to $3. Only in the case of business main stations and private branch exchange trunks is the $3.50 charge retained.

The same scale of service connection applies in the larger Massachusetts exchanges. In smaller places, the main station service connection charge is stepped down to a minimum of $2.50, according to size of exchange.

When telephones are in place, the charge for connecting new service remains at $2 in the major Massachusetts cities, but is reduced to $1.75 in 38 medium-sized towns, and to $1.50 in 150 smaller places.

For extension telephones, statewide, the service connection charge takes a sharp drop. It is to be $2.50 for business and $2 for residences, in place of the present $3.50 for each.
This lowered charge for connecting extension telephone service is to be uniform throughout the Company's whole territory.

Inside moves or changes in type of telephones are to be rated at $2 Company-wide. So are inside moves or changes in type of auxiliary equipment. This is a reduction from $3.

Overtime and Report Charges on person-to-person toll calls are subjected to downward revision. Reductions ranging from 5 cents to 15 cents are applied to report charges on longer calls. Overtime on person-to-person calls, after ten minutes, is to be charged at the lower station-to-station rate.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Even if you've never seen the inside of a raccoon coat or don't know which end of a football to kick, you'll give three cheers for "So This Is College" which opens at the University for four days starting Sunday. This is not the mediocre college story the title might suggest, but a staunch human interest story of friendship, football and a great devotion. Robert Montgomery, Elliott Nugent, Sally Starr, Cliff (Ukelele Ike) Edwards, and Phyllis Crane are in the principal roles.

The companion feature is "The Mississippi Gambler," a vastly, colorful romantic story of the old Mississippi Packet days, starring Joseph Schickelkraut.

Sophisticated drama, painted against a background of luxury, culture—a story of passion, blackmail, scandal, tragedy, superbly presented,
the stellar role portrayed by Ann Harding with compelling artistry—these are the elements which raise
"Her Private Affair," which starts Thursday for three days, to a pedestal of excellence all its own. The story was written by Leo Urantsov, a distinguished Austrian dramatist,
under the title, "The Right to Kill."

Comedy comes into its own in "Three Live Ghosts" the companion feature. The story revolves around the experiences of three British soldiers, who escape from a German prison camp and return to London to find themselves legally dead in the eyes of the government and of their friends.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Not long ago a Winchester layman came forward with the suggestion that the clergy have their sermons printed and sent to each sick member of their flock. That at least would have the effect of insuring against any feigned illness.

A fellow here in Winchester picked up a ten dollar note on the street and a companion congratulated him, but the latter said that he agreed with Robert Louis Stevenson that "a happy man or woman is a better thing to find than a five-pound note."

Every time we hear a Winchester-ite doing a lot of criticizing we put it down as a fact that that Winchesterite is not doing much of anything else.

People who occasionally find typographical errors in The Star will do well to read the following clipped from an exchange reaching The Paraphraser's desk:

"The editor of an exchange doesn't want anyone to send him any more copies of his papers in which they have found mistakes. If they find a perfect copy, however, he offers a big price for it. Same with us, says the editor of the Crystal Fall (Mich.) Drill. If the fool critic who hunts for mistakes in the papers would find them all he would be kept busy. We will be pleased to buy copies of any paper which can be proven entirely free from errors, either typographi-cally or in statements of fact. We will be pleased to find a merchant who never made a mistake in putting up an order; a lawyer who never lost a case through his own errors; a doctor who never wrongly diagnosed a

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

A Discussion of Its Why and Wherefore

Editor's Note—The Editor believes this is an unusually clear and fair discussion of the Junior High School, well worth reading by everyone. This letter sounds at the beginning as if it were going to be tough, heavy reading. But it quickly cheers up, and becomes so simple and interesting that anyone can catch it all. Its writer, Mr. Scudder Klyce, has lived on Highland terrace, alongside the Fells, for 17 years, and is a retired naval officer who has published three technical books that have interested numbers of authorities.

To the Editor of the Star:

In this summary of the bottom reasons for and against the Junior High School, let me begin by indicating some of my qualifications as an expert in education. Prof. John Dewey is regarded by most educators as being our foremost authority in education. He summed his educational doctrines in "Democracy and Education" (1916), and then wrote me that he could not have written that book except for my work—that it was based upon the foundations I constructed. In 1921 he stated in his introduction to my first book (on the fundamentals of all education), that the book "has extraordinary value." Dewey later began following fads in education, and I stated objections to them in my latest book (1928) which Dewey was unable to answer.

I believe it is a fair statement of their case, to say that the expert advocates of Junior High Schools offer the following three reasons for their demand for this separate school for the 7th and 8th (and nowadays, usually also the 9th) grades:

(1) They claim that children in those grades ought all to be taught certain essential subjects, and that each child, depending on his particular abilities and economic needs, should be given special subjects ("electives") fitted to him individually. They claim that further, children of the same ability should be taught in separate groups, instead of all abilities in one confused grade (as in secondary schools).

(2) They claim that each teacher ought to teach special subjects (be a specialist or expert)—rather than having each teacher inefficiently give a number of subjects, as in ordinary secondary schools.

(3) Finally, the advocates claim that these differences from the ordinary schools are so great that only by having a separately organized school (preferably in a separate building), will the teachers be required to, or even allowed to, split both themselves and the children into so many separate "groups" or specializations.

The Junior High School advocates are rarely so clear as that in stating the reasons. The leading American expert advocate gives those reasons I have just quoted in condensed form, in a fuzzy page and a half of the new "Encyclopaedia Britannica" (14th Ed., vol. 20, pp. 258-9), omitting even a hint that there might be objections to Junior High Schools. And anybody can check up my accuracy and fairness in stating their case by going to our Public Library and reading that passage.

No expert so far as I know has ever given the following three deep, and usually hidden, human motives impelling him to advocate Junior High Schools:

(1) A teacher, like any other human loves to magnify his job as much as is reasonable. So a teacher naturally is prejudiced in favor of being considered a special expert in his particular job (preferably so superior that no layman would dare question him), and in favor of having a monumental building to house his superior activities, and in favor of having special administrators of his own way of thinking. Only the wise, unusually strong teacher is able to remember always that too much of such pomp and superiority becomes the autocratic, know-it-all pride that goeth before destruction.

(2) The usual educational administrator (superintendent, principal, member of school committee, and so on), like most other men, attends so little to his actual job that time hangs heavy on his hands, and he casts about for something new and not boring to talk about. Also, he likes to make himself a noticed leader of the people by crusading for something novel and "ideal." So he is prone to invent fads—of which the Junior High School could conceivably be just another.

(3) Teachers, like other people, enjoy seeing more jobs made for themselves, and better paid jobs. Plainly, the Junior High School increases the number and pay of jobs.

I do not assert that such reasons largely dictate educators' advocacy of Junior High Schools. But no sensible man can ignore the plain fact that educators are always tempted in those ways, and thus in some small (or greater) degree prejudiced.

As the expert in the "Britannica" gives no objections, and as it is hardly fashionable (or professionally "safe") nowadays for an educator to mention any objection to the Junior High School (Mr. Dutch's letter in the last Star had his expert discreetly silent), we may do our own thinking in order to see the other side of the question. I now list three glaring objections to the principle of the Junior High School, and one practical objection:

(1) The advocates' reasons I quoted above all plainly take it for granted that Junior High School teachers and administrators will (a) achieve substantial perfection in judging the abilities and the needs of each child, and will then (b) with practical perfection give each child just what he needs. All they ask in order to achieve that highly desirable miracle in the education of the three grades, is a nice separate building where they will be left undisturbed to work this marvel, an elaborate formal organization with plenty of additional teachers to staff it, and an awe-inspiring specialist job and title for each teacher.

A sensible man sees at once that a mere building, titles, and additional jobs will not produce any such marvel of education. G. Stanley Hall, a noted psychologist and educator, stated in print that my first book was "helpful and illuminating in psychology" to him. But even though I know enough psychology to win such endorsement, I am unable to judge (otherwise than most roughly) the abilities and educational needs of our eight-year-old daughter. So in principle, it obviously is better to expose her to a general, average sort of an education. When an educator tells me that if I will give him a special building and some titles as an expert, then he will judge correctly my daughter's abilities, and give her accurately what she needs, I am merely disgusted with his ignorant belief that such externals can achieve any such result. The obvious principle is that primarily we need fine human beings as teachers—and should give them general authority to do what they can for our children, without tying and distorting any teacher into a narrow specialist job.

Our daughter goes to the old Highland School, which the experts tried to tear down as unsanitary and unfit for educational purposes, or even to look at. Her first year she had Mrs. Hefflon, a most admirable teacher; firm, steady, and just—and she grew in grace and wisdom, incidentally picking up a surprising lot of reading and writing. The next year she had a teacher (now gone) who was only fair—and as a result she was cross and quarrelsome most of the time, and harmed by school. I did my best to let our daughter get some good out of that difficult situation, by showing her that all her life she would get occasional cranky "bosses," and how to get along with them as well as possible.

This year she has another excellent teacher, Miss Swan, a fine human being who keeps her and the other children serene, poised, sociable, and energetic—which is making a fine person out of her. Nothing could be better for her than such teachers as Mrs. Hefflon and Miss Swan. As psychologists have recently found by experiment, the building, titles, specializations of teachers have almost negligible influence on actual education.

(2) The second objection to Junior High School is that its claims are flatly contrary to the original purpose and spirit of our public schools. This specialized school demands that we divide our little children into sharply separated groups, classes, or economic and intellectual castes. The original object of our public schools was to train our children to be as thoroughly a social and civic unity or democracy as their natural inequalities will reasonably permit. That is the very base of our nation. Yet the advocates of Junior High Schools are making zealous efforts to dis-unify our children at an early age. They are openly working against the primary purpose of our public schools—and the pity of it is that apparently they are quite ignorant of the fact that they are.

(3) Junior High School experts urge chiefly the advantages of specialization—they demand the right to judge (and take it for granted that they can judge) that a certain child ought to be a certain sort of specialist, and then claim that they will provide a specialist who will cut the child to fit that pre-judged pattern. Of course, within reasonable or horse-sense limits, specialization (or division of labor) is a good thing. But it can be unwittingly carried to absurd extremes. If the Junior High Schools succeed in getting their specialization as far down as the 7th grade, then probably the same advantages of specializations will make them try for lower grades. So if we give them a Junior High School and then live long enough, we may see sweet young-lady experts, in a monumental kindergarten building, teaching our infants blacksmithing, aviation, prenatal care of mothers, and other useful adult specialties.

Our daughter already is taught by several specialized teachers, who come to the school. They have so little effect and influence upon her that I don't know their names (although I remember she sometimes mentions them), or even how many of them there are. That shows the children's estimate of the usual specialist teacher—which agrees with mine. Often I find that children have more real sense about something than I have—I have been exposed to so many specialists that I have become an expert myself and should not be taken too seriously. But Mr. Dutch's experts seem to take themselves so seriously as to overlook the fact that already our schools throughout are loaded down with specialists—apparently about as much as the traffic (and children) can bear.

(4) The practical objection to the Junior High School is its extra cost. In Winchester the advocates want a special building. That building will have to be paid for—in hundreds of thousands. But so far as I can judge, finally even a more expensive than the building itself will be the yearly expense of extra administrators and specialized teachers to staff the building (with some extra cost of upkeep and operation incidental to a separate building).

The "Britannica" article mentioned above states that the great majority of Junior High Schools have been built in large cities. That simply means that many large cities have had to build additional schools anyway; and if it pleased the teachers to call a new building a "Junior High School" (or a "Junior-Senior High School," as was often done), no extra cost was incurred; and it possibly did no harm to let the experts have their new name, provided some sensible city official saw to it that no excessive specialization or dis-unifying was permitted. I think it advisable to let the advocates have any name for their schools which pleases and contents them. If we put an extra story or two on top of the High School (or a wing alongside) there would be no harm in letting the experts call the total building our "Junior High School," so long as no extra principals and specialists were hired, and our children weren't forced to start hardening into preachers and stenographers at 13, and trained to forget that this is somewhat a democratic country.

Personally I think the educational objections to a separate, definite Junior High School are greater than the merits. And I know that practically, one would cost much more in taxes. And I do not want to spend the money that way: I think my wife and I could spend our meager money to the greater benefit of our daughter than the experts are able to. The experts insisted that the Highland School was a disgrace to the school system, and ought to be torn down. And I find that the children there like the small old building (to the very slight extent that they notice buildings at all). It feels more homelike and comfortable, and "graspable," to them than do the huge palatial, highly expensive and glittering edifices we have been fondly impoverishing ourselves to build for them, as a result of trustfully believing the experts' mistaken assurances that children like marble halls. What the children seem to me to need and like most of all is a great deal fewer experts, and more real people.

WINCHESTER'S WATER TOWER—THERE SHE STANDS

To the Editor of the Star:

Four months ago, before any steel work had been done on the new water tower, I sent you a few lines calling attention to the fact that this structure was to be over 67 feet in height.

I did not believe that the public appreciated this, and hoped that some of the Town Fathers would take steps to halt this work and allow the voters an opportunity to register their disapproval.

Mr. Kendall's position was made clear in last week's Star. He has been opposed to the plan from the start. A majority of the members of the fire department believed the tower unnecessary.

The Board of Appeal registered its disapproval in no uncertain terms the week before.

There are only three members of the Water and Sewer Board. One member of this board (not Mr. Kendall) on Nov. 27 made the statement that all along he did not have the slightest idea that the tower was to be anything like 67 feet high.

What chance did Mr. Property Owner have to get the real facts until it was too late?

When work was half finished, frantic efforts were made to induce all property owners in the neighborhood to sign away their rights to claim damages.

On Aug. 27, when everything was completed except the roof, the Water Board got a permit to erect the tower.

Did anyone ever hear of such a situation? What are the functions of the Planning Board? Is it supposed to look the door before or after the horse has been stolen? Possibly it discontinues all activities during the vacation season.

Some years ago, at a stockholders meeting in Philadelphia, a small stockholder asked a question with regard to a pending motion. "Please be seated," snarled the chairman. "We are going to vote first. We can discuss it afterward."

That was some years ago. It is many years ago that Commodore Vanderbilt coined the expression, "The Public Be Damned."

These days have gone forever. Stockholders today have rights and so has the public. If you don't believe it, wait and see.

When Harry Daugherty was appointed Attorney General, the New York World said, "If President Harding had gone to any small village in the country and had chosen for his Attorney General the first lawyer he met, he couldn't have done worse, and he probably would have done better."

The same may be said of the Water Board's present plan and of the manner in which the whole proposition has been handled from the start.

If any citizen thinks this letter is too severe, he should find out where the Water Board has just tried to buy land on which to erect a pumping station.

This tower has cost $15,000 to date. It is fortunate that the appropriation was no larger.

If the citizens will take the trouble to ascertain the number of damage suits that are about to be brought against the town, and will calmly consider the tremendous depreciation in the value of taxable property that this tower has caused, they will realize that there is just one thing to do.

Carry out Mr. Kendall's original plan.

And, as the Board of Appeal suggests, take this tower down.

MR. CRAUGHWELL WANTS CARE AND CO-OPERATION

To the Editor of the Star:

In scrutinizing the Town Warrant, I was amazed when I observed the following few lines: namely, Article 3, which reads as follows: "To see if the town will provide temporary school accommodations for pupils above the sixth grade and appropriate money therefor."

Now, Mr. Editor, I take it that Article 3 suggests that we purchase a portable school. You most likely will recall that in the fall of 1920 the old Wyman School was taxed to its utmost capacity, necessitating the purchase of a portable school that cost the taxpayers $2,243.48. It was utilized for school purposes and then was abandoned when the new Wyman School was erected. It was practically as good as the day it was purchased.

That reminds me—at a recent Town Meeting, the Chairman of the School Committee informed the voters assembled that from an economic point of view it would be a wise procedure to keep the school under the jurisdiction of the School Committee. But lo and behold, the Chairman of the Park Board arose and delivered such a pathetic oration, declaring that his department could utilize the portable school for a tool house, or words to that effect, that when the voters assembled came out of the huddle, the majority of those present supported the Chairman of the Park Board, and the school is now located on the Palmer street playground. I believe, without the slightest hesitation, in asserting that it is a very expensive tool house to store a few garden rakes, shovels, garden hose, etc. Surely none of us is infallible, but nevertheless we all realize that in every community you will discover a group of individuals that are so cross-eyed that the tears run down their backs and their family physician finds it necessary to treat them for bacteria.

Now that the Park Department has plenty of space to store their paraphernalia in the steam-heated $15,000 building on Lake street that we purchased last March, surely, I trust that the Park Board will co-operate with the School Committee and save the taxpayers approximately $3000.

I for one shall never vote to purchase a portable school. Why? Because statistics prove conclusively that it is impossible to scientifically, or adequately heat that type of building. Some of the children adjacent to the stove or pipe are too warm and the pupils in the rear, adjacent to the door, are too cold; and furthermore, from an architectural point of view, they do not harmonize with our modern educational institutions of learning.

I shall always support any constructive, progressive school building program because education undoubtedly is the foundation stone of America, and the children are the greatest asset.

In conclusion, I believe one of the most non-essential, destructive, incomprehensible, regressive movements that the electorate was ever called upon to defeat was the merging of the Highland School with the new George Washington School; or in other words, if we had abolished the Highland School at the time suggested, we would now most likely be called upon to erect a new school in that district or add an addition to the new George Washington School. Hence, the Town of Winchester, in my opinion, has saved a large sum of money simply by the voters exercising their intelligence.

I write these few lines to inculcate into the hearts of the voters, assembled in town meeting, that we must be very careful in the future where we erect our school houses and stand pipes!

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the above space.
Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

The final recital in a series of five, will be played next Monday evening, Dec. 9 at 8:15 o'clock by Mr. Joshua Phippen of Winchester.

Mr. Phippen's playing is well known to the people of Winchester. He played for many years at the Congregational Church, and more recently at the Christian Science Church.

He has prepared a very interesting program and all lovers of music in the town are invited to attend.

THE WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The third meeting of the Club was held on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Radley, the president, in the chair. The meeting opened with the salute to the flag. Mrs. Radley called the attention of the members to the classes given under the auspices of the education committee beginning in January.

Mrs. Frank Roe Batchelder, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee was introduced by the president. Mrs. Batchelder spoke of the 1930 senatorial campaign. Since Mr. Gillette has decided not to be a candidate it is our duty to choose another candidate and to choose wisely. The state committee will then cooperate with us to elect him.

The Hon. Henry Parkman, Jr. State Senator was the second speaker. His subject was "Public Welfare." The humanitarian work the State is doing for its defective delinquent and destitute people is a mammoth one. Thirty-five per cent of the State Budget is expended each year for this work. Massachusetts ranks high among the States for the care of its unfortunates. There have been surveys and investigations will be brought before the Legislature next year so that new and better laws than now exist may be enacted. The work is constructive and the aim is to deal with individual cases as well as to increase the efficiency in the institutions.

Tea and a social hour was enjoyed after the meeting. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Taylor poured.

Long Railroads

The longest railroad in the world is the Transiberian railway, which runs from Leningrad to Vladivostok, a distance of more than 5,500 miles. The largest system of railways operated under a single management is the Canadian National, with a total mileage of 22,000. The largest railway system in the United States is the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, with a total mileage of 15,000.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Next Monday night, Dec. 9, Calumet will visit the Kernwood Club of Malden in the league series. Automobiles will leave the local clubhouse at 7:30, and all club members are invited to attend.

The ladies afternoon bowling tournament, held Tuesday, was largely attended. More ladies are participating in the bowling at the club this year than for many seasons past. On Tuesday some very good scores were made, the prize winners being as follows:

- 1st—High single flat, Mrs. Bueche, 115.
- 2nd—High single with handicap, Mrs. Maynard, 108 and 0, making 108.
- 3rd—High two-string total flat, Mrs. Little, 185.
- 4th—High two-string with handicap, Mrs. Wilcox, 179 and 16, making 195.

The afternoon was in charge of Mrs. T. I. Barnard and Mrs. Vernon Hall.

Mrs. E. F. Cameron will be in charge of the ladies' afternoon to be held Tuesday, Dec. 10. The attraction will be bridge, and suitable prizes will be awarded the winners.

Tuesday night's bowling resulted in team 3 taking three points from 5 and 18 and 19 dividing honors, two and two. The latter match produced a tie for the third string and 19 took the totals by one pin. A number of good individual scores were made, among them being the following:

Every member of the Calumet Club is cordially invited to the free beer supper which will be held at the clubhouse on the evening of Dec. 7 at 6:30 sharp.

When everyone has had all he can possibly eat, or desires to eat, there will be a discussion on several problems that face Calumet Club at this time.

Mr. Chase expects and hopes that there will be a large gathering present.

Included in the program for the entertainment on the occasion of "open house," to be held Saturday, Dec. 21, the committee has secured three exceptionally fine feature films. The three reels are entitled "Hunting Great Grizzlies," "Taking Game Fish," and "Salmon Fishing on the Restigouche." These are State of Maine films and will give a thrill to every lover of the great outdoors.

The usual Christmas turkey roll is now underway. Every Saturday afternoon and evening, Dec. 7, 14, 21, the alleys will be open for this contest. No announcement has been made regarding the number of birds which will be awarded, but judging from the enthusiasm displayed over the Thanksgiving roll, there will be plenty of competition.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

(No. 8)

There is not sufficient stress placed on the honor theory of life. There are individuals in Winchester as elsewhere who are prompted to virtue by prudential motives, fear of punishment, dread of public opinion—all legitimate restraints. Virtue of this sort is better than none at all, and is indeed worthy of praise. But it is not the highest type. The only man who can be counted on in times of stress is the man who refuses to do wrong because he feels that to do wrong would be a shameful thing. Here it is that honor—rightly considered—comes in as a powerful reinforcement.

It was Burke who spoke of that "chastity of honor which felt like a wound." Both duty and honor imply relationship, and an obligation to do one or some thing—to God, or to the "firm, intelligible law of things." And to be false to our relationship, or to the obligations imposed, is to be guilty of treason to both—and to that high sense of honor by which men must be inspired and ruled. Out of such faithfulness, unhappiness and self-contempt must be born.

The man never lived who could draw any satisfaction from the consciousness that he had slighted a duty, scribbled his work, or failed in a crisis. There is something in him—conscience or moral nature—to which he cannot feel healing that he has been untrue. For such a breakdown no amount of money or so-called fame can begin to compensate. When honor is dead, the man himself—spiritually—is dead also. Though of course there is always the possibility of a resurrection. There is the further thought of victory, which is always heartening and cheering.

Character cannot be built up out of treasuries. Nor can happiness or cheerfulness grow out of them. So it does seem that "we, being ready both in body and soul, may cheerfully accomplish those things which Thou commandest." Even those folk in and out of Winchester whose lives are the gloomiest, may get much courage and inspiration from meditating on it, and acting in accordance with it.

It was a poet who said:
It was a poet who said:
Who have fought the good fight and have Vanquished the demon that tempts us within.

NO STRIKE!

Chairman Guy W. Currier and Richard Parkhurst of the Boston Port Authority, with Mayor Nichols and Governor Allen coming personally to their assistance in the last hour of the crisis, have prevented a waterfront lockout or strike which would have had a serious effect on local business and put Boston in a very bad light before the rest of the country. The thanks of the community are due to these four men for a great public service, all the greater because it has come at just this time.

We have referred before to the controversies and conferences between the steamship operators and the longshoremen's union. A working arrangement between them expired Oct. 1 and they were unable to come to new terms. The old agreement was unreasonably expensive to the steamship companies, especially to those equipped with the best modern machinery, and the port was bound to lose business as long as loading and unloading continued to cost more here than at competing places. No question of wages was involved. The main points at issue were the weight of the singleload and the number of men necessary to handle it to the best common advantage. That does not look like an involved issue. Nevertheless it is pretty complicated, with much to be said on each side.

Mr. Parkhurst "sat in" at the conferences as the representative of the new Port Authority, and Chairman Currier was closely and constantly in touch with developments. Now the Port Authority is not a board of arbitration, but anything affecting the business of the waterfront is a matter of vital concern to the Authority. In spite of all that could be done, however, negotiations broke down. At 4:30 on the day before Thanksgiving, the general understanding was that there would be a lockout and a resulting strike the next morning, and that all the waterfront would finally be involved.

Messrs. Currier and Parkhurst finally appealed to the city and the Commonwealth for aid, and Mayor Nichols and Governor Allen gave it personally, promptly, vigorously and successfully. The plea of each for a little more time was received in the spirit in which they made it. Instructions which would have made a strike inevitable were immediately countermanded. Last Monday the deep sea operators and the unions came to terms. On Tuesday the intercoastal companies and the unions reached a tentative working agreement which became effective immediately. A period of experiment will indicate whether it works out satisfactorily. Should it not, there will be an appeal to the Port Authority for readjustment.

If there had been no Port Authority, or if it consisted of men of second-class ability, there would now be a bitter strike on the waterfront of Boston. The unions and the steamship companies have both come to that conclusion. The outcome of the long controversy proves, therefore, the necessity of such a body and the importance of keeping able men on it. Its influence is now definitely established, and it may be relied on to make further contributions to the upbuilding of business. The union officials and the steamship companies have had a fair attitude toward it, and toward each other, and the friendly feeling increased rather than diminished as the negotiations proceeded. As the settlement is creditable to each side, there is no after-taste of resentment in any quarters. Besides the four men whom we have named, the steamship companies and the unions should both receive hearty praise for their fairness and forbearance.—[Boston Herald.]

12,000-MILE JOURNEY TO STUDY SUNBEAMS

Three young American scientific workers have just left Washington on a 12,000 mile journey to take charge for three years of a unique "scientific observation post" in one of the loneliest spots in Africa. They are Louis O. Sordahl, Mrs. Sordahl and A. G. Froiland. By way of New York, London, and Cape Town, they will journey to Mount Brukkaros near Keetmanshoop, Southwest Africa, where the National Geographic Society and the Smithsonian Institution maintain a solar observatory. The object of the work at this station is to obtain accurate records of variations in the sun's heat as it reaches the earth. These records are sent to Washington and are there compared with similar records made at stations in southern California and Chile. Through these comparisons it is hoped that accurate weather forecasts can be made many months in advance. Already the figures disclose a steady rise and fall in the sun's heat over a period of a little more than two years—a cycle that is checked by variations in Europe's grain yield.

One of World's Driest Spots

Before Mount Brukkaros was chosen a search was made among the driest places of the Old World, including spots in Afghanistan, Morocco and Egypt. Mount Brukkaros was chosen as the best available station because of the almost continual freedom of its atmosphere from moisture and dust, either of which affects the accuracy of the temperature measurements.

The station lies near the top of an arid mountain. All of the more delicate instruments are housed in an artificial cave to protect them from heat and from all light except the beams to be measured.

The station was established four years ago. The present staff consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Hoover, and F. A. Greeley will be relieved by Mr. and Mrs. Sordahl and Mr. Froiland. Mr. Sordahl, holder of a master's degree from Wisconsin University, has specialized in physics and for the past year was assistant at the Sun Observatory at Swartout, Calif.

Mr. Froiland has made a study of the complicated and delicate instruments and the mathematical methods used at the sun stations. Mrs. Sordahl will spend much of her time collecting insects, reptiles and small mammals for the National Museum.

By automobiles the Brukkaros station keeps in touch over a rocky trail with Keetmanshoop, 60 miles away. It is from that town that mail and supplies are obtained. The South African Government has constructed a branch telephone line which connects the station with the government system. A powerful radio receiving set sent to the station by the National Geographic Society enables the staff to pick up broadcast programs from Pretoria, Johannesburg, and Cape Town, all about 800 miles away.

NUKU HIVA HAS A SUPER-NIAGARA

A waterfalls, reported to be seven times higher than the Niagara Falls has been discovered on Nuku Hiva Island.

Nuku Hiva is the largest of the beauty famed Marquesas Islands, which lie east of the Samoas, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

An Island Garden Spot

Nuku Hiva is one of the island garden spots of the world. Numerous bays, walled in by lofty, forested cliffs, indent the coast, each commanding a magnificent view of a valley clad with tropical verdure.

At the head of Comptroller Bay, one of the larger coastal indentations, is Taipi Vai Valley, made famous by Herman Melville as "Typee" Valley. Taipi Vai and other portions of Nuku Hiva once teemed with natives. Now small settlements and numerous stone platforms upon which the natives built their huts, are the only remaining evidences of a race which Robert Louis Stevenson described as the handsomest in the world.

Coconut Palms Furnish Food and Shelter

A few cattle brought about the valleys, wild pigs or goats scamper through the jungle growth, and a few birds nest in the upper valleys. But the villages are usually found near the head of the bays, with coconut plantations nearby. In the fertile soil washed down from the mountains of Nuku Hiva's interior, the coconut palms bear fruit when they are only a few years old and but 10 to 15 feet high.

The coconut palm plays an all important part in the lives of the natives. Dried coconut pulp, called copra, is the chief article of commerce and is used as money in bargaining between natives and traders. The native's hut is almost entirely constructed with branches, leaves and thongs from the coconut palm. The tribesmen eat coconut pulp and drink coconut milk, both fresh and fermented. Marquesans "flappers" use the oil to make their bodies shine, and it is burnt in the islanders' crude lamps.

Natives are Vanishing

Captain Cook and other explorers introduced fruits and vegetables and modern customs on Nuku Hiva, but they also introduced European diseases. When the first white man set foot on the island, cannibalism was rampant and tribal warfare an important occupation among the menfolk. "Long pig" (human flesh) was necessary for the proper celebration of the pagan religious rites. If a member of an enemy tribe could not be brought in, the priest ordered one of the members of his own tribe prepared for the tribal feast.

But with cannibalism and tribal warfare the Marquesans held their own. The French put a stop to cannibalism but epidemic after epidemic of disease has placed the Marquesans among the vanishing races of the South Seas. One epidemic of smallpox, introduced by early explorers, killed more than 5,000 tribesmen.

Taiohae, at the head of a bay by the same name, for 60 years was the headquarters of the French administration in the Marquesas. Since the offices moved to Hiva Oa, the older village, spread out along the shore at the head of Taiohae Bay, is almost deserted except for a few stores and a building or two where travelers are told they can get "hotel accommodations." There is a story told on Nuku Hiva that the "pope" a sort of sand fly, drove the French from the island. In some parts of the island the minute insects attack human beings, gorge themselves with blood, then leave an itching spot which sometimes becomes an ulcerous sore when scratched.

Vegetable and Animal Life in Death Valley

Death valley, in California, long reputed to be one of the most lifeless areas on the face of the earth, is not so barren as popularly believed. A group of scientists recently returned from having made the first comprehensive survey of the plant and animal life inhabiting the floor of Death valley. And their report upsets much tradition long firmly rooted in the public mind.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Take off your hats to the past and throw it into the ring for the future.

True friends love you for what you are.

The will to work is the way to win.

Every successful man doesn't meet circumstances; he makes them.

There will be no achievements tomorrow if you failed to make preparations today.

The purchase this week of the Parker & Lane Coal Co. by Mr. John D. Coakley removes from the business life of the town one who for the past 25 years has been among the most colorful and widely known men about the center. "Charlie" Lane has had the happy faculty of mixing pleasure with business and has retained through the years the ability to get a daily "kick" out of life. The Star hopes he will find time to "drop in" often and that he will bring our friend "Charlie" Burnham with him.

Those in Winchester who bathe at Sandy Beach and those who have occasion to pass the place often during the summer months will be glad to learn that the Metropolitan District Commission is to recommend to the General Court that $30,000 be appointed for a new bath house and will urge the construction of a suitable parking space at the beach. If Sandy is to be continued, and it seems to give enjoyment to many people, it should be properly appointed to care for the crowds it serves.

The statement reported to have been made by the coach of the Lexington field hockey team to the effect that the title recently won by her girls was not contested for last year is interesting, if not entirely accurate. We're wondering where Miss Renne was last fall while the Winchester girls were annexing the Greater Boston crown for the second consecutive season and without a tied or lost a game. Had she been in the STAR office when the girls returned after their championship victory over Arlington, there would have been scant doubt in her mind as to the winning of the title!

As the result of repeated complaints about fishing on Sunday at Winter Pond, Sergt. William H. Rogers of the Police Department delved into the statute books of the Commonwealth and despite opinions to the contrary, found that one cannot fish on the Lord's Day without laying himself liable to arrest and a $10 fine. Skaters at Winter Pond have been complaining that fishermen, in cutting holes in the ice, spoil their sport and it appears to be up to the Park Board to decide which group has the right of way. There is no doubt as to who wins on Sunday. The fishermen are out of order then.

A letter of interest in advocacy of a new Junior High School is printed in this week's Star from the pen of Mrs. Frances R. Williams, whose husband, the late Stillman P. Williams, was an honored member of our school committee for a considerable period. Mrs. Williams' statement that Winchester has had Junior High School methods for over 10 years is interesting. While everyone is aware that changes in teaching methods are constantly being made—not only in Winchester but elsewhere—it is news to most of our citizens that we have been operating such a school for so long a period. If we have been so operating for such a long period, why the need of a separate Junior High building, with its enormous cost, at this late day?

Superintendent of Schools James J. Quinn and his efficient force of teachers are doing a good job. The Star wishes no mistaken views of its opinion in this phase of our educational system. To accuse it of attempting to incite another school wrangle is a deliberate misstatement. The Town is meeting at a special session to consider the building of a Junior High School. This move is to be considered and acted upon, and if properly considered, must come under discussion. It is a matter which should receive a full hearing. Every citizen in Town is interested, both in the point of educational welfare and finance. The Star does not favor it. Its advocates, while apparently carried away with the idea, have failed absolutely in convincing us of its desirability. Its cost will be great, not only in erection but in maintenance. If our citizens wish it, all well and good, but its desirability is a debatable point, and its proponents have failed to convince us of its particular need—and we see no reason why we should not say so. If a salesman can come into our office and show us a piece of machinery or equipment which will do the work we handle in a better and more efficient way, we want it. If he fails, we save our money. If it shows merit enough to warrant the outlay necessary to experiment with, that is a different matter. So is a Junior High. The Star feels that at this time an addition to our present Wadleigh Grammar School is desirable and should be the next step in our educational development.

A CORRECTION

Dear Sir: Thank you very much for giving me so much space in your paper last week.

In the hurry incident to Thanksgiving your proof reader left out two lines from my article. The first omission was:

"People from the East Side could also go readily to the Congregational, Methodist and Epiphany Churches and the three banks on the West Side of the town."

The second paragraph was perhaps of more importance because it left an entire paragraph meaningless. The paragraph should have read:

"Apparently it has cost the town considerable money already to attempt to prove that raising the roadway through the center of the town together with the heavy and expensive buildings on both sides, and probable damages incident to such a major operation, could all be done more cheaply than to build most of the way across vacant land, much of which is inexpensive—for the Auditor reports that the entire grade crossing appropriation of $1500 authorized in 1928 has been exhausted."

Very truly yours,
Lewis Parkhurst

Bootleggers and Speakeasies Not New Names

Mabel Walker Willebrandt gives the information based on Government figures that at the time the 18th Amendment went into effect this country had 507 distilleries with an annual output of 1,114,000,000 quarts of distilled liquor. There were 1217 breweries with an output of hundreds of millions of gallons of beer and there were 178,000 saloons. In addition there were thousands and thousands of speakeasies, and the bootleggers were of course, in all parts of the country.

Bootleggers and speakeasies are still with us but it is doubtful if their number has increased. It is rather more probable that it has decreased. But breweries, distilleries and saloons are gone. Liquor is bought and sold to some extent; how much nobody knows. But it is common sense that the amount is small in comparison with the old days.

Rev. Alf Wathne who has spent the past 12 years in Bergen, Norway, recently returned to the United States. In speaking of his impression of our Prohibition Law he said "On a tour through the western States I tried to find places where liquor was openly sold and failed. I spent 10 days in a town of Wisconsin. I went to the chief of police and asked him if they drank liquor around here." "Oh, yes, I suppose they do." "But where do they get it I asked?" "Probably over in the other city." "How many have you arrested for drunkenness today?" I asked. "None." "How many yesterday?" The chief smiled and said, "We did not arrest any either yesterday nor this week." I have just returned from a trip through the Eastern States and spent five days in Boston. I walked through the old historic city among throngs of people, but I never saw a single person under the influence of liquor. Now take any wet city in Norway, I am sorry to say that you meet wherever you go persons smelling of liquor. Daily you see drunken men on the streets.

One of our bishops from America said last year at the annual conference, held in a city of 10,000 inhabitants, that he had seen more drunken people in five days in that city than he had seen for the last eight years in America. And still the wets tell us that prohibition does not prohibit.

They were arrested after Murphy's Hudson brougham, in which they were riding, collided with a pole on Forest street at Forest circle, smashing the machine and breaking the pole. All three were taken to the Winchester Hospital by the police and Murphy and Devane were treated by Dr. Charles Baisley for numerous cuts about the face. Dr. Richard W. All claimed that a fourth party had been driving the car when the accident occurred and had made good his escape before the arrival of the police.

OLD LINE COAL BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

J. D. Coakley Is New Owner of Parker & Lane Company

One of the most interesting business transactions to take place in Winchester for some years was reported Tuesday morning when final papers were passed for the outright purchase of the Parker & Lane Coal and Wood Company by Mr. John D. Coakley, owner of the J. F. Winn Company, also of this town.

The Parker & Lane Company has long been considered one of Winchester's substantial business houses. It has latterly been conducted by Messrs. Charles A. Lane and Charles A. Burnham, Mr. Burnham having bought in May, 1924 the interest of Mr. Justin L. Parker, now deceased.

Mr. Parker originally bought the business, then known as the Winchester Coal Company, from Mr. Benjamin Guernsey approximately in 1894. For some years the former conducted it with his brother, Mr. Harry Parker of Reading, whose interest Mr. Lane took over in 1904. The firm of Parker & Lane was incorporated in April of that year.

The original office of Mr. Parker was in the store now occupied by Thompson's Jewelry Shop. Later Parker & Lane Company was quartered on Main street, in the building since replaced by the Fells Market and adjacent to the then Winchester National Bank. The firm moved to its present quarters in the National Bank Building Jan. 1, 1915.

Figures are not available for the entire growth of the business, but from 1904 to 1929 the growth has been approximately 6000 tons.

Mr. Coakley, the new owner announces that the Parker & Lane Company is to retain its identity and will remain in its present offices at 14 Church street. Miss Cassie Sands, who for 22 years has served the firm, will continue as office manager. The coal and wood yards are located at 10 Cross street.

Mr. Coakley has had a long experience with the coal business, having been associated with J. F. Winn & Company for 20 years as manager and for six years as co-partner. He assumed the business in September, 1926, and it has prospered under his direction. He plans to continue the operation of J. F. Winn & Co. which is now maintaining offices in both Winchester and Woburn.

Friends of Mr. Whitfield L. Tuck, for many years a prominent figure at Town Meeting and in local politics, will be glad to learn that he is reported as getting along nicely following an operation which he underwent on Monday at the Winchester Hospital.

George W. Clark of 11 Pleasant street, Framingham, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday forenoon when he fell from an Edison Light Company's pole on Everett avenue. Clark, who is employed by the George W. Ellis Company of Boston, was at work on the pole 30 feet above the street level when he lost his hold and fell. He landed on his feet, but was apparently painfully injured. He was rushed to the Winchester Hospital by Michael Grant of the Winchester Highway Department and treated by Dr. Milton J. Quinn. He was found to have sustained a possible double fracture of the foot, but the full extent of his injuries could not be determined until X-ray plates had been developed.

The sum of $86,000 was paid this week in Christmas checks by two of the town's banking institutions. The National Bank paid out $45,000, and the Savings Bank $41,000. The Trust Company's figures were not available as the Star went to press. The Savings Bank this year increased its interest from 2 to 3 per cent as a bit of a Christmas gift in its own name.

"Charlie" and "Marty" Travers of Unland road, who have often appeared with the Woburn Tanners' soccer team, have been signed for future games with the Fore River and Lucy Ree Clubs.

Coach Wendell D. Mansfield issued his first call for varsity basketball candidates at high school this week. The outlook is not especially bright as nearly the entire first team of a year ago was graduated in June.

Everything for the Christmas party. Tree ornaments, paper napkins, table cloths, place cards and candles. At the Star Office.

Reports of the dancing party, held Wednesday evening in Waterfield Hall by the Winchester Town Football Team, were to the effect that the affair was very well attended and most successful.

The Department of Public Works has notified the Selectmen that the State will again keep Cambridge street from the Arlington to the Woburn line clear of snow, unless the Town desires to do the work with the Town forces. The matter was referred to the Superintendent of Streets with power to act.

Sixty-eight men were employed by the Highway Department last week which of course was before Monday's big snow storm.

The Board of Selectmen has approved a plan for the extension of Madison avenue west.

Because of the objection of property owners the Board of Selectmen at its last meeting voted to discontinue its docket the matter of accepting Chesterford road as a town road.

JEWISH STATE MAY RISE IN SIBERIA

The largest Jewish State in the world is soon to be created in the Biro Bidjan district of far Eastern Russia according to recent news dispatches. Biro Bidjan, or Birk Bidjan, as it was once known, lies in the Amur River region north of Manchuria, China. It is in southern Siberia.

Not long ago every geography textbook presented Siberia as a dreary, treeless waste fit only for exiles, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The very name "Siberia" conjured visions of long lines of prisoners moving across bleak tundras, their ranks being decimated by wolves and bears and the whips of their taskmasters.

Land of Mineral and Fur Wealth

Nothing could be farther away from the reality of Biro Bidjan than this vision, the bulletin continues. The Amur Province, in which it is located, is larger than France and contains almost as varied scenery as the United States with the exception of the semi-tropical southern States. True there is one high, somewhat bleak plateau, but there are also many fertile plateaus in the region. Marshy lowlands contrast with tall-wooded ranges and treeless plains with magnificent forests. Much of the scenery along the Amur River may achieve notoriety for its wild beauty when the country is better known to the world at large.

Nor is perpetual snow a characteristic of the region. Often for months during the winter there will be no snow at all although the temperature is seldom higher than 20 degrees below zero. The short summers are comfortably warm.

There are rich agricultural districts in the province and gold is mined extensively. Coal has not been mined so much but there is an abundant supply. The forests are filled with game: bear, tiger, sable, panther, wild bear, deer and wild goat. Tigers are killed in a novel way. A kid or a dog is tied to a stake at a spot on which a gun is trained by being secured to a rest placed at a little distance. The hunter conceals himself behind some foliage and pulls the trigger when the tiger appears on the scene. The natives make pipes upon which they play a note resembling the cry of a kid when they hunt mountain goats.

Siberian Plumbing
Amur Province has one large city, Blagoveshchensk, the "City of Glad Tidings," with a population in excess of 55,000. It has wide streets and some modern buildings. Practically all the houses of Blagoveshchensk are made of wood, some being elaborately carved and others ornamented with large rings or triangles of wood nailed on the front of the houses at regular distances. The stoves in the houses are built into the wall from the floor to the ceiling. As the front is flush with the wall they look like decorative panels with their highly colored tiles in various designs.

The Siberian likes to wash his face and hands under a thin trickling stream of water and usually scorns a basin or tub. In some inns will be found a brass receptacle hanging on the wall and ending in a nozzle at the bottom so the visitor can wash under his desired trickle.

The Amur River, which separates the Amur Province from Manchuria, can only be navigated about six months a year. In winter when it is frozen there is much sledge traffic over its icy surface—not all of it under customs supervision. In the summer the numerous islets which

Not a Valuable Flour

Alfalfa flour does not compare at all favorably with the cereal flours of meals and at best must have large proportions of other flours mixed with it before it can be used for baking.

Guatemalan Bird

The correct name for the quetzal, the bird that is the emblem of Guatemala, is "resplendent trogon." Trogons are very delicate birds, and when not supplied with the proper food will not live. This is probably the reason they do not thrive well in captivity.

Immense Sturgeon

According to a report of the American Museum of Natural History, the largest sturgeon on record was taken in the Columbia river in 1911 and weighed 1,000 pounds. There are species of sturgeon in Russian waters which are said to weigh more than a ton, but there are no records of catching them.

STAR ANNOUNCES MYSTIC VALLEY LEAGUE HONORARY TEAMS

Six Watertown Players on First Eleven—Outstanding Linemen Scarce

FIRST TEAM
O'Connell, left guard, Winchester	Emery, center, Winchester
Alberico, right guard, Watertown	Hagerman, right tackle, Arlington
Sherman, right end, Watertown	Johnson, quarterback, Watertown
Kinney, left halfback, Melrose	Kidd, right halfback, Melrose Farmer, fullback, Watertown
SECOND TEAM
Foley, left end, Woburn	Flanagan, left tackle, Melrose
McClendon, left guard, Melrose	McClendon, center, Watertown
Smith, right guard, Winchester	Field, right tackle, Watertown
Carroll, right end, Melrose	Galucci, quarterback, Arlington
Lee, left halfback, Winchester	Lane, right halfback, Watertown
Colpitts, fullback, Wakefield

With the big Thanksgiving Day games out of the way the STAR offers for the consideration, commendation and possible praise of local football fans the above selection of school-boy stars who, it believes, represent the cream of the talent in the Mystic Valley League for 1929. We know we have probably missed some good players, but we are just as sure that those we have selected are also good, and we wouldn't be afraid to make a conservative wager on the teams we've finally picked.

Selecting two teams this year has been rather a difficult task, especially so far as linemen are concerned. There have been fewer outstanding rush line players around the Mystic Circuit this season than for some time past. There were no Amicos, McBrides, Brennans and "Livin' McNeils" to put one's fingers on, most of the good boys being just steady workmen whose playing did not stand out especially.

After watching the Watertown team against Winchester we were for a time sorely tempted to pick this entire eleven for our first selection, but obviously such an easy way out of our problem would have been unfair to the other good boys around the loop.

As usual, the players we have selected are chosen pretty much on what they showed against Winchester. We know the danger of a one-day flash-in-the-pan, but "all" teams are at best more or less unfair and should not be taken too seriously.

Our first string ends are Captain Sherman and McDermott of Watertown and we think no one will quarrel with this selection. Both boys did everything well and stand out as receivers of forward passes, par-excellence. Foley of Woburn played a strong defensive end and Carroll of Melrose was a good all around performer. Murphy and Morton of Winchester were kept off the "all" teams by disabling injuries. Murphy was the fastest man down the field we saw all year.

Prendergast of Watertown and Hagerman of Arlington top the tackles with Field of Watertown and Hagerman of Melrose a stride behind. Hagerman played a lot of fine football for Arlington and with a stronger club would have come in for much attention. Norris of Melrose would have been a first choice if injuries had not kept him on the bench during much of the season.

Alberico of Watertown was the best guard we saw this season with Winchester's "Bill" O'Connell a second choice. Both were smooth, effective workmen who did a lot of things. "Dan" Smith of Winchester, the hardest charging guard on the circuit, and Flanagan, whom we are shifting from center to guard, are our second choices. Winchester linemen have a very wholesome respect for Mr. Flanagan, but he could hardly top Emery or McClendon as a center.

Winchester's "Don" Emery is given the edge as pivot man over McClendon of Watertown because of his fine defensive ability. We'll venture to state he made as many tackles as any other Mystic Valley League lineman during the season. McClendon is a good passer and a capable all around workman.

In addition to the linemen, mentioned above, Ford of Watertown, Callahan of Arlington, McNeil of Winchester, McKenzie of Melrose, Aylward and Carroll of Woburn and O'Keefe and Sparks of Wakefield are boys who deserve mention. Carroll and Aylward played fine games against Winchester.

Two backs, in our opinion, stand out above the other good ball carriers in the league this year, and we think none will quarrel with us when we nominate Kidd of Melrose and Johnson of Watertown for top honors. We thought Johnson got just a bit more out of his team than did the Melrose flash and as a consequence place him at quarterback. The little Watertown boy passed marvelously, kicked well and was a good ball carrier. Kidd was the best running back in the circuit and also passed well.

Kinney, also a good ball carrier, ran interference mightily well and many of Kidd's long runs were due to his effective cleaning out. Farmer, our first string fullback, was a fine line plunger, a good interferer and an effective defensive back.

Lee of Winchester was potentially the best back on the circuit who seldom rose to the heights. He was the best punter in the league, was second to Johnson as a passer, at times ran well and backed up a line with the best.

With Kidd out of the way, Galucci of Arlington is our second string quarter. He was a steady boy who passed well. Lane of Watertown was a good all around back who was particularly strong on defense. Colpitts of Wakefield was a fine all around back, who on a stronger team might have run first string. He was a good defensive back, carried the ball well and was a good receiver of passes. On a team like Watertown, Colpitts would have gotten plenty of notice.

Among the other good backs we noticed during the season were Adams of Arlington, McNamara and Pelky of Watertown, Kelleher of Woburn, Dinan and Burbeen of Wakefield, and Smith, Gharardini and Godfrey of Winchester. With the exception of the Melrose battle when a bad leg kept him on the sidelines much of the afternoon, the Winchester captain played every minute of every league game.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FAVORS UNDERPASS

To the Editor of the Star:

A statement in last week's Star by one of our most honored citizens in relation to the attitude of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce regarding an underpass at or near the station, may, we feel, be somewhat qualified by stating that the Chamber of Commerce is and has been much interested in having some means of locomotion from Common street to Waterfield road without having to climb and descend a long flight of stairs.

This bridge of recent date was completely destroyed by the carelessness of a train crew and it was a most remarkable affair that not a life was lost. Hence we feel that what has happened may occur again. Our town should not suffer this risk any longer than is possible.

At a meeting of our organization held Dec. 6, 1928 a prominent attorney, one of our members, gave a most enlightening talk upon the possibility of depressing the Boston & Maine road bed and the construction of a road and bridge to be located just south of the present railroad station, thereby serving a double purpose, being used for automobiles and also pedestrians.

If ever this improvement should occur it would relieve quite an amount of auto traffic congestion which now takes place in the centre.

The above statement at the time seemed so pleasing to all present that a unanimous vote was passed in favor of the project, but at the request of the Moderator the article as relating to the overhead bridge or having an underpass was withdrawn in order not to hamper or interfere with the final elimination of the grade crossing by our Board of Selectmen as the whole subject matter was about to come before them for a final settlement.

By all means the Chamber of Commerce favors an underpass.

President

WANTED—A JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

To the Editor of the Star:

We have had Junior High School methods in Winchester for over 10 years.

We now need a new building. The time is past when it is the thing in 7th, 8th and 9th grades to crowd a group of 50 children into one room under one teacher for one year, as in an old type grammar school.

For the past 10 years children of this age have received instruction in different subjects from different teachers, and each teacher has been especially adapted to the teaching of that subject.

The 7th and 8th grades have been taught in the Wadleigh School, the 9th grade has been taught as first year High School.

Years ago Winchester had 5 years primary, 4 years old type grammar, 4 years high school with departmental teaching.

Now we have:
1 year kindergarten
6 years primary or elementary,
6 years secondary school.

New quarters will permit of better presentation of secondary material and enable all our children to benefit from the present day enriched curriculum.

ANNOUNCE DAUGHTER'S ENGAGEMENT AT SHOWER FOR WINCHESTER GIRL

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Frances F. Comins to John B. Kenerson was made by Miss Comins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Danforth W. Comins, formerly of Winchester, at a shower, given in honor of Miss Linda Tredennick at the Comins' residence on Lowell road, Concord, last Saturday afternoon. Miss Comins graduated from Winchester High School in 1924, from Miss McClintock's School in 1925, and from Miss Bouve's School in 1923. She is now athletic director at the Lee School, Boston. Mr. Kenerson, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Kenerson of Brooks street, graduated from Dartmouth in 1924 and from the Tuck School one year later. The marriage is set for next June. Miss Tredennick, in whose honor the shower was given, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tredennick of Sheffield West. Her marriage to Clinton S. Mason of Winchester is to take place in March.

PHARMACY CHANGES HANDS

The pharmacy at 522 Main street, conducted for some years by Mr. F. C. Locke of Highland avenue, has been purchased by C. O. Danforth of Boston and is to continue under the firm name of Danforth's Pharmacy. Mr. Danforth has had a long association with the drug business, having been formerly associated with the Riker-Jaynes Drug Company as manager for several of its best stores in Boston. He plans to completely remodel and renovate his local shop, installing new fixtures and an entirely new lighting system. The new pharmacy, which is to include such up-to-the minute features as a lunch counter and ice cream booths, is expected to be ready for business tomorrow.

Mrs. Charles E. Moore and her two children Janet and Margery Moore returned to her home in Roanoke, Va., last week after a long visit with her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Etheridge of Lloyd street.

ALL VOTED FOR TANK

5. The tank is located in what will probably be the largest high service district in the Town and by having the supply near at hand a substantial saving will be made in the size of the pipes in the streets.

6. With two tanks a large supply of water can be had on Highland avenue at Mt. Vernon street, part coming from the north and part from the south tank, of a capacity equal to two 10-inch pipes. It is the thought of the Board to construct a high pressure main down Mt. Vernon street and place hydrants near the Town Hall, Wedleigh School and the Baptist Church, also a hydrant near the High School, and any other buildings the Town may build. This main can be extended to the center and will furnish the very best of fire protection. This can be done at a very reasonable expense.

The recent report of the Board of Appeal questions whether the new tank was built in the right location. There were three possible locations for the tank. The first was at the head of Prospect street. This land consists of large estates ranging from seven to 21 acres. Part of it was under option for sale at the time. The owner would have vigorously resisted any taking. Moreover, the land was not located advantageously for a tank, as a long supply main would have had to be constructed to Highland avenue and a substantial piece of 6-inch and 8-inch pipe would have to be replaced in Highland avenue, making the expense almost as much as the relaying of pipe in Highland avenue.

The second lot considered was the head of Jefferson road in the Fells in the city of Medford. Mr. George Lyman Rogers, late secretary of the Metropolitan District Commission, was consulted. He said that the land in the Fells was taken for park purposes and that the Commission had no legal right to allow any town to use it for water storage, that it would require an Act of Legislature giving permission to the Town of Winchester to erect a tank and he was sure this could not be obtained, as all other similar requests had been turned down. This land also had the same objection as the other land, being a long way from Highland avenue and the expense of constructing the mains would have been very large. There was only one other lot available. That was on Cranston road. This could be purchased for a reasonable sum and no long feeder pipes from the tank would be required.

The plans of the Water and Sewer Board, made after careful study in the interests of public safety, based upon recommendations of the Chief of the Fire Department, the New England Insurance Exchange and Metcalf and Eddy, Consulting Engineers, were presented to the Finance Committee. They recommended an appropriation for taking the land and it was affirmed by vote of the town.

The Planning Board was consulted as to landscape. They recommended that a larger area of land be secured around the proposed site of the tank, but this suggestion did not meet with the approval of the Finance Committee. If there were any blame on any one's part for the location of the tank, it should not be placed on the Planning Board. This was the only feasible and practicable location for the tank.

The formal action of the Water and Sewer Board in connection with the construction of the tank was as follows:

The Board met April 25, 1927; all present (Sanderson, Kendall and Whorf). It was unanimously voted to purchase the land on Cranston road of John Apley, on which to construct the tank for the sum of $2600. All signed the taking of the above land for water supply purposes, awarding damages to John Apley of $2600. This money was recommended by the Finance Committee, and voted by the Town at the March Town Meeting.

The Board met December 3, 1928; all present. All signed the order of taking for conduit easement from Cranston road to the water main in Ledyard road. This was for the tank feeder, a distance of about 100 feet.

The Board met April 1, 1929; all present. It was unanimously voted to construct a tank on Cranston road as voted by the town on March 18, 1929, and employ Metcalf and Eddy as Engineers.

The Board met May 13, 1929; all present. It was unanimously voted to accept the bid of the Chicago Bridge and Iron Works at $14,120, to build tank as per specifications of Metcalf and Eddy, Engineers, on Cranston road.

The various steps taken by the Water and Sewer Board were based on votes or acts in which at the time every member of the Board concurred. We have tried to carry out the recommendations of the Finance Committee and the wishes of the town as expressed in the votes at town meetings. The town now has an adequate high service supply of water in the south district.

WYMAN ASSOCIATION "FATHERS' NIGHT"

The Wyman Mothers' Association will hold its first annual "Fathers' Night" at the assembly hall at 7:30 on the evening of Dec. 20. There will be a play presented by the children; also an opportunity to meet the teachers and inspect the building.

Miss Constance Greco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greco of Everett avenue, was head pouer at a tea dance, given at the Longwood Country Club last Saturday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. John S. West of Boston to present their debutante daughter, Miss Barbara West. Miss Greco also danced at the tea, given last Wednesday in Boston, at which Miss Elinor Kittridge, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William P. Coues of Brookline, was introduced.

AND A GOOD TIME WAS HAD BY ALL

To the Editor of the Star:

You see it happened this way. Somebody told Whitelaw Wright that the deer was thicker'n hen's teeth down Maine way, so "Whitey," he took a trusty rifle under each arm and his good wife in the other and went down looking for them. Of course, Mrs. Wright aint never had much experience with them big shooting irons, so the deer kept pretty close to her, and everytime she would see one of them it wud look so goldinged pretty she'd stop and look at it, and by the time she'd git ready to fire the gosh-durned deer would be half a mile or more away. So "Whitey" he got good and sore, and he said I'll do the hunting from now on, and it seems that when he was walking through the woods his foot slipped on a wet leaf, and as he turned around cussing a blue streak, the gun went off and a poor innocent buck deer just got in the way and that's why we had the dinner. That is, he says he shot it, but it looks to me mighty suspicious, becuz I seen that same animal in the store. Mr. Meek's little boy works in fer quite a spell back. Well, anyway, we all went up to "Whitey's" house last night to sample the animal. The Mrs. was there too, but after she seen about four or five of the gang arrive she decided she'd better attend the choir rehearsal. Sarg. Mobbs and Chief Cook Monk Carroll was doing the K. P. work with Whitey looking on and doing a pretty good job except everybody kept coming in to the kitchen to help, mostly by sampling. Of course we had to wait for Dick Parkhurst to show up, because he had to do the servin, and I aint found out yet when he got time to eat. "Paddy" Foley had a date to talk with a feller that wanted him to plumb for him, and stopped in to express his regrets, but when he saw the table groanin' with good eats, he cancelled the appointment. "Cliff" Townner was there to help Dick out, and Major Grindle had to make sure the dinner went off in military fashion, while the Navy interests were looked after by ex-gob Moynihan. Somebody put the celery out in the back yard in a wash boiler to make sure it kept cold and then forgot to serve it until the dishes were all washed, and Cook Carroll refused to put the olives on the table because he couldn't find anything in the manual about whether to use a knife and fork or a spoon with 'em and he didn't want to pull a faux faux. Of course we all had plenty of venison, and peas, which we mashed up with potatoes so they wouldn't roll off the knife, and cranberry sauce and coffee, but they didn't tell us nothing about the pie until after we didn't have any room for it, even after washing everything down with water and coffee. The Ammonia quartet (Johnston, Wright, Goodwin and Zaffina) furnished musical numbers, while Comrade Very Wilde rendered several Naval numbers in true nautical style. Livin' G. Stone was the hit of the evening with his inimitable comedy and songs, and he won the sandpaper powder puff in the military drill. Eben Ramsdell looked after everybody's welfare, and "Cy" Young kept the records, while "Nate" Thumim was telling his stories. Then Mrs. Wright came home and did the dishes and a good time was had by all.

Wishing you the same,
Your Uncle "Cy"

FIREMEN TO HAVE NEW RADIO
Winchester radio lovers, who contemplate the purchase of a new radio between now and the first of the year may very easily at no extra expense to themselves, assist the members of the Fire Department in their effort to own an up-to-date machine. Through the co-operation of Mr. Samuel McNeilly of the S. S. McNeilly Company, local radio dealers at 54 1/2 Main street, a fine new Victor radio has been purchased by the firemen and installed in the Central Station. In an effort to make the price of the set as low to the men as possible, Mr. McNeilly proposes to credit their account with $10 for each radio purchased in Winchester from his concern before Jan. 1.

There is no catch to the proposition. Ten dollars is not tacked onto the purchase price where the customer can not see it. The prices are there and the list price only is paid. Mr. McNeilly is willing to split his profit with the firemen and the Star believes prospective radio purchasers will be glad to help out.

BELFAST: FROM SWAMP TO PORT, AND MAKER OF LINEN AND ROPE

Belfast harbor, already one of the busiest in the British Isles, is to be a port of call for additional transatlantic liners.

Ocean-going ships of all varieties and sizes, always moving in and out of the harbor, and tied up at the docks on both sides of the Lagan River, are evidence of Belfast's commerce. D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

A Cosmopolitan Harbor

Flags represent every continent, while on the water-front streets British seamen mingle with sailors from the Orient, from North Africa, from both the Americas, and from the islands of the seas.

Above the docks the cranes and other equipment, with their myriad cables and supports, etch a network against the Belfast skyline. The city claims the largest rope factory in the world; it also has the largest Irish linen factories in Ireland. There literally are acres of linen works in the city.

Modern machinery hums in the linen factories but hand looms still are in operation here and there. Workmen sitting on cross beams before what appear to be crude weaving frames with hundreds of threads crossed and recrossed before them, skillfully weave damask for tablecloths that may grace dining tables of American homes. They weave 400 threads into a square inch and the finished product is so tightly woven that it will hold water. Eighteen million dollars worth of linen from Belfast factories was shipped to the United States in one year.

Kentucky Tobacco for Belfast "Twist"

Pretty Irish maidens stand beside long tables filled with Kentucky tobacco leaves in the tobacco factories. Here the product of the Kentucky tobacco fields is twisted into "ropes" about an inch in diameter, then wound on reels, compressed and cooked by steam. The tobacco emerges from the factory as "twist," a favorite tobacco product among British tobacco users.

Mineral water bottling works and distilleries also reduce Belfast unemployment but one of the city's greatest prizes is its shipyards. The Olympic, Adriatic, Belgenland and many other well known liners slid down the Belfast ways amid the cheers of the inhabitants of Belfast. So did the ill-fated Titanic.

City Built on a Swamp

Clean, wide streets bordered by fine government buildings, large parks and playgrounds and, in the business section, fine shops, are the rule. There also are fine residences with private gardens attached.

Usher itself, if you would believe a Belfast Irishman, is a large garden with the hills and plains of County Donegal and County Antrim covered with forests and well kept farms, here and there studded with picturesque villages and placid lakes. A Belfast guide likes to take visitors to Belvedere Gardens on the edge of the city where the panorama presents a vast area of fine farms not unlike the checkerboardlike areas in the valleys of eastern United States.

It now is difficult to imagine that Belfast's site was once a swamp and that less than a century ago no ocean-going ship could navigate the Lagan as far as the Ulster capital. Before the sturdy Irish from the small villages came to drain the swamps and plan the dredging of the channel, Belfast was subsidiary to Carrickfergus nearby. New Belfast has a population nearly equal to Washington, D. C.; Carrickfergus has about 9000.

Fresh Water Under Sea

An undersea well in the Persian gulf gives forth fresh water. That water is the only source of supply for the city of Bahrain. Divers equipped with waterproof bags descend into the depths, swiftly fill their water bags from this gushing spring and come back with sweet drinking water for the inhabitants of the hottest spot on earth.

Standard Time

The United States Naval observatory has three standard clocks running in constant temperature vaults, electrically wound and sealed to keep the air pressure constant. Meridian circle observations of selected stars are taken regularly on clear nights, and from these observations the errors of standard clocks are determined. The observatory sends out time signals. Correct time is given over radio networks as an advertising device.

"Lost and Found" Home

The "lucky bag" aboard a man-of-war is a place where the ship's police petty officer stows effects for safe keeping that are found adrift about the ship. At frequent intervals the lucky bag is opened and the effects are distributed to the owners. Lucky for the owners, but when persons are found guilty of carelessness, and they usually always are, in leaving their effects adrift, some mild form of disciplinary action is taken.

Common Breed of Hogs

The razor-back hog is a hog of no distinct breed, which is found in the South. Ordinarily, it is allowed to get most of its food by foraging. These hogs are usually not confined to lots or pens, as those of the recognized standard breeds found on hog farms. In different sections of the South they are known by other names, such as "piney wood rooters," "rakestraws" and "guinea hogs."

Tree-Climbing Skunk

The common skunk or polecat cannot climb trees. There is only one member of the skunk family that does climb trees to avoid pursuit. This is the kind called the "little spotted skunk" or the "hydropophobia skunk" and is found chiefly in the southwestern and western states.

MRS. ALICE GEORGE GLEASON

Mrs. Alice George Gleason, wife of Herbert Eldridge Gleason Jr., of 18 Woodside road passed away early Sunday morning, Dec. 1 at the Choate Memorial Hospital, Woburn.

Mrs. Gleason was 22 years of age and was born in Newfoundland, the daughter of Charles and Helen (Pynn) George. Most of her life was spent in Winchester and she attended the high school here. Besides her husband, she is survived by her mother, living in Lexington, by a daughter, Eleanor, and an infant son, Eldridge Alfred Gleason.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. Truman Hemmings, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. Interment was in the Newton Cemetery, Newton.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Virginian," with a great cast of Paramount favorites including such stars as Gary Cooper, Mary Brian, Walter Huston, Richard Arlen and Chester Conklin, opens a seven day engagement at the big Granada Theater in Malden tomorrow, which also includes special shows on Sunday. "The Virginian" is just the type of picture for which "all-talking" is most admirably suited. Photographed and "miked" in the open spaces of the Western cattle country, the picture presents to the eye and ear of the beholder every living detail of this thrilling story. Gary Cooper, in his first all-dialogue role, is said to give a great performance. His charming Southern drawl as the Virginian will make many a feminine heart flutter. Walter Huston, as Trampas, is the most convincing bad man in the history of the talkies. Richard Arlen, as Steve, the wayward buddy of the Virginian, and Mary Brian, as Peggy Wood, the pretty school teacher with whom the hero falls in love, are said by critics to give the best performances of their careers.

TO BROADCAST WAR POEM

Winchester Poetess Will Be Heard on Air

On Wednesday, Dec. 18, over Station WNAC, as a part of the program to be broadcast by the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs between the hours of 11 and 11:30, our Winchester poetess, Marion Perham Gale, will read her new war poem entitled "Have You Forgotten." This poem has been written at the request of the Federation and will later appear in the pages of Federation Topics, the official journal of the Federation. Its theme is a strong appeal for continued interest in the welfare of the disabled veterans. The poem will be used by the Committee for Cooperation with War Veterans in their work for the Christmas season.

The Continental Anthologies published by Roger Lacouriere in Paris, France, which contain a group of Mrs. Gale's recent poems have just made their appearance in the United States and are receiving much favorable comment.

MISS HITCHCOCK ENGAGED

At a tea, given in their home at 29 Wedgemere avenue last Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Colton Hitchcock announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Hitchcock, to Theodore King Babcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Babcock of Cambridge. Miss Hitchcock wore a frock of dahlia-colored net and carried a cluster of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Hitchcock's gown was of China red velvet. Miss Barbara Whitehead of Boston and Miss Ruth Chamberlin of Winchester poured.

Miss Hitchcock is a graduate of Miss Lee's School and also of the Scott-Carbee School of Art. She is now studying at the Reed School of Art in Boston. Mr. Babcock prepared for college at Phillips Academy, Andover, and is now a senior at Harvard. No date for the wedding has been announced.

FIREMEN HAD BUSY WEEK-END

The week-end just past was one of the busiest the local firemen have had in quite some time. The smell of smoke in a house called the men to Central street at 5:30 last Friday afternoon but no fire could be discovered. At 7 p. m. telephone box 521 came in for a fire in a Cadillac sedan at the home of Albion L. Danforth on Everett avenue. The car was only slightly damaged. At 8:12 the department was called to a house on Highland avenue by steam escaping from a heater. The pressure was found to be excessive, but no damage was done.

Saturday morning's activities began at 10:18 when telephone box 35 sounded for a fire in the cellar of the house at 85 Swanton street, occupied by Carmine Luongo. Upon arrival the men found that the safety valve upon the heater had released. Telephone box 7-572 came in at 11:41 a. m. for woods on fire in the rear of High street. The fire was found to be in Lexington, but was put out by the local firemen. The flames swept about two acres. At 12:06 p. m. there was a grass fire in the rear of 418 Washington street. Burning grass called the men to Sylvester avenue at 1:05 and at 10:40 p. m. box 571 came in for a fire in the woods at the rear of Mr. George Locke's residence on Ridge street. Once again the blaze proved to be in Lexington and this time the men were given a hard fight of more than one and one-half hours before they could leave for quarters.

Sunday afternoon at 1:32 there was a slight roof fire at the residence of John Blunt at 32 Cross street. At 2:18 there was a grass fire in the rear of Winter Pond. Telephone box 41 came in at 2:27 for a grass fire off Middlesex street and at 2:46 a second alarm came in for burning grass at the same point. This fire soon assumed alarming proportions and for a time threatened destruction to the entire "Bowery" district of the town. A dense black smoke filled the neighborhood, and the cars of residents, hastily pushed into the street to escape the approaching flames hampered the efforts of the firemen.

WHY ANOTHER COMMITTEE?

Review of Proposed Enlargement of Wadleigh School

To the Editor of the Star:
The coming Town Meeting is called to consider the School facilities of the Town, and it is reported that the School Committee will seek to have a large committee appointed to consider and report on this question and in connection therewith to recommend a school site with estimates of cost of both the site and the building.

It seems to the writer that our present School Committee have all the information necessary to report to the Town and can do so without incurring a substantial additional expense which a new Committee may be authorized to incur in obtaining preliminary plans and estimates of cost and the School Committee should assume this responsibility and stand or fall on their own representation and recommendations. It would seem as if we had Committees enough in the past.

Before any new building is constructed, the Town should settle definitely whether they want the Junior High School system of education or not, and if the present system is continued, adequate facilities could undoubtedly be provided at very much less expense. It would seem idle to discuss sites and buildings until the main question is settled.

The writer had the privilege of serving on the Committee last year instructed to report upon various sites for a new school building, and I believe that this phase of the problem was pretty thoroughly covered in their report.

The present Wadleigh School may be, as constituted, inadequate for present requirements, but architecturally it will compare favorably with any school building in Town and the interior can be remodeled with much economy in space, and in connection with a new building, which could be put up in the rear of the present Wadleigh building, could be made one of the best School plants in Town and with a very substantial saving in expense.

The following memorandum covering the Wadleigh School site was prepared before the Town Meeting of 1929, and will serve to present this matter to the citizens of Winchester at this time.

Wadleigh School Site
Careful consideration must be given to the Wadleigh School Building and the possibilities of its extension to meet the requirements for some years to come, primarily for economic reasons.

The present building is admittedly in good condition and is now taking care of 321 pupils without crowding and in years past has had a larger enrollment than at present. The building is not adequately equipped for Junior High School purposes, but could undoubtedly be used to better advantage in connection with a new building fully and adequately equipped with Gymnasium, Assembly Hall, and other required appurtenances. It is also reported that the present Wadleigh heating plant is about to require replacement and this could be taken care of when adding to the complete school plant.

By taking four properties with the dwelling thereon in the immediate rear of the present building and between Mt. Vernon street and Myrtle street 17,464 sq. ft. would be added to the present Wadleigh School lot, which together would make a total area of 46,265 sq. ft.

The assessed value of the four properties to be acquired, plus 25 per cent, amounts to $21,409, and for approximately this amount, it is believed that the Town would have sufficient area upon which to erect a modern building, which in connection with the present Wadleigh School, would provide adequate facilities for the intermediate grades for at least 15 years.

In weighing the merit of this proposition, it is only fair to take into account the replacement value of the present Wadleigh building, and this is reported by the School Committee to have a cubic foot content of 218,500 cubic feet, which at 42¢ per cubic foot would amount to $104,370.

By relieving the High School of its Freshman Class, which would be taken care of by the proposed intermediate school development, the present attendance at the High School could be expanded 63 per cent before reaching the present total enrollment, and this would undoubtedly make the present High School adequate for at least ten years and possibly longer.

Objection will be raised that the Wadleigh School site would afford no playground facilities, but with the land immediately across Washington Street and between Mt. Vernon and the Parkway, now owned by the Town, there would be abundant opportunity for setting up exercises and it will also be seen that Manchester Field is comparatively near by and can be reached without crossing the railroad.

It was believed last year that the building suggested for the Main Street location would cost over $500,000 and in considering this expenditure, the citizens of Winchester should take into account the fact that they may soon be called upon to build a new library, share in the expense of grade-crossing eliminations, and if the present recommendation of the waterways commission finds favor, the Town may look forward to an expense in this field alone of over $500,000, and we are very close to the point when major operations will have to be taken on many of the streets in Winchester.

Very truly yours,
E. S. Larned

CHRISTMAS BAGS CHEER MEN IN GARRISONS

In the holds of Army and Navy supply ships now at sea, bound for America's outlying possessions, are stowed cases of brightly colored cretonne bags for Christmas trees in barracks and hospitals. These bags are the annual gifts of women volunteer workers of the American Red Cross to the men on duty in the isolated tropics. The call made by the National Red Cross this year was for over 50,000 bags. Hawaii, with 19,000 men leads in the number of bags. The Canal Zone follows with 11,500 men and the Philippines with 9,000. Other points are Nicaragua, China, Haiti, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the naval stations at Guam, Samoa and Guantanamo in Cuba.

Winchester's quota, prepared by Mrs. Harper Blaisdell with the assistance of a group of High School girls under the direction of Miss Helen Bronson, has been shipped.

The Christmas bag idea dates back to the Mexican border mobilization effected shortly before America's entrance in the World War. At that time, the Red Cross conceived the idea of brightening the Christmas of the soldiers in the bleak plains of Chihuahua. The idea was vastly expanded during the great war. Since then, the men in uniform posted in the outlying possessions of the United States have been remembered each Christmas with a bag of bright cretonne containing about a dozen articles of use and amusement. The contents include such articles as pocket knives, diaries, cards or puzzles, pencils, sewing outfits, writing materials, tobacco, shaving soap, toothbrush, tooth paste, combs and the like.

Simple as these bags are they bring quantities of letters of appreciation from the men and from officers writing in behalf of their troops. We quote the following from one of these officers:

"To many a lad in Uncle Sam's service out here in the Pacific, these bags bring fond memories of home and the most real Christmas joy."

Harry Good was one of the speakers at the annual dinner of the Riding Masters' Association of New England, held Tuesday night at Burlington. He spoke of the increased interest in the saddle horse during the past five years. Hugh MacDonnell, the well known rider, was another speaker, and among those attending the banquet was Clifford H. Pratt.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Mrs. William E. Chenery, a former president of the Harvard Women's Club of Boston, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Fortnightly on Monday afternoon, Dec. 9. Mrs. Chenery is an enthusiastic and experienced traveler, and has spent some time in Russia, so is well equipped to discuss her subject, "A Summer in Soviet Russia." While in Russia Mrs. Chenery, in company with her husband, Dr. Chenery, acquired not only vitally interesting information but various old and rare articles from the palace of the late Czar, which she will exhibit during her talk.

At this meeting the members will have an opportunity also to hear Mrs. Charles Geissler, the well known bridge expert of WEEL, who will briefly explain the Whitehead System of bridge whist. Mrs. Geissler is said to be one of the best speakers on Auction and Contract Bridge. She will doubtless have much of interest to offer in this direction.

Music Committee

The members of the Glee Club are progressing well under the direction of J. Albert Wilson, and would gladly welcome more members. It is expected that the Glee Club will be quite a feature at future Fortnightly meetings, and a large representation is desired. This group meets mornings at 10 o'clock, every second Tuesday. The chairman, Mrs. Annette S. Hughes, will be glad to give any information. Tel. 1556.

Literature Committee

The second meeting of the Literature Committee was interesting and instructive. Miss Alice Shovelton was introduced by Mrs. Anna M. Swanson as the chairman of the afternoon. The book for consideration was "Henry VIII" by Francis Hackett, and following the lines of "Creative Reading," the analysis of the book was handled in a most efficient manner. In opening the subject, Miss Shovelton gave a picture of European politics and policies in the early years of Henry VIII, and a background of his home and court life. "It was the world of 1500 to 1550; a Europe in which strong impulse crowded on the heels of new inventions and popularizations, pushing out the boundaries and the frontiers of habit, and yet carrying into this enlargement of experience, as always happens, much of the attitude and many of the impedimenta of the older art of life. Names huddle across the bold skies of the early 16th century like wild squadrons of the air—Batticelli, Perugino, Mantegna, da Vinci, Albrecht Durer, Raphael, Michelangelo, Titian, Breughel, Holbein, Cellini, Columbus, Cabot, Vasco da Gama, Cortes, Pizarro, Chevalier Bayard, Gaston de Foix, Gonsalvo de Cordoba, Pescara, Linares, Ambroise Pare, Servetus, Bernard Palissy, Erasmus, Bude, Colet, Thomas More, Melancthon, Martin Luther, Rabelais, Ferdinand, Maximilian, Louis XII, the Popes Julius, Leo X, Adrian VI, Clement VII, Isabella, Louise of Savoy, Margaret of Austria, Margaret of the Heptameron, James IV, James V, Charles V, Francis I, Henry VIII, Wolsey, Cranmer, Thomas Cromwell, Machiavelli, Ignatius Loyola, Copernicus, Calvin—a swarm, a whirl, of brilliant and extravagant vitality, that throbbed and danced in the heavens and that, in the glowing distance, still coruscates and blazes fire." Miss Shovelton then called on Mrs. Maude H. Bridge, Mrs. Anna M. Swanson, Mrs. B. T. Hatch, Mrs. Edith J. Low, Mrs. Myrtle L. Hodge, and Miss A. S. Bridgman to give the setting, racial, religious, political, intellectual, literary and social. This group gave a splendid insight into the life of that period. Miss Shovelton then presented the book as a whole in a masterly way, bringing out in strong relief the individualism of Henry, his persistence in gaining his ends, and his elastic conscience. The "Analysis" of the work itself was given in a brilliant summing up by Miss Bridgman, and one gave a sigh of regret that the end must come. Discussion followed, bringing questions of 20th century progress and development, of the broadening of thought in religious issues, of individualism and of free speech, of free thinking and morality. Those who attended this meeting, and there was a good attendance despite the storm, will not soon forget Francis Hackett's Henry VIII. The committee opened its circulating library with Mrs. Maude H. Bridge as librarian, and is very grateful for the gift of a bookcase. Any member having un-to-date books to loan may call Mrs. Bridge, Win. 0737, and the committee will be deeply appreciative.

The next meeting of this group will feature as the books to be studied, "Victim and Victor" by John R. Oliver, and "Scarlet Sister Mary" by Julia Peterkin, and members are urged to read these books before that meeting. Will those members who have these books and have read them, kindly loan them to Mrs. Bridge for the library. The next meeting will be in January, and all meetings are open to all members without charge.

WINCHESTER GIRLS NOSED OUT FOR HOCKEY CROWN

Defeated 1-0 by Lexington Monday at Newton

Winchester's game fight to win the field hockey championship of the greater Boston interscholastic league for the third successive year ended at Newton Monday afternoon when the local high school girls' eleven, representing the league's Northern Division, lost to the Lexington High girls, Southern Division titlists, by the score of 1-0. Winchester had previously won the right to represent its half by defeating Melrose and Winthrop in successive games.

The game was played in a heavy snow-storm under just about the worst conditions imaginable. Anything like real field hockey was unthinkable. The field was blanketed in snow, making dribbling out of the question, and leaving scooping and pushing as the sole means of advancing the ball. At times the ball had to be dug from the snow before play could be resumed while the girls were continually falling on the slippery, snow clad turf.

Conditions were of course as bad for one team as for the other and postponing the game would probably have meant failure to decide the championship this fall. The authorities decided to go through with the contest Monday at noontime when it looked as if the storm might hold off. Lexington had the better team and deserved to win. The Minute girls immediately swept and pushed the ball into Winchester's territory after the opening whistle, and except for a few minutes when the locals succeeded in forcing their way past middle field, kept constantly on the offensive. Fine work on the part of the Winchester defense alone kept Lexington from scoring several times. Mary Cutter being very effective in swatting the snow-caked ball out of danger. Capt. "Pug" Mercer too was on the alert and turned in some nice "saves" to aid the local cause.

Both teams were fighting hard and the spectators, who had braved the elements, told each other through chattering teeth at intermission that there would be no score.

Lexington, however, would not be denied and soon after half time put over its winning tally. The goal came after a penalty corner in front of the Winchester sticks and was made by Lexington's left inside, Marjorie Duffy.

The ball was shot out and immediately went into a fierce scrimmage directly before the local goal. Sticks and snow flew in all directions and Miss Duffy's shot was past Captain Mercer in a cloud of white before anyone could see it. No one could blame "Pug" for missing that one.

Capt. Contervall's charges kept their heads up and fought on in the face of defeat. At times as the half drew on to a close they even carried the fighting in Lexington's territory. The local sallies, however, usually ended in a spill with the opposing defense players knocking the ball out of danger as soon as they could find it. It is to be hoped that no championship ever has to be decided again on such a day.

By virtue of their win at Newton, Lexington finished its season undefeated, but with two tie games.

LADIES' FRIENDLY BAZAAR

Tuesday the Unitarian Parish House presented a real holiday appearance to all the patrons of the Ladies' Friendly Christmas Bazaar. The former Sunday School room and the Young People's room were thrown together by the use of the large doors and with the background of red lights the individual booths seemed to be the Xmas gifts piled around the green flower shop which blazed forth in the centre in true Xmas tree fashion.

Downstairs the Metcalf Hall was transformed into an up-to-date cafeteria, which did a rushing business from 12-2 p. m. Nothing was missing in its atmosphere from the file of ladies carrying their trays to the menu on the wall and Mrs. Farnsworth, the efficient cashier.

When the rush subsided in the downstairs restaurant business, the ladies' parlor, transformed into a miniature tea room came in for its share of the business, there the parcel laden shoppers had a chance to chat and sip in a very restful atmosphere at the individual tables set with spotless linen and glimmering red candles.

Mrs. E. F. Kidder general chairman of the bazaar assisted by Mrs. Arthur Kelley and Mrs. H. E. Osgood deserve praise for their able management as the fair closed a financial and social success.

The following served as chairman of the various tables:

UNITARIAN YOUNG PEOPLE PRODUCED PLAY

Big Crowd Enjoyed "Queen of Kingdom Corners"

The Metcalf Union of the Unitarian Church gave its annual Thanksgiving show last Friday evening in Metcalf Hall producing "The Queen of Kingdom Corners," a three act comedy-drama, under the direction of Miss Frances B. Mason. There was a large audience, including many college and prep school boys and girls, home for the holiday week-end.

Dancing followed the show with music by the Rainbow Garden Orchestra. Matrons for the evening were Mrs. Earl Osgood, Mrs. J. R. Livingstone and Mrs. H. W. Godfrey.

The play, produced by the young people, was happily chosen and well acted by a capable cast. Its action centered about the adventures of George Edmund Lastone, said to be a dethroned king of Etunia, who took rooms at the boarding house of Aunt Mary Lott at Kingdom Corners in order to find to safe hiding place for the crown jewels which he had brought with him from his erstwhile kingdom. The fact that he arrived in the village when the authorities were on the watch for counterfeiters added to the complications of the plot.

Lastone was tracked to Kingdom Corners by Symmes, one of the anarchist adventurers, who plotted the downfall of his kingdom and whose chief interest lay in getting possession of the valuable crown jewels. There was also the faithful Constance Rowland, who knew of Lastone's danger and took a position as a housemaid at Aunt Mary's to warn the former king of Symmes designs. Finally Symmes cornered Lastone and was about to shoot him when Constance, disguised as a maid, intervened and took the bullet meant for her friend. Symmes escaped, but was later apprehended through the efforts of Aunt Mary and turned over to the zealous guardian of the law, Sheriff "Eb" Roundtree.

Lastone of course fell in love with Constance and everything ended happily, even to a second romance, involving Mary Ellen, Aunt Mary's charge and Martin Dusenbury, a promising young physician. For a time this latter romance was threatened by the machinations of Tillie Thayer whose designs upon Doctor Dusenbury were finally frustrated by a vigorous counter suit upon her own affections by Sheriff Roundtree.

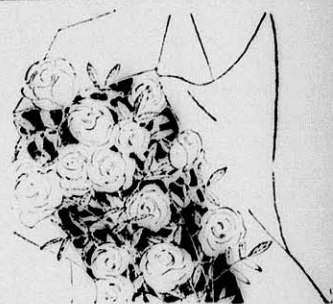

The cast named in order of appearance:

Mary Ellen—Jean Thompson
Martin Dusenbury—M. D. Miller
Aunt Mary Lott—Marjorie Hayden
Tillie Thayer—Jean Livingstone
Eb Roundtree—Bradford Hill
George Edmund Lastone—Russell Davis
Vincent Bond, his friend—Stanley Osgood Constance Rowland—Catherine Chamberlin
Symmes—Roger Newell
Act 1: Living room in Aunt Mary Lott's home. (A sunny June morning.)
Act 2: The same, two weeks later.
Act 3: Evening, the same day.

Miss Mason was assisted in the production of the play by George Hayden, lights; William Bernard, properties; and Malcolm Walkins, properties.

Mr. John E. Fuller, teacher of Biology, Chemistry and Physics for seven years at the Winchester High School is leaving in January. He is going to teach Biology and Chemistry in the Brighton High School.

Miss Janet Smith, of Winchester, was the only Massachusetts girl to be awarded one of the coveted sports cups at Wellesley this fall. Miss Smith, who is a member of the class of 1932, was awarded cups in tennis for championships in both singles and doubles.

Value of Right Words
There is no calamity which right words will not begin to redress.—Emerson.

Allowed to Change Name

Sophie Frances Shepard bequeathed $50,000 to Christ Episcopal church at Charleston, S. C., with the provision that the church change its name to "St. Peter's church." A friendly lawsuit resulted in a ruling that the defendants are within their rights in proceeding to change the name of the said church.

Name Originated in War

Anzac is a name often applied to the people of Australia and New Zealand, says an article in Pathfinder Magazine. It originated during the World war. The Australian and New Zealand forces in the British service were officially known as the "Australian-New Zealand Army Corps." In popular usage this name was shortened to "Anzac" being the initial letters of the words composing the longer name.

Real Center of World

"All roads lead to Rome" was not a metaphor out a fact during the supremacy of the Roman empire. Roads led to the Imperial city from Dacia, present-day Transylvania, on the east and Germany on the west. Another road branched from the tip of what now is Spain.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Language of Spain

The Spanish embassy advises that since Spanish is the national language of the country it is spoken by all the peoples of the country with the exception of a few scattered groups in the Pyrenees. Of those speaking Spanish, between 75 and 80 per cent also read and write it.—Washington Star.

National Museum

The United States National museum is at Washington, in charge of the Smithsonian Institution. The museum is rich in the natural history, geology, paleontology, archaeology, and ethnology of America, and has collections of American history, including war collections, as well as many series relating to the arts and the industrial arts. It is an educational and research museum.

Ubiquitous

Out on the fringes where the world begins there is found a man known to his shipmates as Doc. He is a hospital corpsman in the United States navy. He is found wherever the American navy or marine corps goes. Gimm, Samoa, Panama, Haiti, Virgin Islands, Manila, Brazil, Nicaragua or China is home to him—Exchange.

Nothing of our last Christmas season do we recall as pleasantly as we do the men whom we had the privilege of assisting in their choice of "something for the wife." "Nothing is too good for her!" Men are childishly eager to surprise and to please her. They have a Christmas spirit that is very real and very genuine.

We are assembling some lovely gifts for women, again this year,—gowns—pajamas—underwear—hosiery.

We have Christmas boxes and wrappings, and are glad to do up gifts for a small charge.

We eagerly await calls for "something for the wife."

COMMITTEE APPOINTED FOR SCHOOL NEEDS

Five Thousand Dollars for Portable Building at Wadleigh

One hundred and eighty-nine of the 232 town meeting members took a little more than an hour to dispose of the three articles in need of the warrant for Tuesday evening's special town meeting session in the town hall. All three articles dealt with the much argued "secondary school facilities" and many believed much eloquence in debate would arise from their discussion.

There never was a more quiet town meeting. Among all the town meeting members present only two had sufficient temerity to speak in opposition to the remarks and motions of the new Junior High School proponents. Had it not been for Mrs. E. C. McDonald and Mr. Larned there would not have been even a ripple upon the placid surface of the session. Perhaps those who oppose a new school building were saving their energy for March. They certainly were conspicuous by their absence Tuesday night.

The meeting was late in starting and the tardiness of the town meeting members drew a reproof from Moderator Hayward. Following the opening of the session Chairman Worthen of the Selectmen spoke of the meeting that his board held with the School and Finance Committees which prompted the calling of the special meeting session.

Mr. Worthen then moved that the subject matter of Articles 1 and 2 be considered together since they were closely related and time might thereby be saved.

MRS. HARRISON PARKER

Mrs. Fanny Fletcher Parker, widow of Harrison Parker, entered into heavenly rest Tuesday evening, Dec. 10, at Red Roof, this town, the family home for the last 51 years.

Born in Pittsford, Me., May 25, 1852, she was in her 78th year. Her childhood was spent largely in Hallowell, Me. Graduating from Abbot Academy, Andover in 1872 she came with her mother, Mrs. Sarah H. Fletcher and her sisters to Winchester, opening a private school for children. She was married in 1875 to Harrison Parker who died on Christmas Day, 1917. Five of their seven children survive, Rev. Asa Merrick Parker of Wellesley Hills, Constance Parker Chipman, wife of Reeve Chipman of Boston, Esther Parker Lovett, wife of Rev. Sidney Lovett of Boston, Gordon Parker and Miss Eugenia Parker of Winchester. There are 12 living grandchildren.

The service was held at the home, 408 Main street, Winchester, Thursday afternoon attended only by the immediate family and conducted by her son, Rev. Asa Merrick Parker and her son-in-law, Rev. Sidney Lovett.

Fanny Fletcher Parker was one whose presence and influence will be deeply missed by the host of her friends in this community and around the world. With artistic background and training, a cultivated taste for the best in literature, a love of sea, mountains and gardens and a deep and rare spirituality in her Christian faith and life, she drew to herself through the years of home life and travel a great number of like-minded friends.

The Mothers' Association in Winchester was her great interest. For many years she presided over it, and her home and grounds were always open to the gatherings of mothers, children and teachers.

MISS FESSENDEN TO WED IN JUNE

Among the weddings scheduled for the coming June is that of Miss Elizabeth Fessenden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fessenden of Winchester, and Mr. William Nichols Beggs, son of Mrs. William Earle Beggs of Winchester. The ceremony will be performed in the Church of the Epiphany by Rev. Dr. John W. Suter, rector honorarius of the church, assisted by the present rector, Truman Hemmaway. Miss Fessenden is now directing the pre-kindergarten school in Weston, while Mr. Beggs finishes his course in law at Harvard University. Their engagement was announced last September.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

Building permits were issued for week ending Dec. 12 as follows:

Mrs. Harry W. Brown, Winchester—alter present dwelling at 10 Norwood street.

M. A. Lyman, Clifton Heights—private garage on lot at 350 Highland avenue.

Roger Hadley, Winchester—new cellar under kitchen on present dwelling 193 Forest street.

TOZIER PARTY AT OTTAWA

That City Was Settled by Winchester Residents

The now famous Tozier Party, which goes each season to Canada for winter sports, will visit Ottawa over New Year's, and strange though it may seem, this great Canadian city was settled somewhere around 1796 by one Philemon Wright who came from this town of Winchester. Philemon Wright was accompanied by a Charles Symmes, also of Winchester, who was one of his assistants.

The Tozier Party will visit Ottawa as the guests of the Canadian Government, and will be present at the dedication of the magnificent $22,000,000 palace and will make their headquarters there at the Chateau Laurier. The party will journey to Canada and back in two special trains running express from Boston to Ottawa.

The fact that Ottawa was settled by Winchester men adds much interest to this year's visit there. Charles Symmes, who assisted Philemon Wright, married one of Wright's daughters. One of Symmes' ancestors, Mr. Samuel S. Symmes, has a record of this, and he and other members of the Symmes family here are direct descendants of the marriage.

In view of this fact, the Mayor of the City of Ottawa has invited them to come up with the Tozier Party, and he plans to arrange a reception for them and give an address befitting the occasion. He would also like to have as many of our Winchester people come up as are interested in this event. A number of the Symmes' family are planning to attend, including Samuel, Charles, Irving, Dean and Alden.

The party will leave on Saturday, Dec. 28 and return on New Year's night. Doctor Tozier, who resides at 3 Bruce road, will be glad to send an invitation to anyone who would like to accompany the party if called by phone at his Boston office (Hancock 5576) or if addressed at 100 Boylston street, Boston.

Ottawa, the seat of the Canadian Government, is distinguished by an atmosphere of regality, dignity and splendor. It is the official residence of the representative of His Majesty the King. It is the home of the Canadian Parliament and all the other government buildings of the Dominion. The visit of the Tozier Party is made through the courtesy of the Canadian National Railways and every effort is being made to provide entertainment which will make it the most attractive outing ever held under the doctor's direction.

STUDIO MUSICAL HOURS BEGAN FRIDAY

Dec. 7 marked the beginning of a very interesting series of informal afternoon coffees at the studio of the Winchester branch of the National Associated Studios of Music under the direction of Pearl Bates Morton.

Mrs. Morton a vocal teacher and singer of prominence presented Mrs. Joseph A. Mahoney, professionally known as Baugs Burgess, who read a group of her own poems which were very enthusiastically received. Mrs. Mahoney besides being a very clever writer is active in almost every club of note in Boston. Wilfred Churchill, a young and very promising pianist and teacher of the Association played with a great deal of feeling, showing excellent technique which is so necessary for successful teaching.

Mrs. Morton had another surprise in Miss Ruth Crowe, a vocal pupil who while only having studied a period of two months, shows remarkable talent and possesses a sweet voice of much beauty which with a splendid foundation and continued careful study should bring her amongst foremost ranks of the younger singers.

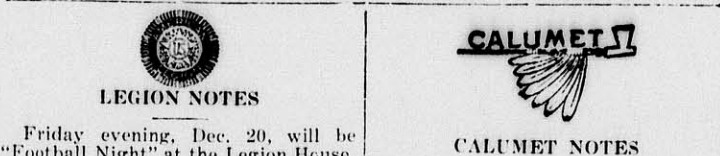

With a fine beginning the studio will afford an excellent opportunity to meet people of interest. Guests are admitted only upon invitations, which are confined to the parents and friends of the children who are studying in the school.

EMERY NEW FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

At a recent meeting of the football letter men at the Winchester High School Donald Emery, all Mystic Valley center, was elected to lead the Red and Black eleven next fall, succeeding Bartlett Godfrey. The new captain should make a fine leader. He is an aggressive, hard working player who is especially effective on defense. Emery is a junior and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Emery of Fletcher street.

The Board of Selectmen has recommended that Mr. George M. Bryne be reappointed Fish and Game Warden for the town when his present term expires Jan. 1.

The Star Wishes all A Merry Christmas

Friday evening, Dec. 20, will be "Football Night" at the Legion House, 84 Washington street. The Post will have as its guests Alton Marsters of Dartmouth and Dick O'Connell of Harvard, together with our fellow townsmen and referees par excellence, Bob Guild and Joe Pendleton. Captain-elect "Ben" Ticknor of Harvard, and former Captains Tansey of Norwich and MacPhail of Dartmouth will also very probably be on hand.

The annual banquet and reception to the National Commander, on the part of Massachusetts Legionnaires, will take place at the Statler on Feb. 1, 1930. Table reservations must be received by Jan. 15. Adjt. "Cy" Young is making up the Winchester list, and would like to have the names of any and all Post members interested as soon as possible.

SCOUTS

The Drum and Bugle Corp thank all who donated food, and all purchasers for their support of the sale held Saturday in Richardson's corner store. The Tetley Tea Company contributed 300 individual bags of tea, the Arlington Gas Light Company provided a stove and connected gas free, and Edison Electric Light Company connected lights free. To all, the Scouts are grateful.

Making, rolling and baking cookies right on the premises, making fudge one pan after another and selling it before it was cooled or hardly off the stove, and baking beans with a pressure cooker in one hour and 40 minutes, kept many hands busy, proved some Scouts had earned their cooking badge and some were about to receive it. Fifty-two dollars was realized.

Troop 2 gave a supper Tuesday evening at Captain Symmes' home in honor of their Commissioner, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall. After a delicious supper cooked by the girls and served by them a short business meeting followed, and plans made for Christmas cheer.

Thursday, Dec. 5 a new troop and captain were registered, meeting at the Mystic School, 12 Scouts invested, seven transferred from other troops, 19 in all, with Mrs. E. W. Bratt as captain.

FORMER WOBURN PITCHER DIED SUDDENLY

Old time Winchester baseball fans will regret the passing of Dr. Henry J. McMahon, Woburn dentist and one of the finest pitchers ever developed in the Tanning City. Doctor McMahon died suddenly of a heart attack Wednesday afternoon at his home, 226 Main street, Woburn. His pitching duels with Winchester's "Ray" Tift are still recalled by fans who followed local semi-professional baseball when Winchester and Woburn boasted nine among the strongest in the State. Doctor McMahon was a graduate of Holy Cross College and of the Tufts Dental School. Before giving up professional baseball he was a member of the pitching staff of the Boston Red Sox and the Syracuse and Reading, Pa., clubs.

DOCTOR ROGERS PURCHASES NEW HOME IN SCITUATE

Listed among the recent real estate transfers of interest is the purchase by Dr. Arthur V. Rogers of 10 Warren street of a summer home at Scituate where he and his family have for some years been numbered among the warm weather colonists.

His new property comprises a Cape Cod cottage of eight rooms, a large two-story stable, several outbuildings and six and one-half acres of land, the whole known locally as the Harub homestead. It is said that until its purchase by Doctor Rogers this property had not changed hands in 100 years.

Doctor Rogers plans to modernize the house, though retaining its attractive old design. The barn will be made into a lodge. In addition to apple and pear orchards there are several fine old elms upon the place.

Dennis J. Collins, well known clerk at the local postoffice, has been confined to his home for the past three weeks with illness.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The regular meeting of the club was called to order at 2:30 on Monday afternoon, Dec. 9, by the president, Mrs. Christine E. Hayden. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Charles Geissler, the well known bridge expert, was introduced and gave a short talk on bridge as played by experts, and suggested a course for those who wish to learn. The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. William E. Cheney, was next introduced, and was a most attractive figure in the picturesque costume of a Russian lady of the old regime, with its magnificent beaded head-dress, or "kakoshnik," as it is called in Russia. Mrs. Cheney has an engaging personality, a well modulated voice, and a pleasing manner of telling her story. Her subject, "A Summer in Soviet Russia" allowed for considerable latitude, and the wealth of information given, interspersed with anecdotes humorous and pathetic, and illustrated by a varied collection of souvenirs, held her hearers in close attention during the whole period, and many of them for some time following the adjournment. Mrs. Cheney saw Russia from the inside, and her intimacy with some of those who in other days had been in close touch with former rulers, gave her many opportunities of observation, and entrance to many avenues of information, not otherwise afforded. The speaker prefaced her remarks with the statement that she was not subsidized by any organization or group or individual, to speak for or against Russia. Mrs. Cheney told of the difficulty of obtaining passports for individual travel in Russia. Said that parties are conducted through Russia, shown certain places and told certain things, and then return with glowing accounts of what Russia is doing and what she is going to do. Many sidelights on the present life of the intelligentsia were given, stories of privation and separation from dear ones were told, and the life of the children of the streets vividly described. Some of the rules laid down by the Soviet government were given; no Sunday, no individual ownership, no privacy, no personal rights. Some of the beautiful old customs of the Russia before the revolution were described, the distribution of Easter eggs, the marking of Royal china and linen, and the carrying of dainty food to the sick. Now all that is gone; even Christmas and Easter abolished. Commemorative holidays, or rather "days of observation" are May 18, Jan. 22, (Lenine Day) and the like. The speaker asked "Should we recognize Russia until Russia recognizes God?" Mrs. Cheney took her audience to Moscow, describing the buildings, custom inspectors, and population, comparing the new with the old. Then to Leningrad, describing the parks, fountains, pictures, hotels, and government supervision. The palace of the Czar was described, and much interest was shown in the Royal plates with crest, the serviettes with the Royal coat of arms and insignia, and the many dainty articles formerly used by those of Royal or gentle birth. One piece had the crest of Nicholas 2nd, one of Alexander the Great. An Easter egg bore on one side an exquisite medallion of the Savior, on the other side the Grand Duchess Olga in coronation robes. A coronation cup formerly belonging to an Admiral, a Royal bracelet, a malachite pin, spoons of gold, exquisite paintings, and shawls of gossamer texture told of departed glories, and were pathetic in their aloofness. And there were other things which told their own story; a dainty bag made by a refugee, who must live; a picture of the Christ, taken from a Russia periodical, sacrilegious in the extreme. Interesting and fascinating, but each piece of heart interest, carrying a life story. Surely these gave point to the speakers final words: "I am telling you all this that you may understand. Not for money, I am not a paid speaker, but for love of my kind."

Co-operation With War Veterans' Committee

This committee held open house on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 5, for receiving contributions for home and hospital work for veterans and their dependents. A delightful program had been arranged for the affair, and those who brought gifts for the boys were pleasantly surprised by the masterly handling of the violin by one of those same boys, one of the veterans from Bedford Hospital, Mr. Arthur Jones. He was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Faye H. Lefavour, and gave many selections, all of which were much enjoyed, particularly his rendering of the "Gipsy's Love Song." Mr. Jones, besides being very talented, plays with a depth of feeling which shows his love for his instrument, and (Continued on page 6)

EXPECTANCY

"On Christmas Eve, Santa Claus is coming to our house; on Christmas Eve, Santa Claus is coming to our house," sings the heart of the child. "But—supposing he does not come!" and there is a choke in the throat, the eyes are dismayed and the child becomes very still.

There will be expectancy on Christmas Eve in every Winchester home; shall there be gifts on Christmas morning in every Winchester home?

Santa Claus (Department of Public Welfare, Town Hall, Win. 1383) will change the money received from Winchester's generous citizens into snowy bundles filled with warm, cozy Christmas, also into toothsome dinners.

Checks may be sent to Albert K. Huckins, chairman, 246 Highland avenue. Miss Nellie M. Sullivan, 18 Spruce street; Stockton Raymond, 19 Kenwin road or to Department of Public Welfare, Town Hall, Carolyn A. Butters, Executive Secretary.

MUSIC GARDEN

The December meeting of the Music Garden was held on Monday evening the 9th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Carter on Madison avenue.

There was a large attendance and all can testify that the evening was thoroughly enjoyable.

The program contained many selections appropriate to the Christmas season, and the singing of carols was featured.

The orchestra did not function on this occasion as several members were obliged to be out of town. This left a conspicuous void in the entertainment, which we trust will not be repeated.

However, the soloists who were present acquitted themselves most creditably and the program evidenced the care which had been bestowed upon it by our efficient chairman.

A list of the selections rendered follows:

SINGING OF CHRISTMAS HYMNS "WHY BORN IN A BARN?"

ALL WELCOME ALWAYS

The Star Wishes all A Merry Christmas

At the round table bean supper, last Saturday night at the Calumet Club, there was a most enthusiastic discussion concerning ways and means of greatly increasing the efficiency of the club. At the conclusion of the meeting, a committee of seven men was appointed to report on the 30 different suggestions that were brought out during the discussion. This committee will report at the Chicken Pie supper which is to be given free to all members of the Calumet Club on Dec. 21 at 6:30 sharp.

Mrs. Vernon Hall is to have charge of the dinner to be given in connection with the mixed bridge on Friday evening, Dec. 20, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Bostwick, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Lincoln. Although this affair is to be given just prior to Christmas, the fact that these ladies are going to furnish the supper will do much toward getting the crowd out to the club that evening. Arthur Kelly says the prizes will be exceptionally fine and there is no reason why everyone should not have a fine time.

There will be no functions at the club during Christmas week, but on the evening of the 31st we will have the usual New Year's party with many unusual features.

Calumet will visit the Highland Club at Melrose on Monday evening in the Mystic Valley League.

On last Monday night Calumet took 12 out of the 15 points at the Kenwood Club in Malden in the Mystic Valley League, placing it well to the front in the league standing.

The annual Christmas turkey roll is now underway on the club alleys, which are open for this purpose each Saturday night. Come and get your turkey for Christmas.

Mrs. E. F. Cameron was in charge of the ladies' afternoon bridge party held at the club Tuesday afternoon. The prize winners included Mrs. H. Peterson, Mrs. E. A. Tutin, Mrs. Edward A. Tucker, Mrs. Carl Sittinger and Mrs. William H. Balcke.

There will be an afternoon bowling party for the ladies next Tuesday at 2:15 o'clock. Preparations are being made for a large attendance.

Mrs. Vernon Hall is in charge of the dinner bridge to be held on Friday evening, Dec. 20. Dinner will be served at 6:30.

The standing in the bridge tournament at the club is as follows:

FALL SPORTS BANQUET AT HIGH SCHOOL

"Don" Emery to Lead Eleven in 1930

The annual fall sports banquet of the Winchester High School was held last Saturday evening in the newly decorated school gymnasium. Members of the football, cross country and field hockey squads with their coaches and managers were guests. An appetizing supper was prepared and served by girls of the Household Arts Department under the direction of Miss E. Gladys Niven.

President William Allen of the High School Athletic Association introduced Lawrence Eager of the faculty as toastmaster.

Those who replied to toasts were Arthur S. Harris of the School Committee, Principal Wade L. Grindle of the High School, Coach Margaret Centerville of the field hockey team, Coach Wendell D. Mansfield of the football team, Coach Meldon Wenner of the cross country team, Football Captain Bartlett Godfrey and Manager James Haley, Hockey Captain Caroline Mercer and Cross Country Captain Henry McCormack and Manager Winthrop Andrews.

In concluding his remarks Manager Haley announced that the football letter men had unanimously chosen "Don" Emery, all Mystic Valley center, to lead the eleven in 1930. Emery was noisily acclaimed and spoke briefly. Manager Andrews announced that the cross country letter men had decided to keep the harriers' captaincy in the McCormack family for another year by electing George McCormack to lead the pluggers next fall.

Captain Godfrey presented the football team's gift to Coach Mansfield, a handsome, completely equipped traveling bag. Assistant Coach Dana Kelley was given a fine cigarette lighter. Captain McCormack presented the cross country team's gift to Coach Wenner, a leather belt and monogram buckle, and Captain "Puggy" Mercer of the field hockey team presented her team's gift to Coach Centerville, a French horn for "the Ford."

Principal Wade L. Grindle in the course of his remarks awarded the coveted Wheeler and Mansfield sportsmanship cups for 1929-30 to Caroline Mercer and William Allen.

The speaker of the evening was Coach "Jack" Rothacher of the Springfield College football and swimming teams. Mr. Rothacher was introduced briefly by Coach Mansfield who paid high tribute to his former teacher.

After the dinner Mr. W. F. Hickey showed some interesting "movies" which he took of the recent Winchester-Woburn football game. General dancing to a Victor radio-victrola, furnished by Mr. Samuel McNelly of the S. S. McNelly Radio Company, concluded the evening.

ENTERTAINMENT MISSED BY MANY

To the Editor of the Star:

"A man is found unconscious at the bottom of a trench in which there is a strong odor of gas, and on examination his right forearm is bent queerly.
What treatment would you give the man and what should be done first?"

I wonder how many of us grown-ups could be trusted to carry out the right treatment if we were confronted by such a situation, yet the other night at the Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts, held in the Town Hall, eight teams from four troops gave a splendid and correct demonstration, in competition with each other, of the proper way to meet such a situation.

There were also many other events carried out in competition by the 100 or more boys who were present from the four troops. The opening number of the Court of Honor was excellent music by the Boy Scout brass band, and in rapid succession there followed contests in knot tying, wire wagging, code sending, fancy marching and relay racing. At the end of the evening the boys formed a hollow square and the various members of the troops received merit badges for the work that had been accomplished by the individual members since the last Court of Honor in the spring. The Eagle badge, which is the ambition of every Boy Scout, and which represents the acquiring of at least 21 merit badges and carrying through three years' work in every branch of the service, was conferred with tremendous enthusiasm upon one of the older boys.

It is not often that the general public, including the parents of the participants, misses out on a worth while show, especially when it is free. Yet the other night only a handful of spectators were present. These Courts of Honor are held four times a year and are open to the public. I am sure that anyone, especially those who have boys in troops, would be well entertained, and become enthusiastic backers of this splendid educational movement if they would attend the next Court.

Very truly yours,
J. Harper Blaisdell, Jr.

XMAS MAIL

The local postoffice has made all plans to handle the usual large amount of Christmas mail, and ask the hearty co-operation of the public in early mailing, careful and complete addresses. They ask that the public be particular to place the name of the sender in the upper left hand corner. Tie your bundles securely and use plenty of good firm wrapping paper. Your bundles will leave the local office on the same day that you mail them, but we suggest that in order to expedite the bundle that you use a special handling or special delivery stamp, as that ensures "first class" handling while in transit.

Foreign letters with any kind of seal or sticker on the face of the envelope, are unmailable.

Give us your Christmas cards as soon as possible and we will keep them until the day you wish them delivered.

We shall have the use of a large army truck and the incoming parcel post will be delivered not later than 24 hours after receiving at this office.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Every man can do a great service to the world by the gift of a good life.

To get somewhere, start and then keep going.

Any man by just trying can produce wonderful results.

The best-luck a man can wear is a smile.

Cheerfulness is just the faculty to forget the evil and remember the good.

Don't put things off but put them over.

MODERNISM

To the Editor of the Star:

I want a Junior High School and I want my boy to learn a good trade. I can see no reason why he cannot be as good a contractor as a Greek teacher of a newspaper editor. If it costs no more to have a Junior High School or the teachers to run it, what is the objection to it? Why shouldn't our boys be good printers and good carpenters, or our girls good seamstresses or good basket-makers?

A modern school is what we not only want but need. I was glad to hear on Tuesday night that even our old abandoned schools are modern, as shown by the fire escape on the old one-story Mystic. Everybody should know that the old Joy house is not modern, even if it has electric lights, for it certainly cannot be suitable for Winchester's up-to-date methods. I certainly am glad that this house is on a lease, for no town of any standing would think of breaking such a document and forcing a family onto the street.

Mr. Stone is right when he says they make bigger and better portables nowadays and I had rather have my children in a fine new portable where everything is than up at the Noonan where they only can learn to make baskets and only have one work-bench.

Is there any comparison between a bicycle room and a portable? No answer is necessary.

Winchester is behind times from its shoulders up, or in other words our children are being cast adrift when they leave the fine new school-houses we have now.

Wealthy people can always give their children what they want, but not so the others. Who ever heard of a teacher teaching Greek and Latin giving instruction on the piano? The tin sides of the portable may be good for drum instruction but it takes a good, dry building for a piano and a musician to teach it.

I certainly hope we will have a real modern up-to-date Junior High School just as soon as we can get it.

One Who Is Not a Town Meeting Officer

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

In the absence of President Roeber, last Thursday's meeting was in charge of vice-president Loring. There was the usual large attendance and we hope to equal the record of last month.

The December issue of the "Rotarian" will shortly be in the hands of our members. As usual every contribution to its columns will be well worth the time required for reading it. We especially wish to call attention to the fact that the activities of more than 75 Rotary Clubs will be recorded in this issue.

Surely we, both as individuals and as a club, shall be able to glean much of value from the experiences of our fellow Rotarians.

The speaker scheduled for this meeting was called away at the last moment, so we were obliged to omit this feature. The committee on entertainment, however, was not without resource. It seems that a challenge has been received from the Rotary Club of Woburn and a bowling match is in the offing with Winchester and Woburn Rotarians as contestants. As none from our club had qualified in this branch of sport it seemed that the time at our disposal on Thursday offered an excellent opportunity for a match to determine who should represent our club at the meeting with Woburn. Accordingly, there was an adjournment to the alleys of the Calumet Club where our huskies displayed their prowess. The scores posted indicate that there will be a warm argument when teams representing the two clubs come together.

We begin December with an impressive attendance record. Our members are to be commended for their efforts.

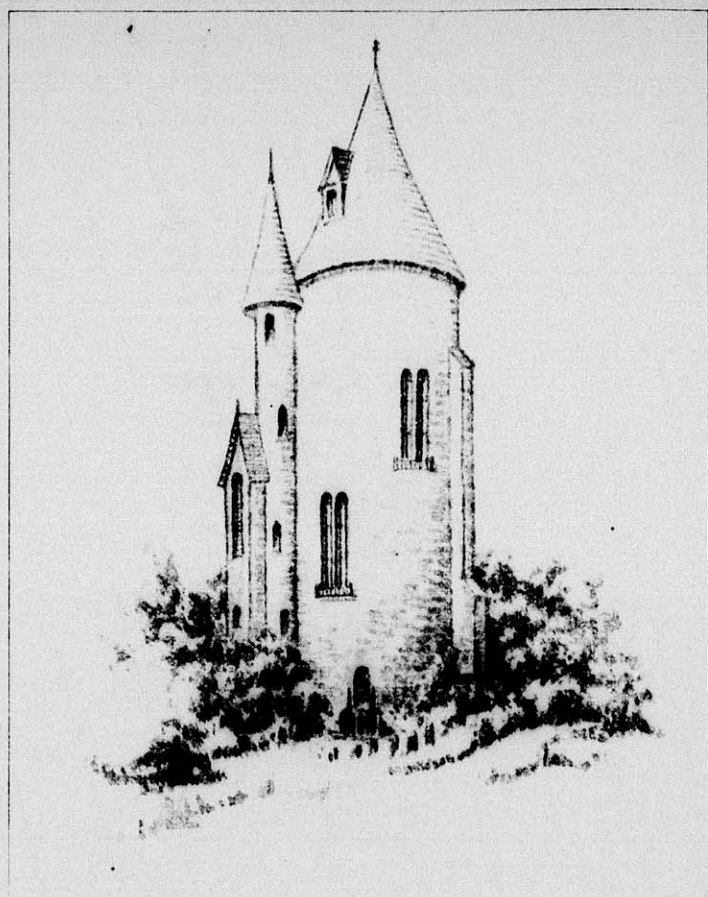

Attendance percentage for Dec. 5-100 per cent.

THAT WATER TOWER

Whether there is a need for the much discussed water tower, which now looms up over the eastern heights of the town, in all the ugliness of an adorned steel tank, is not for me to answer, but I do think that there is no reason in the wide world, why it cannot still be made a thing of beauty.

What Thomas W. Lawson did to his water tower at Dreamworld, everyone who has motored in that direction knows, and in Europe, where matters of beauty are many times considered, rather than economy, there are many examples of beautifully camouflaged water containers.

I am no architect, but I can imagine a covering for the steel tube in question, something along the lines of the sketch, which I have made, although it would of course cost more to build today than if designed and constructed to house the tank in the first place.

It is also my opinion that no understanding of any kind in this town, should be undertaken, without first being passed on by a small art committee. In this way controversies such as this tower problem would be in a large measure obviated.

Cordially yours,
Ernest Dudley Chase

WOULD RATHER WORK WITH CONSTRUCTION GANG THAN THE WRECKERS

To the Editor of the Star:

I believe the town meeting held last Tuesday night was the most harmonious meeting I have ever attended. It appeared that the town meeting members realized that something must be done immediately to alleviate the condition that exists in the Wadleigh School.

My article that was published in the Winchester Star last week was not for the purpose of argument, but in the desire for information—which I received, hence I am convinced that under the circumstances, all things considered, we advanced a step in the right direction.

We voted to purchase a portable school that will cost $5000. That will be adequate to meet the requirements that are manifestly so necessary in the Wadleigh School at the present time. It most likely will be a far superior structure than the portable school that is on the Palmer street playground, surrounded by the mighty oaks, red cedars and white birches. May it rest in peace.

If it were possible to transfer the school from the playground to the Wadleigh School we would not gain much from an economic point of view. Why? Because the school cost the taxpayers $2243.48 and some folks assert that it cost $700 to remove it to its final resting place. It certainly is pathetic! But then, everything has gone up since the war—even automobiles. If that is a fact, that it cost $700 to remove the school from church street to the Palmer street playground, in the name of common sense, how much money would it cost to remove the school from Palmer street to Myrtle street?

In fact, I do not believe the Selectmen would issue a permit to help further stagnate traffic in the center of the town.

When you consider what it could cost the town to remove the dents that were caused by the rakes and shovels, it seems to me that the voters exercised their intelligence last Tuesday night. I would rather work with the construction gang and not with the wrecking crew! I believe in building up, not tearing down. We all certainly believe that all towns have grumbling clowns.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

Those who desire tickets or wish to donate prizes may do so by communicating with G. R. O'Neill, telephone 0148-W or Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald, telephone 0673-W. The whist is public and no one needs an invitation; also, bridge will be played.

WATER PRESSURE!

To the Editor of the Star:

With your kind permission the writer would like to state that the excitement caused by the third tank and its location, is quite equal to a moving picture show with the "talkies" speaking in an excitable way.

The writer has stated his position in relation to this affair after 11 years of an obstructive atmosphere to the reforestation work on our water shed, by the "boss" as he is pleased to call himself.

This obstructive atmosphere gets to be tiresome after a while and when this member of the Board found himself to be the only known one of 12,000 people to oppose the third tank, for our Planning Board favored the enlarged location, and the Finance Commission favored and recommended the money for the same proposition and last of all the town voted all money necessary, unanimously, to complete the work, under this condition of affairs this member voted to carry the third tank plans to completion.

The firm of Metcalf & Eddy were the engineers mentioned on this work, and if their advice is good on tank work it can be accepted on the distribution system. Hence the following statement:

Some few years ago the writer sought the advice of this firm in relation to the laying of so many thousand feet of six inch water main in our streets, which the writer has opposed because of a lack of fire protection, as per the statement of our Fire Chief, and a small flow of water.

Corrosion affects the flow of water in a six inch pipe more seriously than in an eight or 10 inch pipe. Again it costs from $25,000 to $40,000 per mile to macadamize our roads and when this six inch pipe has to be renewed the cost will be very heavy, whereas if we had used eight inch pipe we would have had a much better fire protection and a much larger flow of water.

The letter of Metcalf & Eddy states that it is "permissible" to use a six inch water main only between two larger water mains and not over 600 feet in length.

It may be of interest to our people to use more of this statement, as to the flow of water in the six, eight, ten and twelve inch pipe. Water pressure enough to keep the pipes full, will cause the water to move at the rate of 12 inches per second in the pipe and under these conditions:

A six inch pipe will deliver 88 gallons per second.

An eight inch pipe will deliver 157 gallons per second.

A 10 inch pipe will deliver 245 gallons per second.

A 12 inch pipe will deliver 352 gallons per second.

The extra cost of eight inch pipe is small compared to the benefit of a larger flow of water and longer life of the pipe.

With the third tank of 450,000 gallons of water, how much use is it without a proper sized distribution system?

With one third of the whole area of Winchester located west of Cambridge street, what about the size of the Symmes Park?

After an acquaintanceship of 50 years and 12 years of business relations as a member of the Water and Sewer Board, the writer is of the opinion that the office of the Water and Sewer Board should be removed from Thompson street back into the Town Hall for the benefit of the town people.

Yours truly,
Charles E. Kendall

Musical and Literary Afternoon

The following musical program will be given as a part of the entertainment to follow Henry Harrison's talk on "Myself Limited," at the Silver Tea to be given under the auspices of the Fortnightly on the afternoon of Thursday, Dec. 19, at 3 o'clock, in Fortnightly Hall. Miss Mae Taylor, lyric soprano, winner of the State of Massachusetts, will sing two groups of songs; Mrs. M. H. Gulesian (Grace Warner), well known to Massachusetts club-women and to musical Boston as a brilliant pianist and composer, will entertain with piano solos; Helen Willard Howard, President of the Boston Branch of the League of American Pen Women, will read a short one act play entitled "The Chaparral." This play was written by Mrs. Howard, and was given at the Copley Theatre by members of the Professional Women's Club at their spring show last year. This attractive program has been arranged by Marion Perham Gale, and will appeal strongly to the members of the club, for it is seldom that so many talented artists appear on our platform in one program. The speaker, Henry Harrison, is a well known publisher, poet, critic and lecturer of New York City, and he has a fund of anecdotes of people in the writing field. Mrs. Irene D. Clarke is assisting Mrs. Gale in arranging the affair, and tea will be served at the close of the program.

Conservation Committee
Most of the members of the Fortnightly will remember that the Christmas tree on the Common was presented to the town by the Conservation Committee of the Club. Since that time the committee has arranged each year for the singing of Christmas carols around the tree on Christmas eve, has supplied vocal and instrumental music, and has sent out a general invitation to all townspeople to join in this timely and beautiful celebration of Christmas eve. This year the same program will be in order, and on Tuesday evening, Dec. 24, at 7:30, all members and all other residents of Winchester, are invited to gather on the common, and to join in singing old time Christmas carols. The Fortnightly is generous at all times with its philanthropies. Here is an opportunity to be generous with things intangible, and to help in spreading the glad spirit of Christmas, the tidings of great joy, the brotherhood of man and the Fatherhood of God. Christmas Cheer to All from the Old Reliable The J. A. LARAWAY CO.

:-: Greetings :-:

1929

There was a time that a house not plumbed and heated by LARAWAY COMPANY did not seem to be just right. I can remember the time when brokers took a delight in saying, "Laraway plumbed and heated this house" it sold easier.

No business man ever gave more of his time or any thing else connected with his business to relieve his many clients of anxiety than the same venerable "JOE" LARAWAY.

There came a time when real estate seemed to give more dollars and cents and less petty complaints, which always irritated the old gentleman, than his former very successful plumbing and heating career; therefore, some of our less experienced would-be competitors, both in the art of plumbing, heating and finance, who should be members in Roosevelt's Ananias Club of old, repeatedly circulated the yarn that we did not need the business, which might be true. Never-the-less in the last year the venerable LARAWAY has been devoting considerable time in his old and reliable business of plumbing and heating.

Many of the old customers, who have been deceived by slick tongues and less competent mechanics have returned to the fold of a square deal business house. At this time I wish to announce that my son, Edson, has for the last year taken a very earnest interest in the art of plumbing and heating and no doubt will continue, when I take a permanent rest, to serve you better at all times than I have done for more than three decades. Youth has something that the old guys have lost or never had.

We buy our goods and pay cash when due, receiving a cash discount. Goods bought right are half sold. Don't listen to others doing the same kind of bizz in a different way and charging more. They tell you we have a large overhead, we are proud to say we have a fine business home and have had for at least 25 years. Our overhead is charged off to "Old Man Rivers." Our showrooms are the best ever furnished in Winchester, located at 21 Thompson Street, at 5 Park Street our office, show room and best equipped shop in the business center, where you get a lot of service and material for your money.

Yours sincerely,
THE J. A. LARAWAY CO.

There is in existence a snuffbox made from a hoof of Napoleon's famous charger, Marengo. The hoof is silver-shod and fitted with a silver lid, upon which is this inscription: "Hoof of Marengo, barb charger of Napoleon, ridden by him at Marengo, Jena, Wagram, in the Russian campaign and at Waterloo."

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS WARREN AT TEA

Mrs. Clarence A. Warren of Everett avenue gave a tea at her home, River, Wednesday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Virginia, who recently returned to America on the S.S. Berengaria after an absence of two years in Europe, where she continued her voice studies following her graduation from National Park Seminary, Washington, D. C., in 1927. This tea was a particularly happy event since Miss Warren's engagement to N. Robert Voorhis of River Edge, N. J., was announced.

The announcement was made in a most unique manner. As the guests filed downstairs for tea, Miss Natalie Warren, and Miss Marion Davis of Lakeview road, dressed as flower girls, presented each with the cards of Miss Warren and Mr. Voorhis, joined with ribbon and a spray of sweet peas.

Mrs. Warren and Miss Virginia were assisted in receiving by the mother of Miss Warren's fiancé, Mrs. Henry Voorhis, who was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Warren. Miss Warren was presented at a dance given in her honor at the Winchester Country Club in 1925 and was prominent in the activities of National Park Seminary during her attendance there. She made her debut as an artist in Paris in June 1928, and has since traveled extensively. She has given a number of concerts and has sung at many social functions abroad where she has been warmly acclaimed by the critics. She has a beautiful lyric soprano voice, equally well suited to classic and modern works. She will be extensively heard in America this coming winter and will make her vocal debut in Boston on the 23rd of January, following which she will fill a number of concert engagements.

Mr. Voorhis was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1927 with the degree of A. B. and is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and of the honorary society of Phi Beta Kappa. He is now attending the Harvard Law School as a member of the class of 1930.

At the tea Miss Mary Alice Fitch, Mrs. Harold L. Meyer, Mrs. Albion L. Danforth, Mrs. Henry R. Davis, Miss Helen T. Rice and Mrs. Leicester F. Hamilton were the pourers and Mrs. E. Thurston Towle, Miss Mary Kidder and Miss Eleanor Davy served the ices.

The tea table was decorated with candles in tall silver candlesticks and a huge silver bowl of sweet peas and roses. The house was decorated with a profusion of beautiful cut flowers. There were about 400 guests.

Mrs. Warren wore black chiffon and lace with a corsage of gardenias and Mrs. Voorhis, brown velvet with talisman roses. Miss Warren wore a Parisian Shanel lace gown of blue with a corsage of green orchids, her fiancé's gift.

Miss Hersilia, another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren, at present attending National Park Seminary will be presented at a dance to be given in her honor at the Winchester Country Club by her parents on Monday evening, Dec. 23.

To Amelia, My Mother
There is no gift for you as choice
As the sweet music of your voice;
No flower, no lovely jewel, as rare
As the sweet smile you always wear.

The token you so patiently wait;
The essence you are molded of,
The only gift you ask for—love.

This has usually been held in November, preceding Thanksgiving.

WEEK-END ACCIDENTS

Miss Elizabeth T. McCarthy, a domestic living at 9 Sheffield road, complained of injuries to her back and leg as the result of a fall she experienced while alighting from an electric car on Church street near Bacon street last Friday evening. The street was in an icy condition where she fell.

Saturday morning at 10:20 Hugh Skerry of 33 Clark street, a call fireman, on his way to answer an alarm complained of being injured after the Dodge touring car, on which he was riding, was in collision with a Ford truck at the junction of Lake and Main streets. The Dodge, which was driven by Walter Skerry of 33 Clark street, was headed south on Main street while the truck, the property of Harold Elliott of 13 Linden street and driven by Edward G. Hughes of the same address, was coming out of Lake street. Hughes also complained of being injured in the crash.

Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock a Studebaker touring car, driven by Ralph Swenson of Van Norden road, Woburn, and a Dodge sedan, driven by Harry Rottman of 54 James avenue, Dorchester, were in collision near the beacon at the junction of Mt. Vernon and Washington streets. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

At 8:30 Sunday evening a Chevrolet coupe and a Chrysler sedan were badly damaged as the result of a collision on Main street at Madison avenue. The Chevrolet, driven by Arthur M. HIGH SCHOOL DRAMATIC SOCIETY PRESENTED TWO PLAYS

Members of the Dramatic Society of the Winchester High School produced two interesting plays last Friday evening in the high school assembly hall under the direction of Miss Marion Bailey of the faculty.

Miss Martha Tibbets, president of the society, awarded the first prize in the poster contest to Hrayr Bragh-doyan and the second prize to Barbara Pine. Virginia Danforth won the first prize in the ticket selling competition with Mae O'Neill, second. Candy was sold during the evening by a group of high school girls under the direction of Alice Friend.

The first of the plays presented was a tragedy, "The Last of the Lowries" by Paul Green and had to do with the activities of the Croatan Outlaws of Robeson County, North Carolina.

Following is the cast of characters: Cumba Lowrie, the aged mother of the Lowries, Mrs. Lowrie, Marie Dresser Jones, her daughter, Adna Johnson Mayne, Cumba's daughter-in-law.

Katherine Waldo, Francis Felt, Henry Berry Lowrie, last of the outlaw gang.

Scene: The home of the Lowrie gang in a swampy region of North Carolina.

The second production was a comedy, "The Voice of the Snake" by Doris Halman, enacted by the following cast:

Director: Robert Jackson. Prompter: Helen Gombie. Costumes: Helen Gombie. Make-Up: Helen Gombie. Property: Helen Gombie. Stage Manager: Helen Gombie. Business Manager: Helen Gombie. The production was a success and the society was well received.

FIREMEN HAD SEVERAL CALLS SATURDAY

Saturday's fire alarms began at 10:15 when a still alarm was telephoned to the Central Station by George Jackson for a fire in the First Baptist Church. At 10:19 Box 24 came in for the same fire. The men found, upon arrival, that the fire had started in some rubbish in the boiler room. The fire did not amount to much in its own right, but the building was filled with smoke, much of which got out into the streets around the structure, lending strength to the rumor that a bad blaze was in progress.

At 11:54 Engine 3 and the Chief's car answered an alarm from Arlington Box 29 for a fire in a house at 65 Falmouth street, that town, owned by W. J. McCarty. At 7:43 the Department was notified by Lieut. John Harrold of the Police that there had been a gas explosion in a house on Hillside avenue. The trouble had apparently been caused by leakage from a gas stove. The gas had been turned off before the arrival of the apparatus by a nearby householder.

Saturday's last alarm came in 8:16 in the evening by telephone from the Calumet Club House where members had discovered burning grass in the rear of the First Congregational Church. The men found rubbish burning in an incinerator.

Gowns remodeled, like new, also made to order, alterations. Miss Alston, 12 West street, Boston; Room 712, Bigelow Kennard Building; tel. Hancock 0988. d6-2t

COMMITTEE APPOINTED FOR SCHOOL NEEDS

Article 1 was inserted to see if the town would provide additional school facilities for pupils above the sixth grade and Article 2 provided for the appointment of a committee with an expense account to ascertain whether additional facilities are necessary, if so, what are necessary and to report with recommendations on these matters.

Mr. Larned, opposed considering the articles together, but his objection was overruled by the meeting. It was then moved and seconded that a committee be appointed to investigate present accommodations for pupils above the sixth grade for the purpose of ascertaining whether they are adequate for the present or reasonable for the future needs, and, if in the opinion of the committee they are not adequate, to propose ways and means whereby they may be increased, whether by alterations or enlargement of any existing building or buildings or the construction of a new building or buildings . . . to propose suitable locations therefor, report as to the disposition of any building the discontinuance of which for school purposes it may recommend . . . the expense which it estimates will result from the adoption of its recommendations and whether the amount necessary be appropriated to meet such expense may be determined with reasonable accuracy by estimation, without definite plans prepared for the purpose, etc. The committee shall consist of the present chairman of the Board of Selectmen, the present chairman of the Finance Committee, the present chairman of the Planning Board and six other qualified voters to be appointed by the Moderator. The committee is authorized to expend not exceeding $1000, the same to be taken from the excess and deficiency fund.

Mr. Carr, speaking for the Finance Committee, favored the motion and Mr. Stone of the School Committee spoke at some length upon the overcrowded conditions in the High and Wadleigh schools with the educational and social disadvantages resulting therefrom. He assured the meeting that a new building would not mean a new educational system with more teachers and stated that the problem of adequately housing the secondary grades above the sixth could no longer with safety be ignored.

Mr. Larned wished to amend the motion under discussion so as to have its subject matter referred to the School Committee for report, stating that the school authorities knew what they wanted and that time could be saved by having them state their preferences at once. His amendment was lost and the original motion was passed without further debate. In accepting the vote, Mr. Larned made a scathing allusion to what he termed "silent sitters" and felt that representative town meeting members were not worthy of their places if they did not vote upon the questions presented to them.

Turning to Article 3 it was moved and seconded that for the purpose of providing temporary additional accommodations for the pupils of the Wadleigh School, the School Committee be empowered to place a building upon the Wadleigh School lot, equip same and connect it with the present structure. The motion called for the appropriation of $5000 to be transferred from the excess and deficiency fund.

Mr. Andrews of the Finance Committee spoke in favor of the motion and told of a visit which members of his group made last Sunday to the Wadleigh School. He felt that conditions in some of the present basement rooms there are intolerable. Mr. Stone stated that, even if a new building was voted by the town it would be some time before it could be used and that something must be done at once to alleviate conditions. He stated that "bigger and better portables" were being built now and that the building his committee intended to place in the rear of the Wadleigh, connected by a passageway, would not in any way be comparable to the one previously erected at the Wyman.

Mrs. McDonald spoke of household and industrial art work done in Reading and of the dwelling house used by that town for the purpose. She said that the building in use there was not comparable to the Joy estate owned by the town and wondered why some use of the last named could not be made in the present emergency. She asked some questions as to why pupils were obliged to use bicycle rooms at the Wadleigh School when there was space available at other school buildings and was especially desirous of knowing why the school authorities had made no use of the former Mystic School which she pointed out had a "perfectly good fire-escape at the rear."

Mr. Stone stated that the center of industrial work being done by the town was at the Wadleigh School and the Mystic was too far removed. Mrs. McDonald felt that the Mystic School was no further from the Wadleigh than the Noonan School and stated that industrial work with Wadleigh pupils was being done there.

Mr. Stone's answer to the "bicycle room" query was that the situation had existed less than a month and was a very temporary arrangement which would be obviated just as soon as possible.

Mr. Larned wanted to know what objection the School Committee had to the use of the Joy property and in reply Mr. Stone stated that the rooms there were too small to be practical and that to use the property would be to deprive the town of the revenue it received from the present lease. In response to a question Mr. Stone believed that the property was leased, and Mr. Worthen, for the Selectmen, stated that the property was leased by the month for $45. Mr. Stone also added that when the Joy property had been under discussion previously it had been found to have no electric lights.

Mrs. McDonald was far from satisfied and felt that her question as to why the School Committee had made no use of the Mystic building in its recent dilemma was still unanswered. In response to a question from the Moderator, Mr. Stone laughingly stated that he had nothing further to say and Mr. Hayward assured Mrs. McDonald that "that seemed to answer" her query.

The meeting then moved to the consideration of the question and the motion was passed with but slight opposition.

In speaking upon the necessity for appointing six members of the Committee on Additional School Accommodations, Mr. Hayward asked the heads of the various precinct organizations to hand him five names for consideration. He also asked the same of the Selectmen and Finance Committee. Precinct meetings were held about the hall as the meeting came to a close.

WINCHESTER BOYS ATTEND Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE

Dr. William Malcolm, Gordon Gillett, Donald Bates, William Higgins and Lawrence Keepers, as representatives from the First Congregational Church attended the annual Two-State Older Boys Conference at Pittsfield on Dec. 6, 7, 8. Roy E. Coombs, State Secretary for Boys and Young

Men's work had charge of the conference. The boys were entertained in the homes of the people of Pittsfield. Allan Sherman, this year's captain of the Watertown football team was elected President of the Conference. There were many noted speakers which the boys found interesting and inspiring. Dr. Henry Crane, who is acknowledged to be one of the leading speakers of the country, stimulated the boys to think of Christianity and its meaning.

Two of the other speakers were Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving and W. J. Reagan. The latter gave one of the conference's most interesting addresses on "Youth's Demands for Authority."

The conference was closed with a stirring address by Mr. Charles Brandon Booth, whose "Unending Quest" will be remembered by all who attended the high school graduation in June.

Numbered among the committee on foodstuffs, recently formed at the business clinic, held in Washington at the instigation of President Hoover, is Mr. Frederic S. Snyder of McCall road.

DECORATE WITH LIVE CHRISTMAS TREES

All the freshness and cheer of outdoors comes in when we decorate the house with living evergreens in pots or tubs. They last long, retain their crispness and their velvety green color right through the winter season. Long after cut branches and wreaths have faded and been discarded, well into the New Year the little live evergreens continue as pleasant reminders of our Christmas gaiety and cheer. This, is, perhaps, the chief reason why living Christmas trees give us so much pleasure. This and because we know that no outdoor beauty has been spoiled, no woodland robbed to bring a treat to us.

There are many ways of using potted Christmas trees. In the small or crowded home where a large tree is often impractical a small potted tree about two or three feet tall is a welcome solution. This can be given place of honor on the middle of the table and surrounded with gayly wrapped gifts and packages or with fruits, candies and sweetmeats. It is a pity to overload the tree with too many brilliant decorations for its green branches are lovelier than any trimmings. A bit of tin-elf, a bright ball or two, a few ornaments are sufficient. One of the simplest, yet most effective decorations is a snowy chain of popcorn strung on a stout thread and twined among the green. Strips of ribbon candy, barley sugar animals and peppermint canes fastened here and there are a delight to the children.

For the hall or doorstep a pair of potted trees, one on either side add a cordial not to be forgotten welcome. Placed on the porch outdoors or inside they may be decorated with colored lights after dark.

Potted trees may also be placed indoors here and there along the hall or corridor, at the foot of a broad stairway, on a stair landing, at the ends of a long bay window or lounge or in the sunroom. For a house with gay wallpaper and hangings an all-green pot or container harmonizes best, but if the background is of neutral or dull coloring, the note of contrast in a bright red wooden tub or a brilliant glazed pot is particularly cheerful and pleasing.

Little Tree Farms on Pleasant street, Framingham Centre, has for many years supplied potted evergreens for home decoration. Their experience in the care of potted trees leaves them to say that Christmas trees like any other living plants require care. It is very important that plenty of moisture be supplied. The roots should never be allowed to become perfectly dry. The constant dry heat in most modern homes is trying and the loss of moisture through evaporation should be made up by watering as needed. A bit of peat moss on top and mixed in the soil is beneficial.

RALPH F. BULLARD

Ralph F. Bullard, of 10 Sagamore street, West Medford, who died suddenly Sunday afternoon, Dec. 8, in the Lawrence Memorial Hospital of peritonitis, following an operation for appendicitis, was the husband of the former Elizabeth Noonan of this town. The funeral was held from the late residence Wednesday morning with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Raphael's Church, Medford. Besides his wife Mr. Bullard is survived by his mother and one sister.

To the Editor of the Star:

May I first congratulate you on the increasing extent to which your newspaper is becoming an open forum for the presentation of divergent views on matters of public interest. If the tendency of our new representative government is to limit the colorful discussions which used to pack the Town Hall galleries for those memorable battles of the Titans, the debates between the Sanitary Inspector, the Busy Plumber of the Aberjona, and many another noble knight of the nimble wit and the twinkling tongue, still by the same token our citizens may well have increasing recourse to your hospitable columns, to air their grievances, make their suggestions, and express their honest opinions on matters of public concern.

Only very rarely will a letter go too far, and exceed the outside limits of accuracy, candor and fair comment. Such a letter is that from Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, printed in your issue of Nov. 29. By it he creates an impression concerning the recent history of the Town's consideration and action on the grade crossing which is so inaccurate and so misleading that I cannot let it pass uncorrected. The gross unfairness of the letter to those of us who have spent months of our best and most earnest effort unselfishly to promote the public welfare in this important matter, need not be a subject for discussion. If the matter were merely a personal one, or concerned only the Board of Selectmen, I should of course ignore it. But where for any purpose the citizens as a whole are given impressions concerning the grade crossing and its proposed abolition which are absolutely contrary to facts, and on which to an unknown extent their opinions and actions may be based, I conceive a prompt, frank and direct statement of those facts to be nothing short of a public duty.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The recent Holly whist held at the home of Mrs. Mary Halligan was a tremendous success, financially as well as socially. The proceeds from this affair are to be used by the Charitable Committee in administering to the many needs which come to their attention during the Christmas season, as well as at other seasons of the year.

Sunday, Dec. 23, is Guild Sunday at the Home for Destitute Children on Harrison avenue, Boston, and on this day, as in previous years, the several branches of the M. C. W. G. by their united efforts are able to furnish a real trimmed and lighted Christmas tree all heavily laden with toys and useful wearing apparel for each member in the home, as well as for the Sisters in charge. Members of the branches, together with interested friends, are all welcome to see the distribution of gifts from the huge tree and to partake of the enjoyable entertainment program which is an important feature from the point of view of the little folks at the institution.

W. C. D. S. NOTES

Winchester Country Day School closed Thursday, Dec. 19 for the regular Christmas vacation and will reopen for the second term on Jan. 6 at 9 o'clock.

Willard Grush, Kenneth Young and Carl Billman, former students of W. C. D. S. now home for the holidays, visited the school to renew acquaintances.

Mr. C. C. Tillinghast, principal of the Horace Mann School for Boys in a recent editorial article in the New York Herald Tribune said, "The country day school is a day school in the country where city children may have all the advantages that a normal wholesome life in the country affords, at the same time they have all the opportunities offered by the wealth of the culture of the city and what is equally important, the environment of an interested home."

Applications for the coming terms are now being received at the school.

Norman von Rosenzweig, a freshman at the University of Alabama, arrived home today to spend the Christmas vacation with his family. He has recently been made a member of the Blackfriars Dramatic Club and is pledged to the Phi Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE NOTES

The Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League held its annual Guest Day on Thursday afternoon in Metcalf Hall. The room was decorated with palms and poinsettias, with the tea table at the far end, on which tall red candles glowed and two huge snow balls served as decoration, altogether lending a very Christmas-like atmosphere to the beautiful room. After a brief business meeting presided over by the president, Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, "The Winchester Trio," Mrs. Isabelle H. Winship, Mrs. Gertrude N. Barnes, Mrs. Alice M. Abbott with Mrs. Nancy C. Alexander, accompanist, sang a group of three songs. The first "With You Dear" was composed by Mrs. Charles P. Scott well known to Winchester people as a former organist at the Unitarian Church. "Sonny Boy" by Pearl Curran followed and the last number was "Thank God for a Garden" by Teresa DelRiego.

A group of young matrons served as ushers: Mrs. Donald Boothby, Mrs. E. Ober, Mrs. Harris S. Richardson, Mrs. Kenneth L. Child, Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, Mrs. Francis E. Booth with Mrs. Forrest Pitman as head usher.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Alice Gwendoline Albee, educational secretary of the Florence Crittenton League. Miss Albee gave a brief history of the League and told of the work as it was being carried on at the present time in Boston. Her talk was illustrated with delineation slides. At the close of the lecture tea was served by the social committee: Mrs. F. C. Howe, Mrs. A. K. Conins, Mrs. G. W. Apsey, with Mrs. George Goddu, chairman. Two past presidents of the Winchester Circle, Mrs. Geo. W. Apsey and Mrs. Frederick C. Alexander, were the pourers.

MRS. CATHERINE A. ROSSLEY

Mrs. Catherine A. Rossley, wife of Thomas Rossley of 236 Cambridge street, died Thursday afternoon, Dec. 19, at the Winchester Hospital. She had been ill for five weeks and yesterday morning underwent an operation, from which she failed to rally.

Mrs. Rossley was 50 years of age and a native of Roscommon, Ireland. As a young woman she came to this country and for the past 33 years had been a resident of Winchester. Her active interest in the social and religious life of the community won the esteem of a wide circle of friends, to whom her death comes as a distinct shock. She was a member of Winchester Court, 225, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters and of the Catholic Daughters of America. Her marriage to Mr. Rossley took place in 1904.

Besides her husband, she leaves four daughters, the Misses Elizabeth A., Katherine V., Edna M., and Mary L. Rossley, all of Winchester. A sister, Mrs. Michael Lydon of Woburn, also survives with three brothers, Thomas of Winchester, John, living in Ireland, and Michael Grady whose home is in England.

The funeral will be held Monday morning from the late residence with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

WINCHESTER STARS IN NEW ENGLAND TENNIS RANKINGS

Nine girls and one boy are Winchester's contribution to the ranking tennis players of New England included in the official list of the New England Lawn Tennis Association, made public on Wednesday.

Lucy Fowle, winner of the girls' singles titles in the last annual fall boys' and girls' tournament at Longwood is ranked No. 2 in girls' singles. Frances Poirier is ranked 5th in the same class with two other Winchester girls, Betty Proctor and Helen Nowell, 7th and 9th respectively.

Richard "Dick" Riley, a member of the high school tennis team and semifinalist in boys' singles at Longwood last fall, is ranked fourth among the boys.

Winchester has no representatives in either the men's or women's classes, but in the junior girls' singles five of the first 10 ranked are products of Palmer street. Helen Bidwell, winner of Winchester's spring vacation tournament last April, tops the local delegation, being ranked 5th behind Sarah Palfrey, Virginia Rice, Mianne Palfrey, and Hilda Boehm of Malden. Louise Packer, Winchester's best known tennis player, is ranked 6th, behind Helen, after the most indifferent season she has experienced since she broke into the top flight. Three Winchester girls, Virginia Morrill, star all around athlete, Catherine Boyden and Mary Cutter, the latter a three-letter star at Winchester High, are placed 8th, 9th and 10th in the junior ranking.

WINCHESTER BOYS WON SCHOLARSHIP HONORS AT HARVARD

Four Winchester boys were listed among the 455 students recently awarded scholastic honors at Harvard University.

Of the four, three are graduates of the local high school, and the other, R. H. Denison, entered Harvard from preparatory school. Denison is one of the honor group in the freshman class.

TOWN WATER QUESTIONED

North End Residents Enter Vigorous Complaint

Coming out of a clear sky, numerous complaints began to appear on Tuesday regarding the quality and taste of the town water. These complaints were all from the north end of the town and from users of the North Reservoir supply. The complaints stated that the water was muddy and had a decided taste and odor.

The Water Department immediately took samples and had an analysis made, the result showing that a great quantity of algae or minute vegetable growth existed in the water of this reservoir. The other two reservoirs showed a small amount, much less than what is ordinarily found.

Steps were at once taken to shut the water off from the North Reservoir and the whole town was immediately supplied from the South Reservoir. Meanwhile employees of the Water Department started to drain the system at the north end of the town through the fire hydrants.

The complaints, beginning on Tuesday, reached considerable proportions on Thursday.

There is no danger in drinking the water, but its unpleasant taste and odor are very disagreeable. What caused the sudden abundance of algae is a puzzle. There have been periods in the past, usually in the hot summer months, when this vegetable growth has been a source of complaint, but even during those periods, which have always been of short duration, the algae has never appeared in such quantity. Its sudden appearance now is a puzzle to all water experts, and an investigation is now underway. Meanwhile the town will be assured of good water from the other two reservoirs.

WINCHESTER CHORAL SOCIETY

The next two rehearsals of the Winchester Choral Society will be held on Monday evening, Dec. 23 and Monday evening, Dec. 30 in the Unitarian Parish House at 8 o'clock.

Weekly meetings of the society are being well attended and the chorus is rapidly developing, under the direction of J. Albert Wilson, into an unusual musical group.

Already the chorus numbers more than 85 members, all of whom are singers of proven ability. Plans are already under way for the first concert which the society is to give soon after the New Year, and the program promises to be of unusual merit. An intensive campaign is now in progress to enroll local music lovers as associate members of the society, many who are not vocalists having indicated a strong desire to help in placing the new organization upon a strong financial footing.

TWO ACCIDENTS MONDAY

A Pontiac coach, driven by Francis K. Eldridge of 18 Pen Brook avenue, Georgetown, and a Studebaker coupe, driven by Mrs. Margaret Hevey of Canal street, were in collision Monday afternoon at 3:40 on Mt. Vernon street in front of Richardson's Market. The Pontiac was headed west on Mt. Vernon street while the Studebaker was pulling away from the curb. Both machines were slightly damaged.
At 5:10 Monday afternoon a Ford runabout, operated by Margaret Blair of 41 Myrtle terrace, while headed east on Mt. Vernon street, was in collision with a truck, owned and operated by Alexander Wilson of 37 Sheridan street, Woburn. Wilson was driving north on Washington street. The right side of the Ford was damaged but no one was injured.

SANTA AT CURTIN'S AGAIN THIS YEAR

Once again this year Andrew F. Curtin & Sons, Inc., are offering to Winchester parents the opportunity of avoiding Christmas throngs in Boston by bringing the kiddies to see Santa Claus at their big store, 42 to 48 High street, Medford's largest business house.

Santa is no stranger to Curtin's. Year after year he is present to greet his little friends at this old line Medford concern which was established in 1883 and which for many years has been serving a growing patronage from Winchester.
This year its "Toyland" is plentifully stocked with toys and games to delight the little folks while its other departments list sporting goods, electrical and plumbing supplies as well as the staple and out of the ordinary hardware merchandise.
Winchester cars stop near Curtin's and the management is keeping its big store open evenings until Christmas for the benefit of its out-of-town patrons.

HOME FOR THE AGED PEOPLE

The directors of the Home for Aged People, Mrs. Moore and members of the family desire to thank all who contributed in many ways to make the annual reception, donation and sale such a success. For the Victor Radio, which is particularly acceptable, grateful appreciation is especially due to Mrs. Mead, Mr. S. S. McNelly and the many friends who made this beautiful gift possible at this time.

Mr. Anthony Carroll of Upland road is reported as quite ill with scarlet fever in the Somerville Hospital.

COMMUNITY SINGING

Community singing is always an especially delightful feature of the Christmas Eve festivities in Winchester, and this year promises to be no exception to the rule. At 7:30 o'clock, the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 24, the townspeople, not forgetting the school children, will gather at the big Christmas tree on the Common, which will be well lighted, and there will join in singing the old time songs and carols which have become endeared to us all by long association. This song-fest will be under the auspices of the Conservation Committee of the Winchester Town, who some years ago presented to the town the handsome tree, and who have each year since then organized a group to lead in this splendid song service. Christmas peace and joy will seem very real as the quaint songs and carols of an older generation rise on the air.

Will those who desire to join the song group feel free so to do. Cordiality will be the order of the evening.

THE MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION OF WINCHESTER

Upon the death of Mrs. Harrison Parker, the following resolutions were drawn up by the executive board of the Mothers' Association.

Resolved, that in the death of Mrs. Harrison Parker, we, the Central Executive Board of the Mothers' Association of Winchester, have suffered the loss of a most esteemed and honored friend.

Mrs. Parker was the founder of the association in about the year 1890, and all through these 40 years has been its inspiration and loyal member. As president for many years, and always active on the Board, Mrs. Parker saw the organization grow and spread in usefulness to all sections of the town, until now, it has chapters in every elementary school in Winchester.

Ever gracious and gentle, ever thoughtful of others, helpful at all times, and keen to appreciate others joys and sorrows, Mrs. Parker's personality drew many friends to her. Her hospitality and generosity were dispensed with such modesty, few knew how much she contributed to the happiness of others. Our loss is very deep, but her wonderful influence and inspiration will be lasting.

Be it resolved that these resolutions be spread on the records of the Executive Board and that a copy be sent to each member of the family of the deceased.

The family is planning a memorial service which is to be held in the First Congregational Church on Sunday, Jan. 5 at 4 o'clock, and wish to have the invitation to attend this service extended to all friends.

GRADE CROSSING

Mr. Worthen Answers Mr. Parkhurst

To the Editor of the Star:

May I first congratulate you on the increasing extent to which your newspaper is becoming an open forum for the presentation of divergent views on matters of public interest. If the tendency of our new representative government is to limit the colorful discussions which used to pack the Town Hall galleries for those memorable battles of the Titans, the debates between the Sanitary Inspector, the Busy Plumber of the Aborigine, and many another noble knight of the nimble wit and the twinkling tongue, still by the same token our citizens may well have increasing recourse to your hospitable columns, to air their grievances, make their suggestions, and express their honest opinions on matters of public concern.

Only very rarely will a letter go too far, and exceed the outside limits of accuracy, candor and fair comment. Such a letter is that from Mr. Lewis Parkhurst, printed in your issue of Nov. 29. By it he creates an impression concerning the recent history of the Town's consideration and action on the grade crossing which is so inaccurate and so misleading that I cannot let it pass unanswered. The gross unfairness of the letter to those of us who have spent months of our best and most earnest effort unselfishly to promote the public welfare in this important matter, need not be a subject for discussion. If the matter were merely a personal one, or concerned only the Board of Selectmen, I should of course ignore it. But where for any purpose the citizens as a whole are given impressions concerning the grade crossing and its proposed abolition which are absolutely contrary to facts, and on which to an unknown extent their opinions and actions may be based, I conceive a prompt, frank and direct statement of those facts to be nothing short of a public duty.

The proceeds from this affair are to be used by the Charitable Committee in administering to the many needs which come to their attention during the Christmas season, as well as at other seasons of the year.

Sunday, Dec. 23, is Guild Sunday at the Home for Destitute Children on Harrison avenue, Boston, and on this day, as in previous years, the several branches of the M. C. W. Members of the branches, together with interested friends, are all welcome to see the distribution of gifts from the huge tree and to partake of the enjoyable entertainment program which is an important feature from the point of view of the little folks at the institution.

W. C. D. S. NOTES

Winchester Country Day School closed Thursday, Dec. 19 for the regular Christmas vacation and will reopen for the second term on Jan. 6 at 9 o'clock.

Willard Grush, Kenneth Young and Carl Billman, former students of W. C. D. S. now home for the holidays, visited the school to renew acquaintances.

Mr. C. C. Tillinghast, principal of the Horace Mann School for Boys in a recent educational article in the New York Herald Tribune said, "The country day school is a day school in the country where city children may have all the advantages that a normal wholesome life in the country affords, at the same time they have all the opportunities offered by the wealth of the culture of the city and what is equally important, the environment of an interested home."

Applications for the coming terms are now being received at the school.

Norman von Rosenvinge, a freshman at the University of Alabama, arrived home today to spend the Christmas vacation with his family. He has recently been made a member of the Blackfriars Dramatic Club and is pledged to the Phi Kappa Epsilon Fraternity.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE NOTES

The Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League held its annual Guest Day on Thursday afternoon in Metcalf Hall. The room was decorated with palms and poinsettias, with the tea table at the far end, on which tall red candles glowed and two huge snow balls served as decoration, altogether lending a very Christmas-like atmosphere to the beautiful room. After a brief business meeting presided over by the president, Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, "The Winchester Trio," Mrs. Isabelle H. Winslip, Mrs. Gertrude N. Barnes, Mrs. Alice M. Abbott with Mrs. Nancy C. Alexander, accompanist, sang a group of three songs. The first "With You Dear" was composed by Mrs. Charles P. Scott well known to Winchester people as a former organist at the Unitarian Church. "Sonny Boy" by Pearl Curran followed and the last number was "Thank God for a Garden" by Teresa DelRiego.

A group of young matrons served as ushers: Mrs. Donald Boothby, Mrs. E. Ober, Mrs. Harris S. Richardson, Mrs. Kenneth L. Child, Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, Mrs. Francis E. Booth with Mrs. Forrest Pitman as head usher.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Alice Gwendoline Albee, educational secretary of the Florence Crittenton League. Miss Albee gave a brief history of the League and told of the work as it was being carried on at the present time in Boston. Her talk was illustrated with delineation slides. At the close of the lecture tea was served by the social committee: Mrs. F. C. Howe, Mrs. A. K. Comins, Mrs. G. W. Apsey, with Mrs. George Goudu, chairman. Two past presidents of the Winchester Circle, Mrs. Geo. W. Apsey and Mrs. Frederick C. Alexander, were the pourers.

MRS. CATHERINE A. ROSSLEY

Mrs. Catherine A. Rossley, wife of Thomas Rossley of 236 Cambridge street, died Thursday afternoon, Dec. 19, at the Winchester Hospital. She had been ill for five weeks and yesterday morning underwent an operation, from which she failed to rally.

Mrs. Rossley was 50 years of age and a native of Roscommon, Ireland. As a young woman she came to this country and for the past 33 years had been a resident of Winchester. Her active interest in the social and religious life of the community won the esteem of a wide circle of friends, to whom her death comes as a distinct shock. She was a member of Winchester Court, 225, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters and of the Catholic Daughters of America. Her marriage to Mr. Rossley took place in 1904.

Besides her husband, she leaves four daughters, the Misses Elizabeth A., Katherine V., Edna M., and Mary L. Rossley, all of Winchester. A sister, Mrs. Michael Lydon of Woburn, also survives with three brothers, Thomas of Winchester, John, living in Ireland, and Michael Grady whose home is in England.

The funeral will be held Monday morning from the late residence with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

WINCHESTER STARS IN NEW ENGLAND TENNIS RANKINGS

Nine girls and one boy are Winchester's contribution to the ranking tennis players of New England included in the official list of the New England Lawn Tennis Association, made public on Wednesday.

Lucy Fowle, winner of the girls' singles titles in the last annual fall boys' and girls' tournament at Longwood is ranked No. 2 in girls' singles. Frances Poirier is ranked 5th in the same class with two other Winchester girls, Betty Proctor and Helen Nowell, 7th and 9th respectively. Richard "Dick" Riley, a member of the high school tennis team and semifinalist in boys' singles at Longwood last fall, is ranked fourth among the boys.

Winchester has no representatives in either the men's or women's classes, but in the junior girls' singles five of the first 10 ranked are products of Palmer street. Helen Bidwell, winner of Winchester's spring vacation tournament last April, tops the local delegation, being ranked 5th behind Sarah Palfrey, Virginia Rice, Mianne Palfrey, and Hilda Boehm of Malden. Louise Packer, Winchester's best known tennis player, is ranked 6th, behind Helen, after the most indifferent season she has experienced since she broke into the top flight. Three Winchester girls, Virginia Merrill, star all around athlete; Catherine Boyden and Mary Cutter, the latter a three-letter star at Winchester High, are placed 8th, 9th and 10th in the junior ranking.

WINCHESTER BOYS WON SCHOLARSHIP HONORS AT HARVARD

Four Winchester boys were listed among the 455 students recently awarded scholastic honors at Harvard University.

Of the four, three are graduates of the local high school, and the other, R. H. Denison, entered Harvard from preparatory school. Denison is one of the honor group in the freshman class.

TOWN WATER QUESTIONED

North End Residents Enter Vigorous Complaint

Coming out of a clear sky, numerous complaints began to appear on Tuesday regarding the quality and taste of the town water. These complaints were all from the north end of the town and from users of the North Reservoir supply. The complaints stated that the water was muddy and had a decided taste and odor.

The Water Department immediately took samples and had an analysis made, the result showing that a great quantity of algae or minute vegetable growth existed in the water of this reservoir. The other two reservoirs showed a small amount, much less than what is ordinarily found.

Steps were at once taken to shut the water off from the North Reservoir and the whole town was immediately supplied from the South Reservoir. Meanwhile employees of the Water Department started to drain the system at the north end of the town through the fire hydrants.

The complaints, beginning on Tuesday, reached considerable proportions on Thursday.

There is no danger in drinking the water, but its unpleasant taste and odor are very disagreeable. What caused the sudden abundance of algae is a puzzle. There have been periods in the past, usually in the hot summer months, when this vegetable growth has been a source of complaint, but even during those periods, which have always been of short duration, the algae has never appeared in such quantity. Its sudden appearance now is a puzzle to all water experts, and an investigation is now underway. Meanwhile the town will be assured of good water from the other two reservoirs.

WINCHESTER CHORAL SOCIETY

The next two rehearsals of the Winchester Choral Society will be held on Monday evening, Dec. 23 and Monday evening, Dec. 30 in the Unitarian Parish House at 8 o'clock.

Weekly meetings of the society are being well attended and the chorus is rapidly developing, under the direction of J. Albert Wilson, into an unusual musical group.

Already the chorus numbers more than 85 members, all of whom are singers of proven ability. Plans are already under way for the first concert which the society is to give soon after the New Year, and the program promises to be of unusual merit. An intensive campaign is now in progress to enroll local music lovers as associate members of the society, many who are not vocalists having indicated a strong desire to help in placing the new organization upon a strong financial footing.

TWO ACCIDENTS MONDAY

A Pontiac coach, driven by Francis K. Eldridge of 18 Pen Brook avenue, Georgetown, and a Studebaker coupe, driven by Mrs. Margaret Hevey of Canal street, were in collision Monday afternoon at 3:40 on Mt. Vernon street in front of Richardson's Market. The Pontiac was headed west on Mt. Vernon street while the Studebaker was pulling away from the curb. Both machines were slightly damaged.

At 5:10 Monday afternoon a Ford runabout, operated by Margaret Blair of 41 Myrtle terrace, while headed east on Mt. Vernon street, was in collision with a truck, owned and operated by Alexander Wilson of 37 Sheridan street, Woburn. Wilson was driving north on Washington street. The right side of the Ford was damaged but no one was injured.

COMMUNITY SINGING

Community singing is always an especially delightful feature of the Christmas Eve festivities in Winchester, and this year promises to be no exception to the rule. At 7:30 o'clock, the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 24, the townspeople, not forgetting the school children, will gather at the big Christmas tree on the Common, which will be well lighted, and there will join in singing the old time songs and carols which have become endeared to us all by long association. This song-fest will be under the auspices of the Conservation Committee of the Winchester Fortnightly, who some years ago presented to the town the handsome tree, and who have each year since then organized a group to lead in this splendid song service. Christmas peace and joy will seem very real as the quaint songs and carols of an older generation rise on the air.

Will those who desire to join the song group feel free so to do. Cordially will be the order of the evening.

THE MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION OF WINCHESTER

Upon the death of Mrs. Harrison Parker, the following resolutions were drawn up by the executive board of the Mothers' Association.

Resolved, that in the death of Mrs. Harrison Parker, we, the Central Executive Board of the Mothers' Association of Winchester, have suffered the loss of a most esteemed and honored friend.

Mrs. Parker was the founder of the association in about the year 1890, and all through these 40 years has been its inspiration and loyal member. As president for many years, and always active on the Board, Mrs. Parker saw the organization grow and spread in usefulness to all sections of the town, until now, it has chapters in every elementary school in Winchester.

Ever gracious and gentle, ever thoughtful of others, helpful at all times, and keen to appreciate others joys and sorrows, Mrs. Parker's personality drew many friends to her. Her hospitality and generosity were dispensed with such modesty, few knew how much she contributed to the happiness of others. Our loss is very deep, but her wonderful influence and inspiration will be lasting.

Be it resolved that these resolutions be spread on the records of the Executive Board and that a copy be sent to each member of the family of the deceased.

The family is planning a memorial service which is to be held in the First Congregational Church on Sunday, Jan. 5 at 4 o'clock, and wish to have the invitation to attend this service extended to all friends.

SANTA AT CURTIN'S AGAIN THIS YEAR

Once again this year Andrew F. Curtin & Sons, Inc., are offering to Winchester parents the opportunity of avoiding Christmas throngs in Boston by bringing the kiddies to see Santa Claus at their big store, 42 to 48 High street, Medford's largest business house.

Santa is no stranger to Curtin's. Year after year he is present to greet his little friends at this old line Medford concern which was established in 1883 and which for many years has been serving a growing patronage from Winchester.

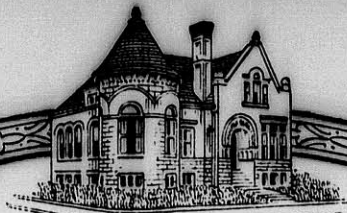

This year its "Toyland" is plentifully stocked with toys and games to delight the little folks while its other departments list sporting goods, electrical and plumbing supplies as well as the staple and out of the ordinary hardware merchandise.

Winchester cars stop near Curtin's and the management is keeping its big store open evenings until Christmas for the benefit of its out-of-town patrons.

WINCHESTER MEN AT "HEIDELBERG NIGHT" OF BOSTON ART CLUB

There was a distinct Winchester tinge to the first annual "Old Heidelberg Night" at the Boston Art Club last Saturday evening. Among the notables present were Herman Dudley Murphy, artist, formerly for many years a resident of this town, and Dana Pond, artist, a Winchesterite who spends much of his time in his Paris studio. Both Mr. Murphy and Mr. Pond were sketched during the course of a crayon talk by Franklin Collier, one of Boston's leading cartoonists. A former Winchester boy, Lee Winslow Court, was one of the Art Club committee in charge of arrangements.

"Heidelberg Night" was unusually worked out by the committee. The gallery of the Art Club was transformed into a baronial hall of a German University. Flagellons, bearing coats-of-arms of old German families were hung, while portraits by old Flemish masters and suits of armor lent added atmosphere. A German supper was served and even the menu was printed in German.

OLD WINCHESTER HAS MAP OF NEW WORLD TOWN

Believing that the Town of Winchester, England, the namesake of our own Town of Winchester, would appreciate a map of its new world relative, Mr. Ernest Dudley Chase of Lakeview terrace, personally painted a special map in full color, had it framed in London, England, and then delivered to Councillor W. G. Symes, who was at the time Mayor of Winchester, with his compliments.

Last week, he received the following letter in acknowledgment of the gift:

The Abbey House,
Winchester,
25th November, 1929

Dear Sir:

The framed hand coloured map of our namesake City, Winchester, Mass. U. S. A. was received quite safely by my predecessor in office, Councillor W. G. Symes, and he has handed it on to me as we presume that it is intended as a gift to the City of Winchester.

I am writing, therefore, to proffer to you the best thanks of the City Council for your gift, which is a very interesting one, and which will be hung in one of our buildings for all visitors to see.

Again thanking you,

Yours sincerely,

(Signed)

Harry Collis, Mayor

CHRISTMAS CANTATA

A Christmas service was given last Sunday afternoon at the Young Woman's Christian Association in Boston, under the direction of H. Augustine Smith of Boston University, entitled a symphony in color and sound, showing the beautiful in art of the Christmas story at Bethlehem. Mr. Smith was assisted by the Y. W. C. A. Glee Club, who gave the Christmas cantata, "Bethlehem" by Paul Bliss, under the direction of Helen Edelson Barr.

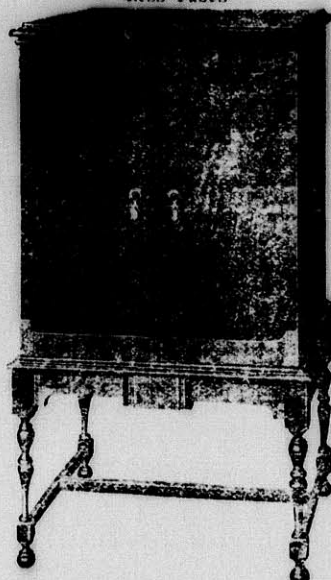

Miss Marion Smith of Lebanon street took the leading soprano role in the cantata. An appreciative audience listened to this very beautiful service.

ROSAMOND JOYZELLE

"THE MADONNA"

First Congregational Church Monday
Evening, 7:30 P. M.

At the First Congregational Church
Monday evening at 7:30 Miss Rosamond Joyzelle, a dramatic reader of exceptional talent, will present the Christmas story in art and literature, under the title of "The Madonna."

Miss Joyzelle has appeared in all the large cities of the United States in her dramatic presentation. Dr. Cad-man indorsed her work in the most flattering terms. She will appear at the church under the auspices of the Sunday school.

There will be special lighting for her presentation to bring out the beauty of her costumes and the interpretation of her story.

Seats will be reserved for the Sunday School. The action will take place in the chancel of the church. There will be no admission. The public is invited.

MISS HERSILIA WARREN TO MAKE DEBUT MONDAY

The Christmas vacation season will be a busy one for the young people of Winchester and many social functions have been arranged for their pleasure. Much interest centers around the debut of Miss Hersilia Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A.
Warren of Everett avenue, who will be presented at a dance given in her honor by her parents at the Country Club, Monday evening, Dec. 23. An ushers' dinner will precede the dance, which will be attended by Mr. Robert H. Warren, head usher, a brother of Miss Hersilia, James H. Hood of Watertown, Edwin A. Lock, Jr., of Boston, Demarest S. Cassidy of Amsterdam N. Y., Henry G. Voorhis of River Edge, N. J., Charles S. Eaton, Crosby
B. Kelley, Roland H. Sherman, Jr., Bowen Tufts, Jr., and Richard Bowe,
all of Winchester.

Before the dance Mr. and Mrs. Warren will entertain as dinner guests
Mr. and Mrs. Albion L. Danforth, Mr. and Mrs. Everett D. Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell Davis, Miss Virginia Warren and her fiancé, Mr. N.
Robert Voorhis.

Miss Hersilia was graduated from Kendall Hall at Pride's Crossing last June and is now attending National Park Seminary at Washington, D. C., where she is making an enviable reputation in dramatic arts. She is a younger sister of Miss Virginia Warren, whose engagement to Mr. N. Robert Voorhis of River Edge, N. J. was recently announced at a brilliant and largely attended tea given by Mrs.
Warren at her home.

CONGREGATIONAL YOUNG PEOPLES HELD "PIRATES' PROM"

Unique among fall entertainments in Winchester was the "Pirates' Prom" held last Saturday evening under the auspices of the young people of the First Congregational Church in the social hall of the new parish house.

Decorations were all suggestive of the corsairs. A sailing ship made an effective background for the stage and grouped in front of a large steering wheel, Russell Parker's orchestra from Stoneham dispensed syncopated strains for the dancing. Barrels and beer kegs were placed in the foreground of the stage and over all a weird blue light played in most impressive fashion. Rope ladders strung up at intervals about the hall added to the nautical atmosphere.

Wadleigh School pupils, dressed as pirates, made most effective waiters and waitresses. Patrons and patronesses were Dr. and Mrs. Howard J.
Chidley, Dr. and Mrs. William W.
Malcolm, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Mauldin, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Tompkins and
Mr. and Mrs. Lorimer Slocum.

Marjorie Malcolm was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements and was assisted by Helen Bidwell, Mabel Tompkins, Deborah Gilbert, Olive Boutillier, William Allen, Donald Bates, Gordon Gillett and William Higgins.

As usual the Winchester postoffice is making use this year of one of the big 5-ton Army motor trucks to aid in the delivering of Christmas parcel post packages. Delivery man "Joe" Donaghy has several helpers with him on the job.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Dr. J. Churchill Hindes was elected President of the Winchester Council, Boy Scouts of America at the annual meeting of the council held at the Winchester Country Club Tuesday
evening. He will assume office Jan.
1, succeeding Francis E. Smith.

Doctor Hindes has long been active in the Scout Council and has been one of its vice presidents.

The election of Doctor Hindes came when the recommendation of the nominating committee was unanimously accepted. Messrs. Harold Hovey, John Campbell and Kingman
P. Cass made up this committee.

The following are the other officers of the council who were all re-elected Tuesday evening:

Vice President John Campbell
Vice President Carlisle W. Burton
Secretary Charles P. LeRoyer
Treasurer Dwight D. Elliot
Commissioner Dwight Bradford Hill Deputy Commissioners—James L. Fitch and Franklin J. Lane
Executive Arthur E. Butters
Auditor Charles Newell

The members of the council who were present at the meeting were:
Francis Smith, Kingman P. Cass, Dr.
J. Churchill Hindes, Charles P. Le-
Royer, Dwight E. Hill, Arthur E.
Butters, George Bryne, Dwight D.
Elliot, Ralph Dibble, John Campbell,
Maurice F. Brown, Harold Hovey,
Franklin J. Lane, Richard Clark,
Arthur Marchant and Donald R.
Waugh.

The formation and active work of a new troop, troop 6, was reported to the meeting. The headquarters of this troop are at the Unitarian Church. Plans were discussed for further additional troops and it was the sense of the meeting that experienced Scouts should not be taken from existing troops to start new troops because in this way the present troop work is weakened.

The Secretary reported that the average attendance of members of the council during the past year was three higher than for the previous year. Reports were received from President Smith, Treasurer Elliot,
Executive Butters and Commissioner Hill. These reports showed a steady progress in scouting in Winchester, the most successful summer camp the Winchester Council has ever had, and a sound outlook for the future.

A rising vote of thanks was given President Smith for his work during the past year.

A considerable part of the meeting was taken up with a discussion of methods to get a greater interest on the part of parents in the courts of honor. It was pointed out that many parents do not realize they are invited to these affairs. Commissioner Hill said plans are being made for an archery contest at the next court of honor.

Troop 6, Unitarian Parish House
Last Tuesday night; rainy, cold and disagreeable; yet a fine turnout of Scouts for the troop meeting. Yes, and we welcomed several new recruits and then Commissioner Hill, Scoutmaster Hovey and Troop Committeeman George Hale Reed paid us
the compliment of a visit.

Most of the boys are still busy in preparation for Tenderfoot tests.
Many are already proficient in knot tying and then the drill hall, oh boy!
"Ken" Campbell is volunteering his valuable knowledge of Scoutercraft to assist Scoutmaster Nickerson. "Ken" sure is a "good Scout." 'Til next Tuesday night, "when all through the house," every Scout will be stirring, even the mouse.

NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY

A special committee headed by
"Ed" Merrill has the New Year's Eve party in charge at the Calumet Club this season. There will be dancing from 9 to 1 with music by what is heralded as the best orchestra ever to appear at the Club. In addition there will be presented a list of special entertainment numbers by noted theatrical artists. Favors will be distributed and the New Year will be welcomed in with noise-makers and a general jollification.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Greatness lies not in being strong but in the using of our strength.

Some people stir their coffee as though they were mixing a cake.

The most costly mistake an honest man can make is assuming that everybody else is honest.

The most pitiful man I know is the defeatist. A defeatist is one not succeeding as hoped for.

The minute anyone calls us Brother we watch out.

CHRISTMAS is again approaching, and, despite the commercialism and the hurly-burly of crowded stores, is still infected with the happy Yuletide spirit, undimmed after years and generations. What is it that through the centuries has made folks glad at Christmas time? It isn't entirely the gifts one gets, for there are many who will receive no presents and yet will warm to the spirit of the season. Not alone in the gifts we give do we feel the joy of Christmas, for it is given to those who can not give, the capacity to feel the thrill of the Christ Child's birthday. After all, isn't it the spirit of friendliness, of sharing with our neighbors, which exemplifies itself in our desire to make some one happy that in turn brings us our greatest and most lasting happiness at Christmas. The "Merry Christmas," sincerely wished, can mean much more than the costliest present, given because of self gratification or obligation. And so, even the most humble can share in the thrill of the Yuletide. Christmas greetings cost little, either in money or effort, and yet they can mean much. And so it is that the STAR is happy to wish its readers, subscribers and advertisers, in the friendliest of spirit, a "Merry Christmas."

NEEDS OF A JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

To the Editor of the Star: The year 1929 is a late date for a Junior High School building, but the need remains. The need for such a building was pointed out to the citizens of Winchester in 1919 by the United States Bureau of Education. The town voted then to ask that bureau to make a report. The school committee and teachers have been doing the best they can for 19 years—waiting and hoping.

This year there is a class at the Noonan School, a class at the Lincoln, a class at the High School and a class in the basement of the Wadleigh. These all belong to the Wadleigh group of pupils.

There is need of more classrooms, of an assembly hall, of a gymnasium and of more space about the building.

In a Junior High School the pupils are divided into smaller groups than in an old-time grammar school. The work covered is especially adapted to the requirements of each group.

A hall, large enough to hold all the pupils is needed for general assemblies, for the teaching of music and for dramatics.

Six and eight years ago the pupils of the Wadleigh stood in the corridor and on the stairs while their principal addressed them. A year ago they went to the Lincoln School for educational movies. Last year and this year they go to the Town Hall, rain and shine, for music when this hall is not previously engaged, otherwise to the High School hall. If that is occupied, extra chairs are crowded into a classroom for the music lesson.

Very few assemblies are held at present. The assemblies, each week at the elementary schools, where the children have charge of and present the program, make many a visiting parent exclaim, "I wish I had had chances like that to speak in public and to gain confidence in addressing an audience." The Wadleigh pupils are missing this training.

A gymnasium is needed by the director of physical education, for use during all the winter months and the rainy days of spring and fall for gymnastics, setting-up drills, basketball, volleyball, and other games. Last year Wadleigh pupils played basketball from 7:30 to 8:15 a. m. at the high school. Before the Town Hall was redecorated, they used that for basketball.

Grounds about the school are needed. On pleasant days on land adjoining the building, gymnastics and running games should be carried on as part of the school program.

At recess more space is needed. At present two sets of basketball baskets are squeezed into the yard behind the Wadleigh. The ball bounces occasionally into the street and the dirt is scuffed onto the sidewalk. The volleyball net is in the front yard. Baseball is played in the front yard also at recess, with a soft indoor baseball that often goes across the street to the Town Hall lot or to the Baptist Church lawn.

Myrtle street is supervised by a teacher at recess and used for extra space.

The middle unit of our school system is incomplete. It will cost money to remedy this, but it is time that it was done.

Frances R. Williams

CALUMET

CALUMET NOTES

The annual Christmas turkey roll at the Club is progressing. Keen competition ensues each Saturday and a variety of scores have been turned in. As no one knows just exactly what the turkeys will be given for, every string is carefully watched and recorded. The birds have been ordered and are guaranteed to be prime milk-fed specimens.

Again there was a large attendance of the ladies on Tuesday afternoon when the regular afternoon bowling tournament was held. Four prizes were awarded this week as follows: 1st—High single string flat. Won by Mrs. Barnard with 108.

2d—High single string with handicap. Won by Mrs. Lincoln with 92 and 2, making 99.

3d—High two-strings flat. Won by Mrs. Wilcox with 170.

4th—High two-strings with handicap. Won by Mrs. Knight with 159 and 26, making 185.

In the house tournament on Tuesday night team 18 won three points from 3 and 6 and 16 split even. Many of the scores were hardly up to the average, but a few of the best were as follows:

Owing to Christmas coming during the week of Dec. 23 there will be no special activity at the club during that week, but great preparations are going forward for the annual New Year's party which will take place as usual on the eve of Dec. 31.

The New Year's party at the Club promises to be the best attraction thus far this winter. A special committee under the direction of "Ed" Merrill has taken the affair in charge and no labor or expense has been spared. It is announced that the orchestra will be positively the best which has ever appeared at a club function, one of the celebrated dance orchestras having consented to be present. In addition it is proposed to present a special program of novelty numbers throughout the evening.

The party is to be held on New Year's Eve, with dancing from 9 to 1. There will be favors for everyone attending, and the usual noise-makers will be distributed just before the old year passes out.

The committee hope for a record attendance at this party and assure everyone that no detail will be omitted in providing a bang-up entertainment on the last night of the old year.

The dinner bridge scheduled for Jan. 3, will be omitted on account of the New Year's party, but there will be a dinner bridge the latter part of January.

Calumet met its first defeat in the Mystic Valley League on Monday night when the Highland Club of Somerville won the match by one point—8 to 7. Calumet's first bowling team dropped three points, but its second team took all four. It won in cowboy pool and lost in straight pool and billiards, and won in three-cushion. In cards it lost all three points.

SEVERAL ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

The motor accidents of the past week-end commenced at 12:15 last Friday afternoon when a Chevrolet truck, driven by Salvador Cosselli of 229 Read street, Lexington, and a Cadillac sedan, owned by Alice C. Johnson of 67 Dorset road, Woburn, and operated by Walter N. Rogers of 41 Sherburne street, Arlington, collided on Cambridge street near the Woburn line. The truck, which is the property of A. Ross & Sons of Lexington was going south while the sedan was headed in an opposite direction.

Both machines were damaged, but no one was injured.

Thomas H. Collins of 28 Leonard street, Woburn, required medical attention for injuries he received at 8:15 Saturday morning when the Ford coupe he was driving on Main street was in collision at Sanborn street with a Mack truck, owned by the Massachusetts Trucking Company of Boston and operated by Homer C. Brackett of 1544 Dorchester avenue that city.

The truck was headed north and was turning right to go to Winchester center while the Ford was going in an opposite direction. The latter machine was badly damaged and Collins was removed by Royal McCarthy of Park road to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy for numerous cuts and abrasions. John Sullivan, riding with Brackett as a helper on the truck complained of an injury to his wrist.

The police were notified on Monday that in returning to his home at 49 Russell road from Woburn Saturday night, Philip Duchin, 11-year old son of Mrs. Rose Duchin of 49 Russell road was struck upon alighting from the electric car on upper Main street by an automobile, registered to Arthur Bonnell of 11 Century street, Medford.

The boy was accompanied by his mother and their story to the police was that the operator of the automobile slowed down after striking the boy and then proceeded at a regular rate of speed. It was also stated that one of the occupants of the car looked around after the accident. Philip was treated by Dr. D. L. Joyce of Woburn. A conflicting story was told the authorities by the operator of the electric John W. Litchfield of 53 Pearl street, Melrose and by Bonnell, both of whom stated that the Duchin boy jumped from the street car and fell upon the sidewalk.

Sunday's first accident occurred at 3:15 in the afternoon when a Ford sedan, owned and operated by Patrick J. Hennessy of 18 Clark street, while headed north on Bacon street at the traffic signal collided with an automobile, owned and in charge of John R. Mason of 117 Revere street, Boston, the latter car having stopped. Neither machine was damaged. After the accident Mason notified the police who took Hennessy's sedan to the Central Garage where it was kept until Monday morning. According to the police Hennessy will be summoned to appear in the District Court at Woburn tomorrow morning to answer the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Sunday evening shortly after 7 o'clock Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy of 39 Clark street, while crossing the north-erly end of the Boston & Maine railroad crossing in the center stepped into slight depression, injuring her leg. She and her husband, who was with her at the time of the accident were removed to their home in the police car by Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy.

Deputy Chief John J. Gorman with Fireman James Callahan, Alexander MacKenzie, J. Edward Noonan and Harry Brown with the old tractor ladder truck made a trip to the Boy Scout headquarters at the edge of the Fells to raise a 55-foot ladder so that William Carroll and George Lizzotte Jr. of the Tree Department could give the Scout flagpole a coat of paint.

Two of George M. Byrne's workmen were also on hand to help.

DRIVER OF CAR INVOLVED IN CRASH ARRESTED IN WINCHESTER

Howard C. Cummings of 125 Florence street, Melrose, was arrested shortly before 10:30 yesterday morning at the Winchester Garage by Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Winchester Police Department after it is alleged his Ford sedan had figured in a collision in Malden with a milk wagon owned by H. P. Hood & Sons.

According to the story told the local authorities by the Malden Police Cummings, who is employed in Winchester, was on his way to work in his car when the accident occurred just north of Malden square about 6:30 in the morning. The milk wagon was badly smashed and its driver removed to the Malden Hospital where it was stated his injuries are serious. The horse and front wheels of the wagon were recovered in Wakefield. Cummings, the Malden police said, left the scene of the accident without making himself known.

Sergeant Horgan and Officer Manzie of the Malden traffic force were assigned to the case and trailed Cummings to Winchester where his battered milk splashed sedan was discovered outside the Winchester Garage. Cummings was arrested by Officer Farrell and booked at headquarters. A companion, said to be Frank Crimmins of Malden, who was riding with Cummings at the time of the accident, was taken into custody by Patrolman Farrell and Officer Manzie on Main street near Herick street. He was detained by the Malden authorities, to whom Cummings was delivered by the Winchester Police shortly after 11 o'clock.

The defendant will be arraigned in the Malden Court, charged with drunkenness, operating while under the influence of liquor and with leaving the scene of an accident after doing property damage and causing personal injury without making himself known.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

Christmas was in the air as Winchester Rotarians gathered at the club house on Thursday. Appropriate favours and decorations, those symbols of Yuletide which awaken sentiments

most profound in the human heart, greeted our eyes, and we needed no further evidence that we have entered upon the annual period of good will on earth, a period which Rotarians seek to extend and to universal-ize as much as may be.

In former years Santa Claus in person has assisted in bringing joy

in some material form to each Rotarian. Realizing that this year has brought much hardship to many of our worthy fellow-townpeople we had suggested to our genial Santa that he devote to our unfortunate friends the efforts which he customarily extends to Winchester Rotarians. We have every reason to think that this will be done, and in causing it to be done we do not hesitate to affirm that each Rotarian will be repaid

many, many fold for his modest part in broadcasting the blessings of the season.

We missed Santa in his tangible form, but his blessed spirit has surely enfolded us.

As a result of the roll-off last

Thursday two teams have been selected to compete in a bowling match with teams from the Rotary Club of Woburn. The first team includes

Symmes, Richardson, Nelson, L. P.

Gleason, C. A. Gleason, Jr. The second team: Davidson, Priest, Quigley,

Wood, Welsh.

The time and place of the match

will be announced later.

The speaker at this meeting brought us a message, both unusual and of absorbing interest. The speaker himself was our fellow-townsmen,

Frank E. Crawford, of the Bankers'

Electric Protective Association and widely known for his philanthropic activities in our midst.

GRADE CROSSING

In the first place, Mr. Parkhurst holds up Mr. Kellaway of Newton as a martyr to his interest in Winchester, martyred by the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Selectmen and other conspirators in the town which he sought disinterestedly to serve. The statements and charges which Mr. Parkhurst deliberately makes, if true, are as dubious as citizens after reading the letter believe them to be true, cast grave discredit upon the good name of the town and of those to whom as their selectmen all the citizens have entrusted the conduct of its business, a discredit which is of course in no way lessened by the reference at the end of the letter to the leadership of the selectmen.

New what are the facts? Early in 1929 a Waterways Committee of which Mr. Lewis Parkhurst was chairman, and which had been created at the suggestion of the previous Finance Committee with which I had been connected, had annexed to its report an elaborate and illustrated presentation by Mr. Kellaway of a modification of a grade crossing elimination plan suggested by a Winchester citizen some years before. Although adoption of this plan would practically block up the center of the town, it still had real merits. It was well presented. The report contained a statement that abolition of this plan would cost "at least one-half of any plan recently proposed." It was also preceded by an introductory page referring to Mr. Kellaway, and therefore apparently sponsored by the committee or its chairman, in which it was stated that this plan has been submitted to able engineers who are familiar with this kind of work, and they report that it is entirely feasible, practical, and especially economical, probably costing less than one-half the expense of any plan thus far discussed.

These statements were at first generally accepted without question; and many citizens, of whom I was one, relying on them, and at that time knowing little about the subject, favored the plan. Some citizens still favor it. The later discovery that the committee had, without the knowledge of the Finance Committee or even of some of its own members, exceeded its appropriation by some thousands of dollars, in fact almost by 100 per cent of the amount which the town had authorized it to expend, did not seriously affect the situation so far as the plan was concerned. The same may be said of a later discovery that the expert engineers who had "reported" on the plan, were unknown members of the force in the engineering office of the Boston & Maine Railroad, who had been shown the plan by Mr. Parkhurst, without the knowledge of the Board of Selectmen who on behalf of the town were then negotiating with the railroad on the grade crossing, and who, we are told, did not even attempt to make any comprehensive comparison of this with other plans. In this connection it should also be observed that the railroad has always fought successfully against abolition of this crossing, one of its principal arguments having always been the number of plans submitted by citizens of the town, and the consequent diversity of opinion among Winchester citizens themselves concerning them.

The Board of Selectmen, to which the Town had previously appropriated $1500 to study and report on the grade crossing, decided to devote at least one evening to each of the plans for the abolition. These special meetings were in addition to our weekly Monday night sessions. The "Kellaway Plan," as it was then beginning to be known, was one of the first so considered. Mr. Kellaway was invited to come out and give us all the facts concerning his proposal. He was told that the five members of the Board of Selectmen would meet his convenience, and would devote whatever evening he might choose, to the intensive study of the plan which he favored. He came, and we cordially welcomed him. Our discussion throughout was as informal and friendly as at any meeting which I have ever attended. At this and various other "grade crossing sessions," a few others were present, including Mr. Holbrook, the Superintendent of Streets, Mr. Charles R. Main, a leading engineer who had recently been a member of the Board of Selectmen, and Charles F. Dutch, Esq., a former Town counsel who on behalf of the Town, some years before, had conducted the very extensive hearings before the Public Service Commission on this subject, and who unquestionably was at least as conversant with the considerations affecting Winchester grade crossing abolition as any other man living. Mr. Parkhurst was not present. As of his own knowledge, however, he writes about it as follows:—

"The Board of Selectmen invited Mr. Kellaway to meet with them one evening, which he did—coming from his home in Newton to do so. He found present not only the Selectmen but a former town counsel and a representative of a well-known engineering firm. These two gentlemen questioned and cross-questioned him for a long time about his plan. He had no data with him, but from memory told them freely—as well as he could—everything they asked about. Among other things he said his plan was much cheaper than any other previously suggested."

Mr. Parkhurst's statement that at this conference Mr. Kellaway was cross-questioned for a long time, if the word "cross-questioned" is to be construed in its ordinary sense, is utterly without foundation. And as to the impression obviously conveyed by the letter that Mr. Kellaway had data which he did not have with him, and consequently may have been embarrassed or in error, the following facts should be stated:—

The Board of Selectmen were of course aware of Mr. Kellaway's standing and of the many and valuable services which he had rendered in Winchester and elsewhere. It was therefore of course assumed by the Board of Selectmen as it was I am sure by the citizens generally, that Mr. Kellaway's statement about the comparative costs of abolition of the grade crossing by the various plans, had been made after careful and detailed computation of at least the principal items concerned in each of them. At one time during the conference, therefore, I asked Mr. Kellaway if he would be good enough to let us have, then or later, the working schedules on which he had based his estimate. We thought they would be helpful to our own investigations of costs, which had not then begun. He replied that he knew very little of any other plan, and not only had no figures as to his own plan, but that he had never tried to make any. "I never had time to go into that," he said. No reference was made at this conference to any data which he did not have with him.

After this hearing and other similar ones in which Mr. Vinal was heard on the "Vinal Plan," and others on the "Town Plan," the Board retained Charles T. Main, Inc. as a wholly disinterested firm of engineers of the highest standing in their profession, to conduct investigations and submit a report to us of the comparative costs of the various plans. For this they charged substantially less than their usual reasonable fees because of the deep personal interest of Messrs. Charles T. Main and Charles R. Main in the welfare of the Town. The fee paid them was $800 out of the $1500 previously provided by the voters. These engineers were absolutely impartial. They spent approximately six weeks in their investigations, of the progress of which we had no information until their formal report was submitted. Their figures with supporting schedules showed that the cost of the "Kellaway Plan," instead of being less than one-half that of any other plan, exceeded that of every other plan except that for an overhead railroad; and indeed exceeded that of the Vinal Plan, one of the best of the plans, and which in modified form had been the plan approved by the Special Commission some years before—by over a quarter of a million dollars. These figures were not those of the Board of Selectmen. They were furnished to them by Charles T. Main, Inc.

Then came the hearing to which Mr. Parkhurst refers as follows:—

"A little later a public hearing was held in the Town Hall and the Selectmen reported that as a result of investigations made by a firm of well-known engineers—referred to above—Mr. Kellaway's plan, which he thought was cheaper, was the most costly of the four plans studied. One gentleman desired a letter of censure sent to Mr. Kellaway for deceiving the town, and he was quite generally discredited at that meeting."

Mr. Parkhurst was not present at this hearing. I presided over it. The facts are these:—The Selectmen had felt the need of discussing this important matter with the citizens in groups rather than in one large public hearing. One such group was the Chamber of Commerce; another comprised all the owners of land in the center, who met at the suggestion of the Board on the occasion to which Mr. Parkhurst refers. At that time the Selectmen were, as I then stated, open-minded on the matter. Our investigations had hardly begun; we were seeking suggestions from that particular group and seeking especially to ascertain whether it would be feasible to provide again by agreement, as formerly, for a method of determination of land damages without recourse to the courts. The meeting lasted approximately an hour and a half; about 40 people being present, including the selectmen, town counsel and town engineer. Some five minutes before the close, William A. Kneeland, Esq., representing the National Bank, asked me whether the selectmen had any figures available as to the costs of the various plans. The elaborate schedules supplied by Charles T. Main, Inc. had only just been submitted to the Board, but I told him, without comment, what the summaries showed. One citizen then arose and said that for a responsible landscape architect like Mr. Kellaway to make and permit the circulation throughout the Town, at its expense, of a statement which was little more than a guess, but which was not stated as such, but rather as a statement on which general reliance should be and actually was placed, was worthy of censure. As to the justice of the gentleman's remarks, the reader will form his own opinion. That, however, was the only statement personally derogatory to Mr. Kellaway which was made in the entire hearing.

The next issue of the Star, however, carried a report of this meeting and, to my surprise, mentioned this incident. On reading it, feeling that Mr. Kellaway might receive from its mention the impression that the incident was in some degree indicative of the general tenor of the meeting, I promptly telephoned him and assured him that that incident stood absolutely alone, and that it in no way indicated the expressed attitude of the meeting as a whole; and I again expressed my cordial thanks for his visit to the selectmen. Mr. Parkhurst's statement that "Mr. Kellaway was quite generally discredited at that meeting,"—at which neither Mr. Parkhurst nor Mr. Kellaway was present, is a groundless and inexcusable assault upon the dignity and courtesy which characterized this meeting of some two score of our leading business men.

Mr. Parkhurst then asks, "What could Mr. Kellaway do to preserve his reputation? The only thing he could do was to proceed to work out in detail what his plan would cost." Under all the circumstances, that statement is worthy of reflection. But in what judicial frame of mind did he then set out for the first time to determine by anything more than an off-hand estimate whether the unqualified statement which he had previously made, and which had been published and distributed throughout the Town, was right or wrong? How nearly it approached that of the disinterested and open-minded expert, ready to accept whatever the figures might show, is clearly indicated by his letter to the Star published in its issue of Feb. 1, 1929, in which he said, "As I have been criticised, I must now prepare some figures upon my own account so as to see if I have deceived the Town. As soon as I have secured these I will give them to the public so that any reflection on my report can be removed."

Although the Kellaway proposal of a means of abolition of the grade crossing was obviously but one factor in a very large and important study which the Selectmen were making on behalf of the Town, the same extraordinary presumption by him that the Board of Selectmen was so false to its obligations to the citizens as to deliberately direct its report for or against his or any other plan, except on the best and most impartial evidence and in the most open-minded consideration of the matter, was again indicated by Mr. Kellaway's amazing letter to the Star of March 8, 1929. It referred to what has been repeatedly stated to be as painstaking, careful, thorough and absolutely impartial a report as the Winchester selectmen had ever issued on any subject. And so far as we know, no Winchester citizen has ever expressed an opinion to the contrary. But of it Mr. Kellaway promptly wrote to the Star:—

"I thank you for sending me the report on the grade crossing in Winchester, recently issued by the selectmen of the Town. There is in it much of historical interest to the citizens of the Town, but after reading it carefully it impressed me as an attorney's plea for the conviction of a criminal. As my name is mentioned 35 times in the article, nearly always in condemnatory terms in relation to the elimination of the grade crossing, I seem to be the culprit in the case."

Even to an intelligent child, comment on that letter and the attitude which it expressed would be superfluous. I mention it only because of the elementary rule of wise decision in such matters, that where conflicting figures are to be considered, even if they were from equally competent sources, the interest or animus of those submitting them becomes an important subject for consideration.

The new figures when they were sent to the Star by Mr. Kellaway were exactly what one would have expected from his own preliminary statement of his purpose in compiling them. Certain of the items are so demonstrably preposterous as to render the whole estimate of questionable value,—except for the costs of bridge construction, which amounted to approximately 16 per cent of the cost of the whole plan, and which were apparently the only figures supplied by the "high-grade engineering firm" to which Mr. Parkhurst refers. The only substantial difference between the figures by the two firms of engineers was due to a statement by Mr. Kellaway to the engineers whom he consulted on this relatively small phase of the subject, concerning the nature of the river bed, with which our town engineer, on whose statement in this regard Charles T. Main, Inc. properly relied, did not agree.

Mr. Parkhurst now states it as his opinion that by these figures Mr. Kellaway showed to any fair-minded man that his plan was the cheapest,—a virtual charge of unfairness of mind against Charles T. Main, Inc., all of the selectmen and the great majority of intelligent citizens who, whether considering those who furnished the estimates or the circumstances under which the estimates were prepared, unquestionably rely on those submitted by Charles T. Main, Inc. There may be a score of disinterested people in Winchester who at the present time would prefer the figures of Mr. Kellaway, landscape architect, to those of Charles T. Main, Inc., engineers. But is any public service, or any legitimate private service, rendered by accusing the other 13,000 of unfair-mindedness? Is "everybody out of step except my Johnny?"

Mr. Parkhurst then adds: "Did the town pay him for engaging competent engineering help to do this and for the time and expense necessary to carry out this most thorough piece of work? Not a cent! Not even his carfare from his Newton home. This work cost him over $900, and so far as I know neither the town nor any official of the Town ever even thanked him for his effort to do a kindly act. What must he think of our community?"

It may be doubted whether the last question is one of serious public concern. And as to who furnished the $900, or what arrangements were made with respect to it, these are questions on which we have not been informed. But just consider the facts which I have recited: The selectmen, voting under vote of the Town and with money which it had provided for the purpose, had employed and paid competent engineers to ascertain the costs of the principal plans, including the so-called "Kellaway Plan." These figures showed Mr. Kellaway's previous statement or guess, before publishing which he had never attempted to prepare any figures, to be grossly inaccurate and misleading. Then, as Mr. Parkhurst admits, Mr. Kellaway, "to preserve his reputation," had engaged engineering assistance with respect to the cost of about one-sixth of the undertaking required by the Kellaway plan, and so far as we are informed, on nothing else. These figures were of course never submitted to the Board of Selectmen. We read them in the Star, where we had also previously read Mr. Kellaway's frank statement of his purpose in compiling them. As Mr. Kellaway had said of them in his letter in your issue of Feb. 1, "I must now prepare some figures on my own account to see if I have deceived the Town." Under the circumstances, that was a perfectly natural course for him to pursue. This is what Mr. Parkhurst now actually tells your readers was simply Mr. Kellaway's "effort to do a kindly act."

In view of the expense of the surveys and report, any further expense even to the extent of two or three hundred dollars would have meant exceeding our appropriation,—a violation not only of the statute laws of the Commonwealth but also of an elementary duty to the taxpayers, which, regardless of motives, most Boards and Committees would under any circumstances absolutely refuse to commit. And Mr. Parkhurst, referring to the figures finally produced by Mr. Kel-laway, asks:—"Did the town pay him for engaging competent engineering help to do this and for the time and expense necessary to carry out this most thorough piece of work? Not a cent!"

That question and answer are an undeniably emphatic allegation that in not repaying the $900 to Mr. Kellaway, Winchester failed of its duty. Publicly to allege that Winchester is under an obligation which it has willfully refused to discharge, or even to recognize, is obviously a deliberate reflection upon the fairness and honor of the Town. As to its justice or injustice,—whether it merits praise or contempt, the facts which I have above recited speak for themselves. Every reader will draw his own conclusions and make his own comment, to which mine would add nothing. But may I add simply this, that even if ignorance could excuse such a public charge, which it most certainly could not, that is here immaterial. Because when Mr. Parkhurst wrote his letter he knew every fact stated in the foregoing paragraph, except possibly the last one, to which he can hardly be heard to attach great importance. Yet to not one of those vital facts did he see fit to make the slightest reference in his public letter. Could it have been assumed that no one engaged in the conduct of the Town's business and therefore conversant with what actually took place, would at this busy season devote the very considerable amount of extra time required for spreading the whole truth upon the public record?

In March, 1929, the selectmen invited the Town to state its preference as to plans. Surveys were prepared and motions offered by them in Town Meeting for that purpose. After thorough discussion the Town rejected that invitation, deciding to leave the matter to the unfettered discretion of the Board of Selectmen, and voted an initial $15,000 to start pressure for the abolition. That vote of the representative Town Meeting was carried by 163 to 5. Almost every speaker gave as his reason for the vote the necessity for having the Town, through its Board of Selectmen, present an undivided front on this great matter. Since that time a judge of the Superior Court, officially considering the Winchester situation, has stated his belief that the Winchester grade crossing is one of the worst, and his opinion that a principal reason why Winchester did not have her grade crossing abolished long years ago was that Winchester citizens never had been able to unite or agree on what they actually wanted. In spite of the fact, Mr. Parkhurst's present wholly unfounded attack upon the conduct of the Selectmen in this matter prior to that overwhelming vote of confidence, is not the only clear indication which he has given since that vote, of his emphatic unwillingness to conform to the will of the citizens as so expressed. He has even indicated his willingness actively to steer his own course before such tribunal as may ultimately decide upon the matter.

If the history of civic and semi-civic affairs in Winchester during the last 10 years has taught one lesson more vividly than another, it is that noble projects may be permanently ruined by individual insistence upon personal domination of the means of their accomplishment. It is deplorable that a reaching of that old lesson should have been necessary; though in the truth of it lies a sure indication not only of that widespread interest in local affairs, but also of that healthy independence and general self respect of all the citizens, which above all other factors ensure to this town the proud place which it holds. I cannot believe that the lesson will still be unheeded by any Winchester citizen sincerely desirous of subordinating his personal will to the public welfare.

My membership in the Board of Selectmen will end in three months. To that extent the Town may well elect a stronger Board than it has now. The new Board will welcome, as all Boards cordially welcome, opinions differing from their own. Such opinions, and suggestions based on them, are often of so great value that we only wish there were more of them. But in common justice to the Town itself and to those who are willing officially to perform for it the exacting and almost continuous duties which are required of its selectmen, for which they ask neither thanks nor credit, may I bespeak for them at least a complete freedom from that groundless and ill-considered criticism which is not merely misleading and ungrateful, but which may even jeopardize the most vital interests of Winchester.

Sincerely yours,
Joseph W. Worthen

Winchester, Dec. 16, 1929
To the Editor of the Star:

I have read the letter from Mr. Worthen to you under the date of Dec. 16, 1929, in which he answers Mr. Lewis Parkhurst's letter published in your issue of Nov. 29.

Mr. Parkhurst's letter is inaccurate and misleading and as Mr. Worthen remarks, a full and forcible reply is "nothing short of a public duty."

The facts about the Kellaway situation have long been fully known to the members of the Board of Selectmen and to others holding responsible positions in the service of the Town. Every statement in Mr. Worthen's letter is strictly in accordance with what I personally know to be the truth.

ST. MARY'S CELEBRATES

The week preceding Christmas has been marked by a special celebration in St. Mary's. The occasion was the 45th anniversary of the Ordination to the Priesthood of Rev. N. J. Merritt, the Pastor of St. Mary's Church. A tribute of affection and esteem was offered him by the members of St. Mary's High School on Dec. 18, in the school hall, which was artistically decorated with the colors of the Christmas season. The following program was presented:

Address Miss Florence N. Fisher, '29
The Twilight Bell Classes 3 and 4
The Song, the Star, and the Story Classes 1 and 2 Congratulation Miss Edna Donnelly
Paeant "My Ideal Gift" Class 3

Father Merritt was much pleased and moved at this tribute, but was particularly delighted with the beautiful bouquet of roses presented to him by the high school.

The entire school body will attend Mass for Father Merritt on Friday, at which appropriate hymns will be sung by the high school choir. During the day, Father Merritt will escort Santa Claus to the expectant children waiting for them in the school hall, where an enormous Christmas tree, glittering with ornaments, tinsel and lights, and laden with gifts, will delight the children. Friday evening, the St. Mary's

Alumnae, under the direction of their President, Miss Loretta M. Donnelly, expect to offer their felicitations and congratulations to their Pastor, by presenting an appropriate and interesting program.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Dumper will be glad to learn that they have returned to town and are making their home at 23 Rangeley road. Their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Dumper, who is a student at the American Academy of Dramatic Art in New York City, is to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents in Winchester.

Real Facts

Did you ever see such a display of plumbing goods in your life, in Winchester, except Laraway Company owned them, as at 24 Thompson Street and we have more than all Winchester Plumbers, and God knows they are Legion, at our Park Street plant; bought right and paid for.

We have served you for more than three decades. Who knows of our goods not lasting and being economical for years?

You see ads for gas storage water systems for $64.92. They wouldn't last long enough to heat water to wash a bride's dishes and bathe her first born even though they were as near together as Grandma's were.

We sell equipments that would heat water to wash the bride's dishes and her grandchildren's, too, without any change.

Yours after 34 years serving Winchester's most particular customers. Waiting for a chance to serve you, no salve but real service. Telephone Win. 1126 when you need extra hot water for domestic purposes. Why do you listen to corporations selling gas or electricity—out of town, out of sympathy.

Seeking
the IDEAL
Christmas
Gift. . . .

"Buy this!" . . . "Choose that!" . . . In the babble of ten thousand conflicting suggestions, it's small wonder that many a husband selects a Christmas gift that disappoints. Husbands who seek the ideal Christmas gift for their wives don't often think of seeing us—but this is the first place they should come. Our very first suggestion—an Insulated Glenwood Gas Range—will probably solve the difficulty.

GRADE CROSSING

In the first place, Mr. Parkhurst holds up Mr. Kellaway of Newton as a martyr to his interest in Winchester, martyred by the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Selectmen and other conspirators in the town which he sought disinterestedly to serve. The statements and charges which Mr. Parkhurst deliberately makes, if true,—as doubtless some citizens after reading the letter believe them to be true,—cast grave discredit upon the good name of the town and of those to whom as their selectmen all the citizens have entrusted the conduct of its business,—a discredit which is of course in no way lessened by the reference at the end of the letter to the leadership of the selectmen.

Now what are the facts? Early in 1929 a Waterways Committee of which Mr. Lewis Parkhurst was chairman,—and which had been created at the suggestion of the previous Finance Committee with which I had been connected,—had annexed to its report an elaborate and illustrated presentation by Mr. Kellaway of a modification of a grade crossing elimination plan suggested by a Winchester citizen some years before. Although adoption of this plan would practically block up the center of the town, it still had real merits. It was well presented. The report contained a statement that abolition by this plan would cost "at least one-half of any plan recently proposed." It was also preceded by an introductory page referring to Mr. Kellaway, and therefore apparently sponsored by the committee or its chairman, in which it was stated that this "plan has been submitted to able engineers who are familiar with this kind of work, and they report that it is entirely feasible, practical, and especially economical, probably costing less than one-half the expense of any plan thus far discussed."

These statements were at first generally accepted without question; and many citizens, of whom I was one, relying on them, and at that time knowing little about the subject, favored the plan. Some citizens still favor it. The later discovery that the committee had, without the knowledge of the Finance Committee or even of some of its own members, exceeded its appropriation by some thousands of dollars, in fact almost by 100 per cent of the amount which the town had authorized it to expend, did not seriously affect the situation so far as the plan was concerned. The same may be said of a later discovery that the expert engineers who had "reported" on the plan, were unknown members of the force in the engineering office of the Boston & Maine Railroad, who had been shown the plan by Mr. Parkhurst, without the knowledge of the Board of Selectmen who on behalf of the town were then negotiating with the railroad on the grade crossing, and who, we are told, did not even attempt to make any comprehensive comparison of this with other plans. In this connection it should also be observed that the railroad has always fought successfully against abolition of this crossing, one of its principal arguments having always been the number of plans submitted by citizens of the town, and the consequent diversity of opinion among Winchester citizens themselves concerning them.

The Board of Selectmen, to which the town had previously appropriated $1500 to study and report on the grade crossing, decided to devote at least one evening to each of the plans for the abolition. These special meetings were in addition to our weekly Monday night sessions. The "Kellaway Plan," as it was then beginning to be known, was one of the first so considered. Mr. Kellaway was invited to come out and give us all the facts concerning his proposal. He was told that the five members of the Board of Selectmen would meet his convenience, and would devote whatever evening he might choose, to the intensive study of the plan which he favored. He came, and we cordially welcomed him. Our discussion throughout was as informal and friendly as at any meeting which I have ever attended. At this and various other "grade crossing sessions," a few others were present, including Mr. Holbrook, the Superintendent of Streets, Mr. Charles R. Main, a leading engineer who had recently been a member of the Board of Selectmen, and Charles F. Dutch, Esq., a former town counsel who on behalf of the town, some years before, had conducted the very extensive hearings before the Public Service Commission on this subject, and who unquestionably was at least as conversant with the considerations affecting Winchester grade crossing abolition as any other man living. Mr. Parkhurst was not present. As of his own knowledge, however, he writes about it as follows:—

"The Board of Selectmen invited Mr. Kellaway to meet with them one evening, which he did—coming from his home in Newton to do so. He found present not only the selectmen but a former town counsel and a representative of a well-known engineering firm. These two gentlemen questioned and cross-questioned him for a long time about his plan. He had no data with him, but from memory told them freely—as well as he could—everything they asked about. Among other things he said his plan was much cheaper than any other previously suggested."

Mr. Parkhurst's statement that at this conference Mr. Kellaway was cross-questioned for a long time, if the word "cross-questioned" is to be construed in its ordinary sense, is utterly without foundation. And as to the impression obviously conveyed by the letter that Mr. Kellaway had data which he did not have with him, and consequently may have been embarrassed or in error, the following facts should be stated:—

The Board of Selectmen were of course aware of Mr. Kellaway's standing and of the many and valuable services which he had rendered in Winchester and elsewhere. It was therefore of course assumed by the Board of Selectmen as it was I am sure by the citizens generally, that Mr. Kellaway's statement about the comparative costs of abolition of the grade crossing by the various plans, had been made after careful and detailed computation of at least the principal items concerned in each of them. At one time during the conference, therefore, I asked Mr. Kellaway if he would be good enough to let us have, then or later, the working schedules on which he had based his estimate. We thought they would be helpful to our own investigations of costs, which had not then begun. He replied that he knew very little of any other plan, and not only had no figures as to his own plan, but that he had never tried to make any. "I never had time to go into that," he said. No reference was made at this conference to any data which he did not have with him.

After this hearing and other similar ones in which Mr. Vinal was heard on the "Vinal Plan," and others on the "Town Plan," the Board retained Charles T. Main, Inc. as a wholly disinterested firm of engineers of the highest standing in their profession, to conduct investigations and submit a report to us of the comparative costs of the various plans. For this they charged substantially less than their usual reasonable fees because of the deep personal interest of Messrs. Charles T. Main and Charles R. Main in the welfare of the town. The fee paid them was $800 out of the $1500 previously provided by the voters. These engineers were absolutely impartial. They spent approximately six weeks in their investigations, of the progress of which we had no information until their formal report was submitted. Their figures with supporting schedules showed that the cost of the "Kellaway Plan," instead of being less than one-half that of any other plan, exceeded that of every other plan except that for an overhead railroad; and indeed exceeded that of the Vinal Plan,—one of the best of the plans, and which in modified form had been the plan approved by the Special Commission some years before,—by over a quarter of a million dollars. These figures were not those of the Board of Selectmen. They were furnished to them by Charles T. Main, Inc.

Then came the hearing to which Mr. Parkhurst refers as follows:—

"A little later a public hearing was held in the Town Hall and the selectmen reported that as a result of investigations made by a firm of well-known engineers—referred to above—Mr. Kellaway's plan, which he thought was cheaper, was the most costly of the four plans studied. One gentleman desired a letter of censure sent to Mr. Kellaway for deceiving the town, and he was quite generally discredited at that meeting."

Mr. Parkhurst was not present at this hearing. I presided over it. The facts are these:—The selectmen had felt the need of discussing this important matter with the citizens in groups rather than in one large public hearing. One such group was the Chamber of Commerce; another comprised all the owners of land in the center, who met at the suggestion of the Board on the occasion to which Mr. Parkhurst refers. Mr. Parkhurst then asks, "What could Mr. Kellaway do to preserve his reputation? The only thing he could do was to proceed to work out in detail what his plan would cost." Under all the circumstances, that statement is worthy of reflection. But in what judicial frame of mind did he then set out for the first time to determine by anything more than an off-hand estimate whether the unqualified statement which he had previously made, and which had been published and distributed throughout the town, was right or wrong? How nearly it approached that of the disinterested and open-minded expert, ready to accept whatever the figures might show, is clearly indicated by his letter to the Star published in its issue of Feb. 1, 1929, in which he said, "As I have been criticised, I must now prepare some figures upon my

Although the Kellaway proposal of a means of abolition of the grade crossing was obviously but one factor in a very large and important study which the selectmen were making on behalf of the town, the same extraordinary presumption by him that the Board of Selectmen was so false to its obligations to the citizens as to deliberately direct its report for or against his or any other plan, except on the best and most impartial evidence and in the most open-minded consideration of the matter, was again indicated by Mr. Kellaway's amazing letter to the Star of March 8, 1929. But just consider the facts which I have recited:—The selectmen, acting under vote of the town and with money which it had provided for the purpose, had employed and paid competent engineers to ascertain the costs of the principal plans, including the so-called "Kellaway Plan." These figures showed Mr. Kellaway's previous statement or guess, before publishing which he had never attempted to prepare any figures, to be grossly inaccurate and misleading. Then, as Mr. Parkhurst admits, Mr. Kellaway, "to preserve his reputation," had engaged engineering assistance with respect to the cost of about one-sixth of the undertaking required by the Kellaway plan, and so far as we are informed, on nothing else. These figures were of course never submitted to the Board of Selectmen. We read them in the Star, where we had also previously read Mr. Kellaway's frank statement of his purpose in compiling them. As Mr. Kellaway had said of Feb. 1, "I must now prepare some figures on my own account to see if I have deceived the town." Under the circumstances, that was a perfectly natural course for him to pursue. This is what Mr. Parkhurst now actually tells our readers was simply Mr. Kellaway's "effort to do a kindly act." In view of the expense of the surveys and report, any further expense even to the extent of two or three hundred dollars would have meant exceeding our appropriation,—a violation not only of the statute laws of the Commonwealth but also of an elementary duty to the taxpayers, which, regardless of motives, most Boards and Committees would under any circumstances absolutely refuse to commit. And Mr. Parkhurst, referring to the figures finally produced by Mr. Kel-

That question and answer are an undeniably emphatic allegation that in not repaying the $900 to Mr. Kellaway, Winchester failed of its duty. Publicly to allege that Winchester is under an obligation which it has willfully refused to discharge, or even to recognize, is obviously a deliberate reflection upon the fairness and honor of the town. As to its justice or injustice,—whether it merits praise or contempt, the facts which I have above recited speak for themselves. Every reader will draw his own conclusions and make his own comment, to which mine would add nothing. But may I add simply this, that even if ignorance could excuse such a public charge, which it most certainly could not, that is here immaterial. Because when Mr. Parkhurst wrote his letter he knew every fact stated in the foregoing paragraph, except possibly the last one, to which he can hardly be heard to attach great importance. Yet to not one of those vital facts did he see fit to make the slightest reference in his public letter. Could it have been assumed that no one engaged in the conduct of the town's business and therefore conversant with what actually took place, would at this busy season devote the very considerable amount of extra time required for spreading the whole truth upon the public record?

In March, 1929, the selectmen invited the town to state its preference as to plans. Surveys were prepared and motions offered by them in town meeting for that purpose. After thorough discussion the town rejected that invitation, deciding to leave the matter to the unfettered discretion of the Board of Selectmen, and voted an initial $15,000 to start pressure for the abolition. That vote of the representative town meeting was carried by 163 to 5. Almost every speaker gave as his reason for the vote the necessity for having the town, through its Board of Selectmen, present an undivided front on this great matter. Since that time a judge of the Superior Court, officially considering the Winchester situation, has stated his belief that the Winchester grade crossing is one of the worst, and his opinion that a principal reason why Winchester did not have her grade crossing abolished long years ago was that Winchester citizens never had been able to unite or agree on what they actually wanted. In spite of the fact, Mr. Parkhurst's present wholly unfounded attack upon the conduct of the selectmen in this matter prior to that overwhelming vote of confidence, is not the only clear indication which he has given since that vote, of his emphatic unwillingness to conform to the will of the citizens as so expressed. He has even indicated his willingness actively to steer his own course before such tribunal as may ultimately decide upon the matter.

If the history of civic and semi-civic affairs in Winchester during the last 10 years has taught one lesson more vividly than another, it is that noble projects may be permanently ruined by individual insistence upon personal domination of the means of their accomplishment. It is deplorable that a reaching of that old lesson should have been necessary; though in the truth of it lies a sure indication not only of that widespread interest in local affairs, but also of that healthy independence and general self respect of all the citizens, which above all other factors ensure to this town the proud place which it holds. I cannot believe that the lesson will still be unheeded by any Winchester citizen sincerely desirous of subordinating his personal will to the public welfare.

My membership in the Board of Selectmen will end in three months. To that extent the town may well elect a stronger Board than it has now. The new Board will welcome, as all Boards cordially welcome, opinions differing from their own. Such opinions, and suggestions based on them, are often of so great value that we only wish there were more of them. But in common justice to the town itself and to those who are willing officially to perform for it the exacting and almost continuous duties which are required of its selectmen, for which they ask neither thanks nor credit, may I bespeak for them at least a complete freedom from that groundless and ill-considered criticism which is not merely misleading and ungrateful, but which may even jeopardize the most vital interests of Winchester.

Sincerely yours,

Joseph W. Worthen

Winchester, Dec. 16, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:

I have read the letter from Mr. Worthen to you under the date of Dec. 16, 1929, in which he answers Mr. Lewis Parkhurst's letter published in your issue of Nov. 29.

Mr. Parkhurst's letter is inaccurate and misleading and as Mr. Worthen remarks, a full and forceful reply is "nothing short of a public duty."

The facts about the Kellaway situation have long been fully known to the members of the Board of Selectmen and to others holding responsible positions in the service of the town.

Every statement in Mr. Worthen's letter is strictly in accordance with what I personally know to be the truth.

J. Harper Blaisdell, Chairman,

Board of Selectmen, 1928-29

ST. MARY'S CELEBRATES

The week preceding Christmas has been marked by a special celebration in St. Mary's. The occasion was the 45th anniversary of the Ordination to the Priesthood of Rev. N. J. Merritt, the Pastor of St. Mary's Church. A tribute of affection and esteem was offered him by the members of St. Mary's High School on Dec. 18, in the school hall, which was artistically decorated with the colors of the Christmas season. The following program was presented:

Address by Miss Florence N. Fisher, 29 The Twilight Bell, Chorus 3 and 4 The Song, the Star, and the Story

Congratulations by Miss Edna Dunsany, Chorus 1 and 2

Prayer by Rev. N. J. Merritt, Class 1

Father Merritt was much pleased and moved at this tribute, but was particularly delighted with the beautiful bouquet of roses presented to him by the high school.

The entire school body will attend Mass for Father Merritt on Friday, at which appropriate hymns will be sung by the high school choir. During the day, Father Merritt will escort Santa Claus to the expectant children waiting for them in the school hall, where an enormous Christmas tree, glittering with ornaments, tinsel and lights, and laden with gifts, will delight the children. Friday evening, the St. Mary's

Alumnae, under the direction of their President, Miss Loretta M. Donnelly, expect to offer their felicitations and congratulations to their Pastor, by presenting an appropriate and interesting program.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Dumper will be glad to learn that they have returned to town and are making their home at 23 Rangeley road. Their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Dumper, who is a student at the American Academy of Dramatic Art in New York City, is to spend the Christmas holidays with her parents in Winchester.

Real Facts

Did you ever see such a display of plumbing goods in your life, in Winchester, except Laraway Company owned them, as at 24 Thompson Street and we have more than all Winchester Plumbers, and God knows they are Legion, at our Park Street plant; bought right and paid for.

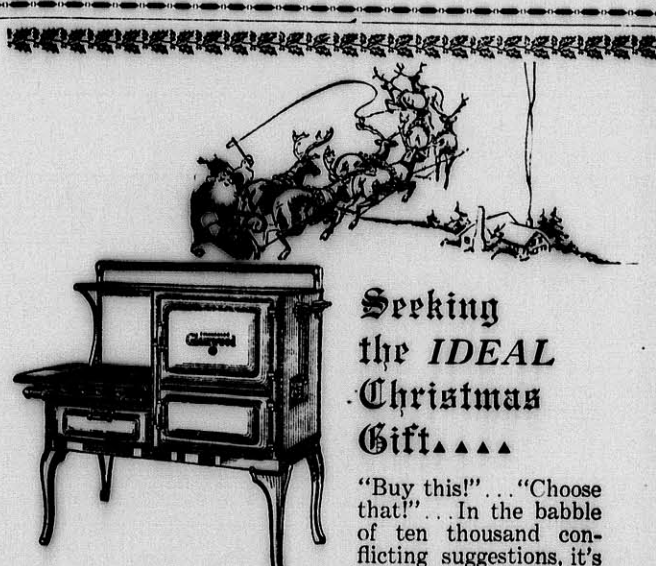

We have served you for more than three decades. Who knows of our goods not lasting and being economical for years?

You see ads for gas storage water systems for $64.92. They wouldn't last long enough to heat water to wash a bride's dishes and bathe her first born even though they were as near together as Grandma's were.

We sell equipments that would heat water to wash the bride's dishes and her grandchildren's, too, without any change.

Yours after 34 years serving Winchester's most particular customers. Waiting for a chance to serve you, no salve but real service. Telephone Win. 1126 when you need extra hot water for domestic purposes. Why do you listen to corporations selling gas or electricity—out of town, out of sympathy.

Seeking
the IDEAL Christmas
Gift

"Buy this!"... "Choose that!"... In the babble of ten thousand conflicting suggestions, it's small wonder that many a husband selects a Christmas gift that disappoints. Husbands who seek the ideal Christmas gift for their wives don't often think of seeing us—but this is the first place they should come. Our very first suggestion—an Insulated Glenwood Gas Range—will probably solve the difficulty.

PEEVED OVER EDICT

Why Allow Golf if Fishing is Barred?

Winchester, Mass., Dec. 15, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:

I see by a little item in your issue of Dec. 13 that our local killjoys are at their pleasant (to them) work again. Posting Winter Pond against fishing is the latest act of the crowd that are always trying to remove what little pleasure is left to the citizens of this town.

They succeeded in putting a ban on discharge of firearms in the town limits so we cannot hunt the pheasant or rabbit or fox. I believe the sudden discharge of shot guns destroyed the stance of some of our golfers as they were trying for a hole in one—or was it 100?

Of course we cannot fish in the reservoirs, although the fish are in one another's way. By the way, the State Department of Conservation asked permission of the Water and Sewer Board to seive the Winchester reservoirs and take some of the many fish from them and place the fish in other lakes and ponds, but in keeping with the sportsmanlike attitude of our town authorities the answer was no. I suppose they were too busy fighting about the new water tank to bother.

I fished Winter Pond last year and did not see any skaters in the part that we were fishing. I should think that Wedge Pond with its great area and hockey rinks would be large enough for all the skaters that are in this town with plenty of room for visitors. If the Park Board really wished to help the skaters why do they not flood Manchester Field? They would then be doing something worthwhile.

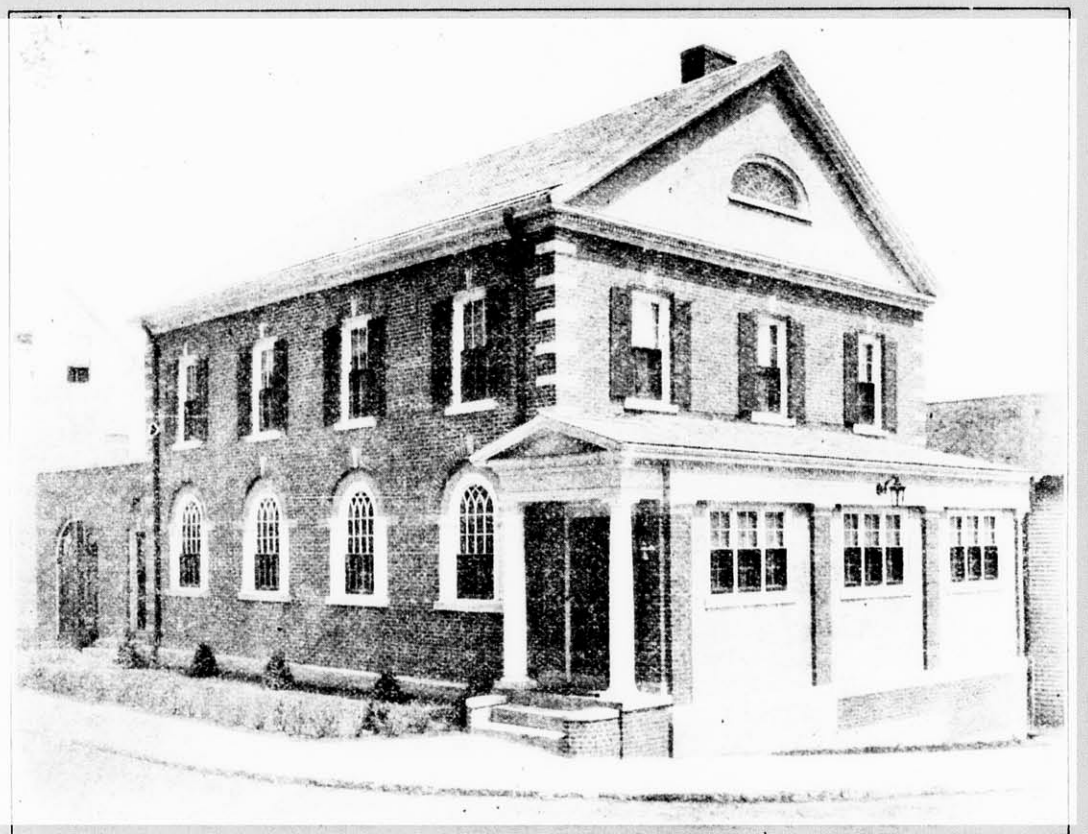

Of course when our Boards make up their minds that a thing should be done, well that ends it right or wrong. They are always right and nothing can change their minds.

Well they can ban, prohibit and bar, and walk around with a self-satisfied smirk on their faces like the cat that ate the canary, but they cannot prohibit our thinking and talking and had some of them attended the last meeting of the Woburn Sportsman's Association and heard the various opinions expressed by the Winchester members of the club, and there are quite a few Winchester members, they might have considered having a hearing on the subject, but I doubt it.

Very sincerely yours,
Charles A. Farrar, Secretary
Woburn Sportsman's Assoc.

The term "first quality" in a diamond signifies a stone absolutely white and free from all flaws and imperfections. The finest old East Indian, the Jagers-fontein, the Rivers and the Blue Wesselton diamonds are all approximately one grade.

Literary Teamwork

I look forward to the day when a prime minister will recommend a novel because the home secretary has suppressed it, and the home secretary suppresses a novel because the prime minister has recommended it.—Sir G. A. Robertson.

"Danger" is said to have developed the fastest moving production since the coming of the talkers. He has not deviated from his old method of making comedies, maintaining all the speed and action of his past successes, and has simply added sound and talk as good measure entertainment.

Any person who enjoys a good hearty laugh will get a big kick out of this picture because it has comedy moments that would make any person in the world howl with amusement. "Welcome Danger" opens at the Granada tomorrow and will be shown for seven days which includes special shows on Sunday.

Today for the last times the Granada will offer Marion Davies in her new talking hit, "Marianne." In "Marianne," Miss Davies sings, talks, dances and clowns to the delight of the spectator. Several new song hits are introduced and Miss Davies sings two of them herself. Lawrence Grey is cast as her doughboy sweetheart, while the laughs of the picture come from the antics of Benny Rubin, as a Jewish soldier.

THE STORY OF A FOOT-BRIDGE ACROSS THE ABERJONA RIVER

To the Editor of the Star:

In 1906 the neighbors living in or near Grove and Brooks streets thought it would be a great convenience to have a foot-bridge leading from that neighborhood across the river to the new Wedgemere Station. I undertook to get permission to build the bridge, with the following result:

Nov. 14, 1906

PERMIT

Permission is given to Lewis Parkhurst of Winchester, Massachusetts to build a bridge and abutments therefor across Aberjona River in Winchester near Wedgemere Station so far as the same is within the limits of the Mystic Valley Parkway, provided that said bridge and abutments and the location of said bridge conform with plan entitled, "Sketch of Proposed Foot Bridge near Wedgemere Station, Winchester, Mass., Scale 1/2 inch=1 inch, Jan. 29, 1906, John R. Rablin, Engineer," Accession Number 5812, approved by this Commission on Jan. 31, 1906; that the work is done in a manner satisfactory to the Engineer of this Commission; and on the understanding that, so long as the same is maintained, it shall be maintained in good condition and repair without expense to the Commonwealth, and on the further understanding and agreement that said Parkhurst will hold the Commonwealth harmless and indemnified against all claims for loss or damage to persons or property arising out of the exercise of this permit.

The Commission reserves the right to revoke this permit at any time in which case said Parkhurst agrees for himself and his heirs and assigns to remove that portion of the above mentioned structure within the limits of the land of the Commonwealth and restore the premises, so far as practicable, to their former condition; and, in case of his failure so to do, that the Commonwealth shall have the right to remove the same at his expense.

This permit is also granted on the understanding that necessary permission has also been acquired from the Boston & Maine Railroad for placing a portion of said bridge on land of said Railroad.

Dear Sir:

Referring to your letter of 14th ult. relative to new bridge crossing the Aberjona River just south of Wedgemere Station, I would advise that the subject was submitted to the Management and I am just in receipt of a letter in which Mr. Barr advises that this bridge may be placed, as suggested, with the understanding that it be of attractive design and under our absolute control. We would further require the privilege of removing it, if at any time it becomes objectionable and of course we would expect to arrange for the work through our Engr. Dept., it being understood further, that you will assume, for parties interested, the entire expense. Under this permission, will you kindly have plans, including detail of the proposed bridge, sent to me that I may submit same to our Engr. Dept. for their approval.

Yours very truly,

(Signed)

Henry C. Robinson,

Superintendent.

The bridge was built and reported finished in a manner satisfactory to the Metropolitan Park Commission on June 3, 1907. It was paid for by subscription and cost, I think, about $1200. Since that time I have made minor repairs and painted it—other neighbors have done the same.

On April 23, 1929 I received the following letter:

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Metropolitan Park Commission

April 23, 1929

Mr. Lewis Parkhurst,

Oak Knoll,

Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:

We find that the bridge over the

Aberjona River near Wedgemere

Station, which you maintain under license from this Commission, is in need of repairs.

At the present time a 6x10 inch post on the abutment nearest the railroad is badly rotted and should be replaced. The tops of the three 6x10 inch stringers have decayed to a depth of about two inches, so that the stringers should either be strengthened or replaced.

If you so desire, we will be glad to have one of our assistants go over this bridge with you and indicate precisely what should be done.

We suggest that you attend to the matter of these repairs as soon as practicable.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) E. H. Rogers,

Director of Park Engineering.

This letter I handed to a neighbor and told him I could no longer be responsible for the bridge. He called it to the attention of the Selectmen and on the strength of his report I wrote

the following letter:

May 13, 1929

Mr. E. H. Rogers,

Director of Park Engineering,

Metropolitan Park Commission

1 Ashburton Place, Boston

Dear Mr. Rogers:

I understand the Selectmen of Winchester are of the opinion that the town should take over that bridge and look after it. They will take the question up officially very soon and attend to the necessary repairs.

If your engineer would like to confer with the town engineer as to what work should be done right away, I am sure he would be glad to meet your man there whenever it is convenient for your office.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Lewis Parkhurst

The District Commission Engineer says he consulted with the Town Engineer several times but apparently nothing was done until late in November when a few minor repairs were made by the Engineering Department of the Town. Whereupon the Commission erected signs at both ends of the bridge saying it was unsafe and sent me the following letter:

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Metropolitan Park Commission

Nov. 21, 1929

Mr. Lewis Parkhurst,

Oak Knoll,

Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:

On April 23, 1929 we notified you that the bridge over the Aberjona

River near Wedgemere Station was in need of repairs.

We find that the work has not been attended to and that this bridge is in a dangerous condition and seriously

in need of repairs.

If this bridge is not put in suitable condition immediately, we shall give instructions to have it closed to all travel.

Hoping you will attend to this matter at once, I am

Very truly yours,

(Signed) E. H. Rogers,

Director of Park Engineering.

After apologizing to the Director of Park Engineering for my seeming in-attention to his letter of last April, I told him I did not care to be responsible for the bridge any longer. This was followed two days later with the following letter and the verbal suggestion that I fence it off for a few days, posting a notice that it was to be torn down and thus properly warning people of my intention. This I did the same day.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

Metropolitan Park Commission

Nov. 23, 1929

Mr. Lewis Parkhurst,

Oak Knoll,

Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:

It appears that the foot bridge over the Aberjona River near Wedgemere

Station in Winchester is in an unsatisfactory condition and seriously in need of repairs.

This bridge was erected by you under a permit from the Metropolitan

Park Commission dated Nov. 14, 1906.

We understand that you do not care to continue the maintenance of this bridge and we therefore revoke the permit and direct that the bridge be removed from without the limits of the land of the Commonwealth and the premises restored so far as practicable to their former condition.

I am delivering this letter to you by direction of the Commissioner.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) E. H. Rogers,

Director of Park Engineering.

Soon after the fence, as well as the danger notices, were torn down by some unknown person. After that the Commission placed wooden horses across the path leading to the bridge,

keeping red lanterns lighted at night

until the bridge was torn down.

Immediately on receipt of the Commission's letter of Nov. 23 I wrote

the Boston & Maine Railroad as follows:

Nov. 29, 1929

Mr. William J. Backes,

Chief Engineer, B. & M. R. R.,

Boston, Mass.

Dear Mr. Backes:

In 1906 the Boston & Maine Railroad and the Metropolitan District

Commission kindly gave me permission to erect a foot-bridge across the Aberjona River opposite the Wedgemere Station. The bridge has been reported unsafe for travel by the Metropolitan Park Commission and they have requested me to remove it, as I do not care to be personally responsible for it any longer. I plan to do this within a few days. I wish to leave the location in a manner satisfactory to the railroad. Will you kindly let me know who in your organization will pass upon this?

Appreciating very much the courtesy of the railroad in permitting one end the bridge to rest upon its property for nearly quarter of a century,

I am

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Lewis Parkhurst

The bridge was removed Thursday.

A PLEA FOR THE BIRDS

To the Editor of the Star:

In scrutinizing the pages of the Boston Traveler last Saturday night I observed on the first page the following few lines:

"Robin famed as spring bird seen in Reading, tweet, tweet."

"George W. Prescott of 21 Pleasant street, Reading, heard the sound and gave a start. Somehow that wasn't the sound which he associated with Dec. 14. He looked around and there hopping over the snow in his yard was a robin."

Prescott refuses to say whether the presence of the feathered friend means that winter is all over or hasn't begun, he merely put out some food for the songster and let it go at that."

Now, Mr. Editor, simply because you witness a robin hopping over your lawn or garden in December or January does not signify that we will have a mild winter or a severe winter; it means that when the ground is covered with snow and ice the robin's breast is handicapped for the want of food, hence we should all endeavor to feed our benefactors.

Why—because if the birds were banished we most likely would perish. The birds devour the insects that would destroy our trees and vegetables, hence the necessity of assisting our feathered friends and songsters. And remember, when a human being sits at the table to eat, he or she is in no danger providing they eat sensibly. Not so with our feathered friends. They are always in danger from the monsters that are their superiors. Physically they take one mouthful and then look around to ascertain if there is a cat hiding in the deep grass ready to devour them. It is beyond our comprehension to visualize the sufferings of our benefactors during a heavy sleet or snowstorm.

In regard to the robins we have several who hibernate in Winchester summer and winter. In my opinion, the reason that we have robins in our midst in the winter is that when they

Facts About Rails

Steel rails on a north and south track last longer than those laid east and west. The magnetism generated by the train friction is undisturbed in the former case; in the latter it is resisted.

COMMISSION URGES SWEEPING CHANGES

Asks State be Given Complete Control of Elimination of Grade Crossings

The special commission created by this year's Legislature to investigate the abolition of grade crossings, filed its final report Dec. 11, with the General Court. The report recommends the establishment of an entirely new method for the abolition of such crossings.

The commission recommends the establishment of an entirely new method for the abolition of railroad grade crossings, which is, in brief, as follows:

"Entire control of abolition work is to be placed in the State, through its Departments of Public Works and Public Utilities.

"Immediately after the effective date of this act, the Department of Public Works will proceed to make a complete and thorough investigation of all grade crossings of the State, gathering on each full data as to both rail and highway traffic and such other information as may aid in deciding priority in abolition. This data will be kept on file in the department and will at all times be kept up to date.

"All petitions for abolition of crossings, from cities, towns, counties or railroads, will be received in the Department of Public Works, which will hold hearings on each and decide whether it shall be included in its annual list proposed for priority.

"Annually, on a date to be decided by the Department of Public Works, said department will file with the Department of Public Utilities a list of crossings which, either through petitions or through its own initiative, it believes should be given immediate action. The Department of Public Utilities shall proceed with public hearings on the crossings included in the list, and will thereafter certify to the Department of Public Works a program order which will indicate the order of priority in which the crossings are to be abolished. At any time during the year this program may be added to, revised or amended upon application by the Department of Public Works, with the approval of the Department of Public Utilities.

"Plans for the elimination of crossings will be prepared, under the direction of the Department of Public Works, but must be approved by the Department of Public Utilities before contracts are awarded or work is started. From this point to the completion of the project, all work is under the direct control of the Department of Public Works.

"Apportionment of costs under orders of the Department of Public Works will place 50 per cent of the total cost, including land damage, upon the railroad or railroads involved. If more than one railroad is involved in a crossing or series of crossings undertaken in one project, division of costs between them will be made by the Department of Public Works in its order.

"The cost assessment upon the city or town shall not be less than 5 nor more than 10 per cent of the total cost. In the discretion of the Department of Public Works, taking into consideration the financial condition of and benefit derived by the municipality, any percentage from 1 to 5 per cent of the total cost may be taken from the city or town's share and placed upon the county in which the crossing is located.

"The cost assessment upon the State will be 40 per cent of the total cost, except that, in the discretion of the department, 5 per cent of the total cost may be taken from the State's share and assessed upon the county. Thus, in any case, the railroad will pay 50 per cent, the State 35 to 40 per cent, the municipality 5 to 10 per cent and the county may be assessed from nothing to maximum of 10 per cent.

"Audit of expenses in connection with an abolition project will be made by the Department of Public Works, on the filing of a request by the city or town or by the railroad in cases where the railroad is doing the work. The department will then report thereon to the controller. The department will from time to time issue its orders, based on these audits, for payments on the part of the railroads for their portion, and by the Commonwealth for the portions assessed to the State, municipality and county.

"The municipality and county will repay to the State their portions of the cost in one payment or, in the discretion of the department, these payments may be extended over a period up to 10 years, with interest at 4 per cent per annum.

"Because of the financial condition of the street railways of the State, their decreasing revenues from rail service and the rapid trend toward bus service, these corporations have been eliminated from sharing in the costs, except under the voluntary agreement section. The street railway will, however, pay for any changes in rails, poles or wire made necessary through change of grade or location due to the abolition of a grade crossing.

"The Superior Court is given jurisdiction in equity to enforce compliance with the provisions of the act. The Supreme Judicial Court is given jurisdiction in equity to review, modify, amend or annul any order of the Department of Public Works or of the Department of Public Utilities under the act, but only to the extent of the unlawfulness of such order.

"By agreement, and with the approval of the Department of Public Utilities, an abolition not included in the program may be undertaken by the municipality, county and railroads involved, dividing the costs as they may agree and the department approve. In such an agreement the State may, in the discretion of the Department of Public Works, be a party, but only to the maximum of 40 per cent of the cost. A street railway also may become a party to such an agreement.

"This act becomes effective upon Sept. 1, 1930."

MISS AVERY'S THIRD LECTURE

In Miss Avery's third lecture on Dec. 10 she spoke of the outstanding news of the past week as being Commander Byrd's successful flight over the South Pole. This, from the point of view of aviation, of radio, of meteorology and of geology is of inestimable scientific value aside from being a great feat in itself. It appeals to the imagination of us all and was only possible through Byrd's great care in organizing the expedition and in selecting only specialists to help him in his work.

The recent death of Clemenceau has brought to an end a career remarkably brilliant and a life of great service not only to France but to the whole world.

A great problem today in the far-East is the Arab-Jewish situation. Palestine has had many different rulers, Arabs, Jews and Turks and it is the Turkish rule that is primarily responsible for the conditions in Palestine today. Jerusalem is the religious home of the Christians, the Mohammedans and the Jews and is therefore claimed by all three as their own, thereby leading to much discussion and bloodshed. The trouble came to a head last August when the Mohammedans attacked the Jews at the Wailing Wall and many lives were lost.

Miss Avery then spoke of the recent crash in the stock market. Many different reasons are given as causes of the sudden decline and selling of stocks, but it is more a combination of causes than any one cause that brought about the recent situation. The way the President rallied the resources of the country to prevent a panic is the most remarkable feature of the whole thing, and although many are suffering more or less as a result of the recent crash, yet today there is more actual cash in the country than ever before and that is a hopeful sign for the future.

Miss Avery regretted that, owing to the many important events of the past week which she felt she must call to the attention of her audience, she was unable to speak as she had planned on, "How athletics came to Kashmir" and her interview with Mahatma Gandhi, but she will speak on these topics at her next lecture on Jan. 7.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The following letter written by Professor T. N. Carver states very clearly why repeal of our State enforcement law, is not an orderly manner, in which to attempt the overthrow of the 18th Amendment. "Once when I was very young and in possession of my right mind and an apple, an older and shrewder boy, with a poor opinion of my intelligence, offered to match pennies with me for my apple. Young and green as I was, I knew enough to refuse to be thus duped. He said I was a poor sport.

If he had offered to put it to vote as to whether he or I should have my apple, I should likewise have refused. Even a gambler, if in his right mind, will not gamble on those terms to see whether he shall keep or give up what he has already won. Much less would a laborer who has earned his wages submit to a vote or a gamble to see whether he should keep them or give them to some one else.

The Republicans won the last election in the manner prescribed by the constitution. Suppose that some dissatisfied person had argued that the election was not a true test of public sentiment, and had proposed a referendum to see whether Mr. Hoover should be President or not, would the Republicans have accepted the suggestion? Not unless they were out of their minds.

The 18th Amendment was adopted in the manner prescribed by the constitution for its own amendment. It was opposed by the wets and favored by the dries. The wets lost and the dries won. Now the wets are talking about a referendum to see whether we shall keep and enforce the amendment or not. If they expect the dries to fall in with the suggestion they must have a poorer opinion of the mentality of the dries than the facts would seem to warrant. As to the situation in Massachusetts it is not so very different. Massachusetts legally ratified the 18th Amendment and helped, to that extent, to make it a part of the fundamental law of the land. Consistently with that she adopted a State enforcement law.

It is now proposed to hold a referendum to see whether the enforcement law shall be retained or repealed. Naturally, the dries oppose it, and for precisely the reasons given above. As for myself, I have not strong objection to a referendum on any subject, though if the vote is taken I shall, of course, vote against repealing the enforcement law. I cannot think that it would reflect credit on Massachusetts to withdraw from the support, or even to talk about withdrawing from the support, of an amendment which she legally ratified. Even if she had not ratified it there would be something to say for supporting the Federal government in its efforts to enforce a provision of its constitution. It is not an altogether friendly attitude toward the government to withdraw all support. President Hoover is, in unmistakable terms, asking for general co-operation in supporting and enforcing the law.

In the face of that request, how would it look for Massachusetts promptly to withdraw its support? It is true that Massachusetts did not vote for Mr. Hoover, but it is not according to my ideas of good sportsmanship for her to refuse to support him after he has been elected by the country at large.—T. N. Carver.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Rowe, 20 Vine street on Friday, Dec. 20 at 2:30 p. m. Members are requested to return their filled 1929 calendars at this meeting. A full attendance is desired.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

(No. 9)

St. Paul advised: "If it be possible, as much as lieth by you, live peaceably with all men." This advice is far superior to the more pagan council: "Live and let live."

Living peaceably with someone is more than just "letting live," and that "if it be possible" and that further condition—"as much as lieth in you" is a challenge to one's own sense of fairness, but is it not also an incentive toward the appreciation of yourself and of the other fellow, which means a great deal more than just going one's own way, with the understanding that the other one must also be permitted, in consequence to go his.

Peace is not an end; it is an atmosphere in which ends may be worked out toward perfection. We do not use our physical poise to stand still, but to move without lost motion. We do not use our peace to drowse life away to pursue life without lost emotion.

Men are hurried into action, and deflected by influences, depressed by fears and urged by desires, and we pray that we may not care. But we are created with a nature to care and to be unmade of caring is to be broken past mending. When we find that we can care and yet pursue life undeflected by unbalancing results and when we still have found that in every situation it is possible to arrive at a point of adjustment so that whatever the losses or the unfulfillments we can be "living peaceably," we are really in the possession of a wonderful inheritance.

CHRISTMAS IN CHINA

C. P. O. Box No. 1234
Shanghai, China
Oct. 30, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:

Christmas is coming before long when people feel as much like children as they ever do, and think as much about them, so let me tell you a bit about my kiddy "Chinks" and my work among them.

Soon after coming to China I went with a missionary to see an idol temple. The missionary preached to the Buddhist priests. They didn't seem impressed with the message. The missionary said to me, "There is not much hope for these old priests. They are confirmed idol-worshippers." I was surprised at his remark, feeling God's Holy Spirit could convert even the hardened priests. Leaving the temple we had to pass through a great gatehouse. In it were four huge idol "gate-keepers," fierce, savage, ugly, with hands up-raised ready to strike any who might displease them. They did strike terror into a little child whose mother was bringing it into the temple to worship. As we were passing by the little one was screaming with fright; but the mother put the wee one's hands up and made it go through the acts of worship in spite of its terror.

Then I realized why the Chinese were confirmed idolaters. They are taught to worship idols even when babies. And I saw that our hope of winning China was not in preaching to the priests, though that must not be neglected; but was in getting the children. So, as soon as I could talk Chinese and a missionary lady suggested starting a Ragged Sunday School for the street kiddies not far from her home, I was ready to help. She asked the dairyman if we could have it in his shed. He consented, so we began our first Ragged S. S. Crowds of little people came. How they did delight to sing, "Ya-su-ai-ngo" (Jesus Loves Me). Many of that cow-shed Sunday School came to love Jesus and became useful members in the church.

When I came to Shanghai, and went about preaching, children aplenty were on the streets. I remembered that Sunday School and wanted these "yaller" people to have the same joys. I rented a room and started a Sunday school with no pupils! I stood inside and sang, "Jesus Loves Me." Children came to the door. I was glad and said, "Come in." The kiddies ran for home as fast as their legs could carry them! They had heard that foreigners use eyes and hearts of Chinese children to make medicine for Western children. I sang again and big people came to listen. The wee ones took courage and peeped in. I talked of Jesus and His love for little and big people, and gave the kiddies cards, asked them to come again and bring their friends and I would give them all cards. Next Sunday 10 came and the next 20 then 40 and soon my small room was full of "Brownies." They learned to sing and liked to sing and we literally sang the Gospel into their hearts. Now Jesus has lots of little friends in Shanghai. They do not run from me any more; but run to me shouting, "Jesus man coming," and grasping my fingers, lead me to the Sunday School.

I wish you could know my wee Brownies. I am sure you would love them as I do. Every Christmas I try to give them a jolly time, friends at home sending me money for their treat. Christmas is not far away and I am already getting ready for the glad day. No Chinese kiddies will hang up their stockings and no home will have a Christmas tree. Christmas will be cold and bare for millions of kiddies; but I like to bring brightness into the lives of more than 800 of my Brownies. They will delight as much in some foolish little toy as some grown-ups at home do in a motor car. When they receive the gifts their eyes sparkle and they say a sweet "za-zia Noong"—Thank, thank you. It pays in joy of giving and who knows how many little hearts will be opened to God's big gift through these little gifts. (Enclosed Christmas card—pictured filial piety.)

May you all have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
Yours in Christ's glad service,
(Rev.) H. G. C. Hallock

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' FIELD HOCKEY TEAM, 1929

WINCHESTER HOCKEY TEAM HAD FINE SEASON

Despite the fact that the Winchester High School girls' field hockey team lost its polar game for the championship of Greater Boston to Lexington High 1-0, in the snow at Newton, the local girls' season was one which cannot be regarded as anything but highly successful. With a green team, woefully lacking in outstanding performers, Winchester won the championship of the Northern Division of the Interscholastic League turning in a record of 8 victories and 2 defeats.

To start the season, Coach Margaret Centerville was chiefly concerned with the inexperience of her rather plentiful material. Four-letter players were available in Capt. "Pug" Mercer, goal guard; Caroline Nichols, halfback; Muriel Carr, center forward and Barbara Locke, halfback. Of these, the last two were alternating players a year ago, so that even the veterans were a bit short of seasoning.

With such a start the season's record is remarkable and very flattering to Coach Centerville, who got much further with her material than most close followers of the game believed possible. It is hardly fair to compare this year's club with that of last fall. Last year's forward line will seldom be equaled and it is safe to say never surpassed in school girl hockey.

Captain Mercer was the outstanding player on this year's eleven and her selection for "all Boston" honors places her number one among public school "goalies" of the district. "Pug" made a fine captain and her steadiness in the local goal often meant the difference between defeat and victory.

To Muriel Carr, center forward, goes the honor of being the team's high scorer. Muriel's 9 goals topped by two the record of Janet Nichols, speedy little left wing. Marjorie Kendrick, who hustled all year at right inside, and Ruth Wadleigh at left inside tied for third honors with three goals each. Teaming with the above on the forward line was Marjorie Brown, right wing.

Leading the team's defense were Caroline Nichols, captain-elect for 1930, and Mary Cutter, whose hockey "W" this fall places her in the charmed circle of Winchester girls in the three-letter class.

Halfbacks with Caroline were Mabel Tompkins, Loretta Carleton and Barbara Locke. Barbara Shaw teamed with Mary at left fullback. The team was managed by Marjorie Hayden.

The season's record follows:

Winchester	2	Wellesley	1
Winchester	2	Arlington	1
Winchester	1	Malden	0
Winchester	1	Stoughton	0
Winchester	1	Brookline	0
Winchester	0	Waltham	0
Winchester	3	Scituate	2
Winchester	1	Melrose	2

REPRESENTATIVE DALLINGER HAS NEW VETERANS' BILLS

Washington, Dec.—Two bills of vital importance to veterans over the United States were recently introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman F. W. Dallinger, of Massachusetts. Both measures provide for the decentralization of the bureau transferring much of the work to the regional offices throughout the country.

The first measure provided, as an amendment to the World War Veterans' Act of 1924, "so as to transfer from the central office of the United States Veterans Bureau to the regional offices thereof, subject to final action of the director in case of an appeal, adjudication, and settlement of claims arising from the death of veterans, the payment of government life insurance and the collection of premiums."

The second measure provides for the transfer of all claims from the central office to the regional office.

Commenting on the two bills which were referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, Congressman Dallinger stated that under the new provisions veterans would be able to get better treatment in view of the fact that in most cases they or their dependants could deal directly with the members of the regional offices who would have authority to settle the claims.

Compass Variation Puzzles

The coast and geologic survey says it is not possible in the present state of knowledge regarding the earth's magnetism to give the reason for the declination of the magnetic needle—that is to say, the angle which its direction makes with the true meridian, or for the variations which this angle undergoes. These changes are facts of observation for which as yet there is no adequate theory.

BOSTON EDISON COMPANY TO OFFER MANY PRIZES FOR BEST DECORATED HOMES

Annual Christmas Decorative Lighting Contest to Run from Dec. 18 to Jan. 1

Registration for Contest Closes Dec. 24

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston has announced that it will conduct again this year its annual decorative lighting contest. Prizes are to be awarded for the homes best decorated with light in each community of suburban Boston, as well as a grand prize to be awarded to the one of these local winners who is judged to have the best decorated home of all.

This contest is run each year to arouse interest in suitable Christmas decorations. Among the many types of decorations available, that which depends upon colored lights is often the most beautiful and the most appropriate, for it is based on the old Christmas legend of placing a light in the window to illuminate the way of the Christ Child on Christmas Eve.

Those who judge the contest this year will consider, in passing on the relative merits of different homes, the artistic effects which are thus created. The contest is not one for guady effect but for really artistic expression of the Christmas spirit.

The board of judges of the contest will consist of a representative of a local newspaper in each community, a representative of the Metropolitan Electrical League and an independent lighting specialist. Absolute impartiality from the point of view of both local interest and the interest of the company awarding the prizes is thus assured.

The contest rules are:

1. Any person wishing to enter his home in the Christmas Decorative Lighting Contest shall send in a registration card, properly filled in and signed.
2. Each entry shall be submitted in the name of an individual who is a customer of record of the Edison Company, and who either owns or occupies the house which is entered.
3. A first prize will be awarded to the best decorated home in each community.
4. A second prize will be awarded, in communities having ten or more entries, to the second best decorated home.
5. A grand prize will be awarded to the contestant having the best decorated home among all the first prize winners.
6. The judges shall have their decision on Originality, Artistic Effect, and Expression of the Christmas Spirit.
7. Edison Company employees shall not be eligible to participate in the contest.

The prizes are:

- First Community Prize: A merchandise certificate for $200.
- Second Community Prize: A merchandise certificate for $100.

These certificates can be exchanged at any office of the Edison Company, for any electrical appliance, which does not exceed in cost the value of the certificate.

Among the appliances which can be chosen are:

- Electric Refrigerator
- Electric Vacuum Cleaner
- Electric Bridge or Table Lamp
- Electric Clock
- Electric Floor Polisher
- Electric Linen Saver

A combination of small appliances.

The value of the certificate may be applied towards the purchase of any electrical appliance.

Grand Prize

The winner of the Grand Prize will be awarded a merchandise certificate for $200. This certificate may be exchanged for either a variety of small electrical appliances, or for any one of the following appliances, provided the model chosen does not exceed $200 in value:

- Electric Range
- Electric Refrigerator
- Electric Chimney Clock
- Kitchen Aid
- Electric Dishwasher

The registration as required in the contest rules must be in the offices of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company by 5 o'clock on Christmas Eve, Dec. 24.

WORLD'S CHAMPION SKATER TO ATTEND PLAY TRANSLATED BY WINCHESTER WOMAN

As an added feature of this Saturday's presentation of Lorence M. Woodside's translation of Sverre Brandt's play "Sonya's Search for the Christmas Star," running in New York under the auspices of the Junior League Players, it has been announced that Miss Sonja Henie, world's champion skater of Oslo, Norway, will be present as the Players' guest.

Major Arneson, editor of the Nordische Tidende, Norwegian newspaper published in Brooklyn, is sponsoring the visit of his internationally known countrywoman, and it is a happy coincidence that the fourth presentation of Mrs. Woodside's translation of Brandt's play will take place upon the day following Sonja's arrival in New York.

The play has been successfully given in Oslo, Miss Henie's home, and it seems possible that no welcome New York could extend would be more pleasing to the Norwegian girl than the Players' invitation to spend her first morning with the quaint characters created by one of her own compatriots.

"Sonya's Search for the Christmas Star" was presented for the first time in America last Friday afternoon, with performances Saturday and today. The fourth performance will, as stated above, be given tomorrow morning.

In Praise of October

From the health viewpoint, October is the best month of the year. People get up in the morning full of energy and work with joy and vigor. Headaches, colds, and other minor complaints, as well as serious illnesses, are fewer than at other times and the total number of deaths is also usually less.—New York Herald Tribune.

Whale Not a Fish

One of the commonest popular errors of zoology is the notion that the whale is some sort of fish. It is not; it is a mammal which went to sea. The whale is warm-blooded, has a well-developed brain, and in all other respects shows a far higher organization than any of the fishes. Its young are born alive, and are suckled and cared for by the mother as with land mammals.

DAUGHTER BORN TO INDIA MISSIONARIES

Cabled word reaches the rooms of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions that on Dec. 8 a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. G. Ross Thomas of Sholapur, India. Mrs. Thomas was Margaret Clara Owen, daughter of Rev. George W. Owen, pastor of the Hyde Park Congregational Church and a member of the Prudential Committee of the American Board, under which the Thomases enlisted last year. The baby is named Lorna Jean Thomas.

Mrs. Thomas was born in Lynn and is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College. For the two years prior to her marriage, she was assistant Psychologist at Perkins Institution for the Blind. Mr. Thomas is a Philadelphia man, Wesleyan University 1924, and Harvard College of Business Administration, 1926. Prior to his becoming

Treasurer of the Marathi Mission of the American Board in India, he was engaged in insurance work.

The Thomases are supported by the First Congregational Church of this town, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor, as well as the Hyde Park Congregational Church.

When the Thomases were married prior to their sailing, the ceremony was unique in that two clergymen, fathers of the bride and bridegroom, officiated. Mr. Thomas' father is a Methodist Episcopal pastor in Oxford, Penn.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL, BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

We are hearing praise for our attractive caption. Well, this is what brought it about. Someone asked a clever artist for some sort of a picture or drawing to top this weekly "News Reel," and this very fine silhouette of a "clean cut" Boy Scout was the result. Of course we were obliged to ask this artist what his charge would be; and what did he say? "No charge at all. I am very glad to do this for the Scouts. Of course, for anyone else it might be different." Now, do we owe this "good Scout" a vote of thanks?

Troop 6, Unitarian Parish House. Attention! Scouts of Troop 6. Watch this column for news from the Troop(s). Fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers, fellow citizens; watch this column for news from the Troop(s). Why not if you please, a few words from Troops 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5? Why is a "Scribe" but to write? Send your items to Mr. Donald R. Waugh, 15 Governors avenue and he will do the rest.

The boys of Troop 6 thought we weren't having enough rain of late so they decided to give Scoutmaster Nickerson another "shower," but it was a post card, all wishing him a happy Christmas.

We started off Christmas Eve with some snappy games that sure took out the kinks. Then followed instruction from the Scout Manual, and enough drilling to make the Troop "hot under the collar." But why worry? When we returned from the drill hall to our headquarters room we found that Santa had been there ahead of us. Yes, ice cream and "fixins" all mysteriously spread on a table for our refreshment!

Next meeting, Tuesday, New Year's Eve. Scouts. Here is your chance to start the New Year right. Come, one and all.

MISS GERTRUDE FELBER ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Felber of 1 Bacon street announce the engagement of their daughter, Gertrude, to Dr. Frank Stafford Jones of Hartford, Conn.

A tea, in honor of the engagement was given last Saturday at the home of Miss Felber's sister, Mrs. Stanley Burnham Weld of Hartford.

Miss Felber is a graduate of the Winchester High School and of the Garland School of Boston. She is now teaching violin at the Hartford School of Music.

Doctor Jones is a graduate of Trinity College, class of 1924 and of Yale Medical School, class of 1928. He is a member of the Delta Phi fraternity and the Alpha Kappa Kappa medical fraternity. After May 1, he will be associated with Dr. John Sweet of Hartford. No date has been set for the wedding.

ENTERTAINED CLUB FOR CHRISTMAS

Mrs. R. V. Pettengill was hostess last week for the annual Christmas party of the J. F. C. Club. Twelve members of the club, with their husbands, attended and thoroughly enjoyed an informal program of bridge, followed by a social hour and the exchange of presents. The house decorations were all suggestive of the Yuletide and an air of Christmas jollity was evidenced throughout the entire evening which was concluded with the serving of dainty refreshments.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commissioner has issued permits for week ending Thursday, Dec. 26 as follows:

VESPER SERVICE AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday afternoon, Jan. 5 there will be a Vesper Service at the First Baptist Church. A string quartet consisting of Carlos E. Pinfield, 1st violin; Robert A. Gundersen, 2nd violin; C. Furel, viola and J. Langendoen, cello, all members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will play.

Mrs. Pinfield will assist at the organ. The public is invited to this service.

Angelo Ghirardini, star football player at Worcester Academy this fall is at home for the Christmas vacation.

GIRL SCOUTS

The last two classes of the Girl Scout leaders course being given by Miss Edith Simmet, Metropolitan District Director, will be held Friday Jan. 3 and Jan. 10 at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Winchester. We hope the entire class will be present promptly at 10.

The folk dancing class for second class Scouts who have not already passed their dancers badge will begin Jan. 2 at 4 o'clock in the Wyman School assembly hall. Miss Priscilla Sawyer of Woburn, teacher.

The Winchester Council will be hostess to eight Councils of the Metropolitan District Jan. 31 in Fort-nighly Hall, meeting for an all day conference. This is one of several meetings being held throughout the district and planned by the Executives of the Metropolitan District.

How many Winchester residents realize Winchester boasts the only mounted Girl Scout troop east of the Mississippi? With Miss Eugenia Parker captain and six instructors 25 Winchester Girl Scouts leave Glen-wild for a cantor through Middlesex Fells Reservation every Saturday morning. On alternate Friday evenings the girls meet with Mr. Pratt for tack room instruction where they learn to saddle, bridle and care for a horse. This work will be credited toward horsemanship badges. Progress has been so rapid since the inauguration of the troop in October that the group will have attained a proficiency which will enable it to ride in the holiday parades in Winchester next spring.

The Girl Scouts of Troop 5 gave a Christmas play for the people of the Home for the Aged on Dec. 24 called "Santa and His Son." The cast was as follows:

Santa Claus June Pettengill
Mrs. Santa Patricia Crousewell
Santa Claus, Jr. Betty Diesel
Children Marion Dean, Dorothy Thompson, Patricia, Esther Loftus, Evelyn Corey, Ting-a-Ling Claire Cullen

After the presentation of the play the Scouts were assigned to one person each to take care of. Gifts were given out and then the girls assisted in helping the people take the presents to their rooms.

JANUARY MEETING AND DINNER ON THE 6TH

The regular January meeting and dinner of the Epiphany Men's Club will be held on Monday, Jan. 6 at the Parish House. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock sharp.

Dr. George H. Bigelow, Commissioner of Public Health of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will be the guest and speaker of the evening, and a very entertaining meeting is anticipated.

Guests are welcome at this affair, and in order that the ladies in charge of the supper may make proper and adequate serving plans, the members are requested to telephone not later than Jan. 5 to Miss Dinmore, the Parish Secretary, Win. 1922, and make reservations.

An illustrated lecture entitled, "A Naturalist in the Canadian Rockies" is to be given by Mr. Dan McGowan at the February meeting of the Club scheduled for Monday the 3rd.

WYMAN MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The assembly hall of the Wyman School was filled on Friday evening, Dec. 20, by an enthusiastic group of fathers and mothers attending the first annual Fathers' Night. The president, Mrs. Howard A. Morrison opened the meeting, calling upon Mr. Quinn to greet the parents which he did most cordially, after which the play, "Santa's Helper" was given by the pupils of the school. The teachers and pupils deserve great credit for the successful presentation of this charming play exemplifying the real spirit of Christmas.

After the program the opportunity was given to meet the teachers, who so willingly returned for the evening and inspect the building with boys from the sixth grades acting as guides.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Ruth Edna Chamberlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Chamberlin of 34 Wildwood street to Charles Jackson Draper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Draper of 350 Highland avenue. The ceremony is to take place at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 4, in the Unitarian Church and is to be followed by a reception at the Winchester Country Club.

The Star Wishes Everyone A Happy New Year

CHRISTMAS LIGHTING IN WINCHESTER

Winchester has again this year decorated many of its residences and places of business with electric lighting effects which, though perhaps not so lavish as those of 1928, are nevertheless well worth a trip about town to see.

The STAR believes that nowhere in Greater Boston will there be a more unique or cleverly worked out lighting scheme than that conceived and executed by Charles E. Young at his home, 49 Wedgemere avenue. De-livered in the usual Mr. Young has placed above his porch roof a large blue background to represent a sky. In the foreground Santa Claus is caught in the act of descending a chimney. Shimmering against the blue background are large and small gold and silver stars, the whole surmounted by a handsome large star, apparent at some considerable distance.

Notable among the other displays are those of Louis Parkhurst, Oak Knoll; A. E. Adams, 12 Chesterford road; Harold Senebaugh, of 940 Main street; Victor Anderson, 404 Highland avenue; St. Mary's Parochial School, New England Laundries and the Unitarian Church. The community tree is again lighted on the Common and surrounded with long strings of lights.

It is of course impossible to secure the names of all those who have brightened their homes with lights for the holidays and to those omitted from our list we offer our apologies and the suggestion that they send in their names to the STAR another year.

Among those having decorated trees or other displays are:

REV. N. J. MERRITT HONORED BY ST. MARY'S ALUMNAE

Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, for many years pastor of St. Mary's parish, was guest of honor at a reception tendered him by St. Mary's Alumnae last Friday evening in the parochial school hall. The occasion marked the 45th anniversary of Father Merritt's ordination to the priesthood.

After Father Merritt had been ushered to his place at the head of the hall Miss Margaret M. Mawn, clothed as an angel, approached him and presented a hand-painted spiritual bouquet. Miss Loretta Donnelly, president of the alumnae presented him with a purse of gold. Father Merritt responded briefly and thanked the alumnae for their gifts. Appropriate addresses were made by Miss Alice Bennett, Miss Rose Politano and Miss Eva Vollinger.

Violin solos were played by Miss Philomena Marrone, accompanied by her sister, Miss Antoinette Marrone. Miss Margaret Mawn sang several solos, accompanied by Miss Philomena Marrone, and mandolin selections were played by Miss Antoinette Marrone, accompanied by Miss Loretta Donnelly. The Misses Alice Bennett, Elizabeth DeCoursey, Helen Carroll and Anna Foley sang several numbers in quartet arrangement.

A feature of the evening was the one-act play, "The Golden Legend," in which the cast comprised the Misses Loretta Donnelly, Frances Kean, Anna Foley, Gertrude O'Connell, Elizabeth DeCoursey, Margaret Mawn and Esther O'Melia. A luncheon was served, following the entertainment and general dancing brought the reception to a close.

CHANGE OF DATE

Owing to a conflicting date which involves many subscribers to the Thursday evening Musicales of the Ladies' Friendly Society, the musicals arranged for Jan. 2 will take place the following evening, Friday, Jan. 3. Mrs. Theodore Godwin, 6 Mystic Valley Parkway, will be the hostess. The program will be a pianoforte recital by George Smith, thorough musician and artist, whose performance promises to be one of great charm.

A CHRISTMAS VISIT TO THE U. S. GOVERNMENT HOSPITAL IN BEDFORD

When the members of the Disabled War Veterans Welfare Group made their weekly visit to the hospital in Bedford last Friday they were laden with surprises and goodies for the boys. Many friends who know of the much appreciated work which these ladies are doing, generously contributed fruit, candy, nuts, smokes as well as wearing apparel. It took several automobiles to carry all of the good things. The children at the Mystic School had given a huge basket of fruit. Two bunches of bananas were given by our friends and several pounds of candy by another. The Christmas gifts had been carefully selected by several ladies of the Group who know of the special needs of each boy, so that every shirt as well as every pair of socks or gloves fitted the recipient perfectly. There were also packages especially chosen for those who have no families for those who have left the hospital and are being cared for in homes. One poor lad, who lives in bed all of the time, needing no clothing, smokes or good things to eat was given a beautiful poinsettia plant and an interesting book which he could send to his 11-year old son.

The Winchester Trio accompanied the Group, spreading good cheer and the Christmas spirit all about the wards, the boys joining in the singing when ever they were able.

HYNES-WALDO

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Elliott Waldo of Winchester and Omaha, Neb., to William Joseph Hynes, Jr., of Omaha took place Monday afternoon, Dec. 23, at 4:30 o'clock in the rectory of St. Mary's Church. The Pastor, Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends of the bride. The couple were unattended.

Miss Waldo wore a wedding gown of eggshell satin, trimmed with old point lace, and a veil which for several generations has been in the Hynes family. Her flowers were callies. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a diamond and sapphire bar pin and a bracelet combining the same stones.

A reception was held, following the ceremony, at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Treffe A. Moross, 216 Highland avenue. Mrs. Harris A. Peterson and Mrs. Burtin L. Gale assisted in receiving and the bride was attended by six choirboys from the Church of the Epiphany; Graham Peterson Roswell Boutwell, Paul Boutillier, Dudley Bragdon, Richard Leghorn and Fred Moran. Smilax, syringa, huge poinsettias and roses made unusually beautiful house decorations. Golden chrysanthemums and talisman roses were effectively arranged in the dining room. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Hynes of Omaha, Neb., parents of the bridegroom and Mrs. Edith Young, also of Omaha and the bridegroom's grandmother.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gentry Waldo of Omaha, Neb., and has been making her home with her aunt in Winchester while attending the Walnut Hill School.

Mr. Hynes is a graduate of Yale, class of 1926, and is a practicing attorney in Omaha where he will make his home with his bride upon their return from a wedding journey to New York and Palm Beach, Fla.

CALUMET NOTES

What proved to be the largest and most successful dinner bridge of the season was held at the Calumet Club last Friday night. Dinner was served at 6:30 under direction of a committee headed by Mrs. Vernon Hall and including Mrs. R. E. Lincoln, Mrs. Glen Browning and Mrs. Harold P. Bostwick. The prize winners included Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Boothby, Mrs. Franklin Lane, Mr. Arthur Kelley, Mr. W. A. Maynard and Mr. Edward Merrill.

On Saturday evening, Dec. 21, 65 members sat down to a delicious chicken pie dinner, served in the billiard room. After a short business meeting adjournment was made to the club hall, where the assembly was treated to a series of motion picture reels by Mr. J. R. Cove, "Climbing Mt. Kat-tardin," "The 40-Mile Canoe Trip on the Moose River from Jackson" and "Canoeing on the West Branch of the Penobscot" proved subjects which provided thrills and interest right up to the last view.

Always successful, this season's New Year's party at the Calumet Club bids fair to outclass and dim the memory of all past parties. Messrs. Edward Merrill, Charles Dean and Arthur Towne, with an augmented entertainment committee, have engaged the "Country Club Orchestra" of six pieces, assuring unsurpassed music. Arrangements have been made to decorate the hall after a Cabaret dance hall and special lighting effects will be used. A collation will be served during the evening. Dancing will be enjoyed from 9 to 1 and there will be a program of cabaret features as special entertainment.

During January the Club will hold many events of interest and social affairs are scheduled to follow each other in rapid succession. On the 4th there is to be a smoker and entertainment for the men and on the afternoon of the 18th another bowling party is announced for the ladies. A following smoker is to be held on the evening of the 18th. Mrs. Forest Pitman will be in charge of an afternoon bridge for the ladies which is to be held on the 21st and on the 24th there is to be a family entertainment with movies. Another afternoon bowling party for the ladies will take place on the 28th and one of the popular dinner bridge parties is to be held Jan. 31.

MR. PARKHURST IS INTERESTED

To the Editor of the Star:

After reading very carefully in your issue of Dec. 20 a four column article whose sole purpose seemed to be to prove that I have made inaccurate and misleading statements in an earlier issue of your paper, I can only say in reply that if I were to re-write the article which suggested this somewhat lengthy tirade by two of my young fellow townsmen, I would not change it one iota.

I am just now interested in two projects which seem to be of more importance to the citizens of Winchester than to determine whether or not I am a liar.

One of these is the construction of an underpass at the railroad station, which was the topic under discussion in my previous article; the other is the extermination of the mosquito. I hope in each case to have the hearty co-operation of these two young gentlemen who have joined forces in denouncing me.

Very truly yours,
Lewis Parkhurst

CONGREGATIONAL CHILDREN HAD CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Sunday School Christmas party for the children of the primary department of the First Congregational Church was held last Saturday afternoon in the church parish house.

The party began with a series of games in which the various groups participated. Concluding the games, the children marched about the hall, singing Christmas carols before gathering around the fireplace, near which a richly decorated Christmas tree had been erected. After a violin solo had been played by Mrs. Ervin Drake and a Christmas story told by the Pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, refreshments were served.

Then Santa Claus appeared, just in time to prevent the little folks from bursting with expectancy. In jovial mood, St. Nicholas distributed to each child a gift from the wide branches of the Christmas tree and made his departure amidst shouts and cheers, not unmingled with specific orders for presents to be snugly tucked into individual stockings on Christmas Eve.

ANNUAL MASONIC NEW YEAR'S PARTY WEDNESDAY

The annual Masonic New Year's Party, sponsored by William Parkman and Mystic Valley Lodges and Winchester Royal Arch Chapter, is to be held on Wednesday, Jan. 1, in the Masonic Apartments from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m.

While it is expected that the program will follow that of other years, the committee announces that the affair will be entirely worth while and urges all Masons to attend with their Masonic friends. There will be an entertainment and refreshments.

Coach Charles A. "Chucker" Roche had his Woburn High School hockey team tuning up yesterday on Black Ball. A good sized crowd watched the boys go through their paces.

MAIL SACK FELL UNDER TRAIN

If you didn't get some of the cards you were expecting this Christmas, don't blame those who you thought would send them until you're sure of the omission, and don't subject the force at the local postoffice to censure until sure of your ground. Neither may be to blame.

For last Friday about noon a sack of Winchester mail, in being tossed from a north-bound train at the usual point near the beginning of the Woburn loop, fell under the wheels of one of the cars and was rather thoroughly distributed about the landscape between here and East Billerica. Pieces of mail have been picked up all along the route between Winchester and the previously named point. Some of it went into Black B's.

Just how the accident occurred isn't known. Postmaster George W. Lochman believes a new man, unused to tossing off the sack, may have thrown it too soon; or it may have fallen from the door without being thrown. In any event, the sack struck the signal wires along side the tracks and was hurled back under the wheels of the train.

Postmaster Lochman stated that by far the greater part of the mail was recovered and delivered. That which went into the pond was fished out. But of course, some of it was destroyed beyond redemption. And that card you were expecting from Cousin Billy or Aunt Sue may have fallen in the last named category. The postal authorities are sorry, but they can't deliver what's left of a card or letter if the portion they happen to have doesn't include the address.

They have delivered, so far as they could tell, the heaviest mail ever, this season. From Monday, Dec. 16, to Monday, Dec. 23, 145,000 letters and cards went through the local office and of course the end was then by no means in sight. Extra carriers and parcel post men were on the jump and the package mail was gotten rid of daily with the aid of the big army truck. Christmas was a busy time at the Winchester Postoffice this year.

LEGIONAIRES HELD ANNUAL FOOTBALL NIGHT

"Special Delivery" Marsters Among Guests—Big Crowd Out

A capacity crowd attended the annual "Football Night" of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion, held last Friday evening in the Post Headquarters. The occasion marked the regular December meeting of the Post and also the meeting of Middlesex District, No. 3. District Commander W. Allan Wilde presided over the latter meeting and Commander Richard Parkhurst, over the Post convocation. During the Legion meeting it was announced that Winchester is in line for the National Commander's membership citation, awarded those posts which are successful in re-enrolling their 1929 membership for 1930 before Dec. 31. The local membership committee is hard at work and is receiving fine co-operation from Legionnaires generally in the attempt to carry its objective.

Winchester Post was honored at its district meeting by the presence of State Vice Commander Norman Singer of Wakefield. County Commander William P. Barry of Arlington Post, 39; and Daniel J. Doherty, Commander of George A. Campbell Post, 101, of Woburn.

Chief among the football luminaries present was Alton K. "Special Delivery" Marsters of Arlington, Dartmouth's all-American halfback, whose serious injury in the Dartmouth-Yale game was one of the tragedies of the gridiron season just past. Accompanying Marsters was "Bob" McPhail, captain and quarterback of last year's Dartmouth varsity. "Joe" Pendleton of Winchester, known as the Dean of college officials; and Winchester's "Bob" Guild, ex-Crimson player and coach, now numbered among the knights of the horn and white knickers. "Dick" O'Connell, crack Harvard end, was prevented by a last minute shift of plans from attending. The Winchester High School letter football players of the past season with their coach, Wendell D. Mansfield, assistant coach, Dana Kelley and Principal Wade L. Grindle, were special guests of the Post. The addresses of both Marsters and McPhail were of much interest. Both discussed the new rules recently written into football and McPhail felt that many of the new regulations had tended to remove much of the element of chance which in the past had made the game so fascinating. Marsters on the other hand thought that football is constantly improving, especially with respect to the feeling which now exists between opposing players and coaches of rival teams. Both boys were able to give many interesting football anecdotes from their experience with the game in prep school and college.

"Joe" Pendleton and "Bob" Guild, the Legion dependables, were as interesting as ever. The former's long association with football permits him to reminisce without repeating himself and his fund of amusing incidents last Friday was not the "old acquaintances" so much in use among after dinner football speakers. "Bob" Guild also had many good stories to tell and striking a more serious note, spoke upon the heavy schedules attempted by some of the so-called smaller colleges. He felt that there is real danger in permitting smaller colleges, lacking in man power, to act as stepping stones for the larger institutions in the latter's preparation for objective games.

At the conclusion of the speaking a real clam chowder was served by the Legion House Committee under the direction of Vice Commander Clifford Towner.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NOTES

The nurses at the Winchester Hospital held their Christmas party on Friday evening, Dec. 20 at the Nurses' home. Promptly at 8 o'clock everyone assembled in the living room for the singing of carols. There at one end of the room stood their Christmas tree, gay with lights and ornaments and heavily laden with many mysterious packages, candy bags and colored boxes of candy.

The audience of about 60 people was much entertained at two dialogues presented by the nurses. The sketch, a probationer's first day on duty was given by Miss Margaret deGruchy and Miss Anna Hannon and told many details of the life and worries of a young student nurse just entering training.

A story of Christmas Eve, as the good little children waited for Santa Claus, was told by Miss Jeanette Pleau, Miss Louise Woodworth, Miss Helen Spencer, Miss Clara Martin and Miss Dorothy Sherburne.

The arrival of Santa Claus, himself, was announced with a great ringing of bells. So arduous were Santa's duties that even with the assistance of Miss Louise Dempsey and Miss Ann Hodgkins, it was over an hour before the tree was stripped of its bundles. Many presents had verses attached which Santa read, and then helped the recipient undo her bundle before the audience. As the contents of many packages were most appropriate and filled some long felt, though unknown, want, much merriment followed.

The boxes of candy on the tree were made by the sixth grade of the Washington School and filled with candy by all six grades of that school. A delegation from the Junior Red Cross went over from the school to the Nurses' home before the party and hung the boxes on the tree themselves. The candy bags were made by the ladies at the Home for Aged People in Winchester and were filled with candy and popcorn contributed by friends to the nurses.

Most cordial appreciation and Christmas wishes were given by the Training School to Mr. Harold S. Fuller, president of the hospital, to Dr. Clarence E. Ordway, chief of the medical staff and to Miss Hilda M. Torrop, the superintendent. Refreshments and dancing followed the festivities about the Christmas tree.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Raymond Havens, who ranks as one of America's greatest pianists, and who has frequently appeared as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will be the attraction at the next regular meeting of the club, Monday, Dec. 30 at 2:30. A large attendance is expected, as so many of our members have heard and enjoyed
Mr. Havens' performances.

Henry Harrison, poet, publisher, critic and lecturer, well known by reason of his connection with "The Greenwich Village Quill," "Poetry World" and the "Grub Street Club," was the guest speaker at the meeting in Fortnightly Hall, on Thursday,
Dec. 19, under the auspices of Marion Perham Gale, who serves with Mr.
Harrison on the "Poetry World" in an editorial capacity. Mr. Harrison is a magnetic, forceful speaker, who has evidently made an intensive study of man, with himself as the principal subject, and typifies in his verse the aspirations, limitations and reactions of his kind. His voice lends itself admirably to the need of the moment;
in "Monotones" he was fine, in "Epi-taphs" quaintly humorous, in others grave or gay as the occasion demanded. The speaker divided his talk into two sections: the first section dealing with his knowledge of prominent writers, and it is safe to say that in this most informal discussion of his fellows in the field of poetry, one got intimate glimpses of his subjects, Joseph Auslander, Carl Sandberg, Amy Lowell, Maxwell Bodenheim, and others, which could not otherwise be obtained. One came to the inevitable conclusion that artistic, imaginative, cultured and talented though our versifiers may be, with that fine sensibility which is the attribute of the poet and writer, they are in a very real sense, human, with the faults and foibles incidental to mankind everywhere. In his second section "Myself Limited," the speaker revealed himself, his background, his outlook of life, his moods, his cynicism, his reactions, even his inhibitions. He writes in a distinctively informal vein, reaching the height of poetic imagery and sounding the depths of human emotionalism, and his reading of his verse carries to one the full meaning of the writer. He read "The Old Man" with just the right vocal pathos, in "The Girl from Iowa" he struck a depressive note, and in "Fable for Foxes" an expressive lilt that was delightful.

Mr. Harrison shows the modern trend in his writing; he raises the commonplace to the ideal, seeing in the everyday happenings topics worth while. The setting for Mr. Harrison's appearance was an exceptional one.
As piano soloist, Mrs. M. H.
Gulesian (Grace Warner) pianist and composer, who needs no introduction to a group of Massachusetts club-women; as vocal soloist, Miss Mae Taylor, lyric soprano, who won the radio prize for the State of Massachusetts; and Helen Willard Howard, dramatist, anyone of whom would be a program attraction. Mrs. Gulesian needs no commendation; she was as always delightful—one just yielded to the enjoyment of the moment, rest-fully conscious that Heaven's harmony and peace were very near, and one came back to earth with regret.
Mrs. Gulesian as usual, graciously responded to an encore, which was equally enjoyable. Miss Taylor sang two groups of songs:

Oh, Quand Je Dors Liest
Tues Petiti Tirandelli
Le Papillone Foudrian

Second Group
If You Pass Through My Garden Kuntz
A Little Night Lullaby Hamilton
Green Branches Winter Watts

Miss Taylor responding to an encore with "When I was Seventeen," has an appealing personality, has the gift of a wonderful voice which she uses to good advantage, is on the threshold of her career, and will doubtless be heard from later. Her appearance was a real acquisition to the program. Helen Willard Howard read her one act play, "The Chaper-on," to an appreciative audience who were in full accord with her throughout.

The club is to be congratulated on having the opportunity of hearing this group of artists, each one of whom is outstanding in the special field of activity to which they are devoted, and the fact that their appearance was complimentary to the club adds to the obligation. An afternoon which will be long remembered. Tea was served by a committee in charge of Mrs. Irene D. Clarke and the members had an exceptional chance to meet the guest artists. Mrs. Christine E. Hayden, president of the club and Mrs. Ada von Rosenvinge presided at the tea table.

Community Singing

Seldom has community singing had a more reasonable or beautiful setting than that of Tuesday evening. The trees, their branches coated with ice, gave the impression of a veritable Arctic scene, lighted by fairy candles, the lights causing the branches to glisten and glitter like trees in a fairy forest. Wintry and cold was the air, but hearts were warm, and voices sweet and clear. And as townsfolk gathered around the big community Christmas tree, wishing each other the complements of the season, the scene was cheery in the extreme. And as the oldtime carols and Christmas hymns rose on the air, one was carried back to days of childhood and to gatherings of dear, familiar faces, some now far away. Heartily they sang, those carol singers, spreading the gospel of peace and goodwill to men, and bringing the Babe of the Manger very near; telling the story of the Shepherd's midnight watch, of the pilgrimage of the wise men, and giving "Joy to the World," as the birth of that infant Savior was intended to. A lovely setting, and an ideal atmosphere for the singers; a tree illuminated by modern lighting but with all the oldtime thrill; a com-

A TITAN SPEAKS

To the Editor of the Star:

I desire to grasp this opportunity to most heartily thank you for your sense of fairness in opening the columns of the STAR for the various discussions that arise from time to time pertaining to the welfare of Winchester, my native town. I wish also to most heartily thank the chairman of the Board of Selectmen, the brilliant attorney and the ex-chairman, the skillful physician who graduated from that famous college that produced the most famous orator and one of the greatest statesmen in American history. I assure you Mr.
Editor, that I appreciate the honor that was conferred on me—namely,
"one of the Titans" as for the sanitary inspector, we will push him one side because he is a small frog in a big puddle. But then he knows how to swim.

Now let us ascertain who the busy plumber of the Aberjona is. He is a former chairman of the Board of Selectmen who sports a vandyke beard.
He is the man who gave his time and money to assist the boys from Winchester who participated in the war that was to decide whether democracy shall perish from the earth.
Thank providence democracy still remains with us.

Now let us ascertain who the honored gentleman is that does not agree with the honorable Board of Selectmen in regard to the abolition of the grade crossing. He is one of the men who made it possible that we might have a hospital, a high school, beautiful bridges and last but not least, Manchester Field. No man or men worked more efficiently than he and the late Forest C. Manchester, a brilliant attorney who labored so hard to develop Winchester into one of the most beautiful residential suburbs in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
The Athens of America, the home of the late ex-Governor Samuel W. McCall, the late Samuel J. Elder, ex-Mayor
Frederick Price of Boston, General Corse, ex-Postmaster of Boston, United States Senator Edward Everett, Admiral Thatcher and Captain Spicer of the United States Navy, Judge Tyler, Judge Folsom and last, but not least, the kindly Doctor Winsor who served with distinction in the Civil War with my father and served with Grant in the wilderness; Sherman when he marched to the sea and the Sheridan when he rode to Winchester.

Now Mr. Editor, I desire to inquire how much money it has cost the taxpayers since the abolition of the grade crossing was in its infancy, or in other words how much money have the various Selectmen and committees spent trying to solve the problem in the elimination of the grade crossing.
I do not desire to take up too much space in your paper, hence I am unable at this time to delve into the fundamental points that are involved in this tremendous problem. In the meantime I believe it would be an excellent opportunity for our kinder-garden children to solve the problem of whether the Kellaway Plan, the Town Plan or the Vinal Plan will be the final plan.

I have no way of ascertaining at the present time which plan will be adopted, but oh boy I trust it will be discussed on the floor of the Town Hall and then we will listen to the Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale orators, and last but not least, the sanitary inspector and his nibs the busy plumber. And remember, plumbers have been famous for discovering leaks since the days of Plato and Julius Caesar.

In conclusion, let us remember that we are a homogeneous group here in Winchester. We must forget our animosities and co-operate and compromise and solve this difficult problem in order that future generations will be able to ascertain that we, the taxpayers of Winchester, certainly knew our onions, although the odor at times is rather offensive to the senses and has a tendency to draw tears from our eyes. And remember—never hit a cripple with his own crutch. He may be down, but as the kind hearted Salvation Army lassies assert, he is never out. We know what they accomplished on Flanders Field. More power to them.

I wish you Mr. Editor, your subscribers, correspondents and numerous readers, a Happy and Prosperous
New Year, and may your bright morning star that has always been illuminating, shine more brightly in the future.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

Lieut. Fogg was the pilot for the

FOR A LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The STAR printed last week a letter from Mr. Joseph W. Worthen, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, relative to our grade crossing abolition. In courtesy to Mr. Worthen and with a desire to insure him a fair and unbiased hearing, the STAR refrained from comment at that time.

However, as Mr. Worthen's impression on various phases discussed was so at variance with that of the STAR, and as the STAR, in its published reports of grade crossing proceedings seems under fire, it would appear that a word may be written in argument.

That the STAR extends to Mr.
Worthen similar felicitations to those contained in his own preface may be taken for granted. The same and many others are its wish. Mr.
Worthen's standing in the community and his untiring efforts on behalf of the welfare of Winchester are too well known to be belittled however, and different views and impressions are not to be taken as personalities or emitties. Full credit is accorded herewith, not only to Mr. Worthen, but to Mr. Lewis Parkhurst as well, for their zealous desire to serve the best interests of our Town.

The STAR has no desire to go into dates and detailed figures, and much less to enter into a controversy regarding the engineering merits of any celebrated firms. While possibly not as familiar with our grade crossing problem, as Mr. Duteh, our former Town Counsel, it has lived in Winchester many years, and through its associations may be pardoned if it lays claim to some familiarity with the hundred and one schemes for this abolition.

The Kellaway Plan, upon its first appearance, impressed the STAR as the best solution of the problem ever presented that held a possibility of acceptance by all concerned. Likewise its impression is that the first public appearance following its presentation in the Waterways Report was at a waterways hearing in the small town hall. That meeting started to stage an enthusiastic reception for this plan until, much to the STAR's surprise, it was brought up short and settled down to strictly a waterways hearing.

In justice to Mr. Parkhurst the STAR would say that his reference to the Kellaway Plan at that hearing was only casual, and such approbation as it then received was in no way initigated by him. Neither did he seek to prolong the discussion of its merits after objection was voiced.

The next contact with this plan was experienced at a hearing given by the Selectmen to property owners, and it was with the utmost surprise that the STAR learned that the Selectmen not only did not favor the plan, as it had been led to believe, but opposed it above all others. The impression the STAR received was that the Kel-laway Plan was "panned" most decidedly, and the reason thereof has not been explained even to this time.

If it is true that Mr. Kellaway's name was mentioned no less than 35 times in the grade crossing report referred to, and if such mention was in criticism, would it not be pardonable to one uninitiated to see in it more than a reasonable objection or rejection of his plan?

If outside assistance was desired by the Selectmen at their hearings regarding the crossing plans, and it was felt wise to include our former Town Counsel and the firm of engineers they were consulting therein, was it equally wise to omit from these conferences the chairman of the Waterways Committee and the Planning Board?

Truly assistance was needed in arriving at a fair and unbiased decision in this important matter, and yet, if the Engineers included had already headed a similar committee, whose favorable considerations had been previously rejected by the Town, would it not seem to one uninitiated that they might view the situation at this time with past endeavors in mind?

The STAR has hereto failed to find any motive in Mr. Parkhurst's presentation of the Kellaway Plan other than to pass on what seemed to him an attractive solution. He saw the plan, was attracted by it, and offered it for what it was worth. Surely he had no idea of stirring up such a hornets nest as came buzzing about his ears, and the thought that he would deliberately and groundlessly accuse, or inject a false impression into the discussion, is one that no one who knows him personally and few who know him by his associations with public affairs would entertain for a minute.

Now the Kellaway Plan may cost more than any other devised. The STAR has no ability to go into intricate details regarding the cost of feeding horses or hauling gravel three inches farther one way than another, but it has read Mr. Kellaway's figures—published in the STAR for all to see—together with such other data as had been presented to the lay mind, and if it had to pay the bill out of its own pocket there is no question but what it would pick this plan in preference to the Town Plan—no question at all.

Why should our Selectmen assume that Mr. Kellaway had at hand full facts and figures regarding the cost of his plan? No other proponent of any plan went out on his own hook and secured such data. Why, if fair consideration is given to all plans, should this constant criticism be directed against the Kellaway Plan?
The plan may be the worst ever devised, but why are we not shown the better points of all the others rather than be subjected to a general denunciation of this one particular scheme?

Our Town voted the Selectmen a free hand and $15,000 to further the grade crossing abolition, but upon what ground? Why the ground that any plan to be adopted would be one which the Town as a whole favored?
That is why the Editor voted for it.

The STAR does not agree with Mr.
Worthen that the Kellaway Plan has had an unbiased consideration. Its opinion is that it is the one plan which has been held up for condemnation. Why this is so the STAR does not know. It respects very highly the opinions of both Mr. Worthen and

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Joan Crawford is appearing at the University Theatre for four days starting Sunday in "Untamed." This is a new and interesting story of "young America" in the process of adjusting itself. When Joan Crawford falls in love at first sight with Robert Montgomery on a boat enroute up from the jungles of Central America, she sees no good reason why there should be such a bother about their marriage. But there is, and many dramatic things happen before the picture comes to a striking close.
Others in the cast are Ernest Torrence, Don Terry, Gwen Lee, Holmes Herbert and John Miljan.

J. Harold Murray sings the role of Prince Nicholas in "Married in Hollywood" the all talking, all singing Oscar Straus Viennese song romance, and Norma Terris sings the leading feminine role in the picture which is the companion feature. Walter Cat-lett, prominent musical comedy star, is also a member of the cast.

Imagine the embarrassment of a chorus girl who inherits a boys' prep school. That is what happens to Nancy Carroll in the comedy revue extravaganza, "Sweetie" which comes Thursday for three days. Among the high spots are Nancy's dancing and singing of "Sweetie Than Sweet," Helen Kane's baby voiced crooning of
"He's So Unusual" and Jack Oakie plugging a wow novelty number known as "Alma Manny."

Ina Claire, foremost comedienne of the American stage, makes her talking screen debut in "The Awful Truth" the companion feature. Rich in humor, yet based upon a situation that confronts seriously every married man and woman, "The Awful Truth" is a play that will entertain everyone as well as give them something to talk about.

MRS. EMMA C. WEST

Mrs. Emma C. West, well known to many of Winchester's older residents and especially those of the Highlands district, died at her home, 48a Maple street, Malden, on Christmas morning. She was 75 years of age and had suffered from hardening of the arteries for some time.

Mrs. West was the widow of Frank
C. West, son of the late Capt. Thomas F. and Mrs. Charlotte C. West. She made her home for about 10 years on Appalachian road, where she built the first house erected on that thoroughfare. About five years ago she moved to Malden.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Martha Leone Waters and Mrs. Carrie T.
Mack, both of Malden, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Abbie L. Weeks of 28
Crescent road, this town.

The funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon next at the First Baptist Church at 2:30. Rev. Benjamin Patterson Brown, pastor of the church, officiating. The interment will be in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

Took Name From Locality

The woman's garment known as a "basque" derived its style as well as its name from a similar garment worn by the peasants of the Basque country in France and Spain.

Average Farm Size

The average size of American farms, taking into consideration the farms of the entire United States, is about 140 acres. Of course, this figure varies somewhat from year to year. It is estimated that about 80 acres of the 140 is improved land.

First to Occupy Position

The distinction of being the first state school official in America belonged to Horace Mann, who, in 1837, became secretary of the Massachusetts state board of education.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

From recent court reports unless marriages are guaranteed to last for a reasonable time, people will soon tire of making wedding presents.

The ideal partnership in life is a homely girl and a pretty girl.

Before long the only women left with bobbed hair will be the elderly ladies.

Energy is a factor in everything but particularly in success.

Only by everlasting self-discipline do we make decent citizens of ourselves.

Winchester residents have received this week their formal invitation to visit and inspect Stetson Hall, the latest and most up-to-date addition to our housing accommodation. This handsome new apartment house is well worthy of favorable comment, far surpassing anything of a similar nature Winchester has yet boasted of. It is well done and most attractive, and a feature which will undoubtedly appeal to people of good taste who demand a convenient and well appointed domicile.

C. D. OF A.

Under the capable direction of Mrs. Etta Kennedy the Court conducted a splendidly successful whist on last Thursday night. In spite of the severe storm Lyceum Hall was filled with the many members and friends of the Court.

And because these good friends helped in such a fine way to again "put over" the Christmas Charity work of the Court, we wish to thank them sincerely. We wish, too, to thank the committee who worked so hard to make this party such a wonderful success.

To Grand Regent Mac O'Neil and Chairman Elizabeth C. McDonald of the Charitable Committee, who did all the personal contact work, our gratitude goes out in large measure. Mr. Joseph D. O'Neil of White street, we thank for the fine lot of wood he donated. And Chester Kelley and Peter Doherty, two High School boys from Hill street, earned our good-will by hopping and delivering the wood to those who especially needed it.

Those who donated toys, dolls, bicycles, doll-carriages, sleds, footballs and smaller toys—are too numerous to mention so we thank them in a group. And those who donated the quilt, blankets, sheets, pillow-cases, towels and milk we thank heartily. May the prayers of those whom their gifts will warm and cheer follow them always!

All in all, it would have been a wonderfully joyous Christmas for the Court but that sorrow entered in and reminded us that no happiness is entire or without its reminding sorrow. For on Sunday evening, led by Grand Regent O'Neil we went in a body to the home of Sister Katherine Rossley on Cambridge street to say the Rosary of sorrow for one of our most faithful sisters whose soul had slipped quietly and bravely away on the very night of our Christmas whist. The Court extends to her bereaved family its deepest sympathy.

WINCHESTER SAFETY COUNCIL

The local Safety Committee, appointed by the Selectmen to co-operate with the State Safety Committee appointed by Governor Allen, has had three meetings, at all of which interested discussion has taken place and constructive plans have been outlined.

Selectman Vincent P. Clarke is chairman of the committee, having been appointed by the Selectmen, and at the first meeting of the committee Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald was elected secretary.

At the second meeting of the committee, Mr. Earl Blanchard, Executive Secretary of the State Safety Committee, met with the local committee and, by his suggestions and maps, helped greatly to make those present realize the good work they may be able to do.

The third meeting was called for the purpose of organization along the lines of real working sub-committees. Chairman Clarke appointed the following:

Publicity Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald, Chairman; Mr. William Titus, Mr. Robert Guild, Danger Spots Mr. James J. Fitzgerald, Chairman; Mr. William R. McIntosh, Mr. David DeCoursey

Schools Mr. James J. Quinn, Chairman; Mr. George Harbaro, Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell.

The committee is extremely fortunate in having among its membership Chiefs McIntosh and DeCoursey whose knowledge of local hazards is of invaluable help in the work that is to be accomplished.

PROMOTION FOR FORMER WINCHESTER MAN

News has been received in Winchester of the recent promotion of Mr. Wesley A. Gilman to vice president of N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc. of Philadelphia. Mr. Gilman, who formerly was manager of the Boston office of the same concern, has for the past four years been located at the company's main office in Philadelphia. While in Boston Mr. Gilman made his home on Myrtle street in Winchester and will be remembered by many residents of the town.

ROTARY CLUB

Winchester Rotarians assembled on Thursday for the last regular meeting in 1929. The meeting was well attended and we believe that our December record will be pleasing to Governor Tom. He was pleased to send us a letter of appreciation for our efforts in November, a compliment which we value highly.

Although we had our regular Christmas festivities on the 19th there was enough of the holiday joy in our midst to carry over to the 26th. We are well aware that Fred and Harvey have always, throughout the years, dealt with us in a manner truly suggestive of the good cheer which is abroad at Yuletide. We took this occasion to express our gratitude. It has been our good fortune to have them associated with us, a situation which we hope will continue indefinitely.

The attendance record of the 31st District, R. I., for the month of Nov. 1929 showed that our club stood at the head of Division D clubs with a percentage of 98.85, having advanced from 11th position in October. Our parent club, Woburn, was number 1 in Division C with a percentage of 97.63. We have reason to think that, in this locality, the enthusiasm for Rotary is unimpaired.

To revert to that Christmas feeling which we recently mentioned, this time with respect to our neighbor, Jim McGrath. Most of us have come to think of Jim as practically a member of our own club. As a matter of fact Jim is a member of the Woburn club and intensely loyal to that club, but his heart is big enough to embrace his brother Rotarians of Winchester. He is rarely absent from our regular meetings, and we rely upon him to furnish an element which we should otherwise lack. Those ivory plates are surely obedient to every whim of Jim. We have heard that Jim is about to take a trip. This is second nature for him, to be sure, but we were very desirous of adding an extra bit of pleasure to this trip, at least we have intended it for a pleasure. At all events it seems probable that those who are present when Jim makes his exit will have their eyes dazzled by a resplendent gladstone bag. Jim promises to return with the bag well filled (this latter remark not being intended for the eyes of government inspectors). Bon voyage Jim!

The speaker at this meeting was Mr. R. E. Chambers, vice president of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, and a former Rotarian. For his presence in our midst today we are indebted to Ned Nelson.

Mr. Chambers took as his topic, "Modern Trends in Banking." He outlined for us various services which banks are rendering to their patrons and to the public at large, and dwelt on the marked changes in the methods of doing business which have come to pass in recent years, such as mergers, mass production, the instalment plan as it applies both to buying and selling, chain stores, the elimination of slow-moving stock, etc.

The message was of vital import to all who are striving to adapt themselves to the severe conditions of doing business at the present time. Our members most certainly appreciated the privilege of listening to Mr. Chambers.

We hold our first meeting of the new year on Jan. 2. That the new year may bring happiness and prosperity to all is the heartfelt wish of Winchester Rotarians.

Attendance for Dec. 19—92.85.

ARTHUR GREEN LORING

Arthur Green Loring, genealogist and special assistant at the Woburn Public Library, who passed away yesterday morning at the Choate Hospital in that city, will be remembered by older residents of Winchester as having been formerly active in the leather business here. For some years in the early eighties he was a partner in the leather firm of Loring and Avery whose plant was on the site now occupied by Beggs & Cobb. In 1891 with John A. Williams Mr. Loring acquired the old Maxwell plant in North Winchester, wiped out in the panic of 1893. For a time he engaged in the drug business in Woburn, but of late had devoted himself to the study of genealogy and his duties at the Woburn Library. He was interested in politics and in 1900 was a candidate for mayor of Woburn on the Democratic ticket.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Miss Consance Greco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Greco of Everett avenue, is to make her debut at a dance to be given for her by her parents on Monday evening, Jan. 6.

Mr. C. A. Porter of Winchester is a member of the committee chosen by the Chi Phi Club of New England to arrange for the 75th convention of the Chi Phi fraternity which opened yesterday at the Hotel Statler in Boston and closes Saturday.

Patrolman Archie O'Connell of the Police Department was the complainant in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning against Daniel Campbell of Woburn, whom he arrested Monday night on the West Side for driving while under the influence of liquor. Campbell was found guilty and fined $30.

The Winchester Police summoned into the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning Victor Lindsay of this town, who was charged with driving through the stop light at the junction of Church, Bacon and Fletcher streets. Lindsay was found guilty and fined $10.

Christmas Day passed very quietly in Winchester, fine weather aiding in the general pleasure of those tired of rain and snow. One arrest for drunkenness was made in the early morning and the Fire Department answered a false alarm of fire from Box 25 at 3:11 a. m.

The police recovered two cars yesterday morning, both of which had been stolen from Somerville. One, a Buick coupe, was recovered on Fairmount street and the other, a Page sedan, was found near the reservoirs on Reservoir street.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

How many men and women here in Winchester remember when they took the kerosene lamp and went up to bed crawling between two feather ticks, and in the case of us males reading "Nick Carter" and "Jesse James?"

And when we used to print faces on our finger nails?

And when Winchester hired girls got $3 a week wages?

"Please" and "Thank you" take some time in the speaking, but what matter? They are gems that hide in grief; Kindness blessing idle chatter, Courtesy personified. They in culture class and rank you. Only Winchester's unthinking ones deride "Please" and "Thank You."

A lot of Winchesterites find it possible to acquire a round sum in a square deal.

Speaking of the good old days any townsmen who dressed as well in the Winchester of 1890 as the average man does in the Winchester of 1929 was called a dude.

A young fellow of the Paragraphers' acquaintance insists that it is genuine love if a girl quits a good job to clean ash trays for nothing.

The happiest people here in Winchester are those who know very, very little, and the poor persons who think they know everything.

If all those endearing young charms Or that schoolgirl complexion should fade: In the far future your slim, ivory arms Grow plump, do not sorrow, fair Winchester maid. You can still seem twenty, so do not lose heart. For your face can be lifted, your hips fly diet—do try it, he made to look smart. And a lipstick can conquer your lips.

"Another shade seeking admittance," said St. Peter, as he hurried to his post. He returned a few moments later with a pleased smile on his face.

"Well, I see that one was admitted all right," said the recording angel. "Yes, passports in order, everything O. K.," said St. Peter.

"Ah," said the recording angel, "he must have come from Winchester."

"You know it," replied St. Peter.

Today's radio and automobile are taking the people of Winchester farther along the road since the horse and buggy days.

A REFLECTION FOR THE NEW YEAR

(Written for The Winchester Star)

How the years go gliding by,
And youth's glad hour is gone;
With hoary head and wrinkled brow,
Unthought, old age creeps on.
Too soon we leave the morning of life,
And evening ends our mortal strife.
Fond memory to the past reveals,
As thus the years go gliding on.
With hearts of joy we turn to view
Our achievements of goodness done—
These deeds, o'er our future life will throw
Such things worth while ourselves alone can know.

It is this with us all, as the years roll on,
Our happiness here on earth depends Upon our present acts.
Our future days they bless
The world we view as ends our strife
Made better by our worth while life.

FUR FLIES THE WORLD OVER TO MEET THE DEMAND OF AMERICAN FUR WEARERS

American fur wearers force American fur buyers to search the fur markets of the world to meet the demand for fur garments, although the United States is the world's greatest fur producer, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Stand for half an hour on a busy corner of the shopping district of an American city, and literally watch the animals go by—animals that roam dreary Arctic wastes, African jungles, and all the wild places between. Then, picture the trappers, and your imagination conjures a procession of Eskimo, warlike Asiatic, bronze African and Canadian adventurer. The romance of furs is one of the most thrilling chapters in all the annals of trade.

More Than 100,000,000 Foreign Animal Pelts Imported
Wild squirrels and rabbits cavort about all the forests of the United States; muskrats infest the marshes of every State except Florida; for some reason the raccoon avoids only Montana; martens, minks, foxes, onomusms and skunks range over a wide area of this country. Yet more than 100,000,000 pelts are imported annually to trim women's dresses, line men's gloves and make fur coats for both sexes.

China is America's largest source of furs, but only in the supply of dog and goat pelts does China excel other foreign countries. Karakul comes from the herds of karakul lambs in India and Central Asia; most of our foreign mink pelts are from the trans of the Japanese. The United Kingdom leads the list of sources of squirrel, fox and mole pelts; Germany supplies most of our foreign marten pelts; Peru, Chile and Bolivia, chinchilla pelts; Siberia, ermine pelts; chilla pelts; rabbit pelts; and for our additional supply of beaver and muskrat pelts, we look to Canada.

Bunny's Pelt Takes Leopard Spots
Early fur wearers wore only genuine furs. Only the trapper and the wealthy could afford fur garments. Then the demand for cheap furs developed. Like actors in a commercial drama, dressers of cheap furs appeared in the fur world. Experts discovered that pelts of rabbits, dogs, alley cats, goats, ponies and many other animals could be made into exquisite pelts by the deft hands of trained fur workers. Australia had been offering a bounty for killing rabbits which had overrun the continent but the new fur trade turned a liability into an asset.

More than 100,000,000 cheaper furs are used annually. With a little dye and expert workmanship bunny pelts are made to imitate those of the aristocrats of the fur-bearing animal world. Rabbit furs dyed seal are known as Arctic seal, bay seal and northern seal, sealette and sealine. Dyed to imitate fox, they grace the counter of the fur store as Baltic brown, red and black fox, or fox hair. A leopard may not be able to change its spots but leopard spots dyed on rabbit pelts make Baltic, French and Russian leopard. These are but a few of more than 50 aliases by which rabbit pelts are known, when they leave the hands of the furriers.

Furs Vie With Gold in Exploration

Civilization is invading the domain of the fur-bearing animals in the United States, yet from $45,000,000 to $75,000,000 worth of furs were taken in 1927. The greatest wild fur producing area in the world lies within a 600-mile radius of St. Louis. In an attempt to increase the supply of genuine furs, fur farms or ranches have been established in the United States. Approximately 99 per cent of the silver fox pelts sold on American markets are ranch bred. Prince Edward Island, north of Nova Scotia, where fox ranching began about 30 years ago is literally covered with fox ranches. Skunk, muskrat and rabbit ranches have also been established.

Furs have played an important part in exploration. Explorers often find the cabins of fur trappers marking the farthest outposts of civilization. St. Louis owes its founding to the early French fur traders who established a station on the site in 1764. Trappers and traders from the St. Louis station and those from Canadian stations opened up a large part of northern and western United States. Long before the "49's" crossed the plains the Frenchmen reached what is now the State of Utah where they learned that Canadian fur traders had already been in that region.

Russian trappers crossed the bleak expanse of Siberia to Kamchatka in quest of furs and then pushed on to Alaska. Furs and gold have vied in opening up "Seward's Folly" or the "Seven Million Dollar Ice Box," as Alaska formerly was called. But old booms have come and gone. Fur trapping and trading have continued and today two little islands of the

Delicious Tropical Fruit

The granadilla is a tropical American fruit, oval shape, of a greenish yellow color. The pulp is water-colored and has a sweet smelt and a pleasant sweet acid taste, but contains many black seeds. The plant is grown in conservatories in North America and Europe for the lovely blossoms.

Electricity in Lightning

The weather bureau says that the electricity in a single flash of lightning varies greatly. The largest amount of which the bureau has any approximate measurement was the equivalent, roughly, of 100,000 amperes for 0.01 second, or 1,000 amperes for 1 second. Probably the average discharge is of the order of one-fiftieth of this amount.

Avoid First Sin

Be not familiar with the idea of wrong, for sin in fancy mothers many an ugly fact.—Theodore Parker.

Liberty Bell Defective

Independence Hall says that the answer to the question "What caused the Liberty bell to crack?" is purely a metallurgical one. As with many people, a disorder might be called hereditary, dating from birth, so the defects in the Liberty bell dated from the day of its casting. Metal castings are subject to strains due to natural shrinkage while cooling. The original crack was probably due to cooling strains.

Good-By

An elderly neighbor called on the family one afternoon for the first time. Everything went well until she left, and the family told her good-by and asked her to come again. Then three-year-old Larry spoke up and said: "Good-by, good-by forever."

Brussels Sprouts Old

It is said that Brussels sprouts have been grown from time immemorial around Brussels in Belgium, but they were not described by botanists until 1623, when Bauhin names them and tells how some plants had as many as 50 heads. They were first mentioned in America in 1806 by McMahon.

Believed of French Origin

The origin of the expression, "the great gabbo," usually used in a mildly derisive sense of the head person or "big chief," is thought to have come into English street jargon from the old French gab, meaning to mock, boast, lie or scoff. The expression as quoted usually means the chief booster or leading boomer of a community or organization.

At least, when he frequently observes two-wheeled, ox-drawn carts with black drivers who can trace their ancestry back to the days when Brazil coast towns were popular slave

Dimensions of the Ark

In the International Standard Bible Encyclopedia Noah's ark is described as being three stories high, 300 cubits long, 50 cubits broad and 30 cubits high. According to Petrie's estimate of the cubit (at that period), these measurements represent 562 1/2 feet long, 93 1/2 feet broad and 50 1/2 feet deep. Calculations show that such a structure would contain about 3,500,000 cubic feet of space.

Twain Made Appetite

Subject of His Humor
Mark Twain dealt slyly with the emptiness of introductory speeches and the fullness of his own appetite in a letter lent to the Missouri Historical society by a relative, Cyril Clemens of Webster Groves, president of the Mark Twain society.

"I was on the point of starting," he wrote, "when a committee requested me to remain here and introduce Gen. Joseph R. Hawley (successively editor, governor of Connecticut, congressman and senator) to a political mass meeting. This was a great surprise to me, for I had supposed the man was comparatively well known. I shall do what I can to blow the fog from around his fame.

"Meantime will you kindly see that the portion of your banquet which I should be allowed to consume, if I were present, is equitably distributed among the public charities of our several states and territories? I would not that any partiality be shown on account of political creed or geographical position, but would beg that all the crates be of the same height."—Kansas City Times.

Spend Much Money to Talk Across Atlantic

Transatlantic telephone calls to the states—many of them quite unnecessary—are a way of getting rid of cash, says a writer in an English newspaper. A few months ago, for instance, a wealthy young American became engaged. A day or two after the happy announcement had been made he had to pay a visit to Europe.

He remained over here for five days. During that time he spoke to the lady of his choice on the Atlantic telephone for a quarter of an hour every morning. Each call cost him £75 ($370), making a grand total of £375 ($1,800). Still more wasteful, perhaps—although it involved a smaller sum—was the action of an American woman while staying at one of London's most luxurious hotels. She was in the middle of her lunch on afternoon when an excited telephone attendant rushed into the restaurant to tell her that a friend had just rung her up from New York and was holding the line.

The lady's composure was not ruffled at all by the news.
"Tell him I'm lunching and can't possibly speak to him now," she said. "I'll give him a ring when I've finished."
Fifteen pounds ($75) were thus spent where a few of us would have sacrificed a few cents.

Valuable Gas

Blau gas was invented by a German chemist by that name. Quite a number of oils may be used for the manufacture of this kind of gas. The gas is obtained by spraying gas oils into highly heated reports. The main advantage of this gas in carrying it is the fact that it simplifies the matter of compensating for the loss of weight.

Deposits of Peat Due to Carbonized Plants

The plants giving origin to peat are mainly aquatic, reeds, rushes, sedges and mosses. The vegetable tissues die and begin to rot, becoming water logged and sinking to the bottom of the pool. As this deposit becomes thicker, the lower layers become compressed and carbonized. The formation of peat seems to require a moist atmosphere and a low mean temperature. Peat winning is done by cutting a trench about a foot deep with a peculiarly shaped spade, called in Ireland a "slane," and removing sods from 3 to 4 feet long. When one layer is removed the next is attacked. If the deposit is very solid, step working is employed. The sods are allowed to drain and then are stacked for drying, a process which may take six weeks. They are sometimes turned so as to dry evenly. Dried sods are called "dug peat." In modern times excavators and dredges are sometimes used and drying is hastened by heated chambers. Peat is used as fuel, and as a source of fuel gas, ammonia, fertilizer and a process for making paper of it has been developed.

Medicine Stains

Silver stained with medicine should be rubbed with methylated spirit. Afterwards wash the silver in warm, soapy water and polish with a dry cloth.

From Herodotus

The quotation on the New York city post office, which begins, "Neither snow nor rain nor heat" is taken from paragraph 8, Book VIII, of the work of the Greek historian Herodotus, who wrote in the fifth century B. C. It reads, "Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor storm of light stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

Trusty Sentry's Sniff

Reassured the Outfit

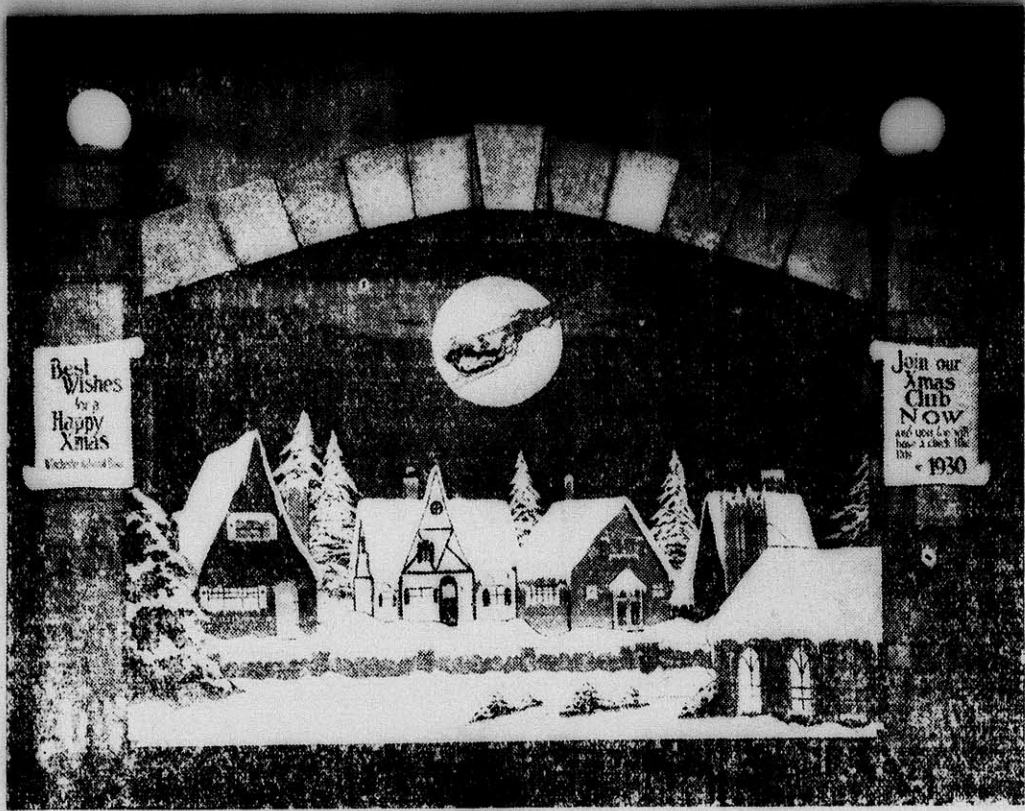

When the A. E. F. first went into the front line in the World war much annoyance was caused by the frequent false alarms of gas. There would be a clang of gongs, a wail of sirens and time after time the boys would rush from the dugouts and don their gas masks only to find that a nervous rookie on sentry duty had gone haywire.

One outfit finally decided to have a sentry of its own. Explicit instructions were given him to sniff and sniff plenty before taking up any gas alarm originating with the "shell shocks."

"Back to bed he went," says the narrator, "and sure enough, in a little while the gas alarm sounded again. This time, however, we didn't dash out. We stayed in our dugouts, waiting word from our own trusty sentry."

"Above the racket his sniffing was plainly audible. Finally the sector re-embarked with his reassuring cry:

"No gas for this company! No gas for this company! You guys keep on sleeping and I'll keep on sniffing."

Among the many attractive Christmas windows about the center this year is that of the Winchester National Bank depicted above. This decoration, especially made and planned for the Bank's large window facing Winchester Common, has attracted much attention.

WINCHESTER MAN ADVANCED TO VICE PRESIDENCY OF BOSTON & MAINE

J. W. Smith General Manager Since 1928

Winchester is generally interested in the recent announcement, made by acting President Thomas Nelson Perkins of the Boston & Maine, that on Jan. 1 Mr. John W. Smith of 10 Sheffield road and will become the railroad's vice president and general manager.

Mr. Smith has since 1928 been general manager of the B. & M., in charge of transportation. His promotion will add to his duties supervision of the railroad's mechanical departments.

The new vice president is eminently fitted to assume so responsible a post. He was literally "born to the service," his father having been a railroad track supervisor. Thirty-two of the former's 50 years have been spent in railroading, his first job having been that of a brakeman on the "Clover Leaf" road in the middle West. Advancing through various positions on that and other lines he became traveling yardmaster of the Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad in 1910. For more than 22 years he served in the West under the late George Hannauer who at the time of his death was president of the Boston & Maine. Before coming east Mr. Smith was general manager of the Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad, of which he had previously been yardmaster.

In August of 1927 Mr. Smith came east to become assistant to the president of the B. & M. As such, he was assigned to special duty and at the beginning of the new year became general manager of the railroad, in charge of transportation. Under his administration the road has shown substantial improvements in service to its patrons and in efficiency of operation.

Mr. Smith is married and has two children: a son, "Billy"; and a daughter, Rosemary. He has made his home in Winchester since Nov. 1, 1927.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

"Four Devils," the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theater, Malden, is a spectacular romance that is charged throughout with thrills. Here are scenes of circus splendor, unapparelled realism, in a topnotch story of aerial artists in a hippodrome, whose swinging trapezes hold their very lives in suspension at every nightly performance. Janet Gaynor has the leading role and is supported by an all star cast which includes Mary Duncan, Charles Norton, Farrell MacDonald, Barry Norton and Nancy Drexel, who contribute notable characterizations, and all are heard speaking their highly interesting roles. The second feature on this program is another interesting episode of "Pirates of Panama" starring Natalie Kingston.

Greta Garbo will not disappoint her many admirers in "The Kiss," the feature picture coming to the Orpheum for the first three days of next week. This is a Continental drama in which a French woman, misunderstood by her husband, Miss Garbo gives a characterization which definitely stamps her as a tragedienne of first rank. As usual, Miss Garbo is artist enough not to overplay her part and when in a powerful climax she shoots her husband, it is done with realism that reaches every person in the theater without any of the melodrama so often accompanying such a dramatic sequence. Supporting Miss Garbo in the French drama are Conrad Nagel, Anders Randolph and Lew Ayres. "Hard to Get" starring Dorothy Mae Kaill will be the second feature on this program. The story is a very human and amusing one of a New York man-kin who leaves her parents flat every morning to spend the day posing for millionaires' wives in clothes that only millionaires' wives can afford. Consequently, morning and night, she stalks the elusive millionaire in the traffic jungles of 5th ave. The way in which she bags a garage mechanic by mistake is quite novel. Charles Delaney plays opposite Miss MacKaill.

POPULAR REFERENDUM WILL SETTLE CROSSING PROBLEM

To the Editor of the Star:

I have read with great interest two communications in your last issue concerning important public works—the abolition of grade crossings and the footbridge over the Aberjona River near the Wedgemere station.

According to the correspondence communicated to you by Lewis Parkhurst he is in no way at fault—but it is easy to see who is—that the bridge has been declared unsafe and has been removed.

But the rather acrimonious arraignment of Mr. Parkhurst, for his statements concerning the grade crossing matter, seems to me unkind and rather far fetched in its conclusions.

I am not prepared to oppose or defend any of the grade crossing abolition plans, but I confess to a feeling some time ago formed, in favor of the Kellaway plans, after the discussions given at the time in the Star.

What surprised me was the feeling displayed in the three-column letter in your last issue, against such a prominent and public-spirited citizen as Mr. Parkhurst, who has done so much for this town. To say nothing of his helpfulness to the people of the Wedgemere district (as it may be said that, in the matter of the foot-bridge he helped himself as well as others) he made a most munificent contribution towards the erection of the town's magnificent memorial to the heroes of the World War, and the probability is that the enterprise would not have been completed at all but for his efforts.

I am certainly not holding any brief for Mr. Parkhurst, as I am a perfect stranger to him, and my right to speak at all on the subject, I am aware, may be challenged because I am a comparatively new comer to this beautiful town, and I but recently came here from the western part of the State, to reside with my children.

I am, however, interested, because, in my native place, Northampton, (the home of ex-President Coolidge) the same problem of grade crossing abolition was met and solved, satisfactorily, not long ago. In that city the conditions were about the same as here, and the difficulty was met, although several plans were offered, without acrimony or any attempted recrimination.

Why cannot the same result be secured in Winchester?

Why not concentrate upon the endorsement of a plan which is, in the minds of the majority, the most feasible and practical, whether it costs more than some other plan or not?

Any plan which might be adopted would be likely to cost more, finally, than the original estimates.

Why dispute, debate and recriminate, because the advocates of one plan did not visit the offices of the B. & M. Railroad for information?

Suppose Mr. Kellaway, or any other man, has been "cross-examined," or not, what has that to do with the adoption of some definite plan of action?

Is it not time to take final steps, by referendum or otherwise, to prove that Winchester people are not the obstructionists they are said to be in this matter?

If the representative town meeting is afraid to act why not have a popular referendum as to plan? The town will not very likely ever be better prepared than it is now to act.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Frequently it has been asserted that Will Rogers is the best known personality in the United States, which is one of the reasons why his engagement at the big Granada Theater in Malden, starting tomorrow, is bound to create unusual interest. This star will be presented in his first talking movie "They Had to See Paris," for seven days at the Granada, starting tomorrow and this engagement includes special showings of the picture on Sunday.

Harold Lloyd in his talking comedy riot "Welcome Danger" closes its engagement at the Granada today. Lloyd is a great favorite and in his first talker he has produced a comedy gem which is one long succession of laughs.

CONGRESSMAN DALLINGER SUPPORTS VETS

Washington, Dec.—World War Veterans may look for Congressman Dallinger's support when the amendment to extend the presumptive clause for tubercular veterans comes before the House after the holidays.

The measure calls for the extension of this clause to 1931 and would make it possible for thousands of World War Veterans, who have contracted consumption as the direct result of the war to obtain compensation and hospitalization. Under the existing law many of these veterans have been excluded because their condition at the time of their discharge did not show symptoms of the dreaded malady.

It has been shown time and time again in medical examinations that many veterans developed tuberculosis years after serving in the army. It is to take care of this group of veterans that the legislation is being brought to the attention of Congress.

Representative Dallinger's office today stated that the Massachusetts members would probably support the bill after he had had an opportunity to study the measure and assure himself that veterans would derive the maximum of good from its passage by Congress.

ALUMNI FIVE TOO GOOD FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Winchester High School's basketball team opened its current season last Friday evening in the high school gymnasium, losing to a strong Alumni team, 33-27. The game was fast and on the whole very well played.

The school boys showed just a bit of stage fright, getting away against their more experienced opponents who included such former stars as the Kendrick boys, "Livin" McNeil, the Amicos, "Horb" Ross, Derby, "Pete" Coss, "Barney" Murphy and "Hennie" Knowlton.

At the half the graduates had a commanding lead of 11 points, the score standing in their favor 21-10.

After intermission the schoolboys braced perceptibly and began to give the Alumni a real run for their money. Midway through the second half, Coach Mansfield's charges had fought their way to within three points of the Alumni total, the count being 24-21. The graduates rallied in turn and sinking a couple of long shots to turn the tide in their favor, gradually drew ahead.

The schoolboys kept trying and added 6 points to their total in the final quarter but the Alumni were too good and deserved their 6 point victory.

Between the halves of the first team game the Alumni second team won from the high school seconds, 21-17.

Tides Retard Loading

Loading gypsum in Nova Scotia seems to have its ups and downs, in fact, about 40 feet ups and downs. The loading docks, which are in Minas basin, have a tide which has a rise and fall of more than 12 yards. This necessitates the use of flat-bottomed boats and a special cribbing to hold them.

Mud Has Advantages

A city built on mud has its advantages. New Orleans cannot have skyscrapers, as other large cities do, because it sits on "1,100 feet of mud," but the man in charge of the seismograph at Loyola university there, says the city has never been known to feel the tremor of an earthquake.
